TOM WHITE (left) of Charlestown was presented with an inscribed etching of the raising of the American flag on Iwo Jima by Tom Lyons (right), deputy director of Veterans Services for the city of Boston. The presentation was made at a luncheon at Pier 4 on November 10th in honor of the 213th Birthday of the United States Marine Corps. Lyons said that the USMC has a tradition of "taking care of its own" as is exemplified by White and praised him for his years of community service. Both White and Lyons served in the Corps in Vietnam.

live in a supervised congregate lodge for low-income mentally ill at 71 Perkins Street. The renovated three-story house will serve as one of the state Department of Mental Health (DMH) treatment settings, designed to give previously hospitalized patients the opportunity to move toward independent living. A first in Charlestown, the Perkins Street lodge will be the third of its kind in Boston.

Representatives of the Erich Lindemann Mental Health Center, the DMH Metro-Boston regional office, met with Charlestown Neighborhood Council Housing and Development Committee and Public Safety Committee members and concerned abutters on November 10 to discuss plans for the former boarding house.

Abutters seemed to resent not having a say on, what they considered, a potentially threatening situation in their neighborhood and learning about the plans for the lodge after a real estate investor had already purchased the house and leased it to DMH. The

Perkins Street House To Be Home For Mentally Ill

The emotional meeting sparked some dissension between Charlestown residents themselves, with some arguing for everyone's right to housing regardless of disability, and those who will live next door to or across the street from the lodge appealing for their right to want to refuse potential problems in their neighborhood.

"If I were a resident, I could sympathize," said Gulla of his first-ever meeting with neighbors. "I think there are preconceived notions of who the clients will be, but I didn't feel that badly about how the meeting went."

According to Gulla, the new residents will have to meet eligibility criteria to be considered appropriate for this type of housing. The program will include individual treatment plans for residents, 24-hour supervision, a 1-7 staff-to-client ratio, and abutters were promised accessibility to those in charge if problems arise.

The congregate lodge setting is an attempt to provide a stable home-like environment for recovering psychiatric patients who want to return to the community and be independent. Gulla said residents might be manic depressives and take medication, but they could not be substance abusers or violent and live in this setting.

Upon completion of renovations, the house will have 14 bedrooms, six bathrooms, two kitchens, and a common living and dining room. Although it is not required, residents may work or attend day treatment programs.

Gulla said there are approximately 140 clients on waiting lists for the type of service the Perkins Street lodge will provide, with potentially 33 coming from Charlestown.

A second community meeting is scheduled for tonight at 7 p.m. at the Charlestown Working Theater, 442 Bunker Hill Street.

Concerned residents are encouraged to meet with Lindemann Center representatives and council members tonight to ask questions, discuss problems and learn more about further planning.

Allston Street Issues Focus Of Development Committee Meeting

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council's Development Committee will conduct a meeting on Tuesday, November 22 at 7 p.m. in the Charlestown High School Auditorium, 240 Medford Street.

The committee will discuss a proposal to reverse the direction of traffic on Allston Street which presently runs from Medford Street to Bunker Hill Street. Also on the agenda will be the proposed development of a parcel of land located at the corner of Allston and Medford Streets.

Council member John Lynch, who will chair the meeting, stated that concerns raised by residents of the area on both issues resulted in the council setting up the meeting with all parties involved. The public is welcome to attend.

For more information, call John Lynch at 241-7867.

SMELLS

When prospective buyers walk into a home, they may react strongly to the way it smells. Smoke, strong disinfectants, insecticides, kitty litter and the fried liver have all been known to dampen the enthusiasm people might otherwise feel when we show them the perfect house.

If your home is on the market, be sure it passes the sniff test. Smoke and pets can be big offenders. Consider a temporary smoking ban in your home. If your new puppy has been using an old chair as a tree, get rid of the chair and consider boarding the puppy with friends until the house is sold. Be meticulous about cleaning your cat box if you have one. Some cleaning services specialize in odor removal, and they may suggest carpet steaming and other techniques to remove the offense. Even if your buyers smoke, have pets and cook liver, they won't like to smell the same odors in a home they are considering buying.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates. Please call us at 242-7470 or drop by our offices at 142 Main Street in Charlestown.

Development Of 127 Main Street Receives Residential Approval

by Kathy Giordano

A major hurdle facing developers Dick Held and Paul Kelly in their proposal to construct 14 condominium units and two office spaces on a vacant lot at 127 Main Street in Thompson Square has been cleared.

The city of Boston Transportation Department has granted support for the project after reviewing the developers' revised plans for the loading area needed to accommodate the adjacent liquor store. The Boston Redevelopment Authority will now review the design and work toward the Land Disposition Agreement (LDA) with the developers.

