

TO HELL WITH TYRANNY

THE INVISIBLE WAR

A. SEEFELDT

To Hell with Tyranny: The Invisible War
By Andrew Seefeldt
Cover art and design by Andrew Seefeldt
Copyright 2019

This is one of a series of books that should be read and studied in order, as they build upon each other:

1. Australia's Darkest Secrets (2015)
2. World War 666 (2017)
3. Born from the Light (2017)
4. To Hell with Tyranny (2019)

"The Time will come when the Truth will be proven beyond a doubt, and humanity will thank me."

--Franz Mesmer, discoverer of Mesmerism (hypnosis).

"Rise and resist!"
Homemade gel blaster Sten, pew-pew!

Table of Contents

- Bourke St Attack: Further Comments
- Comments On The Four Corners Report
- The Anthony O'Donohue Murder Case
- More Trouble From Authorities
- Comments On Myron May's Testimony
- Comments On Diana Napolis's Case

Drawn To Darkness
Gang-Stalking: Further Insights
After-Effects Of V2K/RNM
All Devices Are Compromised
More Anti-Psychiatry Ranting
Spirituality: Further Insights
Conversations With A Perp: Dan Part II
Supernatural Events In The Locked Ward
The Healings
The Great Escape
Assassination Attempts Against Me
Death Of A Boss
Aftermath
Destined To Kill
The Guessing Game
Close Call
The Son That Never Was

Bourke St Attack: Further Comments

Here's an excerpt from the ABC News article dated 13/6/18:

"Throughout the three interviews, Mr. Gargasoulas exhibited no unusual behaviours, he did not appear to have any difficulties with his comprehension... and the rate, volume, quantity and fluency of his speech were normal.

...

But he said the only predominant symptom Mr Gargasoulas exhibits is delusional thoughts.

Dr Walton said Mr Gargasoulas does not believe he has a mental illness and is fixated on being able to espouse his ideas in court."

The psychiatrists are confused as to why Gargasoulas is apparently "delusional" but exhibits no other symptoms of his paranoid schizophrenia false diagnosis. Gargasoulas believes he is the messiah and the second coming of Christ, just like the stereotypical, textbook schizophrenic.

The answer is he's not delusional and he's not a schizophrenic. Given the situation he's in, that is being one of the first people in the world to try and expose a Satanic world conspiracy, his belief he is the "saviour" is based in reality. He's not delusional, just mistaken. He's not the messiah, just mistaken and a bit carried away. I was the exact same way as Gargasoulas in 2012 and 2013 after I saw the conspiracy for the first time, and I recognise the stages Gargasoulas is going through and I recognise his distinct trauma-induced condition, which uninformed doctors would be misled to label as schizophrenia.

Extreme mental state and emotional breakdown caused by gang-stalking + the reality that there exists a Satanic world conspiracy = getting carried away in the heat of the moment and thinking you are the "messiah" or "saviour" (because you are one of the first people in the world to attempt to expose it). I was the exact same way as Gargasoulas in 2012 and 2013 when gang-stalking and harrasment with electronic weapons caused me to have a breakdown.

The psychiatrists have falsely labelled Gargasoulas as a paranoid schizophrenic who is "treatment-resistant" and they gave the same label to me ("treatment-resistant"). Did it ever occur to you stupid shrinks that maybe the reason Gargasoulas and I don't respond to schizophrenia treatments could be because we AREN'T schizophrenics?

The psychiatrists told the court that Gargasoulas wants a trial so he can "espouse his ideas in court", i.e. he's desperate to expose the conspiracy, as am I. He's in a nonsensical state still, as was I in 2012-2013, and it will probably take him years to regain his composure and to coherently figure out and explain what he witnessed.

The psychiatrists are arguing that Gargasoulas is unfit to stand trial on the basis of his "delusions" which aren't delusions. The right to a fair trial can be denied to you based on the opinion of a psychiatrist. Outrageous. Add "right to a fair trial" to the long list of basic human rights that can be robbed from you by the mental health system.

I will say again, Gargasoulas is trying to single-handedly be one of the first people to expose a diabolical world conspiracy, and coupled with the extreme mental and emotional state caused by his situation and gang-stalking ordeal, maybe you can understand how he got a bit carried away and thinks of himself as "the saviour/messiah".

Again, his mental state is very distinct to me and I recognise the stages he's going through because I went through the exact same thing as him. Mental breakdown induced by gang-stalking and/or harassment with electronic weapons, probably combined with (in early childhood) ritual abuse programming. These psychological abuse tactics are designed with plausible deniability in mind, namely the mental breakdown they cause be mistaken for paranoid schizophrenia by mental health professionals who are ignorant and uninformed about these crimes.

I was disappointed that Gargasoulas was not more articulate when speaking in his defense at his trial. It's completely understandable of course, because he hasn't had Internet access to give him an opportunity to research and understand what he witnessed (gang-stalking and ritual abuse). He expressed a desire to be moved to a secure psychiatric hospital because he thought there would be Internet access there.

When asked in the witness stand about why he committed the Bourke St attack he replied that he hasn't collected his thoughts about why he did it. He told the court we are facing an "invasion of the Illuminati".

The media reported in the witness stand he "ranted about the Illuminati and oppression" but didn't give the specifics of what he said. It's like I wrote in my 2017 books, it will probably take several years for him to regain his composure and coherently explain what he saw. Basically, he doesn't know what hit him.

A major hurdle to justice and recognition of these crimes is that ritual abuse and gang-stalking are such potent psychological abuse tactics that they actually send you horrifically mad for a while, so victims are rarely coherent or able to credibly describe what happened at least for a few years after their induced mental breakdown (providing the abuse doesn't continue and they are left with an opportunity to recover). Victims are typically mistaken for having a mental illness due to the extremely disorientating nature of these crimes and the techniques are carefully crafted to achieve this exact effect.

News reports said his treating psychiatrist told the court that Gargasoulas has been placed on 6 different schizophrenia drug treatments, hasn't responded to them, and was now being started on a "drug of last resort" (probably the lethal clozapine). The media reports said that Gargasoulas believes that it'll prove he's not a schizophrenic when he doesn't respond to schizophrenia treatments. Clearly Gargasoulas hasn't yet realised how absolutely insane psychiatrists are: they won't figure out that he's not schizophrenic, they'll just label him as "treatment-resistant" which, considering this is in the state of Victoria, might even lead to him getting his brain electroshocked with ECT (one of the horrific consequences of telling a psychiatrist you don't have schizophrenia and/or being labelled with treatment-resistant schizophrenia--the other being clozapine).

