The morning of June 17 dawned hot and steamy, similar to the weather recorded in the history books as that withstood by the patriots who fought and died in this town on June 17, 1775. This day marked the 219th anniversary of the first pitched battle of the Revolutionary War as the colonials took on the elite British forces in their quest for freedom.

This day not only marked the 219th anniversary of the battle, but also the 200th anniversary of the construction of the first wooden monument erected in honor of the heroes of this battle by King Solomon's Lodge of the Masons.

As has become a tradition, the day began with a service of music, prayer and readings at St. Francis de Sales Church - on top of Bunker Hill. Guests were led into the sanctuary by

Not for nothin' ... But have you heard ...

• Special Thanks ... To Some Special People ...

The fund-raising efforts for the Bunker Hill Day celebration were difficult, to say the least. Residents, businesses, organizations, elected officials and candidates for public office were most responsive to the plea from the Parade Committee ... each and every donation was important - from the $1 booster donation or raffle ticket to the substantial donations from friends of the community ... Not diminishing the importance of any contribution, there are a dozen or so that should be given special mention for donations of $250 or more ... Thanks goes out to Citizens Financial Group (formerly Newworld Bank) - $1,500, Rep. Richard A. Voke, House Majority Leader - $1,000, Massport - $1,000, John Lakian, candidate for U.S. Senate - $1,000, Gerry Malone, candidate for Suffolk County District Attorney - $1,000, District One Boston City Councillor Diane Modica - $500, Gardens for Charlestown - $500, James F. Donovan Scholarship Fund - $500, Maureen Condon - $500, 99 Restaurant and Pub - $450, Teamsters Local 25 - $250, and Boston Sand and Gravel and the Boylan family - $250 ... To each person who worked to raise funds for the celebration, which is so meaningful to so many, and to those who responded to the call - Chief Marshal Marty O'Brien Sr., Parade Adjutant Jim Conway and the entire Parade Committee say "THANKS!"

• The Story Of A Lady ... whose favorite day of the year is Bunker Hill Day and who just loves the annual parade, is a story that began last summer ... This lady approached a member of the Parade Committee stating she had always wanted to do something special for the celebration, but when June came around, money was sometimes a little short. She asked whether she could mail a donation in each month and, of course, the answer was "certainly." Donations began in August of last year, with a $25 check arriving each month ... By Bunker Hill Day this year, this lady had donated $300 and a unit was in the parade - for your pleasure - as the result of her most generous donations.

• The Bunker Hill Day Parade ... will be cablecast on channels 3 and 23 on Sunday, June 26th at 2 p.m. ... The year's event was produced by Kevin Burke and hosted by Margaret "Peggy" Ings and Kevin Roche.

• Birthday Wishes ... go out this week to Jenny Evers and Kenny Hall, both celebrating today, June 23rd ... and June 25th is the big day for Jim Connors ... Best wishes to you all!

• The Little Kids ... and their parents at Mishawum Park Housing are looking for some help in raising funds to renovate a tot lot on the premises ... Join them on Saturday night, June 25th at 7 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall for dancing and merriment while you help their cause.

• With Official Announcements ... soon to follow, several organizations have nominated and/or elected new leaders for the coming year ... Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion has elected Vietnam vet and long-time member Paul Moreau as its commander for 1994-95 ... The Healthy Charlestown Coalition is now headed by Peter Patrick Looney as chairman with Jean Babcock appointed to fill the position as coordinator ... This coming Sunday night will see the officers of the Charlestown Preservation Society elected with Annette Tecce heading the organization for the coming year ... Congratulations to you all and your slate of officers!

• Hey, Kids ... Don't say there is nothing to do in the town when there is a group of parents willing to see that Charlestown youngsters play Pop Warner Football ... After three registration days and a number of telephone calls, there are only 16 boys signed up to play for the coming season. Don't let this opportunity pass you by ... give Jack Schievink a call at 241-7767.