Dinosaur Dance

Silly stories, dragon dramas and a dinosaur dance are all part of the festivities at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street, on Thursday, November 17 at 4 p.m. Susan Jayson and Mary Ellen Payne of Nightingale Productions will provide lively music, magical stories and a chance to dance!

Join the celebration! Children 5 years of age and older are invited to participate. This is a Reading Is Fundamental program sponsored by H.P. Hood Inc.

No residential opposition was heard at the meeting held to discuss the plans with abutters on Wednesday evening, November 16th.

The development, situated between Main and Warren Streets, will consist of one three-bedroom unit; (continued on page 10)

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

Enforcement of the speed limit was waived for Shipways' toddler Jonathan Kincaid. As he accelerated on his plastic scooter down Pier 8, his only concern was to view the luxury yacht Hot Issue calling from the Big Apple, one of the remaining vessels at the pier marina. Jonathan also had the good fortune of seeing the Butcher Boy and the Scarlet Lili. His chaperons had their overseeing task complicated by the activity in the nearby sea. Panama registered oiler, the Semiramis was followed down the channel by the Americana, port of origin Genoa, with quite possibly Jonathan's Christmas surprises. Before the afternoon was history, the odometer on the scooter had exceeded all expectations, with the exception of Jonathan's. On his return to his home, Jonathan was greeted with welcome arms by his mother Janet, who had prepared a snack for her one and only and a beverage for his weak and weary escorts. Great to be young again!

Taking the initiative to guarantee supplementary public safety officers to patrol the area, Anchorage residents have circulated a petition to accomplish same. Vehicle thefts and vandalism have plagued the locale too often over a brief period of time. Visibility has been determined to be the only vehicle that will reduce the car crimes. If you haven't signed the petition, please do so. Commissioner Mickey Roache has been decent in his approach to community needs and we are all awaiting his decision on this necessary manpower deployment.

Never on Sunday, is a platitude practiced by many, but not followed by Stevedore Arthur Crotty. Along the water's edge, Arthur was enjoying the pleasant afternoon with a mission. As the proud father of a remarkable family, Arthur was heading to my Shipways' home with his son David's address to finalize the mailing to all past recipients of the Quinn Scholarship for the 20th annual dinner dance. Arthur and his wife Mary are parents of Arthur, who was the 1976 winner and David, who received the scholarship in 1978. A graduate of Wentworth, Arthur is pursuing an architectural profession while David, a Columbia University alumnus, is in the financial field. Interested parties may contact the writer at 242-5493 for further particulars on the 20th annual Michael P. Quinn Dinner Dance to be held at the Bunker Hill Knights of Columbus Hall on Saturday, April 1, 1989.

Signs have been hung on Building 38, tentatively designated as the Cooper Building, by the general contractor F.L. Caulfield and Sons of Quincy. Progress is advancing to the delight of the residents and Collector Treasurer Lee F. Jackson who will be issuing the 1990 fiscal year tax bills.

On Election Day, the staff at the Kent School did a fantastic job with the large voter activity. In the future, Navy Yard residents who are in Ward 2, Precinct 2 should declare to the employees that they could be on a supplementary list in order to facilitate the voting process. Early voters from the Yard were Bobbi Bishop, Al and Alice Marcella and the McDermott sisters. We extend special thanks to the dedicated personnel.

When not playing basketball at the National Park Service site, "Townie" Jimmy Connors utilizes another surface of the region. Driving lessons for his son on the adjoining road were just perfect for his recently licensed son. Of course, after a car purchase, insurance coverage follows. So it was quite a coincidence that local independent insurance agent Walter F. Troy was inspecting the torii in front of the former Marine barracks when Jimmy was entering the Park. Within seconds, Jimmy had his insurance needs taken care of by the affable Walter in a great setting for the USMC veteran, who will gladly inform the curious about the historical significance of the torii from his Asian assignments. Located at 271 Main Street, (242-9201) Walter handles auto, home, life and disability.

BRA employees John Leigh and Dave Armanetti were greeted by a host of residents at the 201 Main Street social for the Charlestown Cooperative Bank's new building. An ample hot and cold buffet with an accompanying beverage bar made for a grand evening. President Bill McCarthy and directors Jim Collins, Jack Sawyer and Ed Wiles circulated among the guests offering general information on the magnificent structure, once the site of the Edes house and birthplace of Samuel Morse of telegraph fame. No lucky key was turned, but President Bill assures us that prizes will be distributed. This is a new and welcome site on Main Street that will continue for at least the next 75 years.

Get Ready For The Holidays With The Adult Discussion Group

On Friday, November 18 at 10 a.m., the Adult Discussion Group of the Charlestown Branch Library at 179 Main Street, will enjoy a workshop on "Easy Holiday Houses."

