USS Bunker Hill — "Proceed On Duties Assigned"

USS CONSTITUTION, the oldest commissioned ship in the United States Navy, exchanged honors with the newest ship, USS Bunker Hill (CG-52) in Boston Harbor on Monday, September 22, 1986, as the USS Bunker Hill departed from Charlestown following her commissioning in the Charlestown Navy Yard on September 20th. The

USS Bunker Hill will join the Pacific Fleet. Members of the United States Navy, the Navy League, the Commissioning Committee and invited guests were on board USS Constitution to bid farewell to USS Bunker Hill as she departed to "proceed on duties assigned."

Boston Harbor was the site of an impressive ceremony on Monday, September 22nd as the USS Constitution, the oldest ship in the United States Navy, honored the newest Navy ship, USS Bunker Hill (CG-52) as she departed from the Charlestown Navy Yard where she had been docked for a week of festivity. (continued on page 9)

"Townie Santa" Begins Fifth Year

by Marianne Martin

Christmas can be a very sad and lonely time of year for the needy, elderly shut-in with limited or no family contact, or love. While the rest of us may be gift giving, card writing, and simply caught up in the tinsel and glitter, there are others for whom Christmas is "just another lonely day."

In Charlestown, however, residents remember the true meaning of the Christmas season. Through "Townie Santa", the elderly, needy shut-in who may otherwise be alone or forgotten, receives a visit from Santa, who could be anyone, but represents everyone, and lets the person know, yes, we remember you. In its fifth year, "Townie Santa", through donations and an ever-growing group of volunteers, provides many with a hot turkey dinner, a basket of gifts and much, much more.

Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force To Hold Board Election

The Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force will be holding the annual election for its Board of Directors on November 3 and 4. Nomination petitions will be available starting Friday, October 3 at the Task Force Office, 76 Monument Street, and at the BHA Management Office, 55 Bunker Hill Street.

Nine Board seats will be open in this election. All nine seats are for two year terms.

Interested candidates must file nomination petitions with the Task Force, containing at least 25 signatures of residents of the Charlestown Development who are at least 18 years old. Completed nomination petitions must be returned to the Task Force office by Tuesday, October 21 at 5:00 p.m. A sample ballot and other voting information will be distributed in late October.

Previously, the Task Force Board was expanded from nine to 18 seats so more residents could actively participate in the Task Force. The continuation of meaningful resident involvement in the Task Force is required to maintain and expand current Task Force efforts regarding code compliance, "Polk Street", and the improvement of resident services.

For further information about the election, nomination procedures, or Task Force activities, call the Task Force at 242-3200.

Elder Club President Honored

Mayor Raymond Flynn, Commissioner Michael Taylor, and Paul Sonnabend, President of Sonesta International, addressed the assembled group and spoke of the important work that these neighborhood leaders perform. Barbara Brilliant, producer and host of WBZ-TV's "Prime Time", served as Mistress of Ceremonies.

Among those honored was Margaret (Marge) Coghlan, President of the Charlestown Golden Age Club.

"Townie Santa" Begins Fifth Year

(continued from page one) between four Charlestown residents in November 1982, centering around the thought, "something should be done for these people." In less than one month's time, this group expanded, money was raised, meals cooked, and 48 baskets delivered.

The four probably never anticipated that their discussion would be so contagious. "Townie Santa" has a unique way of drawing residents together who may not otherwise share similar interests. One reason for the attraction, states a committee member, is the simple fact, "Townie Santa" is a "good cause." Another may be that inbred Charlestown responsibility of "taking care of one's own." Or, more importantly, it may be that joy one receives from giving — something too personal for words. Whatever the reason, each year the group of volunteers grows.

Each year, "Townie Santa" expands with new faces from all parts of Charlestown. Some of them deliver the baskets, others pack them, and others do the work behind the scenes. Last year, there were volunteers as young as six years old and up to 70 years. Over 340 people donated either time, money, gifts or services in 1985 whereas the first year, there were about 20 or 30 volunteers.

Beginning each fall, letters are submitted to merchants and businesses within and affecting Charletown, seeking contributions to the "Townie Santa" fund. Cannisters are also distributed throughout the town for coin and bill donations. Articles begin to appear in the Charlestown Patriot inviting residents to come to organizational meetings, or to submit the names of those they feel are in need of a visit from "Townie Santa", or to send in monetary donations. All donations are publicly acknowledged in the Patriot, however, as many as ten percent of those who donate wish to remain anonymous, donating just for the sake of Christmas.

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council will hold a general meeting on Tuesday, October 7, 1986 at 7:00 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Lower Hall, 75 West School Street.

In 1982, the "Townie

Santa" fund was approximately $1,000. In 1985, this figure rose to more than $12,500. However, this does not truly reflect the total in donations received, since no value is placed on the gift donations. All the money received, with the exception of postage costs, goes directly to the baskets.

