PANORAMA COURTESY OF BURL BURRINGAME. ORIGINAL PHOTOS ROBERT F. WALDEN COLLECTION. UNIVERSITY OF HAWAII AT MANOA. LIBRARY

There was life after December 7 for Pearl Harbor. Lieutenant Robert F. Walden, who helped with the recovery, shot eight photos that look out across the harbor from 100 feet above ground (perhaps from a crane), probably in January 1944. Assembled, they create an approximately 280-degree panorama that shows a busy wartime harbor.

In the Shrine Room of the USS Arizona Memorial, the names of the 1,177 men killed aboard the battleship on December 7—1,104 navy men and 73 marines—are engraved on a marble wall. The memorial sits above the sunken Arizona, many of whose dead are still aboard.