Gingerbread houses are "magic" for children of all ages, and Adults' Librarian Theresa Nesbit will conduct a workshop demonstrating ways to get that homemade look with a minimum of effort. Nesbit states that the techniques are easy enough for children to master, and the results are attractive enough to display as a centerpiece.

Nesbit suggests several books that might be helpful in preparing for the Christmas holiday. They include: Christmas Wreaths by

Steve Sherman, Creative Ideas For Christmas 1986 compiled and edited by Nancy Fitzpatrick and Holiday Cooking For Kids by Janet Wilk.

Chestnut Street Developer Responds To Abutters' Request

by Lynn Peters

The rooftop stairway structure will be removed from the new 24-unit condominium project and American Legion Hall on Chestnut Street, as area abutters struck a victory at a November 9 community meeting with Charlestown Neighborhood Council members and the developer and architect.

Chestnut Street residents, and those of neighboring Mt. Vernon and Adams Streets, have had an arm's length list of complaints with the construction over a period of time, and last week's meeting won them the opportunity to voice concerns in hopes of future positive results in their neighborhood.

"It's a matter of problem solving," said developer Joseph Savage of Savage Shea Corporation about the meeting. "In any project there's a varying degree of problems, and with the density of this neighborhood it's harder because the impact is direct and hard."

Neighbors pushed hard for visible evidence that at some point their complaints would be responded to, and Savage and project architect John French of J.W. French Associates agreed to remove the stairway, which abutters claimed was additional building height not in the originally presented plans. And Mt. Vernon Street neighbors, Pat Rooney, Geraldine Lowney and Irene Bent volunteered to act as liaisons to keep communications open by meeting with French, a Charlestown resident, on a weekly basis.

French maintained that the building height is within the set limits and is actually shorter than what zoning allows. He said the stairway to the roof does not count in prescribed height limits but it could be done away with.

Council vice chairman William Galvin asked for further assurance, possibly in the condominium bylaws, that nothing more could be added on the roof later down the line. Savage and French agreed, although it may be too early to tell how much control they have if unit owners want to build roof decks after they move in.

According to Attorney John Russell, who is not involved currently but represented abutters last year in parking disputes, a bylaw stipulation could be achieved through an owners association's agreement. However, Russell could neither say with any certainty that it was a promise that could not be kept nor assured.

While disgruntled abutters have been able to voice their concerns in open settings, an underlying skepticism seems to pervade. At a similar October 20 meeting residents voiced complaints before the council, saying the construction workers had consistently shown no consideration. Abutters had several issues, from a sloppy construction site and supervision to claims that their cars were being dragged down the street, foul-mouthed workers were on the job before 7 a.m., and various utility lines and cables were being recklessly cut. At that time neighbors said they had been voicing their concerns for some time already to no avail. Workers proved to be unresponsive, and no one from the project had been successful in changing the situation.

"What troubles me is that we have to be here talking about this stuff," said Adams Street resident Paul McGinn. "The issue is of control and management. Someone has to care about it, and this has not come out from the developer and contractors."

Inspectional Services Commissioner Thomas McNicholas told abutters on October 20 that if there was no improvement, he would shut down the site. "I made that statement because it seemed we were on the footsteps of violence," McNicholas said last week. While the same concerns

Donald F. Breen, CPA Establishes Firm In Charlestown

Donald F. Breen, former partner to T.B. Donnelly and Co. P.C., has announced that he has formed a professional corporation, Donald F. Breen, P.C., to practice public accounting at 124 Main Street, Charlestown. Breen has been a partner in the Donnelly firm from 1965 until its recent merger with Tonneson & Co. P.C. of Wakefield.

A graduate of Bentley School of Accounting, Breen has been a practicing public accountant since 1960. In trying to describe the type of practice he would like to establish, Breen is quoted as saying, "It should be a practice of small to medium size clients, both corporations and individuals, to whom I can offer personalized service in the areas of computerized accounting, financial statement preparation, audit, review and compilation services, corporate and individual computerized tax preparation, estate and financial planning, business acquisition and disposition, bank financing, pension and profit sharing planning and other services."

The Donnelly firm relocated to their present site at 124 Main Street in 1984 in a building erected by their affiliate, Thompson Square Corporation. The main focus of Breen and his partners was to make the building a facility that would add to the charm and historical significance of the area.

Although not from Charlestown, Breen's father was born and raised in High Street. Breen remembers the days of coming to Charlestown in the '40s to watch the Bunker Hill Day Parade. When the firm moved to Charlestown he felt that he should try to become part of the community. He has served as a founder and treasurer of the Charlestown Merchants Association, a director and incorporator of Charlestown Christmas Walk, Inc. and has just been elected an honorary member of the Charlestown Kiwanis Club. He is a member and treasurer of the Melrose Kiwanis Club.