• Get Well Wishes ... go out to Marylou Cerolia of Old Landing Way who is recuperating following triple bypass surgery. We're sure she would appreciate hearing from her many friends at: New England Deaconess Hospital, Farr Building, Room 812, 185 Pilgrim Road, Boston, Mass. 02215 ... ★ Old Rutherford Avenue Park . . . Residents were in attendance at the June 14 Neighborhood Council meeting with concerns regarding the park at Old Rutherford Avenue and Union Street. An area resident stated that early in June, Boston Parks Department personnel came to the site and removed the poles for a tennis net and installed a street hockey court. One of her main concerns was the failure to notify abutters of the changes and a lack of public process.

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, told the CNC that she had received numerous calls from community folks and was concerned that groups of residents were going against one another. She stated that she had been informed the tennis courts would be put back immediately. She assured residents that there would be a public process for input in the fall when capital improvements are planned for the site.

On June 22, Leo Boucher, program coordinator for the Boston Parks Department, stated that he had obtained approval from Parks Commissioner Pat Harrington for the installation of portable poles and a tennis net. He said that an engineer has to visit the site and, hopefully, the project can be completed in two weeks. Boucher went on to say that the two interests should be able to work out their activities in the park, and he stated there would be public meetings in the fall on the plans for the park.

Boucher asked that persons interested in playing tennis on that site contact him at 635-4505 to make arrangements for access to the tennis net and poles.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . . Progress continues according to schedule on the Boston Redevelopment Authority Three Streets reconstruction project. Current work is mainly concentrated on Tremont, Union and Soley streets.

Crews continue resetting

the granite curbstone on Tremont Street along with grading and preparing the gravel base for the sidewalks.

Placement of sections of the new concrete sidewalk has started. Provisions for wheelchair access ramps are being made at the street corners. Loam has been spread and grass has been planted in the area adjacent to the rebuilt stone wall near the Lowney Way end of the street.

On Union Street, the bases for new gas street lamps and service pipe connections have been completed. All roof drains have been connected to the storm drain system. Excavation of the existing pavement surface and placement of the gravel road base is currently underway. The next phase of work will be the initial course of pavement.

Installation of concrete bases and gas service piping for new gas streetlights has started on Soley Street. Lights are planned for the entire length of each side of the street. After the lights have been installed, preparations for resurfacing will begin.

Weekday parking restrictions are in effect on Union, Tremont and Soley streets. Residents are urged to continue to cooperate and comply with these restrictions so the reconstruction work can be completed as quickly as practical. Cooperation thus far has been appreciated.

For questions, concerns or complaints, residents should contact Ed O'Donnell at the BRA at 722-4300, ext. 4346.

A Postage Stamp Is A Special Project For Peter

by Melissa Doherty

Imagine if you were not able to remember how to make change for a dollar. Imagine if you knew what you wanted to say but other words came out of your mouth. Imagine if you had a disease which caused these and many other simple tasks to become impossible to accomplish. Welcome to the world of Peter Murtha.

Peter is 54 years old and suffers from Alzheimer's Disease. He was diagnosed four years ago at the rather young age of 50. Before he became sick, Peter was an accountant with a good job, a car, health insurance and an independent life.

However, now he has become part of the estimated 100,000 people in Mass. who suffer from this debilitating disease. He had to give up his job, his driver's license and declare bankruptcy. His mind no longer does what he wants and his communication skills have been greatly affected. This quiet, softspoken man must now carry around a card to explain why he acts the way he does. It reads: "Please don't misinterpret my behavior. I have Alzheimer's disease, which causes problems with my memory and speech. Please be patient and help me complete my transaction." However, Peter has not allowed this disease to take away his desire to do something positive in his life.

For the past eight months, Peter has been campaigning to raise awareness about Alzheimer's in the United States by creating a commemorative postage stamp. This project is Peter's way of making a difference while he still can. Through his friends, John MacDonald and Bill Donaldson, and the Alzheimer's Association where Peter volunteers one day a week, he has been able to turn his idea into a possibility. "I think he is remarkable" said MacDonald. "He puts himself in a situation where he has to communicate and talk, which is very difficult for him." It is this unselfishness which makes Peter's efforts even more inspiring.

