VOLUME 36 NUMBER 33 CHARLESTOWN, MASS. PRICE 25¢ THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1994

Saturday Was Clean-Up Day In Charlestown

break from its awesome task . . . Second from right, The Doherty Park on Bunker Hill Street saw residents of all ages join the Charlestown Preservation Society and the Friends of Doherty Park in their annual clean-up effort . . . On the right, members of the newly formed Navy Yard Neighborhood Association begin their day with a cup of coffee. They were joined by crew members of the USS CONSTITUTION in cleaning up the Navy Yard. The Saturday venture proved to be a means to unite residents in a common goal, and the beneficiary was the community as a whole.

Family Fun Day Set For This Sunday!

The pie shells are being made, the square dancing calls are being practiced and the soccer balls are being inflated, all for Sunday's fourth annual Charlestown "Family Fun Day." Hosted by Healthy Charlestown, in conjunction with the Boys & Girls Club, Charlestown Community Schools, the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and the Kennedy Center, Family Fun Day will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Charlestown High School football field, on Medford Street.

Beginning at 11:30 a.m. with registration for Mayor Thomas M. Menino's "World Soccer Celebration in Boston's Neighborhoods," with the first 200 kids receiving a free t-shirt for attending the soccer clinic, Fun Day will be jam-packed with activities for all ages.

The rest of the day's schedule is as follows:

lows:

- Noon - Soccer clinic and exhibition
- 1 p.m. - Hot dogs will be served
- 1:30 p.m. - Pie-eating contest, three-legged races and other contests
- 2 p.m. - celebrity basketball game tip-off
- 2 p.m. - Charlestown "kicks up its heels" to the call of square dancing.

Balloons, fire engines, face painting and loads of other fun round out the day-long program that organizers say celebrate the family spirit that makes Charlestown so special. Not even rain will stop the fun, as the festivities will move indoors to the high school gymnasium should inclement weather occur.

"From ages one to 101, there is an event for everyone," said Fun Day Coordinator, Peter Looney. "I hope all of Charlestown turns out for what should be a fun day for everyone."

Lane candidly explores the feelings and experiences of six of America's First Ladies and the program will begin at 7:30 p.m. tonight, Thursday, May 12, at the library.

The Charlestown Preservation Society and The Friends of the Charlestown

Charlestown House Tour Set For May 14

The annual Charlestown Historical House Tour, set for this Saturday, May 14, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., will showcase 11 homes ranging from historic period structures to revitalized buildings, most of them located within a few blocks of the Monument. A free trolley will be provided to the two wonderful buildings that are farther away from the Monument area.

"Charlestown is filled with history, from homes built at the turn of the century, to artfully preserved buildings," said Jan Mastrocola, co-chairperson of the tour. "Examples of architectural styles on display run the gamut of Edwardian, Greek Revival, Victorian, Italian and Queen Anne."

"The tour is an important aspect of the Charlestown community as we highlight our historical heritage and work together to raise funds to preserve our parks and landmarks," said Nancy Soisson, co-chairperson of the tour.

The house tour is part of a week of activities, sponsored by the Charlestown Preservation Society, developed to raise funds for a variety of projects including the restoration of Doherty Park and improvements in Thompson Square.

The house tour, part of Charlestown's Preservation week, begins at the old Charlestown High School at 30 Monument Square and ends there with a reception, where many preservation items will be on sale, including the coloring book on architecture that the society produced this year, posters and videotapes of preservation activities.

Ticket prices are $10 in advance; $12 on the day of the event; $8 for senior citizens, and can be purchased at: A Wild Flower, 73 Main St.; Bunker Hill Florist, One Thompson Square; and Kerrigan's Flower Shop, 223 Main St., or by calling 242-3716.

Other Preservation Week activities include an Art Exhibition of local artists on Display daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through May 14 at the Preble Room, Building 5 in the Charlestown Navy Yard; and a Library Lecture, "Ladies First," a one-woman portrayal of First Ladies by Robin Lane, tonight, Thursday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main St.

New Plans And Proposals Come Before The Neighborhood Council

A varied agenda occupied the attention of the members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council (CNC) at its monthly meeting on May 3. Topics ranged from the soon-to-open Dennis McLaughlin House, a proposed Farmer's Market, to community impacts of the Central Artery/Tunnel (CA/T) project.

Peter Looney chaired the meeting, and present were Tom Cunha, first vice chairman; Mel Stillman, second vice chairman; Jim Mansfield, secretary; and Nancy Keyes, treasurer. Members in attendance were Dan Kovacevic, Jim Conway, Moe Gillen, Bill Galvin, Kay Whelan, Bob Scalli, John Dillon, John Iacoi, Kate McDonough, Judy Brennan, Bill McCabe, Edna Kelly, Jeanne Davis and Marty O'Brien.

Dennis McLaughlin House

The Dennis McLaughlin House, a transitional housing program for women in recovery from drugs and alcohol, has been almost two years in the planning and fund-raising stage and now an executive director has been hired and the facility is very near opening. The executive director, Cathy Qualitz, came before the CNC to update the members.

She explained that the facility, located at the Armed Services YMCA in the Charlestown Navy Yard, will house 10 women in recovery, some with and some without children. The housing will be available to them for up to 18 months during which time they will receive case management, advocacy and support services. Qualitz noted that in this transitional program, the object is to allow the women to make their own decisions without jeopardizing their recovery.

Qualitz said that it is the intent of the program to utilize local programs and social service agencies whenever possible, adding that referrals to the program must come through a health or social service agency.

Conway, who is president of the board, noted that a priority would be given to Charlestown women, adding that the Bunker Hill Health Center, Bunker Hill Community College, the Kennedy Center and other social service agencies should be aware of its availability and make appropriate referrals. Looney, who is also on the board, added that the Dennis McLaughlin House offers a place for a woman to get back on her feet in an environment away from drugs and alcohol. He added that she will have to take responsibility for herself and, hopefully, when she leaves will be well on her way to a secure future.

Qualitz told the members that she may be reached at 242-0251.

