About This Quiz Escapism is usually found in movies, TV shows or chillaxing with friends, but wouldn't it be more fun to explore new and exciting worlds? No, we're not talking about traveling to other countries, but rather taking a journey through a great video game!

There are many video games on the market that range from action-adventures to MMORPGs, to puzzles and shooter genres. So , whether you've just finished "Rise of the Tomb Raider" or you haven't touched the controller for five years it's a matter of which one should you try next? It is all dependent on how you play. Some players are open to new experiences, while others love to play the same old games. There are other aspects to consider, such as the difficulty, multiplayer options, the age (of the game), and the console. For instance, maybe you're a casual player who likes to build things in "Minecraft." Perhaps you're a strategic type who loves PvP options in "Starcraft."

So while there are no correct or wrong ways to play games, we're going to determine which video game to play next using this quiz!
