

Help Defray Hockey Camp Expenses

THE CHARLESTOWN BOARD OF TRADE donated $150 each to residents Jimmy Vesey and Jay P. Gillen to defray some of the expenses they will incur on a week trip to a Minnesota Hockey Camp run by Olympics Coach Herb Brooks. The camp is noted for the college and professional scouts which frequent the camp, looking for players. Presently Vesey attends Christopher Columbus School and Gillen attends Avon Old Farms Preparatory School in Connecticut. The donations were given in memory of Matty O'Neil. Coal Conversion Plan Sparks Negative Comments From Residents And Agencies

by Maria Girvin
 A number of Charlestown agencies and residents have responded to the Office of Environmental Affairs concerning Boston Edison's Draft Environmental Impact Report (DEIR) on plans to convert from burning oil to burning coal. Saturday, July 23, is the deadline for written comments on Edison's coal conversion plan which will mean a low sulphur coal will be burned instead of oil. The conversion is estimated to cost approximately 350 million dollars and be ready for use in 1987, if all is approved. Part of the conversion cost will be passed on to customers, however, their rates should be lowered 10 years following its construction since coal is a cheaper fuel than oil. However, many residents do not see that projected savings as a worthwhile tradeoff for their health. This was the feeling of Karen Hayes, who at one time did consulting work for Boston Edison and is now engaged through the Charlestown Preservation Society, in

Shipyards Park To Officially Open In Charlestown Navy Yard

Mayor Kevin H. White and Deputy Mayor Robert J. Ryan announced that Shipyards Park at the Charlestown Navy Yard will be formally opened to the Charlestown Community on Tuesday, July 26, 1983 at 5:30 p.m. Access for the dedication will be through Gate One.

Mayor White said, "This is much more than the dedication of another park. For the first time in almost two centuries the people of Charlestown now have access to their waterfront. And a community with a limited amount of public open space now has access to a park almost five acres in size."

BRA Board Chairman Robert L. Farrell said, "From the start of this project we said the Navy Yard development must include public amenities that would benefit the people of Charlestown. We think this park—perhaps the handsomest such facility developed in this city in recent years—will be a welcome addition to the community."

The park and adjacent areas, including Pier 4 and Dry Dock 2, make up 16 acres of the 100-acre Navy Yard project. The landscaped area, including gently-rolling meadows,

Vacant Lots Re-Use By Community Groups

Through the NDEA's Vacant Land Reclamation Project, monies will be available for land re-uses including but not limited to: small playgrounds, parks, gardens, and playing fields.

parcels will be selected through a competitive Request For Proposal process, through which a community group will select a City-owned lot in its neighborhood, prepare a proposal detailing the re-use plans for the parcel, and enter into a maintenance agreement with the City for two years of routine upkeep. The City will provide use of the lot and seed money to develop the parcel.

An Open Letter To The Thieves Who Broke Into The Life Focus Center

I know who you are, just as the entire town knows who you are. I know you bought a large amount of cocaine with the money you stole, just as the entire town knows.

You make your living by robbing houses and cars, by sticking-up old ladies on social security days, and now you have added to your reputation by stealing from the retarded and handicapped children of Charlestown. You are despised in your own community, even by your fellow thieves.

You are only 18 years old, your female accomplice is 15, yet all three of you are well-known to the police and the courts. You are heartbreaks to your families. You have taken advantage of every person and agency who has tried to help you. You have become predatory animals, preying and stalking the weak and unsuspecting people of this community.

Let me put a price tag on your robbery of the retarded. You stole $2,500 worth of equipment plus cash. Since we have not recovered anything you stole, the Center must replace what you stole for another $2,500. Repairs for the damage you caused in the break-in plus new locks is another $1,000. Installation of a sophisticated intrusion system will cost yet another $5,000. The grand total for the retarded is a loss of $11,000. Your profit, $1,500 worth of cocaine.

The damage you caused cannot be appraised in just dollars. You stole money the retarded earned themselves. My staff is stuck with trying to explain to these children what you are and what you did to them. You have viciously violated their trust and innocence, as well as their sense of security in their own building.

For now you think you are smarter than the rest of the world because you have gotten away with all you have done. Believe me, this is only temporary. You will end up eventually doing hard time. I pray before you graduate to killing someone. The God-awful truth is that you are just children, yet so many people believe the world would be a better place if you were never born.

