

A SMALL COLLECTION OF HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES FOR FRIENDS

Birthdays are usually the landmark days in a life of a person. They serve the purpose of receiving love and attention from people you love and care for. Thus, no birthday should go without sending and receiving birthday wishes and greetings. You can browse many birthday wishes with images on websites, or you can create your own.

And remember, some people still prefer a handwritten card. You can always write your message directly on the wrapping paper if need be (or even on the ribbon... I received such a message once, and I loved it. I still have the ribbon to this day!). Being creative is part of the deal. Friends and family alike will be pleasantly surprised by a cute and simple note from you, especially if you have been lacking in that department previously. Forget the mass printed greeting cards. Print your personal happy birthday message in a blank card or find its own special place. I guarantee success!

Birthday Wishes for Friends

Writing a few words to a friend can be the easiest or the hardest. You may already have a witty saying on hand or you may wish you had. Here are a few suggestions of happy birthday wishes for friend.

- It has been scientifically proven that too many birthdays will kill you.