"People wonder how much stuff we give out in these baskets," related a committee member. "Well, just ask anyone who had to deliver one of them to a person living on a third floor, and they'll tell you how heavy these baskets are."

As to defining who is eligible to be a recipient of a "Townie Santa" visit, there is no simple answer. Elderly is anyone 60 years or older. The terms "needy" and "shut-in" are not so exact. "Needy" is not necessarily based on income, but also on factors of limited family contact or support.

The third term, "shut-in," is also an interpretive one. One "Townie Santa" committee member defines a shut-in as one who can not get out of their home without aid.

Due to the interpretive-ness of these terms, there is a screening committee who researches and decides who will receive a basket, not an enviable or easy task. And despite the screening committee doing an excellent job, there is always someone else who also deserves a basket. "You never get everyone," said a committee member, "You are always hearing later that we missed someone, but that's through no fault of the screening committee."

An important factor to realize is that the idea behind "Townie Santa" is to bring some Christmas cheer to individuals. A committee member concluded, stating, "These baskets do more than supply a person some much needed household and personal items, they tell the shut-in that we, the community, haven't forgotten them."

SHOULD YOU REMODEL OR MOVE?

Your family has outgrown your home, but you love the neighborhood and schools, and you've established roots that make it hard to move. Is remodeling the solution?

Before you jump into a major renovation project, get some professional advice. First, decide what changes you want to make and contact several contractors for bids. Once you get some idea of the costs involved, ask your Realtor if your plans would over-improve the house for the neighborhood, making it impossible for you to get your money back if you must resell anytime soon. Talk to friends who have remodeled their homes in order to get a true picture of what you might expect in dealing with contractors. Can the work be completed around your family? How disruptive will it be to your lives and for how long? Remodeling a home is a major undertaking, and may not be the best solution to your space needs.

The professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates are ready to serve all of your real estate needs. Please give us a call at 242-7470 or visit our offices at 142 Main Street, Charlestown.

RESIDENTS REQUESTED TO SUBMIT NAMES OF "TOWNIE SANTA" RECIPIENTS

The "Townie Santa" drive for 1986 has begun. The Committee needs your help by submitting new names and re-submitting the names of former recipients of "Townie Santa's" Christmas baskets and dinners.

In the past, if you had submitted the name of someone you know who is a needy, elderly shut-in, please re-submit that person's name this year. If you have never sponsored someone but know of a needy, elderly shut-in, please return the attached coupon. Whether it is someone you know personally or even a neighbor you may not know too well, let us know and help us to help them this Christmas.

Please take a few minutes and think about a needy, elderly shut-in you know who could be cheered this Christmas by "Townie Santa". Your sponsorship would brighten what might otherwise be "just another lonely day" to them.

And remember, if the person you sponsored in the past is still in need, re-submit the name.

The Dreamer

by Charlie McGonagle

O'Malley was a dreamer. Some dreamers are doers, but not O'Malley. To achieve his dreams, he knew, would require work, but work was a word he had carefully erased from his personal dictionary many years before. And so, pleasure was not found in reality but, rather, in the act of dreaming.

He dreamed of fame and of fortune. He dreamed of world travel, and of authoring the great American novel. He had already conquered the common cold, and he was now working on cancer in all of its forms.

Yes, O'Malley was a dreamer, a dreamer capable of conjuring up exciting images at any time and in any place, and when he dreamed, the rest of the world ceased to exist. He could sit at a movie dreaming, and never see the screen. He could read a book while dreaming, and not remember turning a page. The sounds of city traffic could be silenced by his dreams, and a cold, biting wind could lose its sting and strength.

Surely there were not many forces capable of penetrating an O'Malley reverie, but where others had failed, the newspaper had not.

Perhaps, because it was much cleaner than the rest of the litter strewn across the floor of the alley behind the long line of red brick buildings, it caught his attention. Whatever the reason, it took him from a three masted schooner approaching Tahiti on an angry sea, to a growing pile of rubble in a bleak back alley.

O'Malley stooped to pick up the paper, an act usually reserved only for returnable bottles and cans, and opened it wide. It was a single sheet, four numbered pages in all. The beginning and the end, with nothing in between. He moved toward the yawning mouth of a nearby barrel, crumpling the paper into a ball as he walked.

It was the picture on the front page, just below the headline, that caught his attention. Opening the paper again, he saw the mayor with a shovel pressed against the earth, breaking ground for the much debated senior citizens apartment building. The event had received much local attention, but in spite of the protests of those who would be relocated by the construction, the ground breaking ceremony would be held on Thursday.

THURSDAY! "Dear God", thought O'Malley, "it's only WEDNESDAY."

His eyes rushed to the top of the paper in search of the date. THURSDAY! Nervously he opened the wide, single sheet. The upper corner of the inside pages carried the same message. He turned to the back. Again he saw THURSDAY, printed clearly at the top right hand corner.

