District Representation Debate Feature Of October Town Meeting

by Sal Giarratani
The Charlestown Town Council
Steering Committee, at the September 22 meeting, discussed and voted in favor of several items for the October Town

Meeting agenda.

One of the agenda items will be District Representation. Speaking in favor of District Representation will be, hopefully, Rosemarie Sansone representing the Committee for Change. Speaking against will be the representative of the Ad Hoc Committee to Preserve Boston Neighborhoods.

The Charlestown Town Council is a non-partisan, non-political organization and will remain so. However, the issue of District Representation is one of such magnitude, affecting the governmental structure of city institutions that the Steering Committee felt mandated to provide this debate to Charlestown voters. The Town Council hopes a large turnout shows up for the October 20 Town Meeting (time and place to be announced.)

Other items on the October 20th agenda will be Police/Community Relations, Citizen Crime Prevention Program and Cable Television.

Bunker Hill School To Be Discussed

Charlestown residents concerned about the re-use of the Bunker Hill School on Baldwin Street will have an opportunity to express their opinions at a neighborhood hearing by the City Council's Committee on Neighborhood Services:

- Saturday, October 3, 1981
- 11:00 a.m.

- Charlestown Working Theatre, 442 Bunker Hill Street.

Boston City Councillor Raymond L. Flynn, who will chair the meeting, stated his concern that Charlestown residents "have a voice in how the Bunker Hill School is developed."

"Each type of re-use of the school — whether as a residential, commercial or social service facility — will have a distinct and significant impact on the surrounding community," he noted. "In a matter of such importance to the Charlestown community, neighborhood residents should have an opportunity to express their opinions about the type of use for the school."

The director of the city's Public Facilities Department, which will oversee the development, has been invited to attend.

Horizon Drum And Bugle Corps

Thinking about Selling Your Home?

SELLER-FINANCING WILL HELP SELL YOUR HOME

Why should an owner consider seller-financing? Besides the right price, financing is the key to a sale. Now that mortgage rates are above 18% fewer buyers qualify for mortgages. Seller financing expands the number of possible buyers and increases your chances of a selling price closer to your asking price.

Mortgage rates are still going up, and mortgages getting scarcer. Seller-financing can make the difference between a sale, and no sale at all.

Seller financing can be either a first or second mortgage, a very short term "purchase money mortgage", or some other form of assistance to the buyer. We'll explain the possibilities and tailor fit a financing method to your needs. Call JOEL CLAYDON at:

North Area/Central Artery Project Status

According to Ed Fitzgerald, North Area/Central Artery Project Manager for the Mass. Department of Public Works, the Department is reviewing the status of its recommendation of the preferred surface street/expressway ramp alternative for Charlestown's North Area Project.

This is happening partially as a result of the appointment of a new Acting MDPW Commissioner who is interested in this project as well as others under his purview. The North Area Project Subcommittee objected strongly to the previously proposed O-1 scheme and has stated so at its last subcommittee meeting. The project consultant team is continuing to work on more detailed engineering analysis of the project including any new data that may affect the alternatives.

It is expected that progress will be made on the Department's review within a few weeks, and a community meeting will be held at that time. North Area Task Force meetings are announced in the Patriot and project information can be obtained from Mary Hynes, the project's community liaison at 262-4354.

Charlestown Joins In Irish Protest March

COMING OVER THE WASHINGTON STREET BRIDGE Irish and American flags wave together showing Irish American support for Irish dissidents who are being held on criminal charges in Long Kesh prison. Approximately 1,000 supporters marched in the procession which began at the Bunker Hill Monument and ended at Boston Harbor, the site of the original Boston Tea Party.

THE CHARLESTOWN CONTINGENT carried crates of tea to the H.M.S. Beaver II where it was dumped overboard. City Council candidate James Kelly (far right) was counted as part of this contingent.

North Area Project Archaeology Study Begins

Acting Mass. Department of Public Works Commissioner Sando J. Tersigni today announced that archaeologists from Harvard University's Institute for Conservation Archaeology (ICA) will begin investigating several historic sites in Charlestown as part of Boston's North Area/Central Artery Project. ICA's work consists of digging over 7000 feet of exploratory trenches and doing archaeological analysis of the trench sidewalls and the excavated material.

The $125 million North Area Project is a major highway reconstruction project planned by the Mass. DPW in Charlestown and East Cambridge. The project, which is 90% funded by the Federal Highway Administration, consists of building a new Central Artery connection between Route I-93 and the Mystic-Tobin Bridge. The existing overhead ramps in City Square will be removed and be replaced by two new tunnels under City Square connecting to two loop ramps in the rail yards west of Rutherford Avenue. According to Commissioner Tersigni, the removal of the expressway structures will provide excellent opportunities for the redevelopment of Charlestown's City Square area.