Many people don't even know that ECT is still used today, let alone used on Australians against their will. Here's the ABC News article which exposed how each year 700 Victorians are forced to get their brains electroshocked with ECT against their will:

"Orders for forced 'shock therapy' breached human rights of schizophrenia patients, court rules"

ABC News, Updated 1 November 2018

<https://www.abc.net.au/news/2018-11-01/human-rights-must-be-upheld-forced-shock-ect-therapy-court-rules/10454750>

According to news reports at the plea hearing Gargasoulas addressed the court and said (quote) "What I want you all to know is I am a victim of government oppression -- it is because of oppression six people died and many were injured." He calls it "government oppression" because he hasn't had access to the Internet since the attack, so he hasn't had the opportunity to learn that it has a name ("gang-stalking") and that there are thousands of other victims.

When I was in prison two years after first being gang-stalked, when speaking to my lawyer I still couldn't articulate what happened any more than telling her, "I am a victim of exploitation." This is very similar to Gargasoulas's short statement in court, "I am a victim of government oppression." also two years after he was gang-stalked. It took me several years of constant pondering and research to fully understand what I witnessed, let alone trying to figure out how to explain it to outsiders, and that's for someone of relatively high intelligence. Gargasoulas can't articulate what happened because he doesn't know what hit him, it's a very complex conspiracy to understand and he hasn't had Internet access since the attack so he hasn't had an opportunity to go online to research and discover that there are thousands of other victims.

Prosecutors want Gargasoulas sentenced to life in prison without parole while the actual perpetrators of the Bourke St attack still walk free, undetected by everyone except me. Ritual abuse and gang-stalking are mind-control techniques designed to reliably drive the target murderously insane so I don't see the perps as any less culpable than if they had used a gun or hired a hitman to commit murder.

I bet if you hypnotically regressed Gargasoulas to early childhood, you would uncover repressed memories of Satanic ritual abuse, or at the very least he was severely gang-stalked. Ritual abuse is a form of mind-control designed to make children grow up to be dark, murderous and obsessed with weaponry, and they use gang-stalking to make the victim have a mental breakdown and murderously act out their mind-control programming.

Mind-controlled killer James "Jimmy" Gargasoulas was eventually sentenced to life in prison with a (slight) chance of parole after 46 years. When I was a teenager they tried to do to me the same thing they did to Gargasoulas, and remarkably enough I survived to tell the tale. The Bourke St attack was the cult threatening to do to my brother Jimmy the same thing they did to Jimmy Gargasoulas (same name) and my brother lives in the same city where the Bourke St attack took place (Melbourne). The Bourke St attack was a direct attempt to intimidate me into silence and the Truth is so outrageous that I've been repeatedly mistaken for delusional and mentally ill.

Comments On The Four Corners Report

Here's what I have to say about the Four Corners report about the Bourke St attack which aired 10/6/19 on ABC (also now available on YouTube).

"The making of the Bourke Street murderer | Four Corners"
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VkdomRLEOv8>

The Four Corners reporter said, "At age 14 Gargasoulas smuggled explosives to school to get back at the kids who had been picking on him." Martin Grava told Four Corners, "Jimmy was Jimmy, he was just an eccentric sort of crazy kid ... I remember the school was shut down, we were at school and they were talking about a bomb being brought in and it was Jimmy with a whole heap of detonators." Sounds very familiar, sounds just like my school days!

In my first book (ADS) I described how as a teenager I brought highly explosive and unstable homemade nitroglycerine and TATP to school and ignited small amounts to impress some of the other boys. Gargasoulas brought explosives to school as a teenager just like how I brought explosives to school as a teenager. This is further evidence Gargasoulas was subjected to the same mind-control programming techniques as me. Ritual abuse (trauma-based mind-control) involves pedophiles abusing toddlers with party poppers (fireworks) to traumatise the kid in such a way that makes the kid grow up to become obsessed with explosives via the psychological process of unconsciously re-enacting repressed memories of the abuse.

The fact that Gargasoulas brought explosives to school as a teenager--just like I did as a teenager--is a further indicator that he is a victim of the same mind-control techniques as me. When I was a teenager the cult tried to do to me the same thing they did to Gargasoulas: hypnotise me to become a mass murderer. As far as crimes go, mind-control is on a whole new level of evil.

The Four Corners report describes how in the lead up to the attack Gargasoulas stated, "The government is trying to murder me, trying to get me locked up!" He knew a government conspiracy was trying to drive him crazy and provoke him to act out violently. He is describing textbook gang-stalking, the same provocation and harassment that drove US mass shooters Aaron Alexis, Myron May, Esteban Santiago and the Brisbane murderer Anthony O'Donohue to commit their crimes.

The report revealed in school Gargasoulas was in special ed. This could be another reason he isn't too good at explaining what happened. But even average or intelligent victims are usually disorientated and confused, and unable to explain what happened. It's a very complex and bizarre crime that took me several years to completely figure out. When you first see the conspiracy your mind just reels from it and it takes a long while to recover, let alone try to coherently describe what happened.

The Four Corners report described how in the lead up to the attack Gargasoulas believed a comet was going to hit Earth. He seems psychotic and delusional at a glance, but I can explain this also. I can explain it but it's a very difficult thing to describe.

On the day in 2012 when my drug lab was found I thought a row of cypress trees that my parents planted many years ago were planted to make our property extremely flammable and I thought the perps (who by then were assaulting me with all sorts of electronic weapons) were going to kill me and set fire to the cypress trees to burn down our house and cover up the drug lab (the cypress trees have a lot of oil in their leaves so they burn readily). That's when I called 000 (emergency number) and said to the dispatcher, "It's a cult, they're going to kill me, there's going to be a fire!" and I requested the fire brigade as well as police/ambulance.

The panicked and disorientated state I was in when I called 000 and told the dispatcher "There's going to be a fire!" is the same mental state Gargasoulas was in when he called 000 and told the dispatcher "A comet is going to hit Earth!" Like I said, it's very difficult to explain why this mental state happens but in simple terms the conspiracy is so complex, unknown and bizarre that when you see it for the first time you go horrifically insane for a while. It's like your mind reels from seeing the conspiracy and initially you have no idea what's happening and you just go crazy from it as your mind reels and tries to understand what's happening.

At a glance this mental state looks like schizophrenia/psychosis but it's not and it won't respond to schizophrenia drug treatments. It's an erratic, nonsensical crisis state you go into when you first get gang-stalked, when you first see the conspiracy. Like I said, it's a very difficult thing to explain but in simple terms the conspiracy is so terrifying, complex and bizzare that the first time you see it you go horrifically insane for a while. I went through it myself in 2012-2013 and I recognise the same mental state in Gargasoulas and other gang-stalking victims.

Another thing worthy of note is his brother Angelo Gargasoulas told Four Corners they were both beaten countless times by their father and Angelo describes their childhood as "one big massive trauma". With abusive, dysfunctional families like this is not that far a stretch to believe they would also be involved in Satanic ritual abuse.

Initially I was a bit sympathetic because I thought of Gargasoulas as an innocent victim of mind-control/gang-stalking but the Four Corners report opened my eyes to the fact that Gargasoulas is not a good person. Still, the Deep State/Satanic Illuminati and their gang-stalkers are very much responsible for the Bourke St attack. They mind-controlled (and probably gang-stalked) him with the precise and calculated goal and intent that he would become murderously insane and attack people indiscriminately. As I've stated many times, the same thing was done to the US mass shooters Aaron Alexis, Myron May, Esteban Santiago and the Brisbane murderer Anthony O'Donohue. And they tried unsuccessfully to do the same thing to me also.