Jack Millerick, Executive Director
Life Focus Center

BRA Director Robert J. Ryan said that the park and marina will open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Ryan said, "Because construction activity is still taking place in the Navy Yard, there is a risk to public safety if the area is open after dark." Pedestrian access through Gate 4 is being arranged.

Construction of the park cost $2.4 million, of which

City Gardens

Halloween Harvest

by Barbara Maheigan

In mid-July, as you begin to enjoy the ripening tomatoes and peppers from the garden, you can pack the seeds away and forget about planting until next spring. But why waste the next four months of the gardening season? Many vegetables prefer cooler weather, and can stay in the ground until after the first frost. So check the seeds, and put the gardening gloves back on now. As you gain space in your garden when the current plants pass their peak, replant for a fall harvest.

Planting Dates

by 7/25 - Sugar Snap Peas

by 8/1 - Broccoli, Cauliflower transplants, Brussel Sprouts, Swiss Chard, Beets, Carrots, Snap Beans

by 8/15 - Chinese Cabbage, Kale, Kohrabi, Turnip, Parsley

8/1-8/30 - Endive, Head Lettuce Transplants, Leaf Lettuce

8/20 - 9/10 - Spinach

8/1-10/1 - Radishes

*all refer to seeds unless transplants are specified.

You must pay careful attention to watering seeds planted in mid-summer. In spring, the soil is moist and cool, but the July sun will expose the seeds to hot, dry conditions. The seeds must be watered everyday to keep the top layer of soil moist. Otherwise the seed will die after germinating, baked in the sun. Once the seed has sprouted, it must be watered deeply every third day until it is well established. Deeply means a hosing for one-half to one hour. Mulch will help keep the soil moist and the weeds down around the vulnerable seedlings. Organic mulch like grass clippings, rotting leaves or hay is readily available.

Two plots at the Hathon Square Community Garden are now available if you would like to plant for a Halloween Harvest. Contact Gardens for Charlestown, Box 44, Charlestown, 02129, or call 242-3727 today!

Quinn Scholarship Winners

Where Are They Now?

As the fourth winner of the Quinn Scholarship, Michael David Powers has traveled a long way since his graduation from Christopher Columbus High School in 1973. Mike went on to attend Suffolk University where he graduated first in his class in 1977. In active pursuit of a career, Mike continued his education at Suffolk, this time in law school, graduated in 1982, and passed the State Bar Examination on his first try in July of that year. While in law school, Mike also participated in the Suffolk Law Review, which was no mean feat in that he also held down a full time night job.

Currently Mike is a member of the Massachusetts Bar and is an attorney for the Boston Rent Equity Board for the City of Boston. He resides on Short Street in Charlestown with his wife Patricia (nee Callahan) and their two children Erin, age six, and Michael age two. In addition to his professional accomplishments, Mike has returned, with interest, the support that the Quinn Scholarship afforded him. He was recently named a trustee and is an active member of the fund which he has diligently supported over the years.

We of the Quinn Scholarship Fund are justifiably proud of Mike. He is a man that has returned ten fold the modest help that we were able to offer. Yet, what is most heartening are Mike's own words in describing what the Quinn Scholarship means to him. He stated, "The Quinn Scholarship instilled in me a drive and ambition to complete my goal of becoming an attorney and obtaining additional academic achievements in the process."

Mike certainly attained all he set out to do and in doing so he also made the Quinn Scholarship a stronger organization and Charlestown a better place.

Cappucci Emphasizes Safety First

Robert (Meany) Cappucci, candidate for District 1 City Council, recently spoke before two groups of senior citizens in the North End. Cappucci emphasized the serious need for the restoration of our Police and Fire protection services that have been reduced in recent years. Cappucci said no one should have to be fearful of living within the confines of their own home or apartment or afraid to walk their neighborhood streets

- especially our senior citizens who are even more vulnerable. He continued by saying no one should have to fear the ravages of fire destroying their home because of the lack of personnel and fire fighting equipment.