The archaeological research is mandated by federal and state historic preservation requirements, including the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, and the Massachusetts Environmental Protection Act of 1972. This preliminary work is being done to determine if the 140 historic sites being investigated will merit full-scale archaeological digging and preservation of artifacts prior to construction of the new Charlestown Central Artery tunnels and ramps. The archaeological work involves digging 3-1/2 foot wide by 5 foot deep trenches, sifting through the excavated material and examining the trench sidewalls for evidence of archaeological remains. It is expected that traffic will not be significantly disrupted as the majority of excavation sites are on vacant land.

According to Mike Roberts, Director of ICA, two backhoes will be working for twelve weeks digging the trenches and three teams of archaeologists will do on-site as well as laboratory analysis of the soil and other material. In a few instances, a special form of radar equipment may be used to assist archaeologists in locating potential remains of 17th century waterfront settlements.

The Department is currently in the process of selecting a scheme for expressway ramps and the layout of surface streets in the project area. The actual Route 1 expressway alignment was chosen earlier during the project's environmental analysis. Three more years will be devoted to the engineering and design of the North Area Project, with construction expected to begin in 1985.

Crime Prevention Meeting

A Neighborhood Crime Prevention Meeting will be held on Tuesday, October 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlestown Community Center, 14 Green Street. There will be discussion on crime issues and how crime has affected people in Charlestown. People are asked to share their experiences by joining us on the 13th.

Alternative Financing is the Key to Your New Home

Whether You're Selling or Buying!

Yes you can!

Today, most homebuyers believe that in order to qualify financially to purchase a home, it is necessary to (1) come up with a large down payment, and (2) secure a first loan at prevailing interest rates for the remainder of the purchase price.

Use of this traditional method of purchasing property has diminished recently, and, as a result, many people feel they can no longer participate in real estate purchasing. There are alternative methods of buying and selling property, however, and in many cases they are more beneficial to the buyer and the seller than traditional methods. These alternative methods will become increasingly popular in the next decade.

As average home prices and prime mortgage interest rates increase, the demand for alternative methods of buying and selling increase correspondingly. Currently, more than 50% of all real estate transactions involve one or more alternative financing methods...methods that are beneficial to both the buyer and seller of property...methods available to you.

Why the best time is right now!

The demand for housing is increasing daily. This demand, and the appreciation of residential properties, will increase throughout this decade. The Wall Street Journal calls real estate "the average family's greatest single hedge against inflation." This, coupled with the decline in new housing construction, means the demand for housing will be even greater.

With all things considered—tax advantages, potential for constant appreciation, increasing demand for housing, and the emotional benefits of home ownership—right now is the very best time to purchase your own home.

What are some of my alternatives?

For most of us, purchasing a home is the largest financial transaction of our lives. Thus it is critical that we, as either buyer or seller, create the most advantageous financial arrangements for ourselves at the time of the property transaction.

There are dozens of alternative ways to buy or otherwise acquire property...Contract for Sale, Assumption, Lease Purchase, Exchange or Trade, and many others.

How to create a down payment!

Many people don't fully realize their ability to create a down payment. Following are several alternative ways to increase your purchasing capability:

- Equity Loans—Many lenders will provide a loan for you

- Insurance Policy—Many people have thousands of dollars at low interest sitting in their insurance policy. Borrowing from the policy at fixed rates is an excellent way to increase your down payment capability.
- "Sweat" Equity—This is an approved and relatively common way to "work for the down payment." Should the house need repairs, or simply some final touches, you may arrange with the lender to work for all or part of the down payment by putting the house into shape. Your efforts and repairs are credited like cash to the down payment.
- Co-Mortgages—A co-signer helps with the down payment. You live in the property and make the monthly payments.
- "Grandparent" Loans—These are loans that a Grandparent or other relative may offer, primarily to help you purchase your first home.

A professional CENTURY 21 agent can help you decide which method fits your situation and needs, and negotiate in your behalf. Although there are a multitude of ways to acquire property, there are essentially four ways to finance the purchase of property:

- First or Primary Loans
- Secondary Loans
- Wraparound Loans
- Lease

Primary and Secondary Loans can be arranged through either the seller of the property or from a third party, in most cases a financial institution. There are hundreds of creative, alternative ways to apply those four methods of financing to put a transaction together which benefits both the buyer and seller.