The main goal of Peter's project is to raise the awareness of people to the loneliness and helplessness of a person with Alzheimer's. It attacks a person's thought processes and drains not only their thoughts but also their self esteem. Peter has learned how hard this disease is to fight, and has also learned that people are ready to help.

He feels that the community of Charlestown has been "extremely supportive". Stores such as Johnnie's Foodmaster and Jenny's have been very helpful to Peter and made him realize that the support he needed to further his project started here. MacDonald describes Charlestown's support of Peter as "taking care of one's own in a positive way." He also added that "Peter didn't realize how friendly they were until he needed their help."

Alzheimer's disease is the fourth leading cause of death among adults. Money is needed to find a cure, care for its victims and correct the misinformation that puts a stigma on those who suffer from it. Most victims are too old to be viewed as important. Their quiet and painful suffering goes unnoticed by many people and by the government. There is no Alzheimer's ribbon, no full medical coverage, no specialized care facilities and no major interest in a disease that affects so many lives. Peter is trying to change all that.

He appeared before the Governor's Conference on Alzheimer's disease on June 1 to present his ideas and views on the disease. He spoke to the panel about how "frustrating" the disease is and the fact that he has no family to support or take care of him when he can no longer live alone. Peter has contacted U.S. Rep. Joseph Kennedy about his stamp project, and Kennedy wrote a letter to the Postmaster General on Peter's behalf. He has also contacted Gov. William Weld and Sen. Edward Kennedy. In addition, he has been collecting signatures supporting his stamp project.

Peter Murtha describes himself as "a quiet person" and was afraid of what type of impressions his deteriorating abilities had on those he came in contact with. However, now that he is fighting this disease he says it "makes me feel better about myself."

Peter still has a long time to wait before his stamp is a reality but it is his belief that it will happen that puts a smile on his face - a smile that should remind us that behind every face that suffers from Alzheimer's disease is a person who we must remember because they can not.

Peter Murtha is a very brave man to be facing the struggle of communicating and working to achieve his goal. However, now Peter is facing an even harder battle. Last Thursday, Peter was struck by a car in the crosswalk on the Gilmore Bridge. Peter smashed through the windshield and was thrown 20 feet into the road. As a result of the accident, Peter suffered seven broken bones including both ankles, major damage to his elbows, and serious facial lacerations. He will have to be in rehabilitation for six to eight weeks when he is released from the hospital.

The life of Peter Murtha over the past four years has been heartbreaking. A disease has been so powerful that it has taken away his job, his independence and his abilities. However, it has left the spirit of this remarkable man intact, one that will not surrender and will continue to fight whatever challenge it faces. It is Peter's hope to see his idea become a lasting symbol of his determination - a determination that keeps his spirit alive.

STARTING A NEW BUSINESS? HERE'S A WAY TO PROTECT YOURSELF IN THE EVENT IT SOURS

If you are considering starting a new business, making the right moves when setting up your company will ensure that you will be able to nail down the maximum tax write-offs in case the venture turns sour. One way you can protect yourself against future losses is to be sure your stock qualifies as "Code Section 1244" stock when you incorporate.

Congress has long recognized the risks involved in starting up and running a small business. Therefore, to encourage people to invest in small business corporations, a special tax rule applies to losses shareholders might receive. This rule permits shareholders to quickly recoup their losses in the event their company isn't successful.

At the time you form your small business corporation, have the directors designate your investment as Code Section 1244 stock. Then, in the event your company fails and your stock becomes worthless, you can generally declare a loss on your personal tax return of up to $50,000 each year. And, if you are married, you may deduct up to $100,000 on your joint return, even if only one spouse owned the stock.

Without this special tax break, it could take forever to recoup your losses. You would be able to offset only $3,000 in losses each year against ordinary income, taking the rest against any capital gains you have. The remainder would have to be carried over to future years.