Cappucci stated if elected City Councillor for District 1, he would work long and hard to find a solution to this dilemma we, as citizens, face. Cappucci believes that a sincere and diligent effort on the entire Council's behalf in cooperation with the newly elected administration could and should be able to rectify this serious and potentially dangerous and worsening problem. "I cannot accept the answer that this problem is beyond solving. I firmly believe that a solution can be found and the solution does not have to include increased taxes as some have suggested. There are many avenues to explore and as your Council Danditate for District 1, I want to assure all my constituents that I will leave no stone unturned or avenue unexplored in restoring what we as citizens rightfully deserve," concluded Cappucci.

Fooling The Eye

CAMBRIDGE ARTIST and muralist Laura Catanzaro can be seen working on her latest work of art at Six City Square (the old Shawmut Bank Building) creating what she calls an architectural "trompe l'oeil" (or fooling the eye). Recently Catanzaro obtained a rigger's license enabling her to use the 28 feet scaffolding she will need to complete the 35 feet high by 60 feet long, three dimensional mural. The artist hopes to complete the project by mid July. She seeks a town organization that would like to sponsor a community unveiling. Those interested may call 492-7522.

Mrs. Anne Hartigan — Active In Community

Mrs. Anne (Gordon) Hartigan, a resident of Charlestown for 62 years, died July 5 at Jeanne Jugan Residence, Somerville. Born in Ennis, County Clare, Ireland, Mrs. Hartigan came to the Greater Boston area in 1904 at the age of 16.

The widow of Patrick J. Hartigan, she was the mother of Rev. John E. Hartigan, Pastor of Our Lady of Fatima Parish, Sudbury, who for over 20 years has been Chaplain of the Massachusetts State Police. She leaves another son, William J. of West Roxbury and two daughters, Helen F. of Charlestown and Anne F. Brickley of Westport, CT. She is also survived by two sisters, Nellie Denahy of Groton, MA and Mary Madigan of Nashua, N.H., 15 grandchildren and 19 great grandchildren.

For many years Anne was President of Bunker Hill Unit 26, American Legion Auxiliary, and had also served as president of the Charlestown Neighborhood Club and the Bunker Hill Mothers' Club as well as Prefect of St. Mary's Ladies Sodality.

A City of Boston citation was presented to Mrs. Clougherty by Director of Boston Parks and Recreation Robert McCoy (left) and Mayor Kevin H. Nucci Thanks Hundreds Signing Nomination Papers

JOHN A. NUCCI

John A. Nucci, Candidate for the Boston School Committee from District One (East Boston, North End, Charlestown), issued a statement this week "sincerely thanking the hundreds of friends and supporters who signed my nomination papers endorsing my candidacy for the Boston School Committee." Nucci, a life-long resident of the district, has been extremely successful in waging a highly visible campaign which has gathered strong support in all areas of the newly created district. As a result of Nucci's energetic and tireless campaigning, the Committee to Elect John A. Nucci announced that supporters gathered over eight times the number of signatures required for District candidates.

"I am extremely pleased and encouraged by this recent show of support and confidence in me as a candidate. I intend to continue to discuss the important issues affecting our schools today as we approach Primary Day on September 27th", stated Nucci. "Residents of East Boston, Charlestown, and the North End deserve representation on the School Committee that will afford an effective and thoughtful voice for taxpayers, teachers, and most importantly, the pupils", added Nucci.

Nucci is a graduate of Boston Latin School, Boston College, and hold a Masters Degree in Public Administration from Suffolk University. He has been involved in numerous community endeavors across the district including: Former Director of Youth and Elderly Programs at the E. Boston Social Centers; Chairman of the CDC Board and Vice-Chairman of the APAC Board; Kiwanis Club; Chamber of Commerce; and numerous other activities.

Nucci and his wife Peggy, an instructor of handicapped children in Boston, are homeowners in the district.

Views On Dental Health

by Jeffrey D. Cohen,

CAN CAVITIES BE PREVENTED?

You can prevent or at least substantially reduce dental decay (cavities) in three ways. First, by making the teeth stronger to resist decay through the use of fluorides. Second, by limiting the amount of sugar in the diet, which is the "food" for decay-causing bacteria. Third, by keeping the mouth clean and free of plaque through proper brushing and flossing.

Your family dentist can advise on the best form of fluoride and individual needs, as well as offer guidance on proper nutrition and home care procedures.

