

Charlestown Navy Yard Comes Alive As Thousands Enjoy Harborpark Day

THOUSANDS of residents and visitors took full advantage of the sunshine and warmth of a late summer day to explore the Charlestown Navy Yard during the ninth annual Harborpark Day on Sept. 19. The event, sponsored by the Boston Redevelopment Authority, featured games, rides, live animals, entertainers, face painters, booths with items for sale or on chances and food of every description. The annual "Chowdafest" to benefit Horizons For Youth brought long lines of persons on Pier 5 to sample and vote for what they considered the best chowder. The numerous boats in the harbor and an aerial display by fireboats added to the beauty of the Charlestown waterfront.

Charlestown Charities To Benefit From Voke's Andy Healy Concert

Five local charities will be selected for grand prizes derived from the proceeds of Rep. Richard Voke's third annual Charlestown Charity Celebration. The concert, featuring the Andy Healy Band, is sponsored by Voke as his way to show his appreciation to the people of Charlestown for their continued support. It will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 14 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 West School St.

"The event, which is growing into quite a tradition, is but one way for me to say thank you to the people of Charlestown for their continued support. I truly enjoy bringing the community together to benefit local organizations that do so much to improve the quality of life in the town," said Voke.

To be eligible to receive a share of the proceeds, an interested organization need

Menino, O'Neil And Modica Top Ticket In Ward 2, Charlestown

Clouds and showers on Sept. 21 failed to dampen the hopes of political workers who gathered outside Charlestown's seven voting sites asking the 4,459 voters who went to the polls to consider their candidate. The number of Charlestown voters casting ballots in the city's Preliminary Election on Tuesday was 52 percent, just slightly above the city average of 50 percent.

For the first time in 10 years, since Raymond Flynn took over the corner office at City Hall, the field was wide open — and what a race it was. Acting Mayor Tom Menino captured the top spot in Charlestown with 26 percent of the vote cast for mayor. He was followed by Rep. James Brett and Sheriff Bob Rufo, both

Charlestown Preliminary Election Results By Precinct — Page 11

Fifty percent of Tuesday's voters in Charlestown pulled the lever for incumbent Albert "Dapper" O'Neil for one of the four at-large seats on the Boston City Council. Taking the second spot in Charlestown was a young attorney who is making a mark for himself throughout the city in his first run for public office — Michael Travaglini, brother of District One Boston City Councillor and State Senator Bob Travaglini. Michael captured 48 percent of the Charlestown vote.

Coming in third locally was incumbent At-Large City Councillor John Nucci with 41 percent of the vote. Former District School Committee member Peggy Davis-Mullen was fourth in the Charlestown total with 38 percent.

In fifth place in Ward 2, Charlestown was Frank Costello. In sixth place was Richard Iannella, son of the late city councillor Chris Iannella. Seventh place went to Brian Wallace, who failed to make the eight-

SMART EXCHANGE

For years, the federal government has been trying to computerize its system for handling Treasury notes, bills and bonds. New Treasuries have been issued in computerized book-entry form since 1986. But even though the Treasury Department no longer issues paper securities, there are still a lot of existing certificates in circulation. Now the government wants to call those in, too.

If you are still holding Treasury certificates, Uncle Sam wants them back. When you turn in your paper, you will get a computerized account to keep track of your Treasury investments. The new, computerized system — called Smart Exchange — makes it a lot easier on investors.

While conversion is not mandatory, Uncle Sam lists the following advantages to its computerized system:

- Interest coupons would no longer have to be clipped by investors and presented to a bank or Federal Reserve on payment date.

- No more waiting for that check to arrive if your certificates were bought through a brokerage firm. Interest payments could be deposited directly into a checking or savings account.

- Since there are no certificates to lose or have stolen, the computerized system is much safer. It also could save the cost of keeping the certificates in a safe deposit box.

- The principal could be easily reinvested in a new Treasury after your Treasury securities have matured.

If most investors convert to the computerized system, the elimination of the paperwork would save the government millions of tax dollars. For more information, call the Treasury's Smart Exchange hotline: (800) 366-3144.