To take advantage of this special provision, your company must be set up as a small business corporation. Generally, a corporation will be considered to be a small business corporation if the amount of money and other property received by the corporation for stock, and as paid-in surplus, does not exceed $1 million.

This special tax break is available only to the original owner of the stock. That means you can't qualify if you buy Section 1244 from another party to whom it was first issued.

TO SEE HOW THIS CAN AFFECT YOU, CALL TODAY!

move to the present, fast-forwarding 219 years to today's heroes, men and women who hear the call and come forward to defend their liberty and promote the common good. It happens every day, not only in Charlestown, but across the city, state and country.

Oftentimes, these heroes are overlooked. That's why we need contemporary obelisks and monuments to identify them and opportunities to even recognize and herald them. The heroes today are in your homes, workplaces, churches, schools — they are you. They are the New England Militia of 1994, the people who are daily striving to make America better, to make it work for all, both present and future generations, these are the people who unbelievably still "mean what they say."

These people come from the same spectrum of backgrounds as did the heroes of this great battlefield — workers, artisans, firemen, teachers, policemen and even lawyers are part of the Militia of 1994.

It's true they won't die on a redoubt again, but they will and still valiantly serve their nation. They are trying to make health care and hospitals work! Schools work! Parks work! Churches work! Communities work! Families work! The nation work! Just as the men of Bunker Hill, they mean what they say!

We seldom focus on these heroes. I think it's because everyday heroes don't attract attention. They're not hot! — not TV news. They do their jobs and meet their responsibilities and they mean what they say.

I find many heroes right here in our own backyard, extraordinary men and women who give themselves in fulfilling their often self-assumed responsibilities to their fellow citizens and community. An example of such a hero is with us today, Mr.

Martin O'Brien, the Chief Marshal of this year's Bunker Hill Day Parade and festivities. For those who don't know Marty O'Brien, Mr. O'Brien, a Navy veteran who served his nation in World War II, is an accomplished and successful leader in the Boston Fire Department, now retired. He is an active, always to be counted on community leader. Among other things, he's served on the Neighborhood Council and in too many other civic roles to mention here. He is a stalwart and loving husband and a father of 10 children, all of whom still reside here, he is a leader in his church community. — Wow! to me, Marty, you are a member of the New England Militia of 1994 and there is no question in my mind that you would be right here fast reversed back 219 years. — you would be on the redoubt with the heroes of Bunker Hill!!

The best part of this history lesson though is that when we look around we can see many heroes in our midst, men and women carrying on the commitment and resolve of the men of Bunker Hill. Thank God for them all, thank God that they still "mean what they say."

At the conclusion of the oration, Conway presented Burchill with an inscribed paperweight containing a pewter Bunker Hill Monument, which was designed by local artist Tom Gorsuch. O'Brien presented Burchill with a t-shirt commemorating the 200th anniversary of the construction of the first wooden monument by King Solomon's Lodge of the Masons.

Rev. Ford delivered the benediction, which was followed by Taps by the buglers of the Colonial Band of Lawrence.

The ceremony concluded with the laying of a wreath at the statue of Colonel William Prescott in honor of the fallen heroes of Bunker Hill.

At this time, there are only 16 boys registered to play football. In the past, registration has been slow, but this year, it is extremely slow.

If there are not enough players for four full teams, the spot in the league will have to be forfeited.

Three registrations have already been held. There will be no more. It is very important that anyone interested in playing call Jack Schievink at 241-7767 or Kevin McCusker at 242-5264 as soon as possible.

A LITTLE BIT OF BACK TALK

Did you know that to become a certified chiropractor takes a minimum of six years of college training? In most states, chiropractors are required to attend and pass annual seminars to have their licenses renewed.

The government has endorsed the use of chiropractors by including their treatment in Workmen's Compensation.

If you've been hesitant about seeing a chiropractor and this hasn't answered your questions, feel free to ask us directly. Call today.