Farmers' Market

Laura Perille and Hugh Joseph of the Greater Boston Food Bank have been in Charlestown for the past few weeks talking with a number of groups, including the Kennedy Center, the Charlestown Business Association and the Charlestown Preservation Society regarding the possibility of establishing a Farmers' Market in the community.

For the past several years, a City Farmstand has been located in Hayes Square outside the Head Start facility and offered a limited selection of fresh produce one morning a week from early summer through October, and they accepted WIC coupons for the produce. Perille explained that this type of stand will be phased out in 1995, thus the group is looking toward a Farmers' Market that would bring three or four farmers with produce, fresh from Mass. farms. Perille said that Food Bank would provide start-up funds for the endeavor.

There are several issues currently under discussion, including a local sponsor, a location in the town and a day and time each week that it would be open. The proposal at the present time calls for the market to be operational from mid-to-late July through October, and they have been looking at a Wednesdays from 3 to 7 p.m.

Perille stated that a location has not yet been determined, but some of the sites mentioned have been the sidewalk in front of One Thompson Square, the parking lot to the rear of the liquor store in Thompson Square, the dead end of Old Rutherford Avenue adjacent to the skating rink as well as the Training Field. According to Perille, the day, hours and site will be determined by the people involved locally.

Conway spoke in favor of the Training Field where a Farmers' Market was set up each Saturday for many years. Scalli suggested the new City Square Park, and Davis questioned why no site in the Hayes Square area was mentioned. Brennan asked if the site could be rotated.

As to the price of the produce, Joseph said that some items will be higher and some lower than supermarket prices, adding that the produce will not be "discounted." He pointed out that it will be an opportunity to get produce picked that day.

It was also noted that a market manager would be hired to oversee the setup and close of the market who would help with signs, collect stall fees from farmers, enforce market guidelines and make sure the area is kept clean during and after market hours.

Courageous Sailing Center

Kathy Kelliher, youth program coordinator for the Courageous Sailing Center, came to introduce herself to the CNC members and encourage people to come down to Pier 4 in the Charlestown Navy Yard to see what is happening. An open house was held on May 7, and another is planned from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 21.

Kelliher stated that the center has a "whole new staff" this summer who are looking forward to teaching some 850 young people between the ages of 8 and 20 how to sail at no charge. The program starts on July 5 and continues through Sept. 2. She said that each youngster would be enrolled in a well-supervised one-week program that teaches them skills as well as sailing. She said that the staff would like to establish a relationship with the young people so they want to come back.

While Kelliher urged members to encourage young people to come down to the pier and enroll for the free program, she said that adult memberships are available and that the fee allows adults to take advantage of the sail-

THE REAL ESTATE WEEKLY

Carolyn Sideman, Monument Properties

IF THE PRICE ISN'T RIGHT

A Realtor has shown you a house that you like a lot. There's only one problem. You think the price is too high. If you run into this situation, you should consider making an offer at less than the asking price.

The Realtor cannot tell you how much to offer, but he or she can give you information about sales prices for similar homes in the area. After you make an offer, the agent will present it to the sellers. They will have three choices: They can reject it outright, they can counter it at more than you've offered but less than they are asking, or they might accept it. If the house is newly listed or if your offer is very low, they may decide to hold out for something better. Often, however, sellers build at least a little bargaining room into the asking price. Prices that are not negotiable at the beginning of a listing period may become increasingly flexible as time goes on. The only way to test the sellers' flexibility is to put an offer in writing and see what happens.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Monument Properties are ready to serve you. Call us at 241-5900 or drop by our offices at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

Catholic Daughters Of The Americas 39th Biennial State Convention

The Mass. State Court of the Catholic Daughters of the Americas (CDA) Convention will be held at the Radisson Hotel in Marlboro on the weekend of May 20, 21 and 22.

The CDA is the largest Catholic women's organization in the country with the membership reaching the thousands in this state alone. They are most helpful to Bernard Cardinal Law of Boston and the other bishops from the surrounding dioceses.

A financial contribution is made to each bishop at this convention during the Saturday evening banquet. Newly elected state officers are installed at Holy Mass on Sunday morning.

The two delegates from the local Court St. Jude #1123, C.D.A. will be Phyllis J. Ward and Theresa C. Dunleavy. The alternate will be Gertrude P. Roche.

The members of the local Court welcome Catholic women who are 18 years and older. If you are interested in joining, please call Gertrude at 242-4862 or Kay at 242-0714. There are CDs, software and video games as well. Also, there will be several wonderful collections of rare books which will be sold by silent auction. Don't miss this superb opportunity to pick up good books cheap! There is something to suit everyone's taste. In years past, the book sale has been an important fund raiser for the Friends, who this year, celebrate their 40th anniversary. The mission of the Friends is to assist the library, its staff, and patrons in many significant ways.

In recent months, substantial efforts have been made toward the installation of new window blinds, repair and refurbishing of the library's upholstered chairs, and sponsorship of a lecture series, children's art classes and the Reading Is Fundamental (R.I.F.) program. Your purchases on Saturday, will enable the Friends to continue to achieve these and other worthy goals.

Additional volunteers are still needed for the day of the sale. If you can help on Saturday for two hours, or more if you are willing, please call Barbara Perry at 242-5118 or Bruce Garr at 242-3356.

★ Neighborhood Council Meetings . . . Benefits Committee

Chairperson Nancy Keyes has announced that applications will be available for the third and final $50,000 grant to community organizations as part of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority's mitigation agreement with the city. She said that applications are at the Patriot office, One Thompson Square, and must be returned by May 20. The committee will meet at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 23 at the Kent Community Center, 50 Bunker Hill St., to review the applications.

Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council will be on at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 14 at the Legion Hall, 23 Adams St. Please note change of date and location.

All Neighborhood Council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

★ Sullivan Square . . . The Boston Public Works Department reopened the southbound section of the Sullivan Square overpass to traffic last Friday.