October 20th Mayoral Debate In Charlestown

The Charlestown Women's Caucus (CWC) has secured verbal commitments from the two mayoral primary winners, Tom Menino and Jim Brett, for a debate in Charlestown. The debate will be held Wednesday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m. at Bunker Hill Community College. This is Charlestown's chance to hear the candidates and to make the candidates aware of Charlestown's needs.

The format for the debate will be based upon the structure of the Clinton and Bush televised debates. In particular, the debate where questions were posed from the audience to get live responses from the candidates, as opposed to pre-planned campaign rhetoric. The CWC is soliciting questions from organizations and residents in Charlestown to formulate the debate.

The CWC will look at all the input they receive and present those questions which capture the issues which seem of the most interest while giving some variety and breadth to the discussion.

The general topic areas of concern in Charlestown, which have been identified in previous surveys, include economic development, safety, health and education. Representatives from organizations and the question survey will be asked to pose the questions at the debate.

Questions should be sent to: Question The Candidates, CWC, P.O. Box 314, Charlestown, Mass. 02129. Please include your name, address and telephone number.

WHEN DO YOU LOWER YOUR ASKING PRICE?

Your house has been on the market for three weeks. You've had no nibbles from buyers. You're beginning to have some nagging doubts that you may have priced the property too optimistically. You want to sell for as much as you can get, but even more important, you want to sell!

This is the time to sit down with your Realtor for a serious conversation about what to do. Remember that while price is a major factor, it's not the only consideration. Are you making your house easy for agents to show? Have you completed the necessary fix-ups and clean-ups so your property is as appealing as possible? If you have, a price reduction may be in order. Review with your agent the current market conditions and the prices of other homes in your neighborhood. Is yours competitive, or is the marketplace telling you that buyers just don't want to pay what you're asking? If all indications point to a price reduction, it's better to do it sooner than later.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Monument Properties. Please call us at 241-5900, or stop by our office at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

★ Neighborhood Council Meetings . . .

Special Meeting

Charlestown Neighborhood Council Chairman Peter Looney has notified the Patriot that the special meeting of the council originally called for Monday, Sept. 27 to discuss the impact of the proposed off-ramp in three of the Central Artery project's designs for the Charles River Crossing has been postponed.

Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the council will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

★ Charles River Crossing . . . Residential concerns on the plans laid out by the Massachusetts Highway Department on the designs for the crossing of the Charles River as part of the Central Artery/Tunnel Project and the inclusion of a northbound off-ramp from I-93 dumping thousands of cars each day across the Bunker Hill Community College playing fields onto already congested Rutherford Avenue have been expressed at a recent meeting in Charlestown and at a public hearing at the Museum of Science.

The sense of residents is that transportation officials are leaning toward the no-tunnel alternative that calls for a 14-lane bridge across the Charles River adjacent to the dam at City Square.

The staff at Bunker Hill Community College, area businesses and residents have been looking carefully at the I-93 off-ramp into Charlestown, which is part of three of the Charles River Crossing designs. Traffic would exit onto Rutherford Avenue just across from the Mishawum Housing development, a heavily congested area, posing health and hazard issues for area residents and businesses. In addition, since the reconstruction of Sullivan Square is not included in the plans and details on the ramp and subsequent traffic flow is not outlined clearly, the group is opposing this aspect of the plans. Experts who have looked at the impact of the ramp have stated that a more severely congested Rutherford Avenue is bound to send traffic into the community via Bunker Hill and Main streets.

The general consensus is that Charlestown will have to live with the final plan for many, many years and the Mass. Highway Department is being asked to look carefully at the crossing and the off-ramp, focusing on the impact it will have on the abutting communities.

Written comments and concerns on the Charles River Crossing plans must be submitted by Tuesday, Oct. 5. They should be sent to both: Trudy Coxe, secretary, Mass. Executive Office of Environmental Affairs, 100 Cambridge St., 20th floor, Boston, Mass. 02202, attention MEPA Unit; and to Daniel Berman, project manager, Central Artery/Tunnel Project, Federal Highway Administration, 55 Broadway, 10th floor, Cambridge, Mass. 02142.

The highlights of the Charlestown meeting and local testimony of the public hearing will be included in next week's Patriot.