First Annual Boston Antique And Classic Boat Regatta

The flash of polished brass and varnished wood across the water will be the order of the day this July 23 and 24 as Antique Yachts Etcetera presents the First Annual Boston Antique and Classic Boat Regatta. The event marks the beginning of what promises to be one of Boston's most exciting annual boating events.

Boston Inner Harbor and the Charles River Lower Basin serve as the staging areas for these elegant sail and power vessels, many built before 1942 and restored to their original condition with loving care and craftsmanship.

Antique boat owners from throughout New England will rendezvous in Boston Harbor on Saturday, July 23, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Registration will be alongside the 1930, 97 foot harbor tug, "Luna" off of Rowe's Wharf, proceeding to the Charlestown Navy Yard for review by dignitaries and judges. The boats will then pass in review to their assigned slips.

Spectators along the Charles River Lower Basin will have the opportunity to view and hear the deep-throated gurgle of these magnificent power boats at close range as they pass through the locks at the Museum of Science and proceed up the Charles, on parade, to their moorings.

Sailboat enthusiasts will find the antique sailboats on display at Castle Island; Shipyard Quarters; Constitution Marina, Charlestown; and many of the other docks that line the Inner Harbor.

On Saturday, July 23, the public is invited to join the yachtsmen and their friends for a concert to be held on the Esplanade at the Hatch Memorial Shell beginning at 8:00 p.m.

In addition there will be a Parade of Antique cars that will come from Charles River Yacht Club over Bridge through Charlestown to Navy Yard to be at the Reviewing Stand for the dinitaries attending the ceremonies on Saturday.

The following morning, Sunday, July 24, the power boats will congregate at the Lower Basin and proceed through the locks. At 11:00 a.m., all sail and power boats will assemble at the Charlestown Navy Yard. Led by "Fair Sarae", a 1930's British built schooner, and the fireboats, all entrants will parade to Castle Island. Good places for the public to see the parade are the Mass. Rehab. parking lot near North Station, the North End Playground / Commercial Street, Charlestown Bridge, Waterfront Park, and Castle Island.

On Sunday there will be a Continental Breakfast at the new Bunker Hill Pier 4, Charlestown for public and Parade participants.

Those boats that will be departing Boston for their home ports will be saluted by a flotilla of recreational boats from Boston Harbor.

Complimentary programs for the event including history on many of the boats and a detailed itinerary will be available at many locations along the waterfront.

Outward Bound Update

Dan Killoran of Tremont Street has become the second "Townie" this summer to complete the rugged Hurricane Island Outward Bound course.

great physical condition, maturity, and mental toughness.

Twoother "Townies" are currently attending the rugged survival school with more to follow in August.

Congratulations to Dan for a job well done.

C-TOWN'S YANKEE DOODLE DANDY

At the foot of Lexington Street (almost in the shadow of the Bunker Hill Monument), one will find "Jim McGrath's Garden." It's a garden unique in many, many ways, and exists because of the dedication and perseverance of a Bronze Star veteran of "The Battle of The Bulge," retired firefighter Jim "Buttsy" McGrath ... a Bunker Hill Street resident of Charlestown.

In a setting of sodded grass, rhododendrum and azalea bushes, assorted flowers and a gravel path, stands "Old Glory," flanked by flagpoles flying the official flags of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps. The "garden," in effect, is actually a commemorative plot dedicated to all Charlestown veterans who made the supreme sacrifice in the service of our country ... past, present and future. A Sacred Heart statue and bird bath, further compliments the surrounding grounds which are immaculately groomed and constantly well-kept.

We had the pleasure of a sit-down gabfest with Jim and his bride, Marie, recently. It was like talking to "the real America" we all hear and read so much about, and the tale of how Jim's dream became a reality is total inspiring. Although laboring under a severe physical indisposition, this zealous gentleman persisted in designing and attending to a myriad of details in bringing this monument to fruition. It stands as testimony of his deep patriotism, but he quickly pointed out all the volunteer help and materials he received from his neighbors, Housing personnel, fellow firefighters, Clergy, merchants and, especially, "Townie" veterans and their families. There is very much more than can be reported about this remarkable individual/community achievement - and should. It deserves much more attention than our limited column can provide. We hope the major "Dailies" will come forth and prepare a feature presentation.