The point is this: If there is a qualified buyer who wants to buy, and a seller who wants to sell, a real estate transaction beneficial to both can be made, regardless of time of year, economic climate, or any other consideration.

Community Center Takes A New Approach

by Maria Girvin

Interested in writing a creative letter? Learning to plan meals on a budget? Joining a parent/toddler sing-a-long? Well if so, hurry down to the Community Center on Green Street and sign up because these are just a few of the 23 classes beginning this week, some scheduled for day, and others for evenings in an attempt to attract a new interest in the Community Center.

Nearly 10 years old, the Community Center recently evaluated itself. Participation in programs and special events had dropped over the years and the center was beginning to question their existence. "We had really stopped reaching out to the community," said Director Tracey Lind, who joined the center five months ago at the peak of a funding crisis.

The Community Center was a joint venture between the Bunker

SINCE ITS BEGINNING, the Community Center has been a gathering place for young mothers to visit with each other.

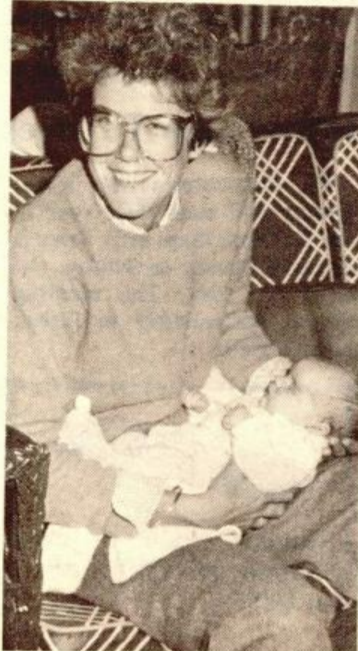

Hill Health Center, the community and the Junior League of Boston. It was discovered back in 1972 that many women who came to the Health Clinic for treatment were, indeed, well. However, they were lonely and needed someone to talk to. That was the impetus to begin the Community Center, with most of the funding coming from the Junior League.

At first the center was a big success and remained so for quite a few years. However, times started changing and women were either going back to work, out-growing the center or their children were out-growing the center's day care program and thus the mothers quit coming. "We never got new participants," said Tracey.

So as the center draws near its 10 year anniversary, it is trying a new focus such as running classes in the evening. "We conducted a survey in the community to see what people wanted and a lot of folks said the reason they stopped coming was because there were no evening classes," said Tracey. So now for the first time, the Community Center will be open two evenings a week with a pot of coffee for its visitors and six classes are being offered.

"We have a philosophy here," said Tracey, "Help yourself by helping others." We want to broaden ourselves by becoming the community resource center. We've got the ingredients, a history, a staff, an office, some equipment. We will help with a program idea aimed at improving the neighborhood, and which finds the commonalities between new-comers and townies so that everyone can pitch in and make the community a good place to shut its doors when it feared funding would not be found for the fiscal year. However, an $80 thousand budget was rounded up through donations by the Junior League, United Way, First National Bank, etc. Participation in the summer events went up and sign-ups for this fall's classes are positive. Tracey has also managed to raise $40 thousand for the 1982 fiscal year too. It would seem the center is on its way back to being a focus in the community.

Footlight Parade To Light Up Theater District

At 9:00 p.m. on Friday, October 2, the Main Ballroom of the Boston Park Plaza Hotel will be transformed into a magical setting of lights and glitter. Thousands of people will be the stars for one fun-filled evening of fantasy when the curtain goes up on the Third Annual Footlight Parade gala Costume Ball.

There will be a dazzling display of lights, and follow spots will showcase the star-studded audience dancing to the swinging beat of Dick Johnson and his 17-piece swing band, and the Tiffany Trio.

To insure that not one moment of the evening will be dull, guests costumed as their favorite stage and screen personalities, will walk the footlights before a panel of distinguished judges to compete for dozens of prizes ranging from a one week vacation for two in Acapulco (arranged by American Express) to a portrait by Fabian Bachrach.

When the merriment at the Boston Park Plaza Hotel ends at Midnight, area restaurants will keep the frenzy alive by featuring special midnight suppers for the partygoers.

Proceeds from this $20 per person gala evening will be used for the on-going revitalization and renovation of Boston's historic Theatre District. Tickets are available at Bostix, or can be reserved by calling 536-1448.