★ Update On Baby Kyle . . . A discouraged and angry Cindy Fitzpatrick, mother of year-old leukemia victim Baby Kyle, spoke about problems with the family's health insurance carrier late last week as the Fitzpatrick's prepared to travel to Minnesota to meet with an oncologist and transplant specialist at the University of Minnesota.

She said that when Kyle was diagnosed with leukemia, the insurance company assured them that they were 100 percent covered for a bone-marrow transplant for Kyle. What they failed to explain to the family is that they are not covered for the search for a donor nor for a donor's expenses.

There was no perfect match, Cindy said, in the 1800 involved in the HLA testing at MIT in early August. She went on to say that several hundred in the bank have the first four antigens that match, but a second testing on these potential donors costs $550 for each person and the subsequent testing for a potential donor rises to almost $1,900.

According to Cindy, they are looking for an exact match to give Kyle a chance to live, but they would be faced with $100,000 in bills. Kyle's primary physician, Dr. William Ferguson, the chief pediatric oncologist/hematologist at Mass. General Hospital, is recommending that the search for a donor be done now.

Cindy expressed the family's thanks for the support from the community. When asked how people could help Kyle now, she said that donations toward the search for a donor would be most welcome. They may be sent to: The Friends of Kyle, 400 Main St., Building E-19, Room 135, Cambridge, Mass. 02139.

★ Board Of Appeal Hearing . . . The city's Board of Appeal heard the petition of Erik Anderson on Sept. 14, asking to change the legal occupancy of 30 Harvard St. from a one- to a two-family home.

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, spoke in support of the request as did Boston City Councillor Albert O'Neil.

The request was approved by the board with design review.

★ City Square Park . . . The final preliminary design scheme for City Square Park will be presented for community review at 7:30 p.m. tonight, Thursday, Sept. 23 at the Mary Colbert Apartments, 20 Devens St.

For additional information, contact Project Manager Sandi Wolchansky at 727-3160 ext. 578.

★ CH.A.M.P. . . . The Charlestown After Murder Program (CH.A.M.P.) has resumed its weekly meetings. They are held at St. Catherine's rectory, 49 Vine St., each Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. All are welcome to join with the members at their meetings.

Congressman Kennedy Announces 'Academy Information Night'

U.S. Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy III has announced that he will sponsor a district-wide "Academy Information Night" on Tuesday, Oct. 19 to provide information on educational and career opportunities at the United States Service Academies.

The meeting will be a unique opportunity for junior and senior high school students, their parents and guidance counselors to learn more about the U.S. Naval, Air Force, Coast Guard, Merchant Marine and Military academies.

"The service academies offer a great education while opening the door to a number of exciting career choices," said Kennedy. "I urge young men and women interested in serving their country and receiving a free education to attend the meeting."

Representatives from the five academies will be attending the meeting to answer any questions.

"Academy Information Night" will be held Tuesday, Oct. 19, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Somerville High School, 81 Highland Ave., Somerville.

Applicants to the academies must be U.S. citizens and legal residents of the Eighth Congressional District, which includes Charlestown, in order to be considered for an appointment from Kennedy.

Candidates must also be unmarried, have no children and be at least 17 years old, but not past their 22nd birthday on July 1 during the year of admission. All applicants must take either the SAT or ACT exam.

Kennedy bases his appointments on standardized test scores, class rank, grade-point average, extra-curricular activities, leadership potential, recommendations and personal character.

Interested young people may obtain additional information and application packets from Kennedy's District Office at The Schrafft Center, 529 Main St., Suite 605, Charlestown, or by calling 242-0200.

The Safe Neighborhoods

Groups Urged To Apply For Safe Neighborhood Fund Grants

Youth Fund fosters and supports a growing number of grassroots organizations dedicated to working with young people and families in the city's neighborhoods.

"There are many deserving groups and programs in Boston's neighborhoods that work hard to better their communities," said Acting Mayor Tom Menino. "The Youth Fund grants are a great opportunity for the city to continue supporting their efforts."

Ted Landsmark, director of the Safe Neighborhoods Program, said the Youth Fund mini-grants are awarded in amounts of up to $7,000, and added that applicants must meet a series of criteria and priorities established by the Youth Fund.