"Dear God!", he repeated in disbelief, as he once again scanned the feature story on the newspaper's front page. The headline, the picture, and the story of the senior citizen's complex covered the entire front page with the exception of the lower left hand corner. It was this corner that caused O'Malley's knees to weaken and force him to find a place to sit.

Sitting on the hard ground with his back pressed against the cold, red brick of the closest building, O'Malley stared at the small corner of the paper's front page. He wondered if he had somehow lost track of the days. He knew he had not. His thoughts raced through all his dreams, but none compared to this. O'Malley found his eyes fixed on the lottery number, TOMORROW'S LOTTERY NUMBER.

The drawing had been running for three weeks without a winner and had reached a record high of twenty-three million dollars. O'Malley looked closer. Below the six numbers he saw that only a single ticket had been sold on the combination and had not yet been claimed. He breathed deeply to let all that had happened in the past few minutes sink in. The ticket was his, of course. Somehow he was given tomorrow's newspaper today. Maybe because he was a dreamer.

O'Malley spent the rest of the day collecting cans and bottles to raise the dollar he would need for the ticket.

To be sure he would not forget the number, he folded the paper tightly and tucked it into the deepest part of his back pocket, the only one on his worn slacks with a button.

By late afternoon, the coins he had been accumulating totaled one dollar. He removed the paper from his buttoned pocket and memorized the numbers, repeating them over and over again before entering the liquor store to purchase his lottery ticket.

"The usual half pint O'Malley?"

"No. No, not this time", he answered rather nervously, "I just want to play the lottery."

"And give up a half pint?" The clerk seemed incredulous to what was taking place before him.

"Yes. Yes, please."

O'Malley placed the coins carefully on the counter and recited his numbers. The computerized machine whined before spewing a ticket through the slot. The clerk held the slip until all the change and been counted.

"Here you go O'Malley, and, ah, good luck."

O'Malley didn't hear the clerk's cynical laugh, but he certainly felt it as he exited the store. Now he would have to hide the ticket and destroy the newspaper. He dared not risk carrying either with him, for the pockets of dreamers were often emptied by those of lesser morals, but of greater strength.

Returning to the alley where his strange odyssey had begun, O'Malley removed the newspaper from his pocket and neatly crumpled it before placing it on the cement walk. Taking a match from a half spent book, he ignited the wrinkled pile and waited. Only after the paper had been reduced to a blackened pile of ash, was he comfortable in leaving.

O'Malley retreated, now, to the dingy room he called home. He went to the closet where he kept the one fairly nice thing he owned, a suit. It was for weddings and other occasions to which he might be invited. It has been years since he had had an opportunity to wear it, but it was kept neat and pressed, just in case.

He had decided earlier in the day to hide the ticket in his suit, not in one of the pockets where a thief might find it, but in the lining. Very carefully, he worked the stitching loose. Folding the ticket lengthwise, he slipped it into the narrow opening, and, finally, with an old rusted needle and a piece of blue thread, re-sewed the slit.

It was five minutes before the winning numbers would be publicly aired, and O'Malley's heart pounded noisily against the inner walls of his chest. Beads of perspiration created a shiny glow on his brow and upper lip. He sat before the old black and white television, toying with the coat hanger he had been using since the set's antenna had broken many years before. His hand shook nervously as he attempted to clear the image on the screen. The picture faded in and out, and static interference gave the announcer's voice a gravelly effect, making it quite difficult to understand.

The first ball dropped from the spinning, bouncing array of plastic, followed quickly by the second. The numbers matched the first two on O'Malley's ticket!

Anticipation turned rapidly to excitement, and the pounding intensified, carrying with it discomfort. The third number fell and then the fourth and fifth. A feeling of nausea engulfed him and he wanted to scream, but he fought against it. The pounding in his heart became almost unbearable, and the discomfort turned to real pain. It seemed an eternity before the sixth and final ball settled in line with the others.

Through the pain and perspiration, O'Malley began to laugh uncontrollably. The dreamer would never again have to dream. No longer would he have to close his eyes to see distant lands, or to shower himself in gold and precious stones. Twenty-three million dollars would allow him to create the dreams of his own choosing.

It was a huge and powerful fist that closed around his heart, one which carried excruciating pain across his chest and down his arm until it shocked his very finger tips.

He died painfully, but quickly.

While people around the state wondered why a prize of twenty-three million dollars would go unclaimed, the town buried O'Malley in a pauper's grave. He wore the suit of which he was so proud.

O'Malley, the dreamer, had been somehow chosen to read tomorrow's newspaper today, but in his haste to realize all the dreams of all his life, he failed to read beyond page one.

On another page on that single fold of newspaper, had he taken the time, he would have found the day's obituaries.

"Look Back In Anger" To Open At The Charlestown Working Theater

On Thursday, October 16, the Charlestown Working Theater will open its season of landmark plays which have changed the course of modern theater. The first production, "Look Back In Anger" by John Osborne, exploded on the British theater scene thirty years ago and smashed the existing conventions. The play raised the idea of the anti-hero, the James Dean type character, who enters into battle against contemporary complacency.