Senate Passes Birmingham Budget Plan Including Funds For Camp Bunker Hill

The full Senate last week approved Sen. Thomas F. Birmingham's state budget plan for the next fiscal year, making few changes to the $16.3 billion plan drafted by Birmingham. The budget is now before a six-member conference committee charged with ironing out differences between the House and Senate versions. Birmingham will be senate chairman of that committee.

Under Birmingham's proposal for the state's fiscal year which begins July 1, Camp Bunker Hill in Charlestown will receive a good portion of a $25,000 appropriation for Department of Mental Health camp programs. "These funds should ensure that Camp Bunker Hill can continue providing quality service to the area's emotionally needy children," said Birmingham.

Birmingham reported that the budget plan also includes an increase over the current fiscal year of $4.1 million in unrestricted local aid for Boston and a $14.9 million increase in education aid. More MWRA rate relief will also be available from the state; the Chelsea Soldiers Home will receive a $100,375 increase over last year's level; a lead paint removal loan program receives $4.5 million; and a 3 percent Cost of Living Adjustment (COLA) on pension income for state and municipal retirees is fully funded.

"I am confident that the final budget will include these projects that are so important to Charlestown residents," said Birmingham.

THANK YOU, GOD

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include named, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

Many Thanks

Many thanks to M. Ilyas Bhatti permitting the use of the skating rink in the event of rain; to Jim Conway of the Parade Committee and Grand Knight Eddie Woods for their generosity; Bud Whelan and the Bunker Hill Irish Heritage Society for the great T-shirts; Jackie Sullivan and the 520 Club for the children's ice cream; and to Father James Canniff for the use of St. Mary's Parish Hall.

You people are always there for the Doll Carriage Parade and it is deeply appreciated.

What Happened To The Tennis Court?

Someone wanted a street hockey court. A telephone call was made and bingo, no more tennis court.

On June 7, city workers rolled into Charlestown and removed the poles that held the tennis net at the Lawrence Street and Old Rutherford Avenue park. The holes were cemented and a chain link fence was installed and bingo, a street hockey court at the cost of about $5,000 and calls to the Parks Department have fallen on deaf ears. The park is in need of repairs and if any money was available, it should have been spent to clean up the place.

Calls to the Parks Department for the last month-and-a-half are still unanswered. I am waiting for the tree surgeon to come out from wherever he is hiding and try to save a 15-year-old tree. Does the city really have a tree surgeon?

The seniors once used this park as a half-way point to stop and rest when out doing errands. The Parks Department hasn't made repairs to this park in years - they don't even clean it anymore.

Why take away a tennis court when we can open the hockey rink in the summer months for rollerblade hockey? Let the people go before the Neighborhood Council. Some may want a street hockey court, or a tennis court or a parking lot. Whatever, the abutters and the people in the area should have been notified that changes were going to be made.

Grace Pizzurro

Mishawum Park Residents Seek Help In Rebuilding Tot Lot

BROKEN PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT at Dunstable Street and Tibbetts Town Way with a hole in the fence out to the Rutherford Avenue speedway stands as a rusting reminder of what was once a play area for the Mishawum Park youth. A fund raiser on Saturday, June 25 at the K. of C. will go toward renovating a tot lot for use by the area children.

Another Successful Pride Week

Dear Gloria:

As a lifelong Charlestown resident, I am proud of my heritage. After seeing so many come together to make our recent Bunker Hill Day Celebration so enjoyable and successful, my pride continues to grow. While it is impossible to single out every person who contributed to this, I hope you allow me the chance to publicly thank some special people who greatly aided my efforts as Bunker Hill Associates president in hosting our annual events.

Coordination on Pride Week activities could not have gone better. Mayor Tom Menino, Leo Boucher, Jim Mansfield, Dominic D'Ambrosio and Michael Testa all reinforced the city's commitment to Charlestown. While their actions were critical to the success of Pride Week, local efforts of those put forth by Sister Ann Rita, Zelma Lacey, Mel Stillman and his Local #25 brothers, and the Charlestown-to-Charlestown Committee were equally as vital and appreciated.