A pre-bidders conference for those interested in applying will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 6 p.m. in the Piemonte Room, Boston City Hall, on the fifth floor. Marcus DeFlorimonte, deputy director of the program, will be on hand to answer any and all questions about the application process and about funding priorities.

Programs must support implementation of specific goals identified in the Safe Neighborhoods Plan, and priority will be given to programs that promote violence-prevention, life skills training, educational enhancement and parenting skills.

More than 300 groups have already received grants from the Youth Fund over the past three years. For more information on grant applications, please contact the Safe Neighborhoods Office at 635-4495, or stop by the fifth floor of city hall to pick up an application.

The poll worker who took the count for the Patriot in Precinct 6 recorded 198 votes for Modica and 235 for Costello on Tuesday night. The city Election Department's unofficial record on Wednesday listed the Modica vote for Precinct 6 as 460 and the Costello count as 160.

The city's unofficial tally for the district is as follows:

Robert Cappucci	2,660
Domenic A. Piso	2,310
Maria DiLibero	1,822

Rich Rosa	218

This count gives only a 17-point separation between Costello and Cappucci for the second and run-off spot. Both the Costello and Cappucci headquarters were contacted on Wednesday to see if a re-count is being requested of the Election Department. Neither responded to the inquiries by the Patriot by presstime.

Expansion Underway At The USS Constitution Museum

Groundbreaking for the $7.4 million expansion of the USS Constitution Museum took place Sept. 13 at the Charlestown Navy Yard. The expansion is a joint public/private enterprise between the Boston

National Historical Park (National Park Service) and the museum. Speakers at the ceremony included U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and U.S. Rep. Joseph P. Kennedy II. Also in attendance was Charlestown's state Rep. Richard A. Voke.

The construction project will double the museum's exhibit capacity by expanding the current facility into two adjacent buildings by way of a connecting gallery. This event marked the beginning of Phase One of the project which includes converting one of the buildings into a 200-seat theater and the construction of the connector. Phase One is funded by $1.5 million in federal funds.

It was announced this week that the additional $1.9 million needed to complete the construction and stabilization process has been steered through the U.S. Senate by Sen. Kennedy.

Sen. Kennedy has made the museum expansion one of his priorities. In his speech at the groundbreaking, he promised continued support and lauded the museum's education mission, making special note of its successful apprenticeship program. In his announcement of the Senate's action, Sen. Kennedy said: "This funding will ensure the completion of a project that holds great promise for the preservation of an important part of American history."

Superintendent of Boston National Historical Park John Burchill said: "Today

began in 1985 when the museum had the idea to expand and thereby better serve the USS Constitution, the park and the visitors. When approached, the National Park Service said, let's go."

Museum Director Ellen Kraft said: "This is a great day for the USS Constitution Museum. This expansion, made possible by a successful partnership with the National Park Service, will allow us to tell the story of the USS Constitution in even greater detail. We plan to increase our educational programs and resources as well as create new exhibits on the life and time of "Old Ironsides." She added: "To have the support of Sen. Kennedy and his colleagues speaks to the importance of the museum's mission. We are grateful to the Senator for his belief in our goal."

In addition to federal funds, the USS Constitution Museum is raising money through a capital campaign which was announced last May. Over $2.5 million has already been secured toward the museum's $4 mil-

Phase One of the expansion project will be complete by the summer of 1994 with all of the expansion work done by the summer of 1995. Careful coordination of the project will allow the museum to remain open during the expansion.

The museum, which opened in 1976, concentrates on the Federal Period and serves as the gateway to and the voice of "Old Ironsides," one of the country's most treasured historic icons.

CONGRESSMAN Joseph P. Kennedy addressed the gathering at the groundbreaking ceremony that marked the beginning of the USS Constitution Museum's expansion program. Looking on is Museum Director Ellen Kraft.

Though life is full of changes, I wish everything could stay the same and that's why saying goodbye is so difficult.

I feel your absence in more ways than I want to think about. But, I always feel a certain warmth each time I remember the smiles, the secrets, the laughter and the closeness we shared.

I'll always be glad to have known that you were and always will be my son.

