

As part of a well-designed art project, Wrinkle Clown is a character created by an unknown performing artist who lives in Naples, Florida. Wrinkles is a homeless man with only nonsense. He dressed as a clown, hired his parents to scare their parents, "home for" a few hundred dollars ", and scared misbehaving children. The role first appeared A video uploaded to YouTube in 2015 depicting him emerging from under a young girl's bed late at night. The character has since appeared in several other videos, either to scare children at home or to engage in Disturbing behavior, such as waving to the driver from a dark roadside. At the same time, stickers with clown faces and phone numbers began to appear near Florida and spread quickly. Dialing this number quickly became a child's Folklorists have compared the passage with the contemporary version of Bloody Mary.