The Anthony O'Donohue Murder Case

Here's another gang-stalking victim in the news.

"How a killer's 'psychotic' attack was triggered by a Brisbane bus driver's smile"

By Kristian Silva, ABC News.

<http://www.abc.net.au/news/2018-08-11/drivers-smile-triggered-killers-psychotic-attack/10107934>

On the morning of October 28, 2016, the driver smiled at the 15th passenger who boarded his bus, just like he had welcomed thousands of other people before.

When Mr Alisher pulled into the stop on Beaudesert Road in Moorooka, in Brisbane's south, he had no idea Anthony O'Donohue's undiagnosed schizophrenia had reached a deadly crescendo.

He didn't know a homemade bomb of petrol and diesel was inside O'Donohue's backpack, and that it could be set off at any moment.

Psychiatrists told a Brisbane court Mr Alisher's smile was the trigger because O'Donohue believed the driver was part of a wide-ranging conspiracy, involving governments, unions, and police.

Even though Mr O'Donohue had never crossed paths with him, the driver's grin was a sign to say: "Yes, I'm in on it too."

What O'Donohue did next had catastrophic consequences. He used a barbecue lighter to ignite his backpack and tossed it at Mr Alisher. Terrified passengers were trapped in the smoke-filled bus, and were saved by good Samaritans who kicked and forced the doors open.

Mr Alisher, also known as Manmeet Sharma, was dead within seconds.

...

Killer's bizarre conspiracy theories

According to psychiatrists' evidence at the Mental Health Court, O'Donohue's undiagnosed schizophrenia was the major factor behind his actions.

Dr Pamela van de Hoef said the 50-year-old began showing symptoms in 2003, when a workplace dispute left him feeling "persecuted".

She said he quit his accounting job and moved from NSW to Queensland, but couldn't shake his belief that a growing number of people were making his life "a failure and humiliating misery".

By 2011, O'Donohue had survived a suicide attempt and was homeless.

In the years that followed, the conspiracy that the world was out to get him grew and he was hospitalised multiple times. Doctors knew he was delusional, but he was not diagnosed as a schizophrenic.

...

"He didn't believe he was ill. He believed all the conspiracy, and surveillance and misery were due to things that were happening."

...

An "involuntary treatment order" was revoked in 2015, allowing O'Donohue to become even more evasive from his doctors.

They now believe he stopped taking his medication altogether, sending his symptoms spiralling out of control.

Dr van de Hoef said on one occasion, O'Donohue saw a group of people dressed in pink and thought they were an "army" that was part of the conspiracy.

Then he became fixated on the colour black, and stalked a woman who was carrying a black handbag.

He hated when his neighbours banged their doors or when cars revved, she said. He thought mining magnate Gina Rinehart would save him by ordering SAS army troops to take him to Western Australia.

...

On Friday, Judge Jean Dalton ruled O'Donohue unfit to stand trial. She said he was not of sound mind at the time of the attack, and agreed with experts who said O'Donohue's delusions continued to this day despite nearly two years of treatment.

...

The judge quoted O'Donohue's own words, which were given to a psychiatrist shortly after the attack.

"I know it's a terrible thing but it's justified. I just knew he was part of the group that had been torturing me," O'Donoghue said.

"I saw the bus driver's facial expression and the way he looked at me. If that was different, maybe the whole thing would not have happened."

[End news report quotation]

I talked about the distinct "paranoid" mental state that gang-stalking victims go into in my 2017 book World War 666. This paranoid mental state can be seen in Anthony O'Donohue. O'Donohue fatally attacked an innocent (assumably) bus driver because the bus driver smiled at him and O'Donohue thought his smile was to say he was in on the conspiracy (as a gang-stalking perp). In my 2017 book World War 666 I talked about this exact phenomenon: gang-stalking makes you go into this distinct hypervigilant/paranoid state where you start mistaking everyday occurrences as further gang-stalking incidents and you start thinking "everybody" is in on it. On top of that, gang-stalking causes the victim to develop a traumatic state of extreme agitation and helplessness, which makes gang-stalking victims prone to lashing out violently. I would know, I went through it myself in 2012 and 2013.

It is not paranoia as such, but rather it is a trauma-induced state of hypervigilance, not paranoid schizophrenia. Evidently the stupid psychiatrists can't tell the difference, because they are systematically covering up gang-stalking victims as paranoid schizophrenics. Can't blame them really, they are completely uninformed about these crimes and are not trained to recognise victims when they emerge. The current paradigm in mental health also underplays the role of trauma in psychopathology and overstates the role of biology (thank the drug companies for that!). Anyway, I ranted about psychiatry enough in my 2017 book Born from the Light.

The goal of gang-stalking is to harass you in creative ways designed to look like "everyday occurrences" to outside observers (i.e. anyone who isn't the target). The aim is to sensitise you to these "everyday occurrences", so you freak out and have a mental breakdown and to everybody around the target it looks to them like the target had a mental breakdown over a series of "everyday occurrences", and the target appears like a paranoid schizophrenic.

I gave the following example that happened to me in my previous books. In 2012 and 2013 they hired gang-stalkers to move in next door and make incessant noises with hammers and powertools all day long 24/7 for months at a time, to harass me. The goal of these creative harassment techniques is to get the target to complain "People making noises next door are part of a huge conspiracy against me!" Of course to police and other outsiders, it looks like the target is complaining about "innocent" workmen making tool noises as part of their job, and the target looks mentally ill, like a paranoid schizophrenic.

They create these harassment techniques disguised as "everyday occurrences" in order to sensitise you, so you start freaking out and mistaking actual everyday occurrences as further gang-stalking incidents. An example that happened to me is when the gang-stalkers would make incessant tool and hammer noises all day long next door, I became so traumatised and agitated by the gang-stalking that when I was in town and walked past a construction site where tool noises were being made I freaked out and thought "It's them!" This is not paranoid schizophrenia, it is trauma-induced hypervigilance and one goal of gang-stalking is to make the victim go into this mental state and get falsely labelled as a paranoid schizophrenic by unenlightened psychiatrists.

Another example that happened to me in 2017 is when they had three different guys all wearing the exact same t-shirt with a picture of a triangle on it to all stalk me on the street. All three stalkers very deliberately walked in front of my path to cut me off and all three very deliberately looked sideways at me and made eye-contact to discreetly let me know I was being stalked while leaving no evidence of a crime. One goal of these creative harassment tactics is to get the victim to report to police "Random strangers on the street wearing triangle t-shirts are part of a diabolical conspiracy against me!" Then of course the target looks like the stereotypical paranoid schizophrenic and the police cart the victim off to a mental institution to get locked up and forcibly poisoned with psychiatric medications that have terrible side effects. The gang-stalking victim gets falsely labelled as a paranoid schizophrenic, forced to take medication and is completely discredited as a "nutcase".