SAFELY HOME

I am home in Heaven, dear ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed;
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Oh! but Jesus' love illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely,
For I love you dearly still:
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not idly stand;
Do it now, while life remaineth—
You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come.

Charlestown Catholic Elementary School News

by Ann Teague

On Sept. 15, in an atmosphere of harmony, gratitude and positive expectancy, parents, faculty and support staff of Charlestown Catholic Elementary School gathered in the school hall. The purpose of the meeting was to acknowledge the several groups and individuals who have worked to make Charlestown Catholic Elementary School a reality and to preview the 1993-1994 school year.

A tone of gratitude was set by Father Ron Coyne, pastor of St. Catherine's Church and school pastor of Charlestown Catholic. In both his opening prayer and remarks, Father Coyne spoke of his appreciation for the excellent attendance at the meeting and for the efforts of all who are involved in the supportive activities which are sustaining the school.

Father Coyne also spoke of several upcoming activities which include: a "Mottown Dance" to be held on Sept. 24, a raffle, a field day to be held on Oct. 19 and a Mass of Thanksgiving to be celebrated on Oct. 18. These and other activities, as well as fund raisers will help support the 326-member student body.

Sister Lois Lyons, C.S.J., principal of Charlestown Catholic, also addressed the group. Sister Lois gave an overview of school policies and introduced a new code of discipline which is in place at the school. The plan has been used quite effectively internationally and it focuses on re-enforcement of positive behavior and adherence to acceptable in-school standards which will prove beneficial to student growth.

Sheila O'Keefe of Harvard University outlined a program which will serve as support for selected students. It will be run in conjunction with Bunker Hill Health Center.

Mary Featherston spoke on her plan for a Student Council at the school. This plan, which follows the California School Council plan, would offer a unique opportunity for students to experience democratic choice and government and would allow for community service by students.

Parents then went to visit classroom teachers to hear of expectations and individual class activities.

Blind Sailors To Compete In Sailing Regatta

Blind sailors from throughout the area will compete in the third annual Harry McDonough Memorial Sailing Regatta for the Blind that will be held in Boston Harbor out of the Courageous Sailing Center, Charlestown Navy Yard on Friday, Oct. 1 and Saturday, Oct. 2.

The Regatta, conducted each year by The Carroll Center for the Blind as part of their competitive and recreational sailing programs for blind persons, is sponsored this year by Massport. The event is named in memory of well-known Bostonian Harry McDonough who dedicated his life to bringing the sport and enjoyment of sailing to inner-city youth and to blind persons.

Six teams of blind sailors will race in J/22's, a 22-foot racing boat, and are expected to compete in six races throughout the two-day event. Each team includes two blind sailors, one as helmsman, one as crew, and two sighted guides, one

by Sean P. Smyth

Three words can describe it: Jekyll and Hyde.

The Charlestown Townies showed both parts of their personality last Saturday, trailing 29-0 at the half, before nearly pulling off the upset, losing 36-26 at the hands of the Merrimack Valley (Methuen) Outlaws at Nicholson Stadium in Eastern Football League action.

The Outlaws (7-3) started fast out of the gate, scoring two first-quarter touchdowns. The first came on a 12-yard pass from Paul Landry to J.R. Robbins, giving Merrimack an early 8-0 lead. Another Landry touchdown pass for 20 yards gave the Outlaws a 15-0 lead after one period.

The second quarter held more bad news for the Townies. Kevin Fielding would catch two touchdown passes of 13 and 40 yards. The first was thrown by Landry while the second was thrown by Bobby Dean, who replaced Landry when the latter was injured.

Charlestown would score their first touchdown late in the third quarter. Rob Ferraro returned an interception 66 yards to cut the deficit to 29-6 after three quarters.

In the fourth quarter, the Townies brought themselves back into the game. After an early fourth-quarter touchdown, (Jean to Fielding), Charlestown ran off three more touchdowns. Ken Kinsey threw a 27-yard pass to Ferraro, cutting the MV lead to 36-12.

