

Gaynor Maddox Let's Eat

Here's a party for the young and young-at-heart also. As today's parties stress informality and little work, this one starts at the local drive-in where cheerburgers and French fries are bought and then rushed home for the party. Keep them hot! Get the crowd started your front door.

- To accompany the carry-out cheerburgers whip up an assortment of relishes. For example: Hawaiian chili features pineapple and bacon with a bit of soy sauce. One which forms sliced stuffed olives and chili sauce and American wild in a perfect blend of olives marinated and pickle relish.

- HAWAIIAN CHEESEBURGER RELISH 1/2 pound bacon 1 cup drained crushed pineapple 1/2 teaspoon soy sauce 1/2 teaspoon vinegar Cut bacon into small pieces. Fry until crisp. Drain and crumble into small bits. Combine with other ingredients. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

- AMERICAN CHEESEBURGER RELISH 1/2 cup chopped onion 1/2 cup yellow pepper mustard 1/2 cup sliced green olives 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives 1/2 cup sliced green onion Combine ingredients to make 1 cup.

- OLE CHEESEBURGER RELISH 1/2 cup chili sauce 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives 1/2 cup sliced green onion Combine ingredients to make 1 1/2 cups.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several weeks ago I attended a discussion group on matrimony in the U.S.A. I got the place depressed and determined to do something for the disadvantaged children in this country.

When I arrived home there was a note from the school nurse saying our youngest boy should be taken to a physician for a checkup and put on a nourishing diet. The note said he had seven pounds underweight, has too many dental cavities, was absent from school an excessive number of days, and he looks to eat less junk and more wholesome food.

I was furious and assumed the nurse must have a grudge against our son or she would not have written such an insulting note. After all, we are an upper middle-class family, not slum dwellers.

I took the boy to the doctor the following day and learned our boy was in appalling physical condition - anemic, underweight, the works. The doctor allowed the school teachers to allow their children to come to our house for a week. He pointed out that many children from well-to-do families are in the same predicament.