On that day, work began on the northbound section of the overpass. This work does not require closing the road completely. It will be closed from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, and will not interfere with the evening commute. The repairs to this section of the overpass are expected to take two weeks.

★ Recycling Charlestown . . . The Charlestown Recycling Volunteers would like to remind residents that, in addition to its monthly recycling of clear and mixed colored glass bottles, and jars, tin and aluminum food and beverage cans, plastic No. 1 and 2 bottles and brown paper and corrugated cardboard, Goodwill Industries will be on hand for the collection.

The drop-off will be between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 14 in the parking lot adjacent to Johnnie's Foodmaster in the Bunker Hill Mall. Goodwill will be accepting any clean and useable clothing and household items.

★ Where Are The Signs? . . . Over six months have passed since the tunnel to the Tobin Bridge outbound opened with its signalized intersection on Rutherford Avenue and, in the meantime, the inbound tunnel opened with increased traffic at this juncture.

Still, after many complaints, there are no signs for persons driving under the overpass at Austin Street indicating that a traffic light is ahead of them . . . and the result has been several serious automobile accidents at this intersection. The accidents have occurred in off-peak hours when traffic moves at a rapid clip along the roadway.

It is time that motorists are warned that a signal is ahead as they travel toward City Square. The CANA project was sold as the means to eliminate a very dangerous intersection . . . and now another has been created.

★ Board Of Appeal Hearing . . . The city of Boston Board of Appeal will meet at noon on Tuesday, May 24 in Room 801 at Boston City Hall. They will hear the appeal of Town Hill Associates requesting a change of legal occupancy for 65-71 Main St., which houses Fig's restaurant, from retail catering, offices, four apartments and a restaurant, to retail catering, offices, four apartments and a restaurant including take-out food.

★ Hearings At The Board Of Appeal . . . Two Charlestown properties were on the agenda for the city of Boston Board of Appeal on May 10.

Andrew Tiffany requested permission to construct a shed dormer and enlarge the existing dormer on a one-family dwelling at 6 Bunker Hill Court. Recommendations to grant the request were presented by the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services and the Boston Redevelopment Authority. The board agreed and approved the petition.

John Sitton was granted approval for 8 Allston St. following a resolving of concerns expressed by abutters. Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, had conducted an abutters meeting on March 24 to resolve area issues. The board granted approval.

★ "In Valor There Is Hope" . . . These words are inscribed on the National Law Enforcement Officers Memorial in Washington, D.C. Each year in our country, some 62,000 law enforcement officers are assaulted, more than 20,000 officers are injured and 179 of these brave men and women are killed in the line of duty. The national memorial was dedicated in October 1991 as a long-overdue tribute to these very special people.

This past Sunday, some 20 officers of the Boston Police Department, including Area A Community Service Officer Joe McNulty, left Boston by bicycle to travel to Washington where the names of fellow officers, Officer Tom Rose and Detective John Mulligan, will be inscribed along with many officers nationwide who were killed in the line of duty during 1993.

While traveling to Washington, at the expected rate of 80 miles per day, these local officers will be adding the names of slain officers to a scroll which will be left at the memorial. They expect to arrive in Washington tomorrow, May 13.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . . Work on the first phase of the current Boston Redevelopment Authority street reconstruction project is proceeding on schedule. Construction activities presently are concentrated on Winthrop and Tremont streets.

During the past week, most of the concrete bases for the new gas streetlights have been installed on Winthrop Street. Installation of the gas piping to feed the lights is now proceeding well. Other ongoing work on Winthrop Street includes the completion of roof drain connections and the replacement of the last few remaining lead water services.

On Tremont Street, work continues on the drainage improvements and roof drain connections. The main drain line connecting the upper portion of Tremont Street to Monument Square is now being installed. All the drainage work is expected to be completed within the next two weeks.

Also on Tremont Street, work crews continue to make steady progress on rebuilding the stone wall at the Lowney Way end of the street. Boston Gas Company crews have extended the gas main in this area in order to provide service for the new gas streetlights. Bases for the lights are presently being installed and this week will be followed by underground service pipe connections.

The locations for proposed tree plantings, as well as the new gas streetlights, have been marked out on Winthrop and Tremont streets. A green circle with a "T" in it indicates the proposed location for a new tree. If the locations present a problem or hardship, residents are urged to immediately contact the community liaison listed below.

Upcoming work, expected to begin shortly in other neighborhood areas will include, drainage and roof drain connections on Union Street. Residents are urged to continue their cooperation in observing the posted parking restrictions.

For questions, concerns or complaints, residents should contact Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300, ext. 5674.

Boston To Receive An $18.5 Million Increase In Local Aid

Sen. Thomas F. Birmingham and Rep. Richard A. Voke announced that Boston will receive $14.9 million in additional education aid and $3.6 million in new lottery aid for the fiscal year that begins this coming July, under a resolution the legislature hammered out last week. Boston students who attend regional schools also receive state funds, which are appropriated to the regional school district, rather than to the city under the final local aid resolution.

"This is good news for Boston," said Birmingham. "The numbers reflect my continuing commitment to education reform and a significant expansion of local aid for other municipal services."

"These will be the final

'cherry sheet' numbers," said Voke. "I am thrilled that Boston once again tops the list of those cities receiving the most aid."

The numbers reflect statewide increases of $189 million in education aid and $40 million in unrestricted lottery aid. Birmingham explained that the lottery aid includes $20 million in municipal stabilization aid that was appropriated last year, in addition to the $40 million increase. Lottery aid is "unrestricted" in that municipalities, not the state, determine how it will be spent.

The legislators said that the Department of Revenue is expected to mail the so-called cherry sheets that detail local aid within the next two weeks.

James Carroll In Harvard Author Reading At The BPL

Bestselling author James Carroll will discuss his latest novel, The City Below, as the Harvard Book Store Cafe Winter/Spring Author Series concludes on Tuesday evening, May 17, at 6 p.m. in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square.