Running back Taylor Boughnou was involved in the last two Townie TDs. His four-yard run pulled Charlestown closer to a win. On the ensuing outside

■ High School Football Scoreboard . . . Shawn Brown found his favorite receiver Damien Hamier twice with 17-yard passes as Charlestown shut out Burke 12-0. Greg Staples had a great game for Charlestown.

They celebrated at the Danny Gibbons house this weekend as Boston Latin blanked Matignon 24-0. Marion Benjamin had three touchdowns for Latin.

Lynn English stung Don Bosco 34-14 with Calvin Bryant accounting for all the Bosco points. Foxboro shut out BC High 14-0. Xaverian tipped Malden Catholic 26-12. Brighton shut out St. Clement's and Shawsheen defeated Pope John.

The rules require that a blind sailor must steer the boat throughout the race course with verbal direction from the sighted guide. The blind crew member must trim the sails accordingly while the second sighted guide acts as navigator and tactician. Otherwise, the blind sailing teams follow all of the standard rules of racing prescribed by the International Yacht Racing Union. A special audible compass is sometimes used by blind sailors enabling them to sail a very straight and accurate course by sound.

The Boston Regatta is one in a series of three scheduled national regattas for the blind that also includes Houston and Newport, which are preparatory events to help select and prepare the best blind sailors to represent the United States in the World Championship Regatta for the Blind to be held in Perth, Australia, on Jan. 3-16, 1994. The Carroll Center's SailBlind Team of Nancy Aronson of Malden and Chuck Hanlin of Melrose, guided by Lyn and Emily Comfort of Newport, were the recent winners of the Newport Regatta held last month and are expected to be the team to beat. They were followed closely by the blind sailing team from Houston, Texas.

The Carroll Center, most noted for rehabilitation programs for newly blinded persons, pioneered the development of organized sailing instructions for blind persons in 1979, and currently their SailBlind program is the only organized sailing program for blind persons in the U.S. According to Carroll Center president, Rachel Rosenbaum, "Sailing a boat is just another example of the unlimited potential of blind and vision-impaired persons when given the opportunity and the training."

In 1992, the Carroll Center published a manual, "Facing the Wind," that shares adaptive methods and techniques of teaching blind persons how to sail.

Spectators are invited to watch this interesting event that can be viewed from the Courageous Sailing Center, Pier 4 in the Charlestown Navy Yard or from other vantage points throughout the inner harbor.

registration fee of $25, must be paid.

Travel team schedules will be distributed by coaches when received from the respective leagues.

Charlestown Pop Warner Football

Charlestown Pop Warner Football teams played this past Sunday down at the Neck in front of a large hometown crowd.

The D-Team lost to Mattapan 6-0. The entire team played well and deserves a lot of credit for an excellent job. They will travel to Plymouth next Sunday for game two.

The C-Team lost 21-0 in a very tough game. Mattapan's defense could not be penetrated.

The A-Team won a great game 26-19 against Braintree. Jimmy White scored, and Ricky Evers scored twice. Tim Monaco had the two interceptions of the day and ran one back 55 yards for a touchdown. Every person on the team played great. A lot of credit goes to head coach, Rob McIntosh.

On behalf of Charlestown Pop Warner, we would like to thank the following for their donations this past week: Jim Brett, candidate for mayor, Kevin and Suzanne Roche and Teamsters Local 25.

Weld's Proposed Gas Tax Will Cost Jobs And Cut Transportation Projects

If Gov. William Weld's proposal to cut the Massachusetts gas tax by 4.3 cents per gallon is implemented, it will cost the state millions of dollars each year that should go into key infrastructure and transportation projects. In turn, that will cost the construction industry thousands of new jobs, according to a recent Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) memorandum.

Revenues from the existing 21 cent per gallon gas tax finance the state's transportation projects through the highway fund. Each penny of Weld's proposed reduction in that tax means the loss of about $27 million in annual revenue available to transportation investment. A 4.3 cent reduction would mean a decrease of $114 million of capital investment each year. The governor has already withheld over $200 million from the highway fund to balance the state's general revenue shortfall, delaying crucial transportation construction projects. Any additional cut in funding will be devastating.

"With the Massachusetts economy running out of gas, it is more important than ever to marshal our resources carefully," said Paul L. Barrett, director of the BRA. "Gov. Weld's proposed cut in the gas tax does just the opposite, it squanders revenue that is critical to key transportation projects and job creation in the city of Boston and throughout the state.