Where

A DOLLAR IS STILL WORTH A DOLLAR

To Talk Of Many Things

A District Is Not A Neighborhood

by Sal Giarratani
 Another liberal ploy ... sleight of hand ... Heads you lose, tails you lose." — Pixie Palladino

According to the Boston Tab (September 14), District Representation is the answer to all of Boston's problems. A front page story, "City Council has problems; Sansone has a cure," tells about City Councillor Rosemarie Sansone's efforts to get District Representation for the city council and school committee. Questions One and Two on the November ballot, passed into law.

You can bet, there will be a media blitz by Sansone's Committee for Change and also by the Mel King troops now that the preliminary is past history.

You can bet, they will move into as many neighborhoods as possible, in a grassroots attempt to convince voters that change is important.

Proponents have left the impression that there is only one side to this issue, THEIR side and anyone who opposes it is either stupid or a racist — a McCarthyism if ever I saw one!

The proponents are apparently afraid to face the opposition. Check out the news media in this city, where but in a few circumstances are opponents of the measure given a real opportunity to get out their facts.

The Boston Globe recently ran an advertisement which quoted John Stuart Mill and I hope the Editorial Department reads it. Mill's advice should be heeded on Morrissey Boulevard. "We can never be sure that the opinion we are endeavoring to stifle is a false opinion; and if we were sure, stifling it would be an evil still."

If proponents really believed they have right on their side, why do they hide from confrontation with opposing views?

They can no longer use an excuse, the absence of any organized opposition because it exists. Bumper stickers are already out on the streets, "A District is Not a Neighborhood." Citizens from every neighborhood of Boston are coalescing under one banner. One of the major organizers of this effort is John Ciccone of the South Boston Information Center, another is Agnes Smith of Dorchester and there's Charlie Ross of S.T.O.P., the list is endless.

They may not have the money or the media on their side but they have the people and the people united shall never be defeated!

The same people who brought us forced busing in 1974 are trying to get district seats in 1981. We're ready for the fight this time and we'll win!

And for those who now think I'm a racist, let me say this: I grew up in Roxbury and the South End and I saw what a politically powerless people get out of government. Neither the South End, lower Roxbury, Charlestown, East Boston nor even the Fenway or Southie are going to be any better off with Rosemarie's Baby Two. Her pooper scooper law was full of the same thing this redistricting scheme is mired in.

Government will only be as responsive and effective as we the people make it. If we don't involve ourselves, it will be left to others with lesser motives. Whether you're Black or White, Hispanic or Oriental, you should vote "NO" on this liberal reform. It is nothing but a pacifier, a gimmick to fool people with. It would do nothing in bringing government closer to the people. In fact, it could lead to the direct opposite. There are no simple answers to complex problems. The Sansone/King cure would be worse than the disease. It would be akin to moving a patient from the Intensive Care Unit at the Boston City Hospital across the street to the University Hospital. Change — alright — but just for change's sake?!

Boys' And Girls' Club News

by Charlie McGonagle

Last week we asked why the Stop Sign at High and Green Streets was placed as it is, contrary to all we have been taught in so far as driving etiquette is concerned. I wondered if the safety of the kids leaving the Boys' and Girls' Club was a factor in the traffic planner's decision. Well, an astute colleague of mine, one James "Gummy" Gallagher, has supplied me with the answer, one I suppose I should have known all along.

When the authorities-on-high decided that the best way to desegregate the schools would be through the use of Forced Busing, they designated an area just offside Thompson Square as a stopping point. The most direct route to both Charlestown High School (The Old Building at Monument Square) and the Warren-Prescott School was straight up Green.

The Authorities also decided that it would be safer to have the buses proceed onto High, non-stop, enroute to their respective schools.

Now, upon hearing this explanation, another astute colleague, one Edwin Stafford, replied, "I may well be wrong, but to my way of thinking, those kids on the School Buses are being placed into a more dangerous situation by sending them through an intersection where drivers coming from either direction on High Street are confronted with an unexpected Stop Sign."

Okay, so now we know why the signs are placed as they are at Green and High Streets, but I wonder whose observations are more correct, the people who planned the traffic pattern or Mr. Stafford's.

One final comment, and I will put to rest the issue of the Stop Sign, once and for all. A quick, ten minute study of the cars reaching the intersection in question saw more vehicles stop coming up from where there is NO Stop Sign, than coming along High where there ARE Stop Signs. Amen!

It is often said that things run in cycles, and that may well be true. Other things may just plain exhaust themselves. Remember the powerful Boys' Club Swimming Teams of yesteryear? How many youngsters, products of Boys' Club Swimming, owe their college educations to the sport? How many others were at least granted the opportunity to pursue a course of study at the college level through swimming? One of the rarest commodities in Charlestown was, and probably still is, the non-swimmer. Because of the club's influence on kids, every boy was given the opportunity to learn, most accepted that opportunity.