Another example of gang-stalking tactics commonly reported by victims is when they have multiple stalkers driving red cars all cut you off in traffic. The goal is to sensitise you to red cars, so that everytime you see a red car you freak out and think "It's them!" and eventually have a mental breakdown. In psychology this phenomenon is known as "anchoring" in the context of neuro-linguistic programming (NLP). Gang-stalking involves a weaponised version of NLP.

In the Anthony O'Donohue murder case this symptom of sensitisation to "everyday occurrences" is clearly visible. The ABC News article by journalist Kristian Silva dated 11/8/18 writes, "Dr. van de Hoef said on one occasion, O'Donohue saw a group of people dressed in pink and thought they were an 'army' that was part of the conspiracy. Then he became fixated on the colour black and stalked a woman who was carrying a black handbag."

It's clear to me that what happened in the O'Donohue murder case is the perps gang-stalked him in some way in incidents disguised to look like "everyday occurrences", e.g. having a stalker wearing a pink scarf walk past everytime O'Donohue went to collect his mail (something like that, just an example). Then once O'Donohue was sensitised by the gang-stalking he would freak out and think "It's them!" everytime he saw someone wearing pink. Being gang-stalked causes intense feelings of agitation, helplessness and paranoia/hypervigilance. This is the reason for O'Donohue's bizzare mental state, not schizophrenia.

The ABC News article continues to describe evidence that O'Donohue was a gang-stalking victim. The article goes on to say, "He hated when his neighbours banged their doors or when their cars revved." These must be the "everyday occurrence" harassment tactics they used on O'Donohue, and they used the exact same tactics on me! In 2012 and 2013 during the full blown gang-stalking campaign against me which I described in my first book Australia's Darkest Secrets, the perpetrator group would park large trucks around my property that would idle their loud engines all day while constantly revving and making hydraulic noises to harass and drive me crazy. This went on everyday for months at a time. Of course there's nothing illegal or suspicious about revving your engine, the idea of these creative harassment tactics is plausible deniability. It's like death by a thousand papercuts, they harass you with a large number of these "everyday occurrence" harassment tactics until you have a nervous breakdown.

These psychological abuse tactics are so potent that they typically and fairly reliability drive the victim to suicide or incite the victim to go murderously insane.

A gang-stalking victim going murderously insane is common with victims who were subjected to ritual abuse in early childhood. The ritual abuse makes the victim sadistic and obsessed with death and weaponry and then they are triggered by gang-stalking and electronic weapons to act out their programming violently. See my second book World War 666 where I describe the role of ritual abuse in detail. However, I'd say that gang-stalking and electronic weapons alone has incited some victims to murder even when not combined with ritual abuse in childhood.

Again, they stalk and harass you in creative ways that are carefully designed to look like "everyday occurrences" with the goal of making you have a nervous breakdown and appearing like the stereotypical paranoid schizophrenic.

More from the ABC News article: "[O'Donohue] thought mining magnate Gina Rinehart would save him by ordering SAS army troops to take him to Western Australia." This is NOT psychosis, this is a nonsensical state you go into generally when you see the conspiracy for the first time (or perhaps when the gang-stalkers ramp things up). It's difficult to explain but I went through the exact same thing in 2012 and 2013 so I recognise the mental state in other victims. It's like gang-stalking is so traumatic and uproots your previous world view, that you go temporarily insane in a horrific way. The same nonsensical mental state can be seen in the Bourke St mass murderer Jimmy Gargasoulas. News reports said that Gargasoulas was trying to reach "aboriginal royalty" so they could recognise him as the "saviour". Again, this is NOT psychosis like unenlightened psychiatrists would be mistaken to believe. It is a nonsensical state caused by the trauma of gang-stalking. I recognise it because I went through the exact same thing myself.

Gang-stalking tactics are very carefully designed to make you have a breakdown and appear like a textbook paranoid schizophrenic, and I'm sure the people who invented gang-stalking have a background in psychology (e.g. they understand anchoring and NLP) so they are very familiar with the symptoms of paranoid schizophrenia, and try to artificially mimic it.

The ABC News article says that O'Donohue refused to take psychiatric medication. He knew he wasn't crazy and that his gang-stalking ordeal was real. I bet the stupid psychiatrists would label him as "treatment-resistant" schizophrenia, the same label they gave the Bourke St killer Jimmy Gargasoulas as well as the same label they gave me. Psychiatrists are goddamn idiots.

Oh look, I was right. I took another look at the news article and sure enough, "treatment-resistant"! From the article: "...experts who said O'Donohue's delusions continued to today despite nearly two years of treatment." I'll say it again, the reason Gargasoulas, O'Donohue and myself don't respond to schizophrenia treatments is because we AREN'T schizophrenics and our so called "delusions" AREN'T delusions. Gang-stalking is real! I'll also say again that psychiatrists are goddamn idiots, or grossly uninformed at the very least.

O'Donohue is 50-years-old. Even you stupid psychiatrists can agree that what you call paranoid schizophrenia typically emerges in late teens or early 20s, and that it emerging later in life is quite unusual and strange.

I couldn't be more certain that the Australian murderer Anthony O'Donohue was driven to his crime by gang-stalking. I am also 100% certain the Australian mass killer Jimmy Gargasoulas and US mass shooter Esteban Santiago were driven to their crimes by this conspiracy. It's also well-established within the online community of gang-stalking victims that US mass shooters Aaron Alexis and Myron May were driven to their crimes by gang-stalking and harassment with electronic weapons. I'm sure there's many, many other suicides and murders linked to gang-stalking that I haven't heard about.

More Trouble From Authorities

In early November 2018 I mailed about 30 parcels containing a letter and copies of my books to all the lawyers and doctors connected to the Bourke St attack case, the Ombudsman, human rights organisations, independent media etc. in time for the start of Gargasoulas's trial. I spent hundreds of dollars on postage and USB drives. I also sent out maybe 100 emails with my books attached.

On 7th Nov 2018 I was visited at my home by police officers who were acting in response to one of the recipients of my letter. In my letter I stated that I had information about the Bourke St attack and other mass murders. They twisted and mistook the words in my letter to mean I claimed I was "plotting a mass murder", hence the visit by police. Goddamn. Some thanks I get for trying to enlighten the public about very important matters.

It's similar to a story I saw in the international news where a poor gang-stalking victim who was placing flyers in mailboxes in an attempt to expose his abuse was reported by the idiot journalists of the local newspaper with a headline like "mentally ill man terrorising residents with flyers threatening 'gang-stalking'" or something to that effect. So sad.

On 14/1/19 I was abducted from my home without warning by mental health workers and falsely imprisoned in a mental hospital yet again, as is the customary punishment for daring to speak out about occult crimes against children. This was at the direction of my psychiatrist. This time the offending shrink was one Dr. Rodrigo.

