

No One Owns Disclosure

Many people do not know who I am so let me share a few words of introduction. My name is Jason Rice and I recently came into public awareness on the Gaia series, COSMIC DISCLOSURE. This is the platform that I chose to go public for the first time about my experiences in MILAB and SSP programs. At risk to my personal safety and my professional life working as a multi-discipline Civil and Electrical Engineer for over 21-years, I decided in 2017 to go public because I feel it is time to disclose my involvement in ongoing unacknowledged special access programs with the explicit hope of contributing valuable information to the Disclosure effort.

When deciding upon going public with my experiences, I was fully aware of the potential ramifications from various government and non-government agencies involved with the SSP. The agencies' typical whistleblower discredit playbook includes the usual media manipulation, civil legal actions, slander, ridicule, and even perhaps, threats as a result of my coming forward. I did not, however, imagine that another SSP veteran would fulfill the role of bullying, ridicule, civil legal action and manipulation of the alternative media to further a narrative, agenda and/or opinion.

At 10:46 a.m. (PST) On October 3, 2018 I was served with a legal letter from the attorney of James Corey Goode mere hours before my interview with Jimmy Church on Fade to Black. A copy of the letter is included with this article. The main goal of coming forward with my experiences is about contributing to the goal of full disclosure. There are many voices out there who have spoken about the SSP and other classified programs that date back to the late 1980s. Many more are in a position to come out but are cautious because of the ridicule and overtly aggressive behaviors from within the truth seeker community, not to mention the very real threats from and targeting by SSP involved government and non-government agencies alike.

Whistleblowers and Insiders have a tremendous amount of information to contribute. The SSP-puzzle has many pieces and many compartmentalized parts. I do not pretend to know all the thousands of people that have been/are involved. This secrecy within the SSP is deliberate in order to specifically restrict knowledge in the event of leaks and/or whistleblower testimony. There are many factions with assets, people, interests and agendas in the SSP. The best thing we can do to further the disclosure movement is to encourage those who are willing to come forward to do so. This movement is far bigger than any one person, group, narrative or interest.

In September 2017, I was invited by Gaia to be a guest on Cosmic Disclosure. I was told shortly after that Corey Goode refused to appear with me on the show. Gaia conveyed my offer to meet and discuss my experiences but this opportunity was declined by Corey Goode. I am not alone in this arbitrary "blacklisting" experience either. There are other whistleblowers that were similarly blacklisted long before I ever stepped foot on Gaia property. It is not my place to provide their names and those who experienced it firsthand will speak out if that is their wish. The point here is that a SSP whistleblower decided FOR YOU what information you are given.

Gaia was hopeful that Corey would reconsider his position on my testimony, given Corey Goode originally refused to appear with Emery Smith on the series as well. Honoring Corey's request, Gaia then invited me to appear on a different series in Feb 2018.

In March 2018, Corey Goode filed for copyright protection with the USPTO for intellectual property protection of the terms "20 & back", "SSP", "Secret Space Program", and "countless other topics and areas of interest."

No one owns these terms or programs, nor the efforts to bring this information forward. To trademark and thus control or restrict use of the terms "20 & back", "SSP", "Secret Space Program", "and "countless other topics and areas of interest" by Corey Goode is contrary to what the Truth Seeking community has been working towards for decades.

The SSP whistleblower community is growing and there is a shared bond among the veterans of these programs. As an SSP veteran, I can tell you from personal experience how appreciative and thankful I am of those who went public before I did. These include Mark Richards, Randy Cramer, Tony Gonzales, Michael Relfe, Aug Tellez and many, many others. Thousands have been and are currently participating in Secret Space Programs around the globe. For them to express their personal experiences and testimonies does not equate to plagiarism.

To be clear, I do not harbor any ill feelings or intentions towards Corey Goode. I also do not ask for, condone or support any acts of violence, bullying or vigilantism. It is my hope that bringing these issues into the light will generate meaningful, loving and respectful discourse about the strength of many voices and to end all attempts at securing intellectual property protection of common-use terms...by anyone. I am sincerely grateful for the opportunity to disclose my SSP experiences and genuinely encourage other whistleblowers to come forward and share their own.

I ask for your support by reposting this article (without changing the content) and by proclaiming that no one owns disclosure. The control of these terms should not rest in the hands of one person, group or corporation to decide what is and is not deemed accurate, true, or appropriate. We've all had plenty of time to digest and experience firsthand, this kind of censorship. The placement of these terms should remain clearly and solidly, in the public domain.

Sincerely,

Jason Rice

Re: Unauthorized use of Mr. James Corey Goode's protected terms "SSP", "20 and Back" and related terms

Dear Mr. Rice:

It has come to my attention that you have been using terms belonging to my client, James Corey Goode, in various online (and possibly otherwise) broadcasts. You may not be aware that Mr. Goode owns certain common law rights, and pending federal trademark rights, in the phrases "SSP" and "20 and Back". This letter is to inform you of those rights, and to apprise you that if you are to further participate in the broadcast or publication of material using these terms, you are in violation of Mr. Goode's copyrights, trademark rights, and other existing IP rights—and that Mr. Goode will take any necessary precautions to protect these rights.

To be completely clear, this letter is to firmly request that you refrain from:

1. Any use, distribution, production, sale or advertising of his work related to his testimony regarding the Secret Space Program, Sphere Being Alliance, Blue Avians, 20 & Back, Return of the Guardians, Dark Fleet and countless other topics and areas of interest, and
2. Any use whatsoever of Mr. Goode's testimony, story, or material that is not authorized by Mr. Goode

I am sure that you appreciate the gravity of this situation. Please let me know at your earliest convenience your intention to comply with the foregoing.

If you have any questions, I am free to discuss. We appreciate your cooperation in this matter.

Very truly yours,

/s Valerie Yanaros Wilde