He is the author of nine novels of which three were main selections of the Book-of-the-Month Club, as well as New York Times best-sellers. In his new book, he blends fiction with history as he follows the lives of two brothers coming of age in Charlestown in the 60s. Inseparable as boys, they drift apart as one is drawn to street gangs and organized crime, and the other to Kennedy's Camelot and the less idealistic real estate boon of the "New Boston."

Carroll teaches writing at Emerson College in Boston, where he lives with his wife, novelist Alexandra Marshall, and their two children.

The program is free and open to the public, although seating is limited. An autographing session and reception will follow at the Harvard Book Store Cafe on Newbury Street. For more information, call the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, ext. 336.

7th Annual Knights Of Columbus Cribbage Tournament

by Charlie McGonagle

On April 16, 128 men, representing some 32 councils from across the state, gathered at Bunker Hill Council No. 62 to vie for the 1994 Knights of Columbus Statewide Cribbage Championship. Jack Pierce of Bunker Hill, the tournament's founder and chairman, was on hand to oversee the proceedings.

In looking for a way to bring members statewide together for a day of socializing, Pierce noticed that in most every council he visited, cribbage boards seemed a part of the furniture. In 1988, he proposed a statewide tournament and, since that first year, the event has grown in popularity to the point where it is now an anticipated event.

Pierce's tireless efforts over the years have provided the general statewide membership with an arena in which to do friendly battle, and he is to be congratulated for those efforts.

At the conclusion of this year's event, Pierce announced his decision to retire as the tournament's chairman. Bob O'Leary of Bunker Hill will succeed him, and O'Leary promises to continue the tradition so effectively begun by Jack Pierce.

"Jack did all the hard work. Future years will pretty much take care of themselves. I do know, though, that if I need any assistance with anything regarding this tournament, Jack will be readily available," said O'Leary.

By the time the field in this, the seventh renewal of the cribbage contest, was whittled down to 16 players, 13 councils were still in the running for the crown. Vera Cruz, with three representatives, and Bunker Hill with two, were the only councils with more than one player remaining. Not surprisingly, three former champions helped comprise the "sweet 16" round. Jim Ready of Stoughton (1988), John McCabe of Bunker Hill (1989), and Tom Fagan of Weymouth (1993), were still alive and playing well.

In the quarterfinal round, when but eight of the original 128 players remained, the field consisted of eight men representing eight different councils. Glenn Hooper of Wilmington, Leo McGonagle of Bunker Hill, Al Spring of Vera Cruz, Pat O'Brien of North Quincy, John Parsons of Winchester, Tom Fagan of Weymouth, Joe Tisdell of Adelphi and State Deputy Ken Ryan of Pere Marquette comprised the "elite eight."

Hooper, O'Brien, Parsons and Ryan pegged their way into the "final four," with Hooper and Parsons reaching the finals. In a close, well-played, final game, Hooper managed to capture the crown for his Wilmington Council.

In what may have been a fitting victory, ousted finalist John Parsons of Winchester, won the door prize, a bottle of cheer.

The consolation tournament, made up of all of the players defeated in the first round, was won by Julian Sokolinski of Mount Pleasant Council No. 98.

For the seventh consecutive year, Dale Newbanks of Bunker Hill provided those in attendance with a delicious roast beef dinner.

While the tournament's founder and former chairman, Jack Pierce, is stepping down after a highly successful seven-year term, new tournament chairman, Bob O'Leary, is already looking forward to next year's action.

ELECTION UPDATE 1994

Walsh Announces Candidacy For Clerk Of Suffolk Superior Criminal Court

Peter J. Walsh, a life-long resident of Boston, and former 13-year Suffolk Criminal Superior Court Procedures Clerk has officially entered the race for Clerk of the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court.

In announcing his candidacy for clerk, Walsh, a resident of the Neponset section of Dorchester, who grew up in South Boston, believes experience and knowledge not political motivation, should be the key to being elected Clerk of the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court.

As someone who has the experience and knowledge as to how the Mass. state court system operates, especially at the Superior Court level, Walsh brings both experience and a keen ability to generate innovative ideas into a long since outdated system.

One of his primary goals as clerk, will be to implement an educational, community outreach program, so that our youth and the community, as a whole, will have a better understanding about how the Mass. court system and the judiciary operate.

PETER J. WALSH

Upon his departure from the Suffolk Superior Court in 1991, Walsh served for almost two years as an aide to the Boston City Council, and was responsible for various constituent matters throughout the neighborhoods of the city of Boston under Boston City Councilor John Nucci.

Walsh is a 1979 graduate of Don Bosco Technical High School, with an undergraduate Bachelor of Liberal Arts degree earned in 1986 from Harvard University's Extension School. He and his wife, MaryAnn, reside with their two daughters, Meghan, age 5 and Nora, age 3, in the Neponset section of Dorchester. (political announcement)

Galvin In The Race For Secretary Of State

Former State Rep. William F. Galvin of Boston has announced his candidacy for the office of secretary of state.

Galvin cited the new and increased responsibilities of the office, specifically in the areas of voter registration and securities regulation, as being particularly consistent with his public and professional experience. Galvin said, "More than ever before, the secretary of state's role as the chief information officer of Mass. is critical to public participation in policy decisions. As secretary of state, I will insist that the citizens be notified about and have the opportunity to participate in decisions that affect their daily lives."

Galvin served for 15 years in the Mass. House of Representatives, rising to the chairmanship of the Government Relations Committee. In 1990, he won the Democratic nomination for state treasurer and has remained active in party affairs. He said the political support he gained in that contest would give him an advantage in the upcoming race.

Galvin said he would enhance the secretary of state's role as the first official point of encounter for new businesses seeking to open up in the state. He said the office would provide "one-stop shopping" for new entrepreneurs to help them cut through bureaucratic red tape.

He also stressed the re-

sponsibilities of the secretary of state in regulating the sale of stocks and mutual funds. Elderly or unsophisticated investors are too often subject to high-pressure sales techniques, which fail to provide them with adequate information, he said.

In the legislature, Galvin was a constant supporter of legislation designed to address social problems. He was the principal sponsor of the Mass. Civil Rights Law.