In addition to his civic activities, he holds professional memberships in the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, the National Society of Public Accountants and the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

still exist, there seemed to be reluctance to do something as drastic as closing down the site. According to

Savage, completion should come no later than May and that half of the condominium units have been sold.

Dr. Mark McCormick Honored At Bunker Hill Health Center Reception

A reception was held at Bunker Hill Health Center (BHHC) this past week in honor of Mark McCormick, M.D., Chief of the Community Mental Health/Social Service Unit at the center. McCormick will be leaving the center this month to assume the position of Director of Ambulatory Psychiatry at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond, Virginia.

McCormick has been at BHCC for six years. He recalled his first contact with BHHC and Charlestown when he was assigned to the facility for a community rotation during his residency. McCormick said, "There was something about the experience at BHHC that stayed with me and I hoped to come back when I finished training."

That opportunity came in 1982 when the Unit Chief position opened up and McCormick began the procedure that brought him back to the community. He noted, "I have enjoyed the past six years and have capitalized on the good feelings I had here as a resident."

Dr. Roger Sweet, director of the MGH Community Health Associates, told the gathering that he could say "a tremendous amount" about working with McCormick since 1982. Sweet stated, "He is a good friend" and went on to compliment McCormick on his work in heading the community mental health service here in Charlestown. Also, in the past three years McCormick has worked throughout the community health centers of MGH and has been acting head of the Chelsea unit.

Sweet recounted the mixed feelings he had in completing the recommendation for McCormick when he was seeking the new position. Sweet said that he was hoping against hope that it wouldn't come to pass as McCormick has been so valuable to BHHC, but he said he realizes that McCormick's move to Virginia will "move him to a new level in his career."

McCormick stated that he has "bittersweet feelings" about his move to Virginia. He said that he "will remember all fondly," noting that "the experience of working here has been important, both professionally and personally."

THE STAFF of Bunker Hill Health Center presented a briefcase to Dr. Mark McCormick (right) in appreciation for his six years of service to the center. Making the presentation was Kathy Kern, associate director of the MGH Community Health Associates.

Charlestown Rebounds, Tips Nashoba 36 - 12

by Bob DeCristoforo
Once again Charlestown High has come back from a tough loss. A couple of weeks back, Charlestown lost a heartbreaker to South Boston 12-6 in overtime in a key league matchup. This week, the Charlestown High School Football team travelled to Nashoba Tech for a non-league Division 5 game, and a big 14-point first quarter was all that our team really needed. Nashoba did get on the scoreboard first, but that would be their only lead of the day as Billy Peneau would tie the game up scoring on an 86-yard kickoff return. John Crilly put the "Townies" ahead to stay, scoring on an 11-yarder. Crilly also accounted for the PAT on a pass from Tommy Allen.

The second quarter was also all Charlestown as Peneau picked up his second of the day via another big touchdown pass from Allen. Allen added two more of his own at the PAT run.

In the second half, Charlestown added a few more. Crilly got another one. This time it was a 45-yard touchdown pass from Allen with Peneau picking up the PAT pass from Allen.

The final Charlestown scoring came on a two-yard run by Billy Fornash.

Baron's Bullys Intimidate Irish Rebels As Bullys Show Off New Stars - Win 12-2

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly

The Matt O'Neil Senior Hockey League officially opened its fifth season at the MDC Rink on Monday, November 14. The rink was spic and span from lobby to locker room, delighting the season ticket holders who anxiously awaited the start of the first game of a scheduled double-header. The game was between the champion 1987-88 newly named Irish Rebels, formerly the Crusaders, and Baron's Bullys.

The Irish Rebels had many returning veterans, who, although somewhat paunchy, were still ready to defend their championship reign. They just couldn't get started against the charged up rookies who turned into rising stars before the evening was over. The Irish Rebels were gasping for air, throwing water on their faces, hoping they were daydreaming and the scoreboard would change in their favor. The Rebel goalie, Mike "Gumper" Giordano, was down on the ice, kicking out double and triple saves to no avail. The die was cast. The Bullys were just too bullish on the Rebels — right "Mugsy," or is it "Muzzy?" Oops, I'm sorry. Did I say something wrong? No, go ahead, wipe your eyes. I know, they had ringers — and stars, too!

And speaking of stars, the Baron's Bullys looked like "All-Stars!!!"

Rebels, as he personally scored the Hat Trick plus five assists in his first game as a Baron's Bully. This could very well make him the freshest kid on the block, right. Well, he's just the opposite. He's a well-mannered gentlemen and he sure can play hockey. So, if you want to see this man's magic, he'll be back again next Monday night. Come on down and see for yourself, he does it all!