It turns out the Australian Federal Police got ahold of my books after I mailed them out as previously described, and the cops sent my books to my psychiatrist and mental health case workers. Yet again they thought I must be delusional and psychotic to believe such an "outrageous" thing as ritual abuse and gang-stalking (and that the Bourke St attacker was a victim of these).

It also turns out they were able to detain me because as a condition of being on a psychiatric treatment order, they can lock you up in hospital at whim without any oversight or justification.

I've been on forced treatment orders for a total of about 4 years. They kept renewing my treatment order every 6 months because I continued to refuse to "admit" to being a schizophrenic and continued to argue my case that I'm a victim of ritual abuse and gang-stalking, which the doctors said meant I had "poor insight" into my supposed condition and therefore couldn't be trusted to take medication voluntarily, and therefore it had to be legally forced upon me with a treatment order. That's what happens if you tell psychiatrist you don't have a mental illness. It's like the Salem witch trials when you'd get tortured and killed if you refused to "admit" to being a witch, you're screwed either way! Do note of course that today witchcraft really is a big problem.

Interestingly, the forensic psychiatrist who assessed me told me that she had had other patients report to her that they were being gang-stalked (and that they specifically used the term "gang-stalking"). It's like I've been saying, victims are routinely being locked up in mental hospitals and covered up as paranoid schizophrenics. She was a forensic psychiatrist meaning she deals specifically with patients who have had or are at risk of run-ins with the law (gang-stalking victims often lash out violently due to provocation and feelings of helplessness against the abuse).

Fortunately, I was only locked up for 8 days which is by far my shortest term of psychiatric imprisonment. One of my biggest dreams is for the liberation of victims of forced psychiatry to become a mainstream civil rights movement in the near future, alongside public recognition of ritual abuse, mind-control and gang-stalking.

Comments On Myron May's Testimony

"Attorney & Active Shooter Myron May's GangStalking Testimony"

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=16cSzRuNkqQ>

This is a lengthy video testimony made by US mass shooter and former lawyer Myron May. In this video Myron May explicitly states he is a victim of gang-stalking and he calmly and eloquently explains what gang-stalking is.

In the video Myron May explains how the perps set up speaker systems surrounding his home which would play sounds of a rooster crowing all day and night to harass and drive him crazy. The perps did the exact same thing to me! Except instead of a rooster crowing in my case they played construction sounds late at night, played sounds of sirens/horns/traffic and they played the voice of an announcer announcing a fake "raffle" from speakers set up surrounding my parent's property.

The whole point of this style of harassment is that if the victim complains or reports the harassment, to everybody else it looks like the victim is complaining about innocuous every day events such as traffic or construction noises and the victim looks paranoid and mentally ill. The whole point of the abuse is to drive the victim to mental breakdown and to do so in creative ways that make the victim look mentally ill. I literally saw one of the speaker systems, I saw a tower of speakers constructed on the site of a neighbouring property that the perps had recently burned down, and now the police are falsely accusing ME for the arson!

Interestingly, I was watching a documentary called "Waco: Madman or Messiah" (aired 12/5/19 on SBS ONE) which was a documentary about the Waco siege. At one point the documentary describes how tactical officers set up speaker systems around the Branch Davidian compound which would play the sounds of a rooster crowing all day and night in an attempt to stress and harass the Branch Davidians into surrendering. It seems the gang-stalkers in Myron May's case got inspiration from tactics which were already in use by the FBI/ATF. In the video Myron May made before his death, he describes speakers set up near his home which would play sounds of a rooster crowing.

I can strongly relate to almost all of the gang-stalking techniques Myron May describes witnessing in the video.

Myron May describes the "body cooking" electromagnetic weapon that makes your body feel hot and tingly. This weapon was first used on me in 2012. Myron May reports the voice transmission weapon (first used on me in 2016, then used non-stop on me for a month in 2017) and he describes the hallucination weapon (which Myron May calls "image induction")--this weapon was first used on me in 2017. This weapon makes you see faint animated hologram-like images which are sort of cartoonish in nature. The perps can make you see (generally horror) images of their own choosing.

In the video Myron May also describes the dream manipulation technology which can make you have dreams (generally nightmares) of anything the perps choose. This weapon was first used on me in 2012. At the very end of the video Myron May even describes how the perps use the voice transmission/mind-reading technology to communicate with perpetrators on the ground. I witnessed the exact same thing! When they were trying to assassinate me in 2017 when I was in hospital, they were directing and communicating with the assassin in the ward via this technology. They also knew when I was asleep because they could see my brainwaves with their RNM technology, and they were waiting for me to fall asleep to slip poison in my mouth that would have caused heart failure.

Soon after Myron May made this video and sent it out, the gang-stalkers successfully drove Myron May murderously insane and he went on a shooting spree and was shot dead by police. Of course there's not a peep or word about any of this from the FBI or mainstream media, who are both clueless at best and complicit in these crimes at worst.

"The goal of gang-stalking is literally to drive a Targeted Individual crazy." --
Myron May

Here's another excellent video that features detailed testimony by an insider:

"Ex Gang Stalking Operative Explains Tactics and Motives"

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4jJebz5dsA8>

Terrific video, a must watch!

While I don't have any real reason yet to believe he was a victim of this conspiracy, I find it curious that the Las Vegas mass shooter Stephen Paddock who killed 58 people reportedly told a prostitute (who came forward) that he was a "government experiment" and that the CIA "could hack his brain and take over". Still no apparent motive for the attack, lots of unanswered questions!

Comments On Diana Napolis's Case

While reading online I came across the story of Diana Napolis, a ritual abuse investigator and child protection worker who was targeted by the cult with gang-stalking and electronic weapons in an attempt to silence her. She was gang-stalked and targeted with voice transmission ("Voice-to-Skull", "Y2K") and remote neural monitoring (mind-reading) technologies just like what happened to me.

Among other things, in her online writings she also documented information about the government's attempts to build mind-controlled assassins (just like what they tried to turn me into).

Prominent self-confessed Satanist Michael Aquino even filed lawsuits against Diana's Internet service provider in an attempt to learn her identity (she was posting information under a pseudonym).

For all her efforts Diana was misdiagnosed as mentally ill due to doctors mistaking her remarkable claims for delusion, and was abused by the mental health system including a court ordering her to be forcibly poisoned with psychiatric drugs, as is the standard punishment for daring to speak out against the Satanic pedophile elite.

On her blog she explains that she mistakenly thought Hollywood directors were talking to her via V2K because their technology can change the tone of the implanted voice to match anybody's voice (in her case they made the weapon sound like a prominent Hollywood director's voice). I witnessed the exact same thing, when they were hitting me with Y2K in 2017 at some points they tuned the weapon to a pleasant female voice or a low fatherly voice (to mimic God's voice) in an attempt to trick me. For this very understandable mistake Diana has been ruthlessly slandered as mentally ill despite a lengthy career in child protection with no prior signs of mental illness.