Other measures upon which he took leadership positions included comprehensive health care, affordable housing and equal mortgage and lending opportunities. He also voted to improve the tenant-eviction process.

Galvin first entered the House of Representatives in 1975, the year he earned his law degree from Suffolk University. He graduated from Boston College with a degree in political science in 1972. Since leaving the House in 1990, he has been practicing law. (political announcement)

Money Matters

by Nicholas C. Pino

"Let us assist you in your financial planning"

WHEN RENTING TO RELATIVES, BOTH YOU AND YOUR TENANTS GET A BREAK

If you currently rent to relatives or are considering renting a house to a relative, you should be aware that you must charge them a reasonable rent or the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) may step in and deny much of the rental deduction. Nevertheless, property owners can often provide shelter to relatives at a reduced rent, yet continue to legally nail down a full rental deduction on their federal tax returns.

Ordinarily, the IRS considers the fair rental value to be the amount you could reasonably expect to receive from a stranger. When renting to relatives, however, both you and your tenants get a break. The IRS used to take the position that relatives had to pay the same amount of rent that others renting an identical property would be required to pay. That's no longer the case. Today, relatives may pay up to 20 percent less rent - and the home owner may still be able to take full rental write-offs.

The reason for allowing the property owner to ask for a lesser rent from a relative is that, quite frankly, relatives usually make better tenants. Not only are fees to property managers or real estate agents normally avoided when renting to relatives, but the property owner usually saves on other upkeep and cleanup costs as well. Simply put, owners usually incur less costs when renting to family members.

Still, in the event that you are challenged by the IRS as not charging fair rent to a relative, it will be up to you to prove that your relatives are paying at least 80 percent of the prevailing rent in your locality. To back up your position, it might be wise to save local newspaper advertisements listing rental values of comparable properties in your neighborhood. For further documentation, you may want to check the local real estate professionals and maybe even consider paying for an appraisal.

New Plans And Proposals Brought Before The CNC

ing and social activities while, at the same time, it provides funds to offset the cost of the free program for the youngsters. She quoted the price of one of the membership plans as $499 from May 1 to Oct. 31, with a 15 percent discount at the open house.

Kelliher said that persons interested in the program should call her at 242-3821.

Gen. Michael Galvin
Conway left the council table to address the members and ask their support in naming a parcel of open space adjacent to City Square, for which landscaping plans are presently being made, in honor of the late Major General, Senator and Undersecretary of Labor, Michael Joseph Galvin, a native son of Charlestown. When Galvin died in 1963, the legislature voted to name a bridge to be built from City Square to Boston in his name. The proposed bridge was never built, so nothing was ever done to honor him.

Conway stated that Bunker Hill Post and the Charlestown Veterans Committee have endorsed the naming of the land in Galvin's honor, and he will be asking the county and state American Legion for their endorsement. Under new business, the CNC voted unanimously to send a letter of endorsement.

Public Safety
Dillon reported on the April Public Safety meeting which turned into a round table discussion since no police officer was present. He said that the increasing number of housebreaks has raised concern, with three reported in Mishawum Park and five on Monument Square in a short period of time.

Another concern was the double parking on Main Street in the vicinity of Fig's restaurant and, he said, the upcoming opening of a new restaurant, Comella's, just a few doors down, has the potential of impacting the same area further.

Cunha questioned the process a business must follow to obtain proper licenses. He added that the CNC has requested that the city's Inspection Services Department (ISD) notify the council when someone applies for a license, and apparently this is not being done.

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, told the CNC that she spoke to the ISD on 73-83 Main St. (Comella's) and was told that they have a 34 (retail) and 37 (sit-down restaurant) license but not a 36-A for take-out. It was noted by several members that they were not opposed to a restaurant, per se, but they were opposed to the process.

Looney stated that he wanted information on the history of how these licenses were obtained and how it got to this point. He said: "It is not fair that someone just walks into town and gets a license while others, such as Bob Scalli and Kevin Smith (both planning food establishments on Bunker Hill Street), have to walk a tightrope." He added that anything such as this going on in the town should come to the CNC.

Benefits Committee
Keyes related that applications for the third $50,000 grant from the Mass. Water Resources Authority mitigation agreement with the city will be available for Charlestown non-profit organizations. She said that they would be at the Patriot office, One Thompson Square, and must be returned to her by Friday, May 20. The committee will meet on Monday, May 23 at 7 p.m. at the Kent Community Center, 50 Bunker Hill St., to review the applications.

Mitigation Committee
Gillen reported on a new committee that has been formed consisting of representatives of Charlestown, the North End, Waterfront, West End, South End, East Boston and Cambridge, all areas heavily impacted by the Central Artery/Tunnel (CA/T) project, which has met twice under the chairmanship of Rep. Sal DiMasi. Beside Gillen, who represents the CNC, Charlestown members include Ken Stone from the North Area Task Force and Tom King from the Citizens for a Livable Charlestown. Among the elected officials and/or their representatives who have attended are District One City Councillor Diane Modica, Sen. Robert Travaglini and Sen. Thomas Birmingham, and, Gillen stated, staff from Rep. Richard Voke's office would also be a part of the committee. The CNC voted to ratify Gillen as its representative.

According to Gillen, the committee is looking at the impacts the project may have and devising mitigation measures. One of the first tasks is for each community to submit a draft list of community impacts by a May 6 deadline. Dorothy Conway, legislative aide to Travaglini, has been charged with integrating the list prepared by each community and preparing a draft on CA/T impacts and include mitigation measures the committee will strive for by the end of the month.

Gillen handed out a copy of the draft on Charles River Crossing impacts on Charlestown for the CNC members to review. He noted that there had been insufficient time since the committee's April 26 meeting to hold a public meeting in the community. Galvin expressed concern that the draft didn't include public input, and Looney asked whether consolidation with other neighborhoods gave them an advantage, since the North Area Task Force had been so successful in working out problems on the CANA project.