Although girls' swimming programs have met with commendable levels of success in recent years, it is not coincidental to note that the boy's swimming programs met their demise when interest in the community switched dramatically toward hockey.

Perhaps one day the pendulum will swing back toward swimming, perhaps not.

B.R.A. Receives National Landscape Award

The Boston Redevelopment Authority has received a national landscape award from the American Association of Nurserymen, Inc., for Shipyard Park. The new 4.5 acre park, part of the $200 million Charlestown Navy Yard development, was one of 29 projects honored for excellence in design by the national organization.

The annual awards are given to those businesses and government agencies which make direct contributions to the quality of life in their communities through landscape beautification. Shipyard Park was designed in conjunction by the BRA and the architectural firm, Childs, Bertman, Tsechares and Cassendino. The park served as the focal point of the new residential community being created at the 100-acre Navy Yard.

Award certificates for the Park were received by Robert J. Ryan, Director of the BRA; Jasenka Diminic, BRA Urban Design; Childs, Bertman, Tsechares and Cassendino; and D. Cicconi, Inc., Contractors for the park.

The park was built at a cost of $2.6 million. The funds were provided by Economic Development Administration (EDA), Local Public Works, and Heritage Conservation and Recreational Service (HCRS).

The BRA's development program calls for creation of a new entryway to the Navy Yard where Gate 4 was formerly located. The entryway to the Navy Yard leads directly to Shipyard Park and will provide, for the first time, direct public access to the Charlestown waterfront. The BRA program also requires a pedestrian walkway along the entire waterfront of the Navy Yard for public and visual access to the harborfront.

SHIPYARD PARK at the Charlestown Navy Yard, winner of a national landscape award from the American Nurserymen Association, provides an unparalleled view of the Boston skyline. The park is part of the BRA's Charlestown Navy Yard development program. It was designed by the BRA and the architectural firm, Childs, Bertman, Tsechares and Cassendino.

Second Annual Women's Singles Tennis Tournament

The Women's Singles Tennis Tournament was held on Sunday, September 20th, delayed one day because of rain. The fourteen players participating in the event were: Bobbi Bishop, Ann D. Carnavan, Jeanette Cassidy, Janet Conway, Caroline Darby, Rose Howell, Elise Hunt, Sandy Jarasitis, Barbara Keating, Martha Lipshitz, Adela Margules, Chris Shea, Claire Shea, and Kate Young.

In a repeat performance of last year's Final Match, Adela Margules and Claire Shea met again, with Adela once more winning the First Place Trophy. The Consolation Round was won by Ann D. Carnavan.

Thanks to Frank Rolinson for his hard work in getting the courts in shape and to all the ball-boys and girls: Greg Jarasitis, Bobby Howell and Kim Campbell.

All the players should be congratulated for their cooperation and enthusiasm, in addition to their fine playing. Since all the matches had to be held in one day due to Saturday's rain, some players had four or five matches in a row. Endurance prevailed, however, and a good time was had by all.

In the third week of football, the D Team lost to Everett Gray by the score of 12 to 7. Charlestown played good defense and scored late in the game on a Donald Doris touchdown run. An extra point was scored by Bruce Mattson.

In the C game, Charlestown won by the score of 12-0, the third straight shutout by the defense. The first touchdown was scored on a pass from quarterback Ed Sullivan to Danny Tucker for the TD. The second touchdown was scored on a fine run by Kevin McGonagle.

The B Team played one of its best games of the year, but could only come up with a 0-0 tie. A good run at the end of the game was made by Robert Cahill.

The A Team game was won by Charlestown 12-0. Two touchdown passes from quarterback Jim Tracy to John Ferriara. This was the A Team's third straight win and shutout, but they better start getting to practice because the next two games may decide who will be G.B.L. Champs.

Thanks to everyone who helped with the concession stand.

Thanks, The Board

Captains Pace Columbus, St. Pat's Falls 26-0

by Bob DeCristoforo

There was a familiar sound around the old football field this past Sunday as the Friars of Christopher Columbus High defeated St. Patrick's in their Catholic Suburban League opener, beginning defense of the crown.

It was a grand day for the three Columbus Captains as they figured in all the Columbus scoring, and the return of Gerald Sullivan didn't hurt either.

Sully put the Friars ahead 6-0 scoring on a one yard run, which capped a scoring drive that ate up most of the first quarter. Captain Ed Garvey got the extra two on a conversion pass.

Captain Garvey took the next TD into his own hands taking Captain Angelo LaPaglia's 57 yard pass into the end zone.