Diana Napolis was wrongfully committed to Patton State Mental Hospital in 2003 for a period of up to 3 years, for the crime of speaking out against Satanic ritual abuse and elite pedophile rings. In total she spent a year in mental hospitals and prison for supposedly contacting and confronting alledged Satanic pedophiles in Hollywood. With the PizzaGate revelations in 2016, and the Jeffrey Epstein case etc. thousands of people have woken up to the fact that all this is real. Diana didn't even really stalk anyone, it's all a big misunderstanding, read her blog!

I can't relate when in one of her blog posts Diana starts talking about aliens and "mind-uploading" but this is probably an example of how targeted individuals all come up with their pet theories about who and what is behind gang-stalking. It's like there's an information vacuum, nobody knows who's behind gang-stalking so victims come up with a wide range of theories, some of which are pretty far out there (it's a very bizzare and paranoia-inducing crime after all). Actually, to say no one knows is not correct: I have witnessed with absolute certainty that the perps are mind-controlled Satanists and witches who for lack of a better term can be collectively called the Illuminati or Deep State.

Anyway, for her brave efforts a court ordered Diana to be banned from accessing the Internet for a period of 5 years and ordered her to be forcibly drugged with psychiatric poisons, and she lost her professional licencing.

There you go, Diana Louisa Napolis, a tragic and unrecognised hero. She was doing God's work more than a decade before I started and her reward in heaven will be great.

<https://diannapolis.wordpress.com/2008/06/23/ritual-abuse-investigatorresearcher-targeted-with-nonlethals-by-satanists/>
https://www.stopeg.com/tinet.nl/public/browse-online/mcf/web.archive.org/web/20060125025141/http\_/www.mindcontrolfor
<https://groups.google.com/forum/#!msg/alt.politics.satanism/rLD-TszikYQ/vYtly6QN4-4J>
<https://constantinereport.com/mind-control-em-non-lethal-weapons-targetprogrammed-celebrity-stalker-diana-napolis-vs-satanist-michael-> aquino-san-diego-union-tribune-et al/

Drawn To Darkness

but I thought I would actually present some examples. Here are some of the drawings I made as a teenager. These are just a few of many examples, there were many other drawings like this that I didn't keep (e.g. drawn all over my school books). The vast majority of my teenage drawings were of these same themes: guns, people being killed with guns (with lots of blood and gore), heavily armed gunmen, corpses and skulls.

Traumatised children compulsively express repressed memories of traumatic events in their drawings, writings and other creative works and they re-enact the repressed memories in their play. Based on this understanding and the gruesome themes of my teenage drawings, I can infer that I might have repressed memories from early childhood (toddler to preschool age) of someone being shot dead in front of me. Based on information I found online where other ritual abuse victims describe their recovered memories, I think they might have shot a baby in front of me. This would explain why as I teenager I would also write extremely gruesome poems about babies being brutally killed. They expose toddlers to gruesome Satanic rituals to hypnotise the kid to grow up to become obsessed with death and killing. The kid typically cannot remember the rituals due to amnesia related to dissociation as well as it happening at a very young age. Basically, organised pedophiles have techniques to make children develop amnesia of abuse and they use childhood trauma as a form of mind-control to make cult children grow up to become evil.

Here's another more well known example of how childhood trauma can influence adult behaviour. It is well known in criminology and psychology that the vast majority of violent offenders in prison were violently abused themselves or witnessed violence in childhood. This is another well-known example of how unresolved childhood trauma can carry over into adult behaviour. The cult uses this phenomenon of re-enacting childhood trauma as a form of mind-control to hypnotise children to grow up to become dark, sadistic and evil. I have confirmed with absolute certainty that I was abused with party poppers (fireworks) and the intent of that was to make me grow up to become obsessed with making and using explosives.

I started making homemade explosives around age 12-13 and it was an unconscious attempt to regain control and retaliate against repressed memories of being abused with party poppers by a powerful perpetrator. This effect can be seen in what I mentioned in my first book (ADS) in which I recounted how as a teenager (I think 2007 or 2008) I set off a large urea nitrate/TATP bomb at midnight on New Years Eve in Merimbula in an attempt to "out do" the professional firework display being held in Merimbula with my own bomb that was louder. All this time what I was doing was unconsciously re-enacting repressed memories of pedophiles abusing me with party poppers as a toddler. When I tried to "out do" the Merimbula firework display, I was subconsciously trying to gain control and fight back against the powerful perpetrator who abused me with party poppers.

The high-ranking perp Dan who spoke to me via the voice transmission technology in April 2017 said to me very sincerely, "You're right. They abuse them with party poppers and the kid re-enacts it. I don't know how you figured it out." He said this after hackers stole the manuscript for my second book (WW666) off my laptop, in which I first described my theory of how they made me become obsessed with explosives.

When I was in primary school a man known to my parents as "Uncle Michael" or "Michael the Painter" sent me parcels in the mail which contained a few party poppers as well as a box with a picture of a gun on it. I am 100% certain about the party popper thing and I strongly suspect that they commit gruesome murders in front of toddlers to make the kid grow up to develop obsessive behaviour towards death, gore, weaponry and killing.

My father has a painting that was painted by the man who my parents referred to as "Michael the Painter" or "Uncle Michael". The painting is of my father's German shepherd dog named Housala (the dog died many years ago). The painting is signed "MA88" (i.e. one year before I was born in 1989) so my parents knew Michael before I was born when we lived in Sydney.

When I saw the painting again after all these years, when I saw the signature "MA88" the name popped into my head "Michael Adams" (maybe I very vaguely remember my father saying that name when I was very young?) I don't know if this is a real memory recall, if I'm wrong then sorry to all the people out there named Michael Adams but that's the name that popped into my head when I saw the signature "MA88".

I have 100% confirmed (including a confession from the high-ranking perp Dan) that when I was a toddler they set off party poppers in my face to brainwash me to grow up to become obsessed with explosives. When I was in primary school this Michael the Painter guy in Sydney sent me a parcel in the mail that contained strange items including a few party poppers and a box with a picture of a gun on it (the box a toy gun came in). This is why I suspect Michael might have something to do with my ritual abuse mind-control programming. When I was a bit older (early teens I think) Michael sent two more parcels that each contained a cheap folding knife. I would carry these knives at school and use them to self-harm.

When as a teenager I tried to "out do" the Merimbula firework display with my own bomb that was louder I was unconsciously acting out repressed memories of being abused with party poppers as a very young kid. That's part of the techniques involved in brainwashing children to grow up to become mass murderers and serial killers.

My teenage drawings and behaviour were a psychological response to being exposed to gruesome Satanic rituals as a toddler. The drawings were an unconscious expression of early repressed memories of Satanic ritual abuse. Sexually abused children are known to draw pictures of sex acts and act out sexually, and ritually abused children do the same: ritually abused children draw pictures of the themes of the repressed abuse and act out violently and sadistically, which is precisely one of the goals of these trauma-based brainwashing techniques.