"Look Back in Anger" presents an intimate study of man's struggle to come to terms with the present and future without compromise. Jimmy Porter, a working-class, intellectual rebel, lashes out at the established ruling class. His wife, Alison, who comes from the very society he despises, is alternately the victim of his excoriating wit and the object of his seething dissatisfaction. Their negotiation of the land mines in the relationship gives the play its dynamic and irresistible substance. Osborne creates theater which offers a vital emotional dynamic to ordinary people. It breaks down class barriers, and the many obstacles set in the way of feeling.

"Look Back in Anger" was the winner of the New York Drama Critics Circle

In addition, a limited number of Special Awards go to local businesses and individuals who have made significant contributions to the fight against poverty.

The John F. Kennedy Family Service Center selected Charlestown resident Linda Lacey as an ABCD Community Award recipient. Linda's involvement with the center began as a Head Start parent, she currently serves on the Board of Directors as Corporate Secretary.

As an activist in children's issues, Linda served on the Department of So-

Public Schools. Linda's other commitments include providing advocacy services for the elderly through the Charlestown Community Schools, running a catering business, and pursuing a Bachelor of Arts degree in Planning and Community Service at the University of Massachusetts, Boston.

The Community Awards Dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a cocktail reception. The evening includes dancing, guest speakers, and other entertainment. Tickets are available at the Kennedy Center, 27 Winthrop Street, telephone 241-8866 and at ABCD, 178 Tremont Street, Boston, telephone 357-6000, extension 302. Infants And Pre-Schoolers Enjoy Activities At Little Patriots Childcare Center

by Kathy Giordano

Little Patriot's Nursery School, through the generosity of The Congress Group, a major developer in the Charlestown Navy Yard, has been able to expand their facilities to provide a childcare center at the Boys and Girls Club on Green Street. Along with the very popular morning nursery school established in 1982, full day childcare is now available.

The Congress Group provided a grant of $30,000 to help construct and equip the new facility, which is now capable of caring for approximately fifty children ranging in ages from six months to five years.

Little Patriots, Congress Group President Edward Barry was impressed with the results of the company's effort to help in providing adequate day care for the residents of Charlestown and expressed his desire to use this as a model program in offering his employees the same type of center when buildings 105, 149 and 199 in the Navy Yard are completed and occupied. Barry stated, "The Congress Group has such a large financial commitment in Charlestown that we wanted to get more involved in the community. We had heard of the great reputation of the Boys and Girls Club and discovered it was an agency that had touched the lives of most of the community and we wanted to do something to participate in that agency."

Tom King, Director of the Boys and Girls Club, was enthusiastic in his gratitude to The Congress Group and stated that "a number of parents have called and asked for full day care services. A quality care was needed and with the support of The Congress Group we were able to respond to their (the parents) request. The support of The Congress Group was sufficient to create thirty new slots in Charlestown, and the resulting center construction is very attractive and meets all State requirements for safety and addresses the child development needs."

The Charlestown Boys And Girls Club Is Alive And Well

by Marianne Martin

There is a rumor around town that the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club at 15 Green Street is neglecting the youth of Charlestown and turning into a "yuppie" babysitting center. However, anyone familiar with the Boys and Girls Club knows that this couldn't be further from the truth.

Yes, there is a new day-care center now available to residents at the clubhouse, and yes, there have been a number of physical changes in the club to accommodate this new center, but, according to Clubhouse Director Tom King, "nothing has been lost, just moved."

The source of the rumors is the recent expansion of the Little Patriot's Nursery School to include a child-care center for infants and toddlers. King explains that the childcare services were introduced to fulfill a growing need here in Charlestown, but not to overshadow or displace the Club's original, and primary, service population of Charlestown youth ages six and up.

Through the donation of The Congress Group, a major Navy Yard Development Team, the club was able to renovate their first floor game room (the "rec" room) into a two room child-care center, which satisfied all of the Massachusetts State Office for Children (OFC) requirements, ranging from the square footage per child allowance, to safety bars on the windows, to sound-proofing — to name but a few.

The "rec" room moved back into the "mini-gym" down the hall, where it was originally when King first came to the Clubhouse. "For years and years, at least from 1973 to 1983, during my time here, the mini-gym was the 'rec' room," explained the Director, adding that the club is currently in the process of resurfacing the pool tables and building wooden benches in the new "rec" room, which will complement the other activities and include a television set, skee ball machines and ping pong tables.

Many people may have had a false impression that the mini-gym was the kids' gym, which is not true. The larger gym, located in the High Street building of the club, serves younger children through to adults. The only activities affected by the relocation of the "rec" room back into the mini-gym is the adult exercise classes which will move into the weight room, thus closing the weight room for two hours a week. "This is the biggest change to result from the childcare center," added King, "but this programming does not affect the club's primary population — the kids."