Also on that team is another tenderfoot of equal talent. I'm sure he's going to set some records in this his first year as a senior league player. Incidentally, he just graduated from Salem State and captained the Vikings Hockey Team. I refer to the "Kid," Paul "Amos" Anthony. By the way, he played his big brother's team, the Rebels, and beat them B-A-D! Like Yogi says, "It ain't over till it's over." Right, Mike?

MARK "ACE" LALLY SETS NEW RECORD, HAT TRICK PLUS FIVE!

The Senior Hockey buffs were buzzing and boasting at the first half of the double-header when a new rookie put the league players on notice that he comes to play, and play he surely did! We don't know much about this tenderfoot except that he did go to Europe last year with the O'Neil Juniors. He couldn't do anything right during the miniseries of games with several European teams, but since he's been back home, he's put everything together. He single-handedly put the wood to the 1987-88 champion Crusaders, now Irish

Over 100,000 collegiate athletic scholarships are available each year to male and female high school and junior college student athletes. Contrary to popular belief, students don't have to be All-State to qualify. Much of this money goes unused.

"When troubles come, as they sometimes do, It's so nice to know that TOWNIES come through." We are most grateful. Thank you, George and Loretta Connolly Congratulations!

Dear Gloria, Congratulations on your selection as a recipient of the Action for Boston Community Development Award. You have provided leadership in town activities for many years. It is appropriate that the award coincides with the anniversary of the Patriot's 30 years of service to the Charlestown community. Your newspaper has kept the residents well informed about town happenings. Everyone's interests have received a "fair shake" in the Patriot. Through your efforts, it is truly a family newspaper. May it continue to prosper. Congratulations! Your award is well deserved. Sincerely, Helen Harrison

Saint John's Salutes The Preservation Society

Dear Members of the Preservation Society, The benefit concert on October 25th will stand in our parish memory as a sign of your generous and prudent neighborliness. Your initial contribution of $500 that Lee Eiseman multiplied, with the efforts of Saint John's, through arranging a delightful musical evening in the charming home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dinsmore and other key contributions from Blazing Salads and Bunker Hill Florist, will not be forgotten. The benefit concert itself brought beauty and laughter to scores of new and old residents. The evening was soothing after the rough spots of our work day and to that we owe special thanks to James Busby and Nancy Armstrong. It seems to me that the preservation of culture in the form of restoring the action of our 1865 Chickering Grand for many musical events in Charlestown's future should not go unnoticed. Therefore, let it be known that Saint John's Episcopal Church salutes the Charlestown Preservation Society for their continual diligence in projects such as this. On behalf of the parish, Father Brian J.P. Murdoch, Rector

Geographic Territories Should Not Be Basis For Auto Insurance

To the Editor, Recently, the Massachusetts State Senate and House of Representatives passed an auto insurance reform bill which was signed into law by Lieutenant Governor Evelyn Murphy with Governor Dukakis perched over her shoulder via satellite. Beacon Hill solons are calling it the greatest thing since sliced bread.

While legislators hereabouts were touting the above-mentioned reform, voters out in California were sending shock waves throughout the insurance industry when they overwhelmingly supported Proposition 103 on the California ballot which would reduce rates on every auto and home liability policy to a level 20 percent less than the rate a year ago. Good drivers, those driving for more than three years with no more than one moving violation, would get an additional 20 percent discount.

I don't have to tell you that the insurance industry out in California has taken Proposition 103 to court for a constitutionality test. They know that California has become the Golden Bellwether State for the rest of the nation. Remember how the victory of Proposition 13 led to a national tax revolt and to our own Proposition 2.5? The same thing can happen again and you can bet that is why the Massachusetts auto insurers backed the most recent Bay State measure. However, Massachusetts drivers need their own Proposition 103 because the latest reform is not nearly enough.

The Bay State has the second-highest auto insurance premiums in the country and even with the newest state law on the books, the industry is still seeking a 20 percent rate hike at last look. Earlier this year, the National Association of Black Americans charged that the geographic territories the state uses to seek insurance rates discriminated against minorities in Boston's black community but these geographic territories, equally, discriminate against residents of Charlestown, South Boston, Somerville, Quincy, etc!

There is something wrong when good drivers who live in metropolitan Boston have to pay up to $1,500 per year for their auto insurance because of their residential address. Rates ought to be based on a driver's record and not his or her address. Boston drivers get a double whammy because Boston's rates are subdivided into neighborhoods and those adjacent to highways or bridges like Charlestown are disproportionately discriminated against by auto insurance carriers.