According to Gillen, other areas have received funds for a study group, and they would ask for an environmental consultant for Charlestown. Looney questioned him as to whether joining this committee would be signing on to a law suit since some of the people on the committee would prefer having nothing built. Both Gillen and Brennan said that the law suit is an entirely different issue, with Gillen adding that the three Charlestown members are just trying to "stake out a claim" for Charlestown and share the community's concerns with the elected officials.

The CNC voted to accept the draft because of the time limitations, with the provision that this be an exception. Looney asked Gillen to obtain a schedule of the committee meetings so that there can be a public process on upcoming issues.

New Business
Under new business, Dillon brought up the fact that questions have arisen about activities at the Armed Services YMCA and suggested a meeting with the Y's Executive Director Paul Harvey, following up on an October meeting on the subject. Conway said he would set up a meeting with Harvey and a delegation from the CNC.

Mansfield reminded the members that teens 14-17 must call the HOPE line by May 20 in order to be eligible for a summer job. The line is open between 3 and 6 p.m. daily, and the teens must call themselves. The number is 635-HOPE.

Davis brought up the issue of the field house at Ryan Field and that a month ago, reports out of the Boston Parks Department were that renovations would be completed in two weeks. It was suggested that CNC members call the Parks Department to inquire when the field house will be open.

Looney asked that the June meeting of the CNC be changed from June 7 to June 14 because of Charlestown Pride Week activities. It was voted that the meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 14 at the American Legion Hall, 23 Adams St.

Headmaster Brother Richard Cook, CFX, has announced that nominations are being accepted for the Malden Catholic Hall of Fame. Established in 1989, the Hall of Fame honors Malden Catholic's distinguished athletes, coaches, administrators and special contributors.

The selection process is based solely on the nominee's athletic accomplishments and contributions while at MC. Achievements at the collegiate or professional levels are not considered in the selection committee's deliberations.

To be eligible for nomination, the athlete must have participated in at least one varsity sport and must have graduated 10 years prior to nomination.

Nomination forms may be obtained by contacting Steve O'Neill at the Malden Catholic Development and Alumni Office at 322-3098 or 322-8377.

Birmingham Files Nomination Papers For Re-Election

State Sen. Thomas Birmingham has made it official. His campaign re-election effort last week filed more than 2,000 signatures from registered voters in the Middlesex, Suffolk and Essex District which covers Boston, Chelsea, Everett, Cambridge, Somerville, Revere and Saugus.

The number of signatures required of a candidate seeking nomination to the senate is 300. Currently, the Chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, Birmingham expressed his "deep gratitude to all those who signed my nomination papers. Clearly, the democratic process could not function without people willing to endorse the efforts of those running for office." He also thanked "all those who took the time to gather all those very important signatures from the public."

As a result of redistricting, Birmingham hopes to represent sections of Cambridge, Somerville and Allston. "I look forward enthusiastically to representing the people of all of these communities as their senator and to strive to improve the quality of life for working people. And to the constituents I will again be privileged to serve in Charlestown, Chelsea, Everett, Revere and Saugus, I pledge to continue my best efforts on your behalf."

The Maple Leafs offense was lead by Mike Reid, who had five goals and Adam Fornash, who had one. Danny Buhay, Jill Gillis and goaltender Corey Cedorchuk also had strong performances for the Leafs.

Charlestown Catholic Elementary School News

by Ann Teague

"It is while we are young that the habit of industry is formed. If not then, it never is afterwards. The fortune of our lives, therefore, depends on employing well the short period of youth.

As testimony to their concurrence with Thomas Jefferson's philosophy, students at Charlestown Catholic Elementary School have been employing themselves quite "industriously" as they involved themselves in a science fair and as they participated in the Law Day program at the Charlestown District Court.

On April 29, all students at Charlestown Catholic presented the fruits of weeks of research via dioramas, posters, scale models, videos and reports as the school held its annual Science Fair. Beginning with a question which would lead to an hypothesis, a theory and finally, after testing, a conclusion, the young scientists explored concepts which ran the gamut from health to space (i.e. life, physical and environmental science). The skills used have significance for their projects and for their development as reasoning adults for the skills involved in their research are those they will need to solve future problems. The ability to question the world in new and creative ways is a definite outgrowth of this type of assignment.

These youngsters, apart from memorizing facts, are developing thinking skills which can help them put facts to use.

While all the projects were well done and deserve honorable mention, a few "scientists' " projects stood out and these were awarded prizes.

These scientists are:

Grade 4, first place, Kevin O'Neil, Craig Powers and Patrick McLaughlin for The American Alligator; second place, Julie Grzelcyk and Kristie Donahue for the White Elephant; and third place, Stephen Webber and Michael Shackford for Lemur.

Grade 5, first place, T Houng Doung, Erin Coppinger, Nicole Bourgeois and Katie Prince for Water Pollution; second place, Michael Travis and Stephen McCabe for Skeleton; third place, John Fabiano, Tom Centola, Kevin Daniels and Brendan Doris for Electricity.

Grade 6A, first place, Paul Daniels and Ryan Godfrey for Anoles; second place, Cory Hollien and Ian Burke for Snails.

Grade 6B, first place, Chris Breen for Cats; second place, Stephen Regan for The Great White Shark; third place, Jan and Jennifer Missett for Thunder Storms.

Grade 7, first place, Lynn Huyn for The Brain; second place, Melissa Missett and Kristen Golden for Spectrum of Light; third place (tie), Christine Griffin and Jackie Castro for Drugs and Mark Russell and Jason Melaugh for The Solar System.

Grade 8, first place, Kevin Golden, Edward Prince, Son Dinh and Chris Tamburello for Magnetism and Electricity; second place Dave Brady and Joshua Manning for Continental Drift; and third place, Michael Machado and James Greatorex for The Digestive System.

Charlestown Catholic would like to correct an omission. In the naming of those selected to attend Boston Latin School, Kevin Golden was selected to attend Boston Latin Academy and Son Dinh, was selected to attend Boston Latin School.

Winners of the Charlestown Catholic Elementary School Special Lottery Calendar for the week of May 1-8 are: The Kelly Family, The Roche Family, Kathleen Ellard, Stephanie Carpenter, Louise Fama, Denise MacDougall and Diane Wrenn.