The weight room is utilized by individuals 15 years and older, mostly male, with 85% of them over the age of 18. The weight room is located in the High Street building and is directly adjacent to the male and female locker rooms, making the move of the exercise class there a practical one. Traditionally, the weight room was opened from 4:00 to 8:00 p.m., five days a week. Now with the move of the exercise class, the room will close at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The physical changes at the Boys and Girls Club are not the only sources for the "yuppie" babysitter rumor. The price tag of the service of $90 a week for pre-schoolers and $100 a week for infants and toddlers may exclude most Charlestown families from taking advantage of this service. King explains that the reason for the high cost is because the center is self-supporting and draws no funding from the club's other activities. Because the OFC limits the children to staff member ratio, King says there is a limited number of children who can participate in the program and share the operational costs.

King is not, however, unsympathetic with those who can not afford to take advantage of this childcare. In fact, he is working with the Bunker Hill Housing Development Job Training Program to secure vouchers from the state to pick up a portion of the childcare costs for those families participating in the job training. This, however, is still in the negotiating stage.

For those who still feel that the club is not serving the youth of Charlestown who need a place like the club, a visit to the clubhouse should be enough to convince them otherwise. The Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Boston was established in 1893 for the inner city youth to go to play, develop, learn, and simply have fun. The Charlestown Clubhouse has never lost sight of this goal and it must be doing something right because, as King says, the number of kids who frequent the facility has not diminished. Approximately 125 to 275 children, depending on the weather, attend the club on a daily basis.

The club offers something for everyone. In addition to the "rec" room, which attracts youth between eight years through teens, there is a children's play room for those ages six and seven who may be too young for the "rec" room and various sporting activities like basketball and swim team. In the play room, these youngsters can color, play with the doll house or toys, listen to stories and music, and socialize with other children their age. "I kick myself for not having this room available earlier for the kids," says King, "Some kids are just too young for the other activities. This room is just what they need and it fits right in with everything."

For those interested in "rec" room activities or sports, the club also provides a variety of classes in woodworking, art and model making. There is also a computer learning center, a library and a newspaper. However, these classes and activities are not quite up to the standard King would like them to be. "Frankly, if we had more volunteers, I'd love to expand and have more classes," he added.

The Charlestown Boys and Girls Club is sponsoring an open house today, Thursday, October 2nd from 3:00 to 8:00 p.m. for both parents and children. All are welcome to visit during the open house and see the club in action.

Charlestown Bids Farewell To USS Bunker Hill

vities, culminating in her commissioning on Saturday, September 20th.

"Old Ironsides", the flagship that day of Vice Admiral Joseph Metcalf, USN, and under the Command of Commander Joseph Z. Brown, USN, was pulled away from her berth at Pier One shortly after 2:00 p.m. and, flanked by tugs, was escorted out into the harbor opposite The World Trade Center where she was turned about.

On board Constitution were Navy personnel, members of the Navy League, National Park Services representatives, USS Bunker Hill Commissioning Committee members, and invited guests. Crowds thronged Pier One, the decks of the Cassin Young, and Pier Four to view the rare occasion of the Constitution leaving her berth and to bid farewell to USS Bunker Hill.

As the Constitution was turned about facing Charlestown, the USS Bunker Hill, under the command of Captain Philip M. Quast, USN, was moved away from Pier Four and Five, and with her crew standing at attention along her decks, she fired a 15 gun salute honoring USS Constitution.

In response, the crew of

Adult Discussion Group

On Friday, October 3 at 10:00 a.m., the Charlestown Branch Library at 179 Main Street, will host the first Adult Discussion Group meeting of the season. The sessions are open to any adult with interest in the topics presented.

The first meeting will feature Rick Fentin, Registered Representative and Personal Financial Planner from the IDS Financial Services office here in Charlestown. Fentin will talk about starting a financial plan for your future.

On Friday, October 10 at 10:00 a.m. the Adult Discussion Group will host Nicki Haller and Frank Nolan from Transitional Employment Enterprises, widely known as TEE.

Haller and Nolan will discuss how to enter the job market. One of the most important things is to market yourself well. Another important feature of job hunting is to remember that you are looking for the right job for you.

USS Constitution manned the ropes honoring USS Bunker Hill, both ships dipped their colors and Constitution fired a 15 gun salute.

The weather was an interesting factor during Bunker Hill's stay in the Charlestown Navy Yard. She had arrived the previous Monday under cloudy skies, only to have the sun emerge shortly after the ship docked. On Commissioning Day, a rain shower damped the early arrival of the guests, with the sky breaking as the ceremony was about to begin. Ironically, the Constitution and the Bunker Hill departed from Charlestown under sunny skies during this farewell ceremony, only to be enveloped by clouds as the two ships passed each other in the harbor.

Guests on board Constitution waved from the decks to the passing USS Bunker Hill until they lost sight of her.