It is my understanding that any auto accident up on the I-93 extension between the City Square bottleneck and the Somerville border near Sullivan Square is charged to the Charlestown neighborhood as if the accident took place down below on a Charlestown street and the same thing

Halloween Spirits Invade The Charlestown Boys And Girls Club

The Charlestown

• READY TO GO

Twenty-four of our club members participated in a taping of the television show "Ready To Go" this past Friday. "Ready To Go" is a children's show on channel 7, WNEV-TV that airs Mondays through Fridays at 7 a.m. Our club members participated in the game portion of the show called "The Seven Perils." It was a lot of fun for everyone, and if you tune in some morning, you may find some Charlestown youngsters doing some rather silly things.

• TURKEYS

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston had some turkeys donated to them for Thanksgiving and the Charlestown Clubhouse has eight birds available for needy families. If you would like one for your family, call the Clubhouse at 242-1775 and ask for either Jerry or Dan. This is strictly first come, first served. Happy Thanksgiving!

• DISNEY WORLD

Club member Vicki Pinder has just won an all-expense paid trip to Disney World to help Mickey Mouse celebrate his 60th birthday! This trip was given to the Charlestown Clubhouse by the City of Boston. Club Membership Director Eileen O'Brien will be accompanying Vicki. There will be 100 children attending the celebration from Boston and over 10,000 youngsters from as far away as Russia participating in this gala event. We are sure that Vicki will represent both the clubhouse and Charlestown well.

• BABY BOOM

Congratulations to two clubhouse staff members who just had babies. Kelly Fitzgerald had a baby girl, Lacey Elizabeth, on November 10th. The baby weighed 6 pounds, 8 ounces. Diane Wrenn had a baby boy, Alton Joseph, on November 12. He weighed 9 pounds, 1 ounce. Both babies and mothers are doing well. Also of note, Clubhouse Director Jerry Steimel and his wife Teresa are expecting their second child in April.

• CHRISTMAS TREES

The clubhouse will be selling Christmas trees again this year. Sales will begin on Saturday, December 3 and our stand will be on High Street in front of the Teen Center. The Keystone Club will be helping with the sales and part of the proceeds will go directly to fund activities for teen members. So stop by the clubhouse for your tree this year and support the Boys and Girls Club.

• DRUG AWARENESS WEEK

Drug Awareness Week, held at the clubhouse this past week, was a big success with over 150 club members participating. The topics ranged from cocaine, alcohol, cigarettes and PCP, to peer pressure and how to deal with a family member who has a substance abuse problem. We think everyone who participated got something out of it and we hope to make alcohol and drug education a regular part of our clubhouse activities. Kudos to Julie Doherty who did such a good job putting it all together and a special thanks to the members of the Charlestown community who came up and shared their personal stories with the kids.

On November 10, The Holden School's first quarter grades were submitted to the office for review.

Six students were recognized for outstanding achievement in the classroom. They were James Barton, honor roll and excellence in science; Irma SanInosencio, honorable mention and excellence in both English and science; Sean Burns, excellence in math and English; John Byers, excellence in history; Arthur Miller, excellence in English literature; and Charles White, improved effort in science.

From now to the end of November, the Museum of Science will play a major role within The Holden School's science curriculum. On November 15, 22 and 29, the students will spend three hours a day in different learning workshops. The first workshop, "Mind Games," is a live-stage demonstration that explores the human mind and how it sorts reality from illusion. The program probes optical illusions, color reversal and sound illusions. The second workshop, "The Do-it Yourself Solar System," is scheduled for November 22. The third workshop, "The Science of Special Effects," will be held on November 29.

News Notes From The Edwards Middle School

After 20 productive years in the classroom, "Mr. G." Bob Giordano, is retiring from the education scene. No longer will parents hear Mr. G's inquiring voice asking after their children's whereabouts. Beloved to teachers and students alike, Mr. G. will be missed.

Debbie James has crossed the Atlantic from England and joins the Edwards Middle School staff as a Fullbright Exchange Teacher. She has fit very nicely into the scheme of things here at the Edwards science department. Best wishes to Debbie and life in America.

With the addition of Mariqza Montanez to the clerical staff, the Edwards now has a resource for our Spanish-speaking population. When called upon to translate, Montanez has been a great help in the communication of our educational messages.

• Bazaar . . . Bazaar . . . Bazaar . . . That's right! Mark your calendar and grab your Christmas shopping list for the best buys around. Saturday, December 3 will keep you busy between visiting the Annual Christmas Fair at the First Church in Charlestown on Green Street starting at 10 a.m. and Hayes Square will be buzzing between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. as Saint Catherine's holds their annual Christmas Bazaar in the school hall . . . On Wednesday and Thursday of that week, December 7 and 8, Saint Francis de Sales will be holding their annual Christmas Bazaar in Bishop Lawton Hall between 5 and 10 p.m. And last, but certainly not least, Saint Mary's Christmas Bazaar will take place on Saturday, December 10 in the Parish Hall between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. . . . Santa will be on hand at each event for the kiddies to make their requests. Lots of good eats will be available. And of course, handmade items not to be found in any department store can be bought at great prices! See you there!

