

Minecraft Bedrock And Java Editions To Be Sold Together On PC

Minecraft on PC has always been available to download in two separate editions called the Java Edition and the Bedrock Edition. This will change on the 7th of June as both versions will be available for purchase together on PCs.

You might be wondering what this means for you. It's a small difference. You can now purchase both Minecraft versions in one purchase. This means there's only one vanilla Minecraft version for Windows. If you already own Bedrock or Java edition, there's no need to fret. teamextrememc minecraft server has announced that all players with either Java Edition or Bedrock Edition will receive the edition they do not currently have for free, and right from the Minecraft Launcher. However, it could take up to three days to show up.

Java and Bedrock will remain their own games with a variety of features. There are no new features. The only difference is that you'll be receiving both when you purchase Minecraft on your Windows PC and both versions will be within the same launcher.

To remind you, although Java is only available to PC, Mac and Linux systems Bedrock Edition is available on all platforms. Bedrock Edition is available on PC, mobile (Android, iOS, Windows 10 mobile ), and on various consoles, including Xbox One, PlayStation 4, Nintendo Switch, and many more. Java is considered the more flexible version of Minecraft on PC in terms of modding, though that version doesn't allow for cross-platform play. Additionally the Java Edition has a higher performance limit and tends to appear a bit better on higher-end gaming PCs and the Bedrock Edition is designed to play smoothly, and generally has shorter load times.