Captain LaPaglia ran 15 yards himself for the third touchdown, and Sully scored again from the three to end the day's offense.

In between the "big O" was some "big D" led by Captain Ron Curry. Curry had 13 tackles of his own, and his defensive unit held St. Pat's to just a couple of first downs.

Christopher Columbus will be traveling to Hudson Catholic next Sunday for a 1:30 p.m. game.

Open Letter To Charlestown

Open letter to Charlestown, I am taking this opportunity via the Charlestown Patriot to thank Charlestown for your support as well as answer a few questions about my candidacy.

I started to run for public office for a variety of reasons. First, it has always been a lifetime ambition of mine. Second, a time for some new young blood on the Boston City Council is long overdue. Third, my home, Charlestown, needed representation so very badly.

We need someone who has to live under the same conditions as we do. Who cares and feels about the problems that affect us daily. Someone you see more than once every two years.

It's been five years and Main Street has not gotten any better. Why was Police Station 15 the first to go? The Fire Station is on the brink of deactivation. No one knows the real fate of the Bunker Hill School. These situations always bothered me but as a City Hall Manager I didn't have enough clout or influence to significantly remedy these problems. I stood before you many times and shared the frustration we all felt and continue to feel.

A possible answer is if we could only get someone elected to the Boston City Council from the town. The mood was there, but no one took the challenge. God knows, we have a lot of talented people in Charlestown.

March, April, May, June passed, but no one would try, the just complained.

This is the time of year a candidate should be branching out into the other communities, building a base. Candidates from across the city were doing it but no one from Charlestown.

In an off year election, with a small voter turn out, 73 original candidates, I thought maybe with one running from Charlestown and the bigger wards hosting five and six candidates each, the chances were better at least of placing well in the preliminary election. After that its anybody's game.

But it was June and many thought it was too late, and it was. But you see, district representation is on the ballot in November. It has always been my contention that district representation would increase the likelihood of electing one of our own. So, fellow Townies, this was it, now or never.

So my family and friends decided if ever there was a time for someone from Charlestown to take a chance, this was it.

I went in full force selling all that I owned.

I went in full force accepting the layoff from my job and started campaigning full-time. I put all my personal money into my campaign. And the town supplied all that was needed to be a contender.

Everything looked good. People were ready to make the change, and vote for the alternative. However the field dropped from 73 to 40 in a matter of weeks. Suddenly the city became awfully big. In reality, I had started too late. My base was not big enough.

It was at this point that the Mayor heard of my candidacy and his organization wanted to help. I knew that if I accepted the help, it would hurt me at home. The gamble was, should I give up a thousand votes at home, but gain a citywide organization? You see, it wouldn't help anyone if I ran and lost. My town and my neighbors would still be without representation. So I decided to accept the gamble of my popularity at home, to give the town what it so badly needed.

In the past I had fought for my town against City Hall and was ready to do it again. All who knew me, knew this to be a fact. However, the media built the idea of accepting help of another elected official out of proportion. It is political reality that all elected officials have at one time been sponsored by another, Dennis Kearney, James Michael Connolly, Kevin Fitzgerald and many of the present City Council. However, the bottom line is once you get elected you answer only to yourself and to the constituency who elected you. The media did not acknowledge that fact.

Many of you understood why I was doing what I was doing. Consequently, I received a very good vote in Charlestown, and I want to thank you for your support.

The experience and the education of it all was all worth it. And I'd like to think that maybe some politicians won't take the town quite so lightly, again.

I'll always be an active voice and invite you to be the same.

Thank you!
Brian Hickey

Thank You

We would like to thank our family and friends, and especially our children, for the beautiful surprise party marking our 25th Wedding Anniversary. It was an evening we will treasure always.

Note Of Appreciation

The Charlestown Patriot:

I would like to thank the priests, sisters, Mark, and Sister Nancy Rowen of St. Catherine's Church and the priests of St. Francis de Sales Church and the priests at the Massachusetts General Hospital for all their blessings, masses, prayers, spiritual bouquets, cards, gifts, flowers, plants, telephone calls, and visits from my many friends while I was in the hospital. It was all very much appreciated.

Yours very sincerely,
Clotilde E. Dyer

Thank You, Charlestown

September 26, 1981
To The People of Charlestown,

At this time, I would like to thank all the people, young and old, who came out and supported James M. "Jim" Kelly, candidate for the Boston City Council. Jimmy Kelly has been a longtime friend of the people of Charlestown. He has stood by us in the past and I know he will stand by us in the future.