• New Neighborhood Council Member . . . to represent the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club will be Susan Mellen of High Street who is a member of the Board of Directors at the club. Best wishes, Susan! Looking forward to seeing you seated at the next Council meeting.

• Close Call . . . on the CANA project this week when a construction worker fell from a wall on Water Street. Luckily, the wall was only six feet tall and the worker from the Cleveland Wrecking Company received only minor injuries.

• Firefighters Beware! . . . Have we got a scoop on you! Watch for the "rest of the story" in coming weeks — pictures included!

• Leroy . . . Word has it that you are taking V.K. out to dinner after the job on Elm Street is completed. Louie would like to dine at the top of the Pru! . . . Bon appetite!

• See What You've Started . . . The Marine Corps had such a bang-up celebration last week at the Knights in honor of the 213th birthday of the USMC that other branches of the military want equal time(s)! Past Grand Knight Ed Lynch was overheard talking up a similar time for the Army sometime in June . . . Not to be outdone, Deputy Grand Knight Paul Herick boasts that the Air Force will most likely produce another event in the near future . . . Where's the Navy?

• You're Too Smart . . . Quite a few callers answered last week's question on the whereabouts of the Raftell Brothers Stores. Among the first few to call were Mary Guittarr, Jack Ducey and John Campbell. Thanks, folks. The answer — the three locations were 66 and 230 Bunker Hill Street and 231 Main Street . . . O.K., lets see if we can stump you this week! Where was C.F. FORD? He sold, of all things, guns, swords and war relics! He also made keys and repaired locks. See you next week!

• Gobble, Gobble . . . Over 500 elderly will be dining on turkey next Monday at the annual Elderly Thanksgiving Dinner at the Knights of Columbus Hall. This is one of the yearly events run for our seniors that is looked forward to for months. They will be entertained and waited on by volunteers from all walks of life including elected officials, city bureaucrats, mucky-mucks and just plain good neighbors! Have a great time, one and all!

• Think of What You Have . . . And Give to Those Who Need . . . The Men's Clothing Drive to benefit the Long Island Hospital will take place this Saturday at Saint Mary's Parish Hall between 9 a.m. and noon. They need warm clothing such as socks, gloves, hats, coats, underwear, shoes, etc. for the homeless who spend their nights at the hospital. If you can't get down to the hall on Saturday, call Johnny Fitz at 242-4795 after 5 p.m. and he can arrange to have the clothes picked up . . . Also, the Food Pantry at Saint Catherine's needs stocking. Gather up some canned goods and drop them off at the Rectory or the other locations mentioned in the article in this week's Patriot. There are hungry among us. Here's your chance to help out!

• Happy Birthday Wishes . . . go out long distance to Dorothy Scott in Pawcatuck, Connecticut, a faithful reader of the Patriot, and best wishes for many years of health and happiness.

• Tid Bits . . . glad to see John Campbell of Main Street up and around after the bad spell he took last week! . . . Sleepy-eyed, but smiling new dad Jimmy Walsh was seen this week bragging about the new arrival . . . Put that butt out — today, November 17th — is the "Great American Smokeout!" . . . Turn on the lights at City Square before a policeman is run over . . . If the tree is here, Christmas can't be far behind and the Christmas tree has arrived at the Charlestown Navy Yard. We suspect that Larry is checking his bulbs so the tree will be lit in grand style.

holds true for accidents that happen up on the Charlestown side of the Mystic-Tobin Bridge. Why should "Townies" get their rates hiked when two cars from the North Shore collide? It is unfair for Boston's working-class communities to underwrite insurance policies for everyone driving into the city from points north, south and west of Boston.

Boston's Commissioner of Consumer Affairs and Licensing Diane Modica hit the nail on the head when she told the Boston Globe (October 24), "The current system of automobile insurance is crippling Massachusetts families and forcing them to make choices between meeting their families' needs and paying insurance premiums."

It is time for the Massachusetts State Legislature to continue the auto insurance reform movement by eliminating geographic territories as the basis for rates and placing the burden on the driving records of each and every driver without looking at their address!

Sincerely,
Sal Giarratani

What Has Happened To Charlestown?

Charlestown "Townies," I can remember when those words meant RESPECT, HONOR, and PRIDE from life-long residents and their children.

Sure, we had our share of problems just like everywhere else, but you knew where you stood and usually the reasons behind it.

Now when I think of Charlestown "Townies" I think of "Little Roxbury," not for its prejudicial overtone, or the color of its residents, but because of the unprovoked attacks on the kids.