"Beyond the immediate negative impact on both the city of Boston and the state, the loss of these funds and the indefinite delay in key infrastructure and transportation projects will cripple Massachusetts' competitive future. Infrastructure improvements are crucial to the state's ability to attract new business. Without them, businesses will go elsewhere, and Massachusetts will lose out on job creation and tax revenue," said Barrett.

The negative impact of this cut on transportation projects in the city of Boston, and particularly on the neighborhoods of Charlestown, Roxbury, the South End and Jamaica Plain, would be dramatic.

Among the many deserving and critical projects which are likely to be affected is the construction of the Medford Street by-pass road which would provide traffic connections between the Charlestown Navy Yard and the regional highway system, and assist in the development of 1.1 million square feet of new medical research space in the Yard, creating 2,300 new jobs.

MSL Judicial Internship Program

A student intern from the Massachusetts School of Law is helping the Charlestown District Court deal with its caseload this fall in exchange for some first-hand judicial experience.

Presiding Justice Peter Agnes will have the services of MSL student Rosemary Brodette, who will spend one or two days a week for the next 15 weeks assisting with legal research, opinion writing and other court-related legal work.

MSL Professor Constance Rudnick said the program, which is matching more than a dozen students with seven different trial courts, differs from traditional post-law-school clerkships in that students will receive academic credit rather than a salary.

"The judiciary has suffered serious budgetary cut-backs in recent years," Rudnick said. "Our goal is to alleviate some of the burden on the trial courts while giving the interns an opportunity to participate in the day-to-day workings of the court system."

The government has endorsed the use of chiropractors by including their treatment in Workmen's Compensation.

The legislature's plan to create a special state commission to develop a long-term strategy on the future of historic preservation in the commonwealth was signed into law. Commenting on this most recent legislative success, Rep. Richard Voke said he was encouraged by the administration's change of heart on the matter.

"We did not become discouraged when the governor vetoed our first attempt to form a new panel to reform the way historic preservation matters are handled at the state level. Instead, we rolled up our sleeves and addressed areas that were points of contention. The result of this legislative effort is the formation of this commission," said Voke.

Voke indicated that the group would examine how various state agencies in the commonwealth are involved in preservation matters. He said that often times issues surrounding historic preservation fall under different state departments which cause the process to fracture. The commission is expected to address this concern as well as several other matters.

"Massachusetts is blessed with more historic landmarks than any other state in the country. It is hoped that by exploring better ways to deal with historic preservation matters, all will benefit. From the tourism industry, to the jobs associated with historic settings, we must do all that we can to enhance this important part of our cultural past," commented Voke.

Voke said the panel would be appointed in the near future and looked forward to its recommendations. He pledged to carefully weigh all proposals that were offered in an effort to optimize Massachusetts' competitive advantage inherent in its historic sites.

PFD Aid Slated For Two Charlestown Agencies

Two Charlestown non-profit agencies have been awarded funds to repair and upgrade their facilities, according to Acting Mayor Thomas M. Menino and Mary Nee, director of the city's Public Facilities Department (PFD).

The Boys & Girls Club and the Holden School on Pearl Street were among 24 non-profit agencies across the city which were awarded a total of $1 million in funding from PFD.

"Non-profit agencies and the services they provide are vital to the health of Boston's neighborhoods," Menino said. "With the support of PFD, these agencies will no longer be forced to choose between devoting scarce resources to essential services or to physical repair."

Nee said she often hears from non-profit agencies asking for help in making physical improvements to their facilities, so she directed PFD to set aside $1 million in the FY 93 Community Development Block Grant budget for the Partners With Non-Profits Program. The non-profit agencies receiving funding from PFD responded to an advertised request for proposals.

The Boys & Girls Club was awarded $38,800 to repair the roof and the Holden School was awarded $21,000 toward roof repairs.

The Morning After

Dear Gloria,
The Rosaria Salerno Committee of Charlestown congratulates the winners in yesterday's election. Their workers are our neighbors who want what we all want, a better, safer neighborhood. Let's all stay tuned to hear the specifics from each candidate for mayor.