Likewise, our breakfast could not have gone better, as over 400 people were treated to a morning of community and comedy featuring the likes of Senate President William Bulger, Gov. William Weld and State Auditor Joe DeNucci. Steve Owens, John Reveliotis, Tom Cunha and Jack Pierce were just great. As usual, the Knights of Columbus members were terrific hosts. Thanks Rep. Richie Voke for once again showing us why we are so lucky in Charlestown to have a leader like you.

My fellow officers, Vice President Bill McCabe, Secretary Ed Kelly and Treasurer Ronan Fitzpatrick were invaluable, as was The Charlestown Patriot for the finest coverage of events any publication could ever report. Most importantly, I want to thank the over 1000 Charlestown people who attended our events and made them so successful. Helping to keep a spirit and tradition alive is a demanding responsibility, yet we in Charlestown do it better than all others.

Now with our big week over, we look forward to the most important aspect of our organization, continuing to support local youth activities. We truly are grateful that those above and so many others have made such a pursuit possible.

Appreciatively yours,
Peter Looney, president
Bunker Hill Associates

Thank You

Three of Charlestown's great teenagers took the time to help our son Phillip when he hurt his knee at the Bunker Hill Monument on June 5.

Thanks guys,
Phillip O'Neill and family

Federal Regulators Approve New Charles River Crossing for Central Artery/Tunnel Project

The Central Artery/Tunnel (CA/T) Project has received final federal environmental approval of the new Charles River Crossing design, a critical step in moving toward completion of the overall project, according to Lt. Gov. Paul Cellucci and Secretary of Transportation James J. Kerasiotes.

"The Federal Record of Decision approving the new Charles River Crossing design completes the commitment of the Weld/Cellucci administration not to build Scheme Z," said Cellucci. "Instead, we replace it with a new design that represents a vast improvement in terms of its environmental and aesthetic impacts."

"It is our responsibility to deliver the most environmentally responsible and cost-effective design for the tax-paying public," said Kerasiotes. "This design does just that. In addition, the new river crossing is far more aesthetically pleasing and less disruptive to the river and neighboring communities than Scheme Z."

The Federal Highway Administration's (FHWA) issuance of its favorable Record of Decision constitutes the final regulatory green light needed for the project to move ahead with the new river crossing design. The FHWA go-ahead comes after the Mass. Executive Office of Environmental Affairs (EOEA) issued its Certificate approving the new design.

The new Charles River Crossing design was developed as an alternative to Scheme Z, the previously approved river crossing design that was widely opposed by neighborhood groups, environmental organizations and Cambridge officials. The crossing, which will carry I-93 (the Central Artery) over the Charles River and make connections with Route 1 (Tobin Bridge) and Storrow Drive, is much less massive and intrusive than Scheme Z.

The new river crossing has two bridges and two-and-one-half loop ramps, instead of the three bridges and six loop ramps of Scheme Z. On the north bank of the river, the interchange has been pushed a minimum of 120 feet from the riverbank, allowing for development of parkland that will extend from the Esplanade to Boston Harbor.

"Other designs required tunneling in the river, which would have raised unknown risks and costs. Going over the river is more sensible and environmentally sound," said Kerasiotes. "The new river crossing can be built faster and less expensively than other alternatives to Scheme Z, and the selected plan preserves the option for a future north-south rail link beneath the new Central Artery."

Cellucci noted that the process to develop an alternative to Scheme Z took nearly three years and added $1 billion to the cost of the project. "Given the widespread and legitimate community opposition to Scheme Z, that was time and money well-spent," he said.

NOTICE

Beginning this week, construction crews will begin work on the next stage of the Boston Redevelopment Authority's street improvement project. This work will consists of the installation of gas street lights and pavement resurfacing on several neighborhood streets.