Our juvenile justice system does, however, need an entire overhaul due to so many kids getting away with things you or I would be thrown in jail for.

Not all kids should be thrown in jail, BUT if they are old enough to know what they are doing, then they are old enough to be held responsible for their actions.

The reason behind this letter was a phone call from my mother telling me that my baby brother was in the hospital with a fractured rib and several facial injuries.

It's funny, he's only 12 years old, about 5'1" and weighs maybe 100 pounds. It took five teenage boys to beat him up (five teenage boys, 14 to 17 years old). He must be a real threat to the five of them.

The Bible says respect your fellow man and try to help him always, however it also says an eye for an eye and someday these attackers will be punished, either by the law or by the Bible (an eye for an eye).

Now I'm glad I moved out of Charlestown (so are probably many others). I used to feel like I left a part of me there — not any more.

Charlestown used to be a place with pride, honor and respect. What happened to it??? My town did not raise its children to be animals who need cages to control them!!!

My town did not need deadbolts on the windows, either. You could walk down the street to the store without getting jumped by a gang of kids. When did the "trouble brigade" start patrolling the streets? When did the residents who did anything to protect their kids step down from their positions?

When will Charlestown return to being Charlestown "Townies" with PRIDE??

Signed
Maryellen (Porter) Hussey

Asking For Help To Alleviate Traffic

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the letter from "A Neighbor" concerning the Allston Street problem. There are a few facts my neighbor should be aware of: the majority of Allston Street residents don't want Allston Street reversed, we want one of our neighboring streets reversed to take on some of the traffic we are getting. A few years back, they changed the direction of Mystic Street without giving any consideration to what it would do to us. We're asking for help to alleviate the enormous amount of traffic we get every day.

My Sincere Thanks

Dear Friends,

My sincere thanks to the overwhelming number of people who contributed to the Oak Street Fire Fund.

Specifically, I would like to thank my family, the Knights of Columbus, Bob Scalli and Tom O'Callaghan, — and most importantly Peter Looney, a good friend, for undertaking the task of coordinating the entire event.

Hopefully, there will not be a reason for this type of event any time soon, but it certainly is spirit-strengthening to know that such friends and neighbors are there to lend their support. Thanks again.

Marty O'Brien Jr.

City Square Courthouse

The Charlestown Courthouse in City Square has been allotted money because it is in serious disrepair. "There will be physical improvements" and "emergency repairs (Patriot 8/4/88)."

Who is responsible for maintenance?

When one is waiting for the bus in front of the Courthouse, the condition of the outside of the building screams neglect!

For many, many months, one of the basement gratings has been loose. The windows have never been cleaned or painted. What would our homes look like if they were maintained in this manner?

If the inside of the building suffers the same neglect, the reason for extensive repairs is obvious.

Modernization may be in order, but if there is no conscientious supervision to insure maintenance, the taxpayers' dollars are going down the drain again.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Named NCO Of The Quarter

Air Force Staff Sergeant Tammy J. Waive, daughter of Irene E. Lahtinen of Ashburnham and Leonard B. Robinson of Templeton, has been named noncommissioned officer of the quarter.

Waive is an aircraft electrical systems technician with the 474th Component Repair Squadron at Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada.

The selection was based on the individual's exemplary duty performance, job knowledge, leadership qualities, significant self-improvement and other accomplishments.

Her husband, Sergeant Robert D. Waive, is the son of Kenneth Waive of Scottsdale, Arizona and Sheila A. Diskes of 4211 Eighth Street, Charlestown.

Also, in the last eight months, there have been five animals hit by cars on our street, three were killed. Something has to be done before one of the many children on this street gets hit. And as far as us putting ourselves in the position of someone who has to drive down to Sullivan Square to gain access to Bunker Hill Street, why don't you put yourself in the position of every mother on this street who holds her breath every time a car speeds up this street.

Plans For Aquarium To Be Displayed At Charlestown Library

Starting November 15, Charlestown residents interested in more information about the New England Aquarium's proposed move to the Navy Yard's Dry Dock 2 can find it as close as the Charlestown Branch of the Boston Public Library at 179 Main Street.

The library display features a series of colorful conceptual and architectural drawings highlighting some of the exciting programs and exhibits the aquarium hopes to offer. Also featured is a larger floor plan that details the layout of the proposed aquarium. The unique structure of the dry dock would allow for spacious, naturalistic environments for aquatic animals including seals, walrus, dolphins, tropical fishes, sharks, schools of tuna and sea birds.

The aquarium display can be seen during regular library hours: Monday through Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Thursday from noon to 8 p.m.; and Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Charlestown residents can also receive a packet of written materials on the aquarium's proposed relocation by calling 973-6558.