I would especially like to thank our own Charlestown Committee to Elect "Jimmy" Kelly. Without their effort, determination, and plain hard work, this letter would not be appropriate. Our fight has just begun, and once again I'm sure with their help, Charlestown will be well represented in the future.

Gratefully yours,
Mike Walsh

P.S. With your help, Charlestown will have representation. Please contact Mike at 242-0428.

SHOCK WAVES STILL ARE RICOCHETING THROUGH THE BOSTON TEACHERS UNION AS A RESULT OF A FULL-FLEDGED FRONTAL ASSAULT LEVELLED AT IT BY THE SOUTH BOSTON INFORMATION CENTER.

The Center, a leader in the fight against forced busing — and I emphasize that's FORCED busing, recently took out a full page statement in the South Boston Tribune titled "An Answer to the Boston Teachers Union" in which it asserted:

"You created your own problems. With the exception of Judge W. Arthur Garrity, his court appointed experts, the NAACP, the Boston Globe and gutless politicians, no one is more responsible for the destruction of the Boston public school system than the Boston Teachers Union. Forced busing has destroyed the Boston public schools. The BTU by its failure to take a stand and by covering up incidents over the past seven years has led to a decline in students and an excess of teachers."

The South Boston parents group called upon the BTU to "Tell the Truth" about reading scores, stating the BTU claims reading scores are up when in reality "scores have declined consistently since the start of forced busing."

The Information Center went on to say "School violence has been on the increase since forced busing. The BTU's failure to address and deal with the problem is another example of their 'things are just fine' attitude. Incidents of rape, assault, extortion, robbery, weapons possession, etc. make some of Boston's schools a jungle. Last year alone there were 1,800 reported incidents."

And while violence is up, the Southie spokesman said, enrollment is down because of "the flight from schools due to forced busing. The resulting violence and the decline in education has caused student enrollment to drop from 94,000 to 50,000 — not the 60,000 the School Department would have you believe."

The Center's statement concluded:

"It's finally caught up with them. For seven years while the system was being destroyed the BTU remained silent. They ignored pleas from parents all over the city to speak out. Now their jobs are in danger. Hear how they yell now.

"They blame the School Committee, Proposition 2 1/2, the Superintendent, everyone but themselves. It's apparent that the Boston Teachers Union will speak up only when their jobs are at stake — not for the education and safety of our children."

That's it. What say you?

Now this observation: It would appear from an analysis of the School Committee vote that the Boston Teachers Union was woefully lacking in clout at the polls. The four incumbents it opposed won handily while their favorite son, David F. Sheehan, barely made the cut. The BTU also backed Rita Walsh-Tomasini, but she would have won anyhow. Look for John J. Tierney, Jr. to move up in the final, particularly if the campaigns of Jean M. McGuire and Kevin A. McCluskey falter.

Moving to the City Council contest, our previous predictions on the nominations of Jim Kelly, Bruce Bolling, Maura Hennigan, Mike McCormack, Ed Mc-Namara, Terry McDermott, Craig Langhorst and Frank Coppinger were right on the money, but we were off on the votes of Charles C. Yancey, Gerry McHale, Pam Gillman and John Melia. Our assertion that none of the incumbents were in danger proved correct, BUT THIS COULD CHANGE!

There could be a rearrangement in the final election that could see Ed McNamara, Mike McCormack and/or Terry McDermott winning election. Indications are Bruce Bolling will be the first black to sit in the Council since the days of Tommy Atkins in the 60s. He is a super person!

Returning to rock, 26-years-ago tonight many of you were about to "Rock Around the Clock" with Bill Haley, while those of us who liked our music slower were digging Les Baxter's "Unchained Melody." Remember?

Did I tell you about the West Roxbury woman who was visiting a friend in the hospital. She noticed a pretty nurse wearing a pin resembling an apple.

Asked what it signified the nurse replied "Nothing, it just keeps the doctors away." Touche.

Cedar Sports Club Social

Under the direction of President Mrs. Patrick Moriarty of Parker St., Charlestown, the Irish-American Cedar Sports Club, 1164 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, held a very successful charitable evening on Sunday last. All proceeds were donated to the Little Sisters of the Poor in Somerville. They will be very happy at this.

Mrs. Molly Smith danced her ever popular "hornpipe" during the intermission, introduced by Jerry Bailey.

Mrs. Mary Kelly, Trustee, of Somerville was the lucky winner of the top raffle prize.

Ms. Maureen Shimkowski of Parker Street, Charlestown was the proxy recipient for her cousin, a priest who lives in Australia. This will be a pleasant surprise for him!