As Constitution was being escorted back to her berth, Commander Brown and Bill Kelly, President of the Navy League, made several presentations to individuals who had assisted with the commissioning week programs. Among those cited by the Navy League were Commander

Joseph Brown, USN, Commanding Officer of USS Constitution; John Burchill, Superintendent of the Boston National Historical Parks; and Lieutenant Commander Peter R. Churins, USN, Naval Base Detachment in Charlestown.

As the guests on USS Constitution disembarked on Pier One, much pride and patriotism was evident as they had been a part of this historic occasion where the Navy's oldest and newest vessels had exchanged honors and the USS Bunker Hill was sent off in magnificent style to "proceed on duties assigned".

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

As Charlestown is becoming the Georgetown of Boston, the Navy Yard is resembling Coronado of the East. Yes, we don't have the climate of Coronado, a suburb of San Diego, but all the other amenities are nearing fruition.

A vibrant future is planned for Building 106, a former machine shop that did yeoman feats during World War II. To be known as the Basilica, it will offer 92 condominium units, with a provision that 10% will be exclusively for the elderly. This is a unique and aggressive development, under the aegis of Paul F. May and Nage Housing, Inc. With acumen, the developers have retained Barkan Construction to bring this project to fruition. This company has several projects under construction and completed the Anchorage Apartments to accommodate many "Townies" to their satisfaction. All reports indicate that Barkan offers a dual service in the industry — major professional and creative construction, coupled with a property service division. I can attest to its property service section. I am pleased with their accomplishments.

We have all heard of the fabled West Point "Long Gray Line" — upon us now is the 400 foot long Basilica Atrium, the center of Basilica. Daily progress on the skylight window can be seen from First Avenue. The complex will offer one bedroom, two bedroom and two bedroom plus study units. All the modern amenities you could want will be available, from elevator to cathedral ceiling living rooms to harbor views. Coupled with nine elderly, affordable units, all look forward to the Basilica with great expectation.

Spotted the other evening was "Puddy" O'Connor escorting his canine friend along First Avenue. It is quite a friendship for with its bandanna on, the dog follows its master with loyalty and devotion. As Paul Harvey would say, "Now for the rest of the story." I have been informed that this lovable dog is "Puddy's" adopted pet and not owned by same. They are inseparable. This is truly a humanistic story — kudos to "Puddy".

Transportation is the bane of some, but shortly a refreshing and fun means of transportation will be available. Water taxi routes are targeted to transfer people from various locations around Boston Harbor. Presently, a ferry service operates between Rowes Wharf and Logan Airport. This concept will be expanded to include the Navy Yard, East Boston, The Schrafft Center and sundry points under review.

What a treat to embark without the hassle of negotiating the roads and ultimately fighting for a parking space within the aforementioned areas. Eventually, the gondolas in the Grand Canal of Venice will have nothing on us!

As time frames and schedules become available, I will advise.

Columbus Football Rally Falls Short, Friars Lose 27-12

by Bob DeCristoforo

Jimmy Donovan had one of his best high school games. Chris Mullaley turned in an outstanding performance. Sophomore Quarterback Michael Rakes continued his rapid growth as a fine quarterback and senior Captain Dan Toscano scored his first touchdown of the season.

Unfortunately, the bottom line is the fact that the Friars are now 0-2. Scott Porcella's eight yard run, Tim Lollar's kick, and Tommy Miller's six yard run gave Marian all the points they needed for their eventual win. The Friars couldn't generate any type of offense.

The second half was a good football half to watch, and the fourth quarter had the Columbus fans on their feet cheering. Marian Quarterback T.J. Moran's three yard pass to Mike Kirby and another Lollar PAT upped the Marian lead, but then the Friars went to work.

Quarterback Mike Rakes took full charge, spearheading two fine scoring drives. The first ended in glory and he threw a 25 yard pass to Danny Toscano. The Friar defense dug in and got the football right back, and then "Rakesy" went right back to work. This time he carried the ball most of the way, and his nifty 21 yard scamper almost had him going over for the score. In the next series of downs, Jim Donovan went in from the three. The score was now 20-12.

Time was running out, and Marian Quarterback T.J. Moran's two yard "Sneak" put the game out of reach in the final minute. Lollar also had another PAT.

Once again the Football Friars sent another clear warning to its opponents, but as always, four quarters plus make a football game.

The Football Friars return "home" this weekend for a 1:15 p.m. Sunday game against Saint Mary's of Lynn. The Freshmen-Sophomore Squad also open their season against Arlington Catholic this week.

ALUMNI NOTES:

The Red Sox had a magnificent Sunday, and there was definitely a strong attitude of COLUMBUS PRIDE in the victory. Groundskeeper Joe Moon-ey has many Columbus people on his staff. Among them are Michael Nee and Eddie Conway, and football standouts, Ed Pistorino and Tony Courage. Both these young men were Captains of the '83 Football Friars.

Time really flies when you realize that Columbus, and now Merrimack hockey star, Jim Vesey of Charlestown, celebrates his 21st birthday this week.