We personally salute James "Buttsy" McGrath and, through him, all who are a part of this American success story "in our little corner of the world." We are also exercising a citizen's privilege by nominating Mr. McGrath, for a Freedom Foundation Award. Perhaps you, others, veteran's organizations and, hopefully, public officials will join us in this statement of admiration, love and respect by sending along a letter of nomination to Freedom Foundation at Valley Forge, Valley Forge, Pennsylvania 19481 also.

Wherever you live, have over to see for yourself what one American can do ... and did. Ask for "Buttsy," and ask him to relate some of the interesting specifics about the landscaping, monuments and statuary, and the memorial plaques being permanently affixed to the fencing almost daily. You'll come away feeling the justified pride in this accomplishment by everyone in the neighborhood - as we did - plus a re-fortified assurance that all will continue to be well in our great land because great Americans like this exist.

HONORING CHARLESTOWN'S SONS who gave their lives while enlisted in the United States Armed Forces, Jim McGrath has erected in his Bunker Hill Street yard, a memorial. The memorial is a product of numerous donations. Mrs. Bee's Gardens and the Boston Housing Authority landscapers helped ready the yard. Flags were donated by Robert Rosselli, Sgt. Gerard Buckley, John McCarthy and McGrath. Many of the service insignia located at the base of the U.S. flag, were also donated from combat men. McGrath has placed the names of five Charlestown men who died and intends to add to the list as soon as the plaques are ready. Honored so far, are Private John Powers who died in 1945 in Germany; S/Sgt. Aloysius Doherty who died 1945 in Europe; Lance Corporal Edward L. Johnson, who was killed in Vietnam, 1967; Capt. Francis Powers, Jr. who died on his second tour of Vietnam in 1970; and Sgt. Joseph Riley who was declared missing in action in Korea, 1950. Above, McGrath stands with Florence Johnson, mother of Edward L. Johnson. Below, is a close up of McGrath's tribute to Charlestown Veterans. The U.S. flag was flown over the Capital and donated by Congressman Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, Jr. at McGrath's request and is illuminated at night.

Conversion Plan Sparks Negative Comments

pushing Edison into doing further impact studies.

"Saving money for customers is important," said Hayes who is not completely against coal conversion, "but the health of surrounding communities have to be treated in a special manner."

Hayes does not see Edison trying to evade the issue of health but rather sees it as a big company trying to respond to various communities but not doing a very good job.

"It's difficult for them to be responsive to the needs of their customers. In the beginning Charlestown saw some concern from the company but that concern is not reflected in their report. It's a shame. The right hand made the effort but the left hand didn't follow through. The report barely mentions Charlestown. The company may be doing their best, but they're going to have to do better.

"We do not oppose the conversion, but if they're going to do it they should do it right," said Hayes.

Edison's failure to thoroughly investigate the impact of its coal conversion on Charlestown has been the focus of most of the letters sent by Charlestown agencies and residents.

Dr. Robert Dinsmore, Director of Cardiac Radiology at Massachusetts General Hospital, and who is also a resident of Charlestown, wrote Secretary James S. Hoyte, of the State Environmental Affairs Office that he was "struck by the lack of specific projections of impact on Charlestown, even though Charlestown is the major population center nearest the Mystic Station, and is in the path of prevailing wind from the station, there are no measurements actually taken in Charlestown. This is simply unacceptable."

In his letter Dr. Dinsmore pushed for continuous monitoring of air quality. Dinsmore cited Charlestown's exceptionally high rate of respiratory disease, especially amongst the elderly, and the playgrounds located near the plant as warranting this type of monitoring as a safeguard.

He further backed his statement by including that occupational and pulmonary physician Nancy Sprince, also an MGH director, was in full agreement.

Director Leo Carey of the Kennedy Center also took Edison to task for their oversight of Charlestown, saying he was "concerned about Edison's obvious disregard for Charlestown."

Carey lists seven questions he wants Edison to study. These questions include potential future, health hazards, social impact of polluted air, possible emissions damage to property, and the impact on parks and playgrounds.

President Barbara Maheigan of Gardens for Charlestown, Inc. takes particular exception to statements made by Edison in their DEIR that Charlestown is an industrial area and does not contain any natural areas or notable vegetation.

"Our award-winning Sullivan Square Community Garden lies less than one mile away from Mystic Station, and would be negatively affected by the change to a higher sulphur fuel," wrote Maheigan.