I'm sure the psychology and dynamics of childhood trauma is also the reason why many perps/cult members are pedophiles. I don't buy that idea that people are "born with" certain sexual preferences, but rather they are shaped by childhood experiences. Look up "imprinting" in psychology. It is well known in criminology and psychology that many pedophiles were abused themselves as kids. I'll say it again: the whole point of ritual abuse is to mind-control program cult children to grow up to become the next generation of evil, sadistic cult perpetrators. They get trapped by blackmail for the heinous things they do due to mind-control, and once they're trapped the only way to move up rank in the cult is to continue being evil and to abuse others.

When I was a toddler they abused me with party poppers (probably setting them off in my face etc.) to make me grow up to become obsessed with making and using explosives. The high-ranking perp Dan told me, "Trauma and hypnosis are basically the same thing." The mental states of trauma, dissociation and hypnosis are all closely related in some way and the cult exposes very young children to extremely traumatic Satanic rituals to hypnotise the kid to grow up to become obsessed with death, gore, weaponry and killing.

I kind of regret recommending that my civilian readers gather up weapons in my 2017 books, in preparation for the looming World War 3. I'm sure that previously I've offered that my mind-control programming might still be influencing me, and yeah I think it's still making me love weapons and it's difficult to take and maintain interest in other things. I think it was the mind-control talking, not me.

Take a look at this outrageous crap:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Repressed\_memory

The Wikipedia article about the phenomenon of repressed memory is pure propaganda. Organised pedophiles and human traffickers have techniques to make children develop amnesia of abuse and there is a fierce campaign aimed at covering up and discrediting all this. All the Wikipedia articles related to ritual abuse and gang-stalking are exactly the same: propaganda aimed at discrediting the existence of these crimes. Take a look for yourself, I've pointed all this out previously. If you try to edit any of these propaganda Wikipedia articles they get immediately changed back, any revisions are being closely monitored by the cult propagandists. They spread propaganda on Wikipedia because Wikipedia articles are usually the first Google search result so they get the most exposure.

It's unfortunate that in Western countries all medical students are taught that anyone complaining about mind-control or harassment by intelligence agencies is a textbook case of paranoid schizophrenia. It's the perfect cover up. Something I think I forgot to mention previously is that when the high-ranking perp Dan spoke to me through the voice transmission weapon, I asked him if the cult moulded their tactics to fit the clinical definition of paranoid schizophrenia, or if they moulded the definition of paranoid schizophrenia to fit their tactics (i.e. by influencing the field of psychiatry). Dan told me a bit from column A, a bit from column B.

Some examples of the cult influencing the mental health definitions have been pointed out by many people previously, examples such as False Memory Syndrome, which is a fake mental health condition invented by organised pedophiles to cover up the fact that severely abused children can repress trauma and recover these repressed memories later in life. I suspect the cult is behind that movement in psychiatry to attempt to discredit dissociative identity disorder as a legitimate condition. Dissociative identity disorder is the mental condition that ritual abuse and trauma-based mind-control victims typically present as clinically, and is caused almost exclusively by ritual abuse or extreme child sex abuse.

I found a name for what happened to me. It's known as the "Martha Mitchell effect". The Martha Mitchell effect was named after the witness in the Watergate scandal who was initially misdiagnosed as delusional and mentally ill due to psychiatrists not believing her remarkable but true claims. If psychiatrists were so close-minded as to think Watergate was too incredible to be true, what hope do ritual abuse and gang-stalking victims have?

I bought a session from a ritual abuse counsellor in 2018, and I said to the ritual abuse counsellor something like, "My situation is probably very unusual to you, I'm guessing none of your other clients have seen the high level stuff I've seen. I don't think the police and courts can solve this issue, I think there's going to be a war." The ritual abuse counsellor corrected me with, "I've had clients tell me there's going to be a world war!" There's other victims out there who know and have seen what I've seen. The ritual abuse counsellor also told me that other clients had "alluded to" witnessing the cult's high-tech mind-altering weapons.

Gang-Stalking: Further Insights

I've previously described these gang-stalking tactics that were used on me, but I thought I'd elaborate a bit on why the cult uses them. It's all about harassing the victim in a manner that makes the victim look mentally ill. I think the date was 2nd April 2017 (it was a Saturday anyway) when they blasted incessant traffic, honking and siren noises over speaker systems surrounding my house to create a noise terror effect. It was very obvious it wasn't natural traffic noises, it was very obvious it was being blasted over speakers and there were other witnesses. I saw people walking past our house near Anzac Parade, looking around in confusion like "What the hell is that racket?" The aim of this type of harassment is to create a noise terror effect in the victim and if they report the harassment, to everyone else it looks like the victim is complaining about "natural" traffic and siren noises and the victim looks mentally ill and paranoid. The name of the game is plausible deniability (i.e. "victim is mentally ill"). They did this the morning after they hacked my laptop when I turned it on in a public place and stole my manuscript which I was writing to expose them. After this they tortured me non-stop 24/7 for a whole month with technology known as remote neural monitoring (RNM) and voice transmission ("Y2K", "Voice-to-Skull").

Another example of the use of noise terror tactics that I have previously mentioned is in early 2017 when they had a dozen or so bikers on Harley-Davidsons ride past, coordinated at the exact moment I walked out the shopping centre. They all revved their engines as they rode past me to create a deafening noise. The cult is very aware of the psychology of noise creating distress, other common tactics they use is having stalkers move in next door and make tool noises, slam doors and rev engines all day long. The whole point is that if the victim complains about the harassment, to everyone else it looks like they are complaining of "everyday occurrences" and the victim looks mentally ill and paranoid and becomes isolated and discredited as a "nutcase". Back to the biker gang, it seems to me they did it in an attempt to intimidate me into silence about the Bourke St attack which they perpetrated recently.

This is the same reason why in 2012 and 2013 they harassed me by setting up speakers around my home which every night for months would play murmuring voices. The cult knows that having the victim complain about hearing strange voices is the most sure-fire way to get them fast-tracked to a misdiagnosis of schizophrenia, it's diabolical. I even spotted the speaker system myself built amongst the ruins of a neighbouring factory building that had recently been destroyed by a suspicious fire!

The speaker announcements were disguised to sound like a phony "raffle" they were announcing so that anyone else who might happen hear it would think nothing of it and only the victim (me) would notice how it went on every night for months completely pointlessly. They make the harassment very subtle so the only person to notice it is the victim, and everybody else overlooks the stalking as "everyday occurrences" and thinks the victim is mentally ill and imagining things.

Another reason I think they played sirens/horns/traffic noise over speakers near my home was to intentionally make me have PTSD-type flashbacks to the Bourke St attack by blasting sounds of sirens/horns/traffic near my home. It was very obvious the huge and excessive amount of sirens/horns/traffic was being played over a large speaker system near my home and was not the sound of actual, natural traffic. They did this form of noise terror harassment randomly out of the blue again in 2019. They craft their harassment tactics to resemble ordinary everyday events (such as traffic) so that if the victim complains of the crime, to everyone else it looks like the victim is complaining about ordinary traffic sounds and the victim looks mentally ill and paranoid. They craft the harassment to appear like everyday events or ordinary occurrences to achieve deniability and make the victim appear like a textbook case of paranoid schizophrenia, to discredit them in the eyes of law enforcement and to alienate them from family and friends who will insist the victim "seeks professional help."