A Very Special Thank You

Dear Friends,
The family of Erick Christopher Lalande would like to thank each of you for all of the love and support shown to us when we lost Erick. We would especially like to thank Tom and Rhandi Burns for always being there, Alan Skinner, Kathi Doherty and Joe Nardone for the dinner, the doctors and nurses at Boston City Hospital for everything they did throughout Erick's short life to keep him comfortable and for loving him so much. Special thanks to Marisa Baskin, Erick's primary nurse at BCH, for not only always being there for Erick, but for being there for all of us as well, through everything! A big thank you is extended to Lynn Burke, Erick's favorite "at home" nurse. Finally, sincere thanks go out to Barbara Hubener and the Copy Desk Editors at the Boston Globe. We did not know what we would have done without any of you. Your kindness will always be remembered.
We ask all of you to remember Erick as the happy, smiling and loving little baby that he was. He certainly brought a lot of joy and happiness into our lives, and we know that he touched the hearts of all those who met him.
Last but not least, a heartfelt thank you to Father Ron Coyne of St. Catherine's Church for the beautiful celebration of Erick's life. If there is any we forgot, please accept our apology. You all were wonderful and we will always thank you for that.

Love,
Erick's Family

My Thanks

I would like to thank everybody who attended and worked so hard on my "Surprise 70th Birthday Party" on Sept. 11. It was a real delight and honor to see so many friends and relatives under one roof.
I wish to thank my family — Carol, Bill, Ellen, Eric and Karen. I love you all!
A special thanks to Mary Maloney who, I understand, helped with "the behind the scenes" work.

Again, thank you all! It was truly special!
Flo Johnson
P.S. The hall looked great, Janice!
P.P.S. Thank you Lori for taking all those pictures and also Ann and Gene for putting the affair on video.

Compassion For Power Is Misplaced

To The Editor,
It was very heartwarming to read the wonderful and insightful articles about Katherine Ann Power, or "Kathy," as she has been affectionately referred to by family, friends and members of the media. A lump rose in my throat as I read of how she struggled with her feelings of "intense guilt," how she was forced to live as a fugitive and how "she has been in prison for virtually 23 years." Now she was willing to suspend the life she has built for herself and face the consequences of her past. The severity of the consequences of course, having been negotiated from the safety of being in hiding.
She threw herself a "potluck" dinner with 30 or 40 adoring friends and burned sage to cleanse the energy before returning to Boston to surrender herself and appear in court with a broad smile on her face. She released a statement in which she spread the blame for her crimes on the Vietnam War, the government, the times and social activism. Katherine Ann Power, a bank robber and accomplice to murder has not, however, denounced or expressed remorse for her knowing and willing involvement in this outlaw gang of murdering thieves who advocated and actively participated in an armed and violent attempt to overthrow the government of the United States. To this day, she is described as an Anarchist who does not vote and believes democracy to be wrong.
During her 23 years of "virtual prison," she was able to have a child, a home, get married, earn a living and make friends — not a bad sentence so far.
However, Walter Schroeder, known to his nine children as "Daddy," hasn't had the opportunity to do any of these things in the past 23 years and didn't have time to enjoy a farewell dinner with his family and friends. All he got was a funeral. Walter Schroeder, a husband, father, a police officer and a man of honor was murdered. He was shot in the back as he responded to a hold-up alarm at a bank being robbed by Power and her group. He will not be allowed to barter his future or re-unite with his family. His family will celebrate birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, holidays and the simple everyday joys and sorrows of life without Walter Schroeder.

Walter Schroeder will never again kiss his wife and children or hold them in his arms. He won't be there to raise his family with his wife or build a future. He will never escort his daughters down the aisle, or bounce his grandchildren on his knee. All this because of "Kathy" and her cowardly terrorist friends and their warped set of values.
Whatever Power gets for a sentence will not be enough. If she had committed her crimes in some other states, she would be subject to the death penalty, and well deserving of it. Any sorrow or compassion for Power is sadly misplaced and should be reserved for the Schroeder family and Walter Schroeder himself, who laid down his life for the people he was sworn to protect.