Maheigan mentions other Charlestown gardens and the hidden private gardens of many residents which could also be affected by the negative effects of increased acidity on vegetation. According to her, acid rain could damage leaf surface, decrease growth and damage soil chemistry.

Maheigan, like the others pushes for continued monitoring of Charlestown's air. Challenging Edison's DEIR statements, which said "Since it is not possible to quantify the amount of predict the location of potential impacts of acid precipitation attributable to Boston and Mystic Stations because of their small percentage of emissions compared to the effective background total emissions, no assessment of the

Coal Conversion Plan Sparks Negative Comments

(continued from page 10) effects on local terrestrial systems can be made at this time." Maheigan answered. "This statement makes it clear that we would be subjected to the full effects of the sulphur emissions from the Mystic Power Plant during the summer, or primary periods of activity. We strongly feel that at the very least a monitor is necessary to quantify the effects."

Charlestown residents Don Jackson and Richard A. Johnston see Edison's conversion as potentially undoing all they have accomplished. Jackson and Johnston are members of the Charlestown North Area Task Force who have successfully lobbied for a depressed central artery through Charlestown, thereby decreasing noise and pollution caused by auto emissions.

In a letter to Hoyte's office they said, "The Charlestown North Area

Task Force fears that this reduction in pollution will be more than offset by increases in pollution generated by the proposed coal-fired power unit at the Mystic Station ... unless and until Boston Edison Company demonstrates conclusively that no deterioration in air quality will occur, the company's request should be denied.

In a press conference held by City Councillor Ray Flynn last Saturday at the Doherty Park he detailed a City Council Order which he had planned to file yesterday. In this order, he called upon the City's Environmental Department and the Department of Health and Hospitals to demand that Edison address the health and environmental impact of coal conversion on Charlestown.

Said Flynn, who is against coal conversion in both the Mystic Station in Everett and the New Boston Station in South Boston. "As concerns grow that acid rain is pouring into New England's lakes and streams and affecting its plant life, it appears to be a blatant contradiction for us to ask Ohio to refrain from burning coal while we consider allowing the Edison Company to convert to coal in one of the nation's most densely populated cities." According to the Clean Air Committee of the Charlestown Preservation Society, Charlestown has the highest population within a mile radius of any other surrounding community which could be affected by the conversion.

Citing Boston City Hospital statistics, Flynn continued saying, "Showing that Charlestown's rate for respiratory cancer now stands at 105.2 deaths per thousand (30% above the next ranked Boston neighborhood) we can see how serious is the threat of coal conversion to the health and welfare of the people of Charlestown.

Edison spokesman Walter Salvi seems undaunted by the increase of media coverage given the coal conversion plans and Edison's DEIR. "The report is a draft report which was made available for exactly this type of input," said Salvi. "It is important to get these concerns so that we can address them. If anyone thinks this is the end of it, they're wrong."

Salvi also said that Edison's future actions hinged on orders given them by Secretary James S. Hoyte's Office of Environmental Affairs. Edison expects to file their final Environmental Impact Report in late October.

Ironically, Acid Rain Awareness Week ends the same day set by the state as the deadline for all comments on Edison's DEIR. Without a doubt, many Charlestown residents have put the week to a good use.

Boston Police Crime Prevention Exhibit In Charlestown July 30th

Commissioner Joseph M. Jordan announced that the Boston Police Department will sponsor a neighborhood crime prevention exhibit in Charlestown on Saturday, July 30, 1983 on Austin Street from noon to 4:00 p.m. The exhibits will focus on the particular needs and problems of the Charlestown neighborhood.

In making the announcement Commissioner Jordan said, "the purpose of the exhibit is to foster better Police community relations by making the community aware of all the services the Department offers and by fostering the development of local crime watches and safe street programs.

"Over the past few years these programs have proven their effectiveness in working with the Police to cut down crime. It is my belief that the residents of the city of Boston are tired of being victimized and are also tired of having to continually deal with the career criminal. And they have been cooperating with us as never before.

"Each of the exhibits will also attempt to impart crime prevention tips so that we can help to stop crime before it happens," the Commissioner said.

At the exhibit, speakers will explain the uses of the Emergency Service Rescue Truck, the SWAT Truck, the Bomb Trailer, the Special Operations Armored Vehicle and the latest model of the Police cruiser, which all will be on public display.