Charlestown Catholic Students Participate In Interactive Teleconference

by Melissa Doherty

On April 28, students at Charlestown Catholic Elementary School participated in a interactive teleconference with four congressmen - Peter Torkildsen (R-MA), Calvin Doolley (D-CA), Dan Miller (R-FL) and Richard Lehman (D-CA). During the conference, which was broadcast live from Washington D.C., the students discussed their views about President Clinton's health care plan with the congressmen. It gave students from around the country a chance to voice their opinions, and gave the congressmen a chance to hear from those who will be affected by the choices that they make.

The 6th grade class of Anne Teague gave up their study period to join students from Calif., Kan., Fla. and other Mass. schools in the teleconference. The students were given a brief description of the Clinton plan and its alternatives. Then they picked the plan which they thought would be best for the country. The three proposals they had to chose from were: The Clinton Plan, the Market-Oriented Approach and Single Payer Proposals

The Clinton Plan would attempt to have health plans lower prices while maintaining quality. Its main goal is to "balance equality of access to health care with market competition through consumer choice."

The Market-Oriented approach would only fix the parts of the health care system that need fixing. This plan would also avoid the use of the government.

The final choice was the Single Payer Proposal which would guarantee universal coverage for all Americans. All doctor and hospital payments would be determined by and channeled through the government. The insurance industry would no longer be involved in health care.

After each school selected the plan which they felt would be best, they were allowed one minute to give their "testimony" to the congressmen by use of a phone. The students at Charlestown Catholic selected 7th grader Lynn Huynh, 12, of Dorchester to relate their testimony to the forum of congressmen.

The students selected the Single Payer Proposal and gave their reasons in Lynn's testimony: "I would pick the Single Payer Proposal because it would guarantee people a better health care system and [they] would not be charged a lot. Some doctors would charge more than the insurance company may pay. People who do not have a lot of money would still get a good health care system." The congressmen then responded by statements and questions, which the students were given a chance to think about before responding. Unfortunately, time ran out before they could return to Mrs. Teague's class to hear more of the students' ideas.

The teleconference was the third in a five-part series entitled "Learning to Lead" which focuses on the issue of health care reform. It was broadcast on the Mass LearnPike satellite network, which is operated by the Mass. Corporation for Educational Telecommunications (MCET). It was the first session that students from Charlestown Catholic participated in.

Congressman Torkildsen said "I strongly support any program that includes students in important issues and helps them realize the role they can play in our government."

Today, students are able to interact in the learning process with individuals from around the country and participate in the issues that are going to affect their lives. It is programs such as MCET that have made it possible for the education of our children to expand beyond the four walls of a classroom and use the technology available today to instruct our future leaders.

and use the technology available today to instruct our future leaders.

organized through the offices of the Director of Instruction at the Edwards, Owen Quilty; the Director of Student Support Services, Maureen McGoldrick, and the teacher in charge of the Peer Leadership Program, Francis Borrelli. "In presenting this forum," Quilty said, "we want to take a strong stand for non-violence and clearly demonstrate the consequences of violence and the acceptance for responsibility of one's actions."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include named, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

Thank You

Dear Gloria,
The Charlestown Preservation Society would like to thank you for your outstanding coverage of the recent groundbreaking ceremony at Thompson Square. This long-awaited project will be completed within six months and will be a welcome addition to the square.

We would also like to thank Joseph Celata, owner of One Thompson Square, for allowing us to use the room for the ceremony and for serving refreshments, Bunker Hill Florist for lending us the beautiful flowers, Frank Celeste for helping us set up the room, Lorraine Connolly for making the coffee for us, and the National Park Service for their continued support.

Sincerely,
Rosemary Kverek, president
Charlestown Preservation Society

My Heartfelt Thanks

To the editor:
My heartfelt thanks goes out to the anonymous gentleman who found my wallet, that I had dropped without realizing it outside of CVS at the Bunker Hill Mall, on May 4.

This gentleman went to the Alpha 103 car that was driven by Officer Riley and his partner and turned the wallet over to them. The officers went to my home to investigate the matter. They spoke to my husband and told him to tell me to go to Area A and pick it up.

While all this was happening, I was shopping away at Johnnie's. I realized at one point my money was gone. I panicked, of course, and started looking all over for it... no wallet. I called my home to see if I had left it there by mistake. What a relief to find out what had transpired. I went to Area A as I was told to do, still not knowing what to expect. My wallet with money, important papers and money orders was there. Everything was intact, may I add.

To Officer Riley and his partner, I thank you, but to that anonymous gentleman, whoever you are, I can't thank you enough. God bless you, you are an honest Townie. Never in a million years did I think that would happen.

Thank you once again,
Margie O'Halloran

Thank You For Your Support

While our memories of the first annual spring clean-up, sponsored by the Navy Yard Neighborhood Association are still fresh in our minds, we'd like to offer our thanks and our appreciation to all those whose support and efforts made it possible, including those residents of the shipyard who turned out last Saturday morning.

Among those who ought to be singled out particularly for their efforts are: Cmdr. Rick Amirault and the crew of the USS Constitution, George Temple of the Navy Yard Neighborhood Association Development Committee, and Karen Colombosian of the Community Relations Committee, as well as the employees of the Boston Department of Public Works, the National Park Service and Mass. Water Resources Authority for both their personal efforts in the clean-up and for providing necessary tools.

Among the corporate and organizational sponsors we'd also like to thank are: Store 24, Liz Gallas Real Estate, Harbour Foodservice Equipment, Marty's/Allston, Boston Redevelopment Authority, Constitution Quarters/The Raymond Group, Flagship Wharf/Merrill Lynch, Courageous Sailing Center, Diane Gilbert and Barbara Babin.

Sincerely,
Richard E. Dolby and Susan G. Holaday, co-chairs,
Navy Yard Neighborhood Association

Doherty Park Clean-Up

The annual Doherty Park/Olmsted Park clean-up was held on Saturday and dozens of children and adults came out to rake, pick up and put the park in order.