Just as swimming was once a major activity at the Club, so is weight-lifting now. In my early days at the Club, there were no weights, and later, when a set was made available, very few members took part in a regular program of weight training. Now quite the opposite is true. On certain nights, and in spite of a full Universal Setup, Olympic Weights, and York Barbells, there is a line of men from ages 15 to 50, waiting to use the equipment.

Yes, it is funny how the pendulum swings. What will our children's children be doing at the Club when their turn arrives? Your guess is as good as mine.

Many Charlestown residents are attending the weekly Cedar Sports Club Sunday night socials. Line dancing is taught each Sunday 7:30 - 8:30 by Mrs. Terri Tulley. Irish and American dancing is from 8:30-11:30. Refreshments are served, also.

A cordial invitation is extended to "Townies" to come and join us on a Sunday evening.

Knights' Knots

by Charlie McGonagle

The first Supper Club gathering of the 1981-82 Fraternal Year took place last Wednesday evening at Bunker Hill Council, and the fine food, spirits, and laughter helped make the night a huge success. At the season's initial gathering, five men were cited for their contributions to the Council.

Harry Yandle, one of the men most responsible for the success of the Summer Golf Tournament, was the first honoree of the evening.

"Harry," the speaker began, "has helped greatly with his contributions of time and energy, for this we are grateful. Other than golf, Harry has contributed many things to this Council including a brother and a few sons, for these, we are NOT grateful."

Next was the Council and Supper Club Chef, Tom Tracy. In introducing Tom, it was noted that he came to Council No. 62 highly recommended, and with top-notch credentials, from the Purina Cat and Dog Food Company where he was highly instrumental in developing the Purina Cat Chow formula. He was thanked for his generosity in sharing that recipe with his Brother Knights once a month for the past few years.

A story concerning Tom and his pal Tommy Donahue was told. It seems the two men stayed out rather late one evening and over indulged in liquid spirits to such an extent that they actually died. When they reached the Pearly Gates, St. Peter spoke first to Mr. Donahue. Tom Tracy was too far away to hear the conversation, but became quite enamored of Heaven when he saw his friend walking away with Farah Fawcett on one arm and Bo Derek on the other.

"Nice place," thought Tracy.

When his turn came, St. Peter reviewed Tom's portfolio and ordered him back to Earth where, for his punishment, he would be relegated to eating nothing but his own cooking for the next ten years.

"How about ten years in Purgatory?" he pleaded.

"Not on your life."

"Would you consider seven in Purgatory and three in Hell?"

"Still too easy," replied St. Pete.

Turning to his left, he could see Donahue and his two companions disappearing into the clouds. He was angry now, and asked St. Pete about the seeming injustice.

"That son of a - committed more sins on earth than I ever did. How come you sent him off with Bo and Farah?"

Looking in the direction of the now fading threesome, St. Pete could only shake his head sympathetically and say, "That's Bo and Farah's punishment."

The next man cited was Charlie Papisadoro, whose birth, it was said, put his entire family, second and third cousins included, into a severe and long-lasting state of depression. It was revealed that the delivery room nurse actually sliced her wrists while mumbling, almost incoherently, "I can't be remembered for helping out here."

It was also brought to the at-ention of his fellow Knights that he first entered the world of gambling at the age of thirty-one when he wagered ten dollars on the outcome of a fight which had been waged some thirty years earlier. It was the second Joe Louis-Max Schmeling Fight, the one in which the "Brown Bomber" annihilated the German.

"I'll bet you ten dollars Louis wins it," challenged his pal, John Pappas.

"You're on," answered Charlie confidently.

When the night ended, John confessed he had seen the film before and knew Louis would win. He offered to return the ten dollars.

"No, you keep it," said Charlie. "I saw the film twice before. I just never figured Louis to beat him three times in a row!"

Leo McGonagle was the next man to be honored. A story was related concerning his introduction to the sport of swimming. It was revealed that his Dad (who just happens to be mine as well) used what he called "The Good Old Fashioned Method" to teach Leo to swim. It seems he rowed to the deepest part of Silver Lake in Wilmington, and after a brief, but ferocious struggle, tossed his son into the water and paddled quickly away. A few years later, after Leo had become a rather productive member of the Boys' Club Swimming Team, he was asked if the method employed by his father was not cruel and abusive.

"To you it may seem cruel and abusive," he answered, "but after I managed to get out of that burlap sack, it really wasn't all that bad!"

The final honoree of the evening was Paul Cedorchuk, our resident Eastern European. Nothing was said about this man, and quite deservedly so.

Yes folks, the Supper Club is back.