The Departmental artist will be on hand to draw composite sketches, the Mounted Patrol will provide rides, the forensic hypnotist will give demonstrations, the Identification Unit will fingerprint anyone who wants the prints for their personal use, and the Motorcycle Drill Team will perform.

Among the other exhibits and demonstrations that will be presented by Departmental units are:

- An exhibit of safety locks and alarm systems
- Demonstrations by the anti Burglary Task Force
- Demonstrations by the Auto Theft Squad

- CPR Demonstrations by Police Academy personnel
- Demonstrations by Officers of the Stop Rape Program
- Drug Display
- Safety Demonstrations by Officer Friendly
- Communications Display showing the Boston Police radio system and the way it works
- Canine Demonstrations
- Displays by the Harbor Patrol on water safety
- Scuba Exhibitions
- Radar Demonstrations measuring the speed of a tossed softball
- Seat Belt Demonstrations

Police personnel will be stationed throughout the exhibit area to answer questions. Brochures on crime prevention will be available as will information on Police recruitment and the Cadet Program.

An Open Letter To The People Of Charlestown From Joseph V. Cinsneruli

Dear Residents of Charlestown,

My name is Joseph V. Cinsneruli and I am running for the District City Council from District 1 representing Charlestown, East Boston, and the North End. I am sure that many of you may have noticed a sign here or there, or paid political articles and advertisements in this newspaper for some of the candidates. But, how many of you are really familiar with the candidates running for this office and what they represent? Well, I am one candidate who wants to make each and every one of you aware of who I am and what I stand for.

Let me begin by stating that I am 56 years old, a life-long resident of this district, and have been actively involved in community affairs in East Boston for over 25 years. I am extremely proud of this involvement and of my past performance record. I am a long-time member of the East Boston Land Use Council and have worked strenuously to improve the quality of living in my community. I have been instrumental in East Boston gaining a stadium, an indoor swimming pool, and a new elderly housing complex. I have fought against airport takeovers of East Boston land and the noise pollution caused by airport proximity along with many other issues pertinent to the community.

Recently, being an election year, I notice my opponents have begun to appear at local meetings of community interest. I believe this to be because it is advantageous to them politically to do so at this time, and it gives them the exposure necessary to compete in an election such as this. I can understand this, but I must ask myself and you one question. WHERE HAVE THEY BEEN?

If they are now so interested in crime control and police protection, where were they two years ago when Eastie's police station was closed? Certainly not at the many demonstrations and protests against the police cuts. I know. I WAS THERE.

If they are now so concerned about fire safety, where were they when necessary fire apparatus was removed from our community? Certainly not demonstrating with those residents. I know. I WAS THERE.

If they are now so interested in public safety, where were they last year when a genetic research plant involving radio-active materials planned to locate in a very residential area of our community? Certainly not speaking before the Board of Appeals at a hearing which successfully blocked the opening of the plant. I know. I WAS THERE.

If they are now so interested in youth and expanding recreational facilities, where were they last year when a brand new recreational center built by the City was leased for $1.00 to a private developer who then wanted to charge residents over $100.00 a year to use the facilities? Certainly not protesting this grave injustice on a Sunday afternoon. I know. I WAS THERE.

Now, I know you are probably asking what this has to do with you and your community, Charlestown. Well, if my opponents did not stand up for their own home community, what will they do for yours? Charlestown, East Boston, and the North End have now been banded together with the new form of district representation voted for in the last election. I have worked long and hard for my community and I want to work just as strenuously for yours, as well.

On Tuesday, July 26th, there will be a Candidate's Night sponsored by the Kent/Charlestown Community School Council at the Kent School at 7:00 p.m. I strongly urge all community leaders and interested residents to attend that Candidate's Night, listen to the candidates, ask questions about these and other pertinent issues, and most of all, COMPARE THE CANDIDATES. Don't be misled by campaign ads and promises. Look at what my opponents have already done, not what they promise to do once in office. I am very eager for a chance to debate the other candidates but no debate has been forthcoming thus far. WHY? I am not afraid to stand up and be heard. In fact, I welcome the chance because I know that my past performance record will stand up for itself.

Once again, please come to the Kent School next Tuesday night and COMPARE YOUR CHOICES. I look forward to seeing you there.

Sincerely,
Joseph V. Cinsneruli