The Doherty Park, formerly called Charlestown Heights, was designed in the late 1800s by the famous Frederick Law Olmsted, architect of Boston's "Emerald Necklace" and many other world-famous parks.

Sponsored by the Charlestown Preservation Society and the Friends of the Doherty Park, the clean-up day was funded by Massport and assisted by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department. This year, James Walsh, regional administrator of the Parks Department, made arrangements with Sheriff Bob Rufo to use the Sheriff's Department Work Release Program to help to cut the overgrown brush and pick up debris along the footpaths on the back slope facing Medford Street. Now all Charlestown residents can enjoy walking through the park this summer..

Refreshments were provided by The Red Store, the James Duffy Company and Lori Ann's Donut Shop.

Our thanks to all.
Rosemary Kverek, president
Charlestown Preservation Society

A Special Thank You

Dear Gloria,
On behalf of the Kennedy Center, I want to thank Mary Scro of Dunkin' Donuts (Charlestown) for the monthly donation of donuts to the Senior Lounge. The seniors enjoyed the treat at Bingo and for breakfast.

Thank you again for remembering us.
Sincerely,
Judith S. Meaney
Director of Senior Services

... And We Have Grown

It was a cloudy, misty day
we made our decision to move to Charlestown.
Our burdens were heavy, we walked careful steps.

It didn't take long to adapt. The church, and her people, became our mooring.
As we now prepare to leave this genuine town,
many faces dance through our reflections.

There was the Easter a new friend cared to provide a flower.
A kaleidoscope of activity adds to the growth of a child...

- ♥ the Sunday mass
- ♥ 'Snoopy' vestments
- ♥ the children's Christmas pageant
- ♥ St. Catherine's sleepover
- ♥ roller skating on vacation
- ♥ 'Frosty-the-Snowman' at mass
- ♥ a birthday cake for Jesus
- ♥ a wooden cross necklace
- ♥ competition with the Color Guard
- ♥ the wonder of First Communion.

There were the choirs ...
the children's voices premiered at Easter ... and the adult choir, each practice adding to our treasure chest of memories.

And, then, there was the strength of CHAMP parents who gave far more than they could take.

An opportunity to share my voice ...
the incremental building of confidence.
Today, the sun begins to cast shadows,
It is time to move on.

I take communion in my hands now because I know that God loves me.

I didn't know that before Charlestown.
All of you now are an integral part of our hearts forever.

-Debra M. Rogers

Thank You

Dear Gloria,
I would like to express how deeply proud and honored I was to be the recipient of the Unsung Hero award.

My mother brought up all her children to do things for others without payment. She said a "thank you" and a "God Bless You" was the best payment anyone could give you. I have received both thanks and blessings for all of my endeavors, but to receive this award from the community and the Neighborhood Council is a most humbling and grateful reward.

Once again, I would like to remind people to put forth an extra effort in helping their neighbors and community no matter how small they think it may be, believe me, they too will be thanked and blessed.

Also, congratulations to the other honorees, who were all deserving of their awards, and a big thank you to everyone who came to the event to show their support.

This is truly "the Town I love so well."
Thank you kindly,
Terry Ring

One Person Can Make A Difference

Dear Gloria,
I am always saddened to hear of one more senseless act of violence in our community. The juxtaposition of the recent incident with the CH.A.M.P. vigil marks it especially in my mind.

But I want to say how impressed I was with the essays written by Charlestown youth that accompanied your report on the vigil.

I am impressed that these young people understand that one person can prevent violence; that one person demonstrating understanding and respect and taking the time to talk to someone in need and to organize and participate in community events is ultimately the very best way to set the tone for a whole neighborhood.

Fortunately, Charlestown is filled with role models of this kind of caring and pride in community. I wish these young people well in living out their pledges to make a difference.

Youngsters In Head Start Hop For Easter Seals

A HOP-N-ING happened recently at Charlestown's Head Start program where youngsters learned about children with disabilities and then took part in a fund-raising challenge known as a Hop-n-ing. Each child collected pledges from family members and friends based on how many hops he or she could do in three minutes while wearing bunny ears.

Free Workshops To Help With Smoking Cessation

Did you know that almost 75 percent of smokers would like to quit? If this describes you, maybe the Healthy Charlestown Coalition and the Bunker Hill Health Center can help. Over the next two months, three series of smoking cessation workshops will be offered to residents of Charlestown at various sites throughout the community, free of charge.

Cigarette smoking is the single most preventable cause of premature death in the U.S. The health benefits of quitting are major and immediate. With help and support, it can be done. Join your neighbors for the introductory session on Monday, May 16, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Bunker Hill Health Center, 73 High St., to find out more about smoking and the free workshops.

The five-session workshop series will meet weekly as follows:

- The Edwards Middle School, 28 Walker St., on Mondays, from May 23 through June 20, from 7 to 8 p.m.
- St. Catherine's Parish Hall, Tufts Street, on Thursdays, May 19 through June 16, from 7 to 8 p.m.
- BHA Teen Center, 76 Monument St., on Thursdays, beginning May 26, from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The workshops will be led by staff from the Bunker Hill Health Center and Community Lay Educators, Charlestown residents who are former smokers themselves. Also, Spanish interpretation will be available at the introductory session and the series at St. Catherine's.

The BHA Teen Center series will focus on teens who would like to explore smoking-related issues, whether they smoke or not. All interested teens are invited to come to the first Thursday session to find out more.

The Healthy Charlestown Coalition and the Bunker Hill Health Center are co-sponsoring these workshops with a Boston Tobacco Control Community Partnership Grant. This program is part of a broader effort to make Charlestown a healthier place to live and work that includes other health and prevention-related events such as "Prevention Day" today, May 5, and "Charlestown Loves A Healthy Heart Day," May 12, sponsored by the Bunker Hill Health Center.

For more information or to sign up for one of the free workshops, call Ann at BHHC, 242-5704, or Joanne at HCC, 241-3756.