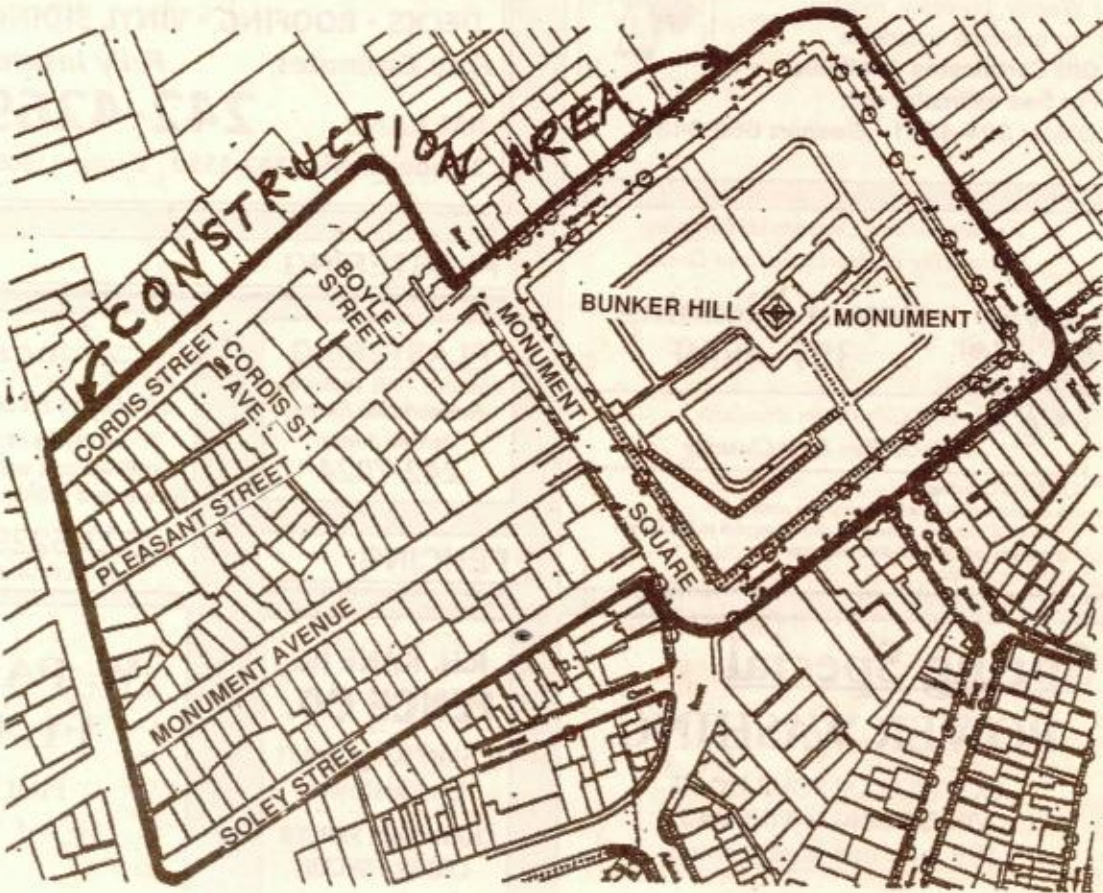

The first phase, installation of the gas street lights, will start on Soley Street. This work includes excavating for and setting concrete light bases in the sidewalks and the installation of piping to connect the lights to the gas main in the roadway.

After Soley Street, crews will proceed onto sections of Monument Avenue and Pleasant Street, and then continue to Cordis Street, Cordis Street Avenue and Boyle Street. There are also a few lights to be added on Monument Square.

The final phase of this project will be the placement of a new pavement surface on each of the above streets. In preparation for paving operations, crews will grind the existing surface of these streets to provide a proper crown and profile.

To accommodate the construction activities, unfortunately it will be necessary to prohibit parking on these streets during the hours of 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on work days. Signs will be posted on each street to indicate the specific dates that parking will not be allowed. Residents are warned that violators of parking restrictions will be towed at their own expense.