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly

The mood was pleasant and full of gusto as the Matt O'Neil Junior "A" Team boarded the luxury Greyhound Bus stationed outside the Knights of Columbus Hall last Friday at 4:00 p.m. The driver's log destination was Gardner Municipal Arena in Gardner, which is in the western part of the state.

As the last team player boarded the bus, General Manager Eddie "The Baron" Johnson said, "O.K., that's the last player. Move out!"

With a full complement of players on board, Head Coach Johnny Tibbetts pulled his staff of coaches, Johnny Kelly and Stevie McDonald, together for some game plan discussion. Since no one had seen the Gardner Junior Team play, they had to rely on what they did know, which was how their own players performed. Coach Tibbetts would put his best combinations together and stay with the same team strategy that had won for him during his successful European tour with the internationally acclaimed and talented "Boston Barons".

Eddie "The Baron" Johnson was reminding the players about their conduct on and off the ice as the bus was winding its way into the Municipal Arena parking lot and his clear warnings were a constant remind-der that discipline shall prevail at all times if this team is to achieve success.

As the Matt O'Neil Team entered the Gardner Arena, each player was sporting a brand new hockey bag, complete with new equipment and full uniforms. They stepped onto the ice before a sellout, overflowing crowd of Gardner fans.

With the game underway, it didn't take long for the O'Neil Juniors to start their playmaking and scoring. As the first period ended, the "die was cast" by the O'Neil top scorers as the Gardner National Champs were losing 8-0.

The second period saw more scoring by the talented lines of the O'Neil Juniors, who were now finding the game a little more physical, but because of the strong balance on each line, the Gardner Juniors could not penetrate the strong defense and turn the game around.

Third period scoring continued for the O'Neil Juniors, as they allowed only one score against them which more than tells the story about the playmakers and defensemen of this National bound Matt O'Neil Junior "A" Team, with the final score 18-1.

This top caliber team has shades of the Matt O'Neil inspired teams of the National Midget Hockey of yesteryear, and must have the support of our entire town if this team is to acquire the spirit for National prominence that it deserves and should attain.

Therefore, we are asking all former players and parents, along with our new "Townie" neighbors to join in the rebirth of first class amateur hockey and purchase a "Blue Ribbon Booster Card" that will be good for all home games and, more importantly, will assist our Matt O'Neil organizations in their attempt to formulate this Junior "A" Team for National recognition.

These "Blue Ribbon" tickets are now available by calling Eddie Johnson at 241-9891 or Johnny Tibbetts at 242-3255 for full details.

NOTE: The Junior "A" Hockey Team home game schedule will appear next week in this paper.

by Bernie "Scoop" Kelly

"NO PLAYERS — NO LEAGUE!! That's what it looks like from here," said Commissioner Eddie Johnson during an interview. "It appears as though the interest is gone for the Senior Hockey (No-Check) Division. We had a good league last year, with plenty of good hockey, but I guess the players have gotten too old to keep it up. So a mock funeral will be held as soon as the rink opens. We are now asking for volunteer pallbearers."

NOTICE: This is the last chance — pallbearers or hockey players. Registration will be held on Saturday, October 4, 1986 from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 West School Street.

Charlestown In Mayor's Super Bowl Tourney

Charlestown will be well represented in the First Annual Boston Flag Football Super Bowl starting, Saturday, October 11th, on Boston Common.

Super Bowl Director Brian P. Wallace stated, "What would a City-wide Football Tournament be without the Charlestown 'Townies'. The 'Townies' are synonymous with good hard hitting football and have been for quite some time in Boston. We are looking for the Charlestown entry to be a very serious challenge for the title and the Mayor's Bowl."

Charlestown will play at 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 11th against the old Harbor Athletic Club from South Boston, on the Boston Common, (Charles Street side). All games are free and all football fans are urged to come to the Common and support their "Townies".

Land Should Be Developed By Residents

Dear Gloria,

At the meeting held on September 8, 1986, on parcel R-87 (corner of Tremont and Prospect Streets), the majority of the people that attended the meeting made their feelings known that the land in question was to be divided into seventeen lots and a playground.

We feel that our voices were not heard at this meeting so we have decided to write to every board member on the Neighborhood Council to make sure that they understand our recommendation for this land.

1. It would make the area too congested.
2. There is no parking for the residents that already live there.
3. We feel this land could and should be developed by the residents of Charlestown.

Mrs. Anne Considine

An Open Letter To The Residents Of Bunker Hill Housing Development

To the Residents of the Charlestown Development,

On November 3 and 4, 1986, the Task Force will be holding its annual election for nine seats on its Board of Directors. The importance of this election cannot be stressed enough.

Over the last year, the Task Force has continued to make great progress in acting for the interests of our residents, and in improving the delivery of human services to our development. The main ingredient of this progress has been the increased participation of residents in the Board of Directors and the activities of the Task Force.

Through increased resident involvement, the Task Force:

- Has steadily worked on code compliance efforts through which: more money has been budgeted for code violation repairs, code violations have been reported with increasing accuracy through repeated unit inspections, and the monitoring of code compliance repairs via the review of all work orders.
- Has played a major role in securing federal and state funding for the vacancy rehab of "Polk Street". In recent press conferences, Mayor Flynn, Senator Doris, and Representative Voke have respectively praised Task Force members for their hard work in obtaining these vital funds.
- Has provided tenant advocacy assistance to over 300 residents in regard to poor housing conditions and other tenants rights issues.
- Has worked with the architectural firm of CBT in developing designs for the beautification of Hayes Square. Final approval for the construction of these designs is expected soon. Such funding will be a result of a Task Force proposal to the Browne Fund.

- Has brought improved Employment and Training services to development residents that saw a 90% increase in the placement of residents in jobs and job training programs.
- Has played a key citywide leadership role in starting to force the BHA to accurately account for and efficiently use federal modernization funds in BHA federal developments, such as Charlestown.

The successful continuation of these efforts greatly depends on more residents working effectively together for the benefit of all. It is no surprise that our accomplishments increased through the greater participation of Board Members and other resident volunteers.

Therefore, we strongly encourage anyone who is interested in the future of our development to consider running for the Board of Directors. Prior experience is not necessary. Current Board Members and staff are ready to answer any questions you might have about Task Force operations and activities.

Nomination petitions and election rules are available at the Task Force Office and the Manager's Office. The nomination petition deadline is Tuesday, October 21, 1986 at 5:00 p.m.

As neighbors working together, we can build a stronger Task Force that consistently works for the interests of all development residents. Your involvement is critical to future efforts. If you have any comments or questions, please call us at 242-3200.

Sincerely,
Mary E. MacInnes, Chairperson
Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force

Boston Youth Clean Up — A Successful Private-Public Collaboration

For five weeks this summer, 230 youth cleaned up Boston's streets, parks, playgrounds and roadways. Employed by the Boston Youth Clean-Up Corps, these teens swept up areas of their neighborhoods that had long been neglected. The clean-up program was a collaborative effort between the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston and the Boston Community Schools Program. A Mayoral initiative, the program was designed to aid the City of Boston's Department of Public Works and Department of Parks and Recreation maintenance efforts.

The Boston Youth Clean-Up Corps responded to resident requests asking the city to clean up sections of Boston's neighborhoods overgrown with weeds, trash and debris. Under the direction of Donald Coverdale of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, and Brian Connolly of the Boston Community Schools Program, 22 crews set out to answer some of these requests.

During a Boston Youth Clean-Up barbecue held at City Hall, Mayor Raymond L. Flynn thanked the boys and girls of the clean-up crews. He met and spoke with the crews and praised their efforts. "The young people employed by the Boston Youth Clean-Up Corps demonstrated a remarkable sense of pride in their neighborhoods and the City of Boston, while providing an immeasurable public service to Boston's neighborhoods," stated Mayor Flynn. "The targets of this pilot clean-up effort were the areas of the city that have suffered for years from neglect and abuse."

Parts of Charlestown were among the areas tackled by the clean-up crews. Charlestown youth taking part in the program included John Collins, Jr., Mark Laughlin, Steve Chiampa, Suzanne Wrenn, Jennifer Walsh, Susan Stella, Steven Considine, James Goggin, Thomas Jackson, John Scanlon and Chris O'Connor.

As an incentive to stay with the program, the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston paid their clean-up crew $4.25 an hour for the five week program. As a bonus for the successful completion of the program, $1.75 was added for every hour worked. At the end of the program, the youth had a choice of either $218 in cash or a $400 U.S. Savings Bond.

Ron Young, executive vice president of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston, praised the good works of the crews. He said, "The private and public agency collaboration, working with the Mayor to clean up Boston, was a very successful program. The kids worked hard and showed pride in their community. They could see the impact they were having by cleaning up their neighborhoods."

"This joint effort between the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston and the Boston Community Schools Program proved to be a successful working relationship," said Larry Dwyer, executive director of the Boston Community Schools Program. "It is critical that these types of partnerships between public and private agencies continue to provide neighborhood services by employing Boston's youth."

City Revokes Resident Parking Permits

City of Boston Traffic and Parking Commissioner Richard Dimino has announced that his department has revoked approximately 300 resident permit parking permits, including seven in Charlestown, because the manner in which they were obtained was not legitimate. This represents a significant decrease from last year in the number of permits fraudulently obtained.

Two years ago, the City began cross-referencing vehicle registrations with the Registry of Motor Vehicles. It was discovered that non-residents were obtaining resident parking stickers by registering their cars under a Boston address, obtaining a permit, then re-registering their cars at out-of-town addresses.

Commissioner Dimino said, "The ability to cross check registrations has allowed the Department to ensure that only residents in the City who have their cars registered at the address at which they live, can utilize the already scarce number of resident parking spaces."