To add to that, new victims of gang-stalking generally have little understanding of what is happening to them and how the game works, and new victims will typically be rambling nonsensically as their mind reels in a frantic initial attempt to understand what is happening to them and to try to make sense of what is a very complex and bizzare crime. This is another reason why many victims don't seem credible or sane, at least at first. I understand this because I went through it myself when they first gang-stalked me and I recognise the same mental state in other gang-stalking victims including the Bourke St attacker Jimmy Gargasoulas and the Brisbane murderer Anthony O'Donohue.

Another way the perps try to make gang-stalking victims appear mentally ill is they aim to artificially induce a mental state that psychiatry calls "referential thinking" or "ideas of reference". Ideas of reference is when you go into a mental state where you mistake innocuous everyday occurrences for having some personal significant meaning and it is a key symptom of what they call schizophrenia. For example, someone labelled as schizophrenic might think when a song comes on the radio it carries a specific message specifically intended for them, or they might think every time they see someone wearing a white shirt, that person is part of a CIA operation. The difference is with psychosis all this is in the person's head, but with gang-stalking the "innocuous everyday events" are REAL, done deliberately by the stalker and REALLY DO convey a threat/message. For example, when they gang-stalked me they had cars pull up next to me and have the passengers glare at me, or they had multiple stalkers all wearing the exact same t-shirt (with a picture of a triangle on it) very deliberately cut me off when walking at the shopping centre, and they very deliberately made eye-contact to let me know I was being stalked.

The whole point of this creative style of harassment is that if the victim complains of the stalking, to everyone else it just looks like they're complaining about "innocuous everyday events" such as cars pulling up and being cut off by other pedestrians, and the gang-stalking victim looks mentally ill and paranoid.

When you're being gang-stalked you become sensitised by it and so every time a car pulls up near you (for example), you freak out and think "It's them!" and this stalking-induced paranoia/hypervigilance presents clinically to psychiatrists as virtually indistinguishable from a paranoid schizophrenic experiencing ideas of reference. The whole point of all this is to artificially mimic ideas of reference, drive the victim to mental breakdown and to do so in such a way that makes the victim look like a textbook case of paranoid schizophrenia. Important note: ideas of reference is also NOT to be confused with someone experiencing the very real spiritual phenomenon known as synchronicity.

Gang-stalking goes hand-in-hand with harassment with classified mind-altering technologies, which I will now talk a bit about.

I'm sure everybody is familiar with the several decades old EEG (brainwave monitor) technology, which is like a net of electrodes placed over the scalp like a cap. With this traditional medical technology the electrodes have to be placed very close to the subject's brain to measure their brainwaves. Since the early 2000s they've had sensors which are far more sensitive and can pick up a brain's bioelectric field from a much further distance (say one kilometer), and they've since mapped the brain extensively to know what brainwave patterns correspond to what thoughts and mental states. This technology remains highly classified and the thousands of civilian victims reporting that this technology was used on them generally call it "remote neural monitoring" (RNM). These victims are systemically being misdiagnosed as schizophrenics because mainstream psychiatrists are both entirely unaware of the existence of these technologies and they are conditioned to believe that anybody complaining of mind-control, mind-reading and hearing voices is psychotic.

Their technology reads the audio of your verbalised thoughts. It can't read intent and it can't hear you talk out loud so long as you don't think about what you're saying before you say it. The perp Dan who spoke to me via this technology told me that they're working on technology that can hear through your ears and see through your eyes on a computer screen, but presently their technology cannot do this, contrary to some speculation amongst the online community of victims. At least this was true for the technology they used on me here in Australia in 2017.

When they're reading your mind you are able to tell that they're doing it because your thoughts start racing in this distinct manner. However I'd say it's entirely possible you can be hypnotised with this technology and not know it, particularly if you are completely unaware of the existence of this technology or the fact that anyone is targeting you. But if you're acutely aware of your mental states, you generally can notice when your thoughts start racing.

The following is a quote from:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Electroencephalography#Remote\_communications

"The United States Army Research Office budgeted $4 million in 2009 to researchers at the University of California, Irvine to develop EEG processing techniques to identify correlates of imagined speech and intended direction to enable soldiers on the battlefield to communicate via computer-mediated reconstruction of team members' EEG signals, in the form of understandable signals such as words."

According to the above article the US Army budgeted $4 million in 2009 to develop electromagnetic voice transmission and mind-reading technology to enable soldiers to communicate silently on the battlefield. That's what the government wants the public to know and has publically stated. What they don't want the public to know is that this technology is fully developed and is being used to secretly torture thousands of civilians in Western countries, who are then being systematically covered up as schizophrenics.

I have heard from a couple TI sources that a magnetic field blocking material called "mu-metal" could potentially be effective at blocking the V2K/RNM weapons. It's quite expensive, they sell it on eBay and I calculated it would cost a couple hundred dollars to build a helmet. I was thinking a cardboard box layered with mu-metal sheets and placed over the head (not unlike the classic tin foil hat).

I've also heard of "magnetically shielded rooms" which hospitals have to house magnetically sensitive/vulnerable equipment. I learned that these rooms are constructed from two layers of mu-metal and one layer of aluminium. A possible refuge for someone targeted with this technology? It would be an interesting experiment if you had someone being actively targeted with these electromagnetic weapons, to see if sheltering in a magnetically shielded room helps at all. Of course presently if you were to ask to be admitted to a magnetically shielded room due to mind-control, you're more liable to get admitted to the psych ward instead!

When they were hypnotising me non-stop 24/7 with V2K/RNM in April 2017 I actually begged the doctors to take an EEG (brainwave monitor) reading which I thought would prove I was being hypnotised. The perp Dan who was speaking to me via V2K told me that it was futile because the doctors wouldn't have the specialised know-how to recognise hypnotic states by looking at my brainwaves. The doctors refused to take an EEG reading and told me that EEG was only appropriate for things like brain injury etc. and of course they thought I was just some crazy schizophrenic so they didn't heed anything I said.

All medical students in Western countries are taught that any person complaining of hearing voices or being spied upon by satellites is a psychotic schizophrenic. So when this very real technology is used to make you hear voices, it presents a very obvious problem, namely the victim gets misdiagnosed with schizophrenia. Most people give so much weight to a doctor's "official diagnosis" when in mental health, diagnosis is little more than a few brief interviews and a checklist of thoughts and behaviours. There is no blood test or brain chemical analysis or anything like that in mental health (to prove indisputably that you actually have a "brain disease"), psychiatric "diagnosis" is pretty meaningless.

They've had this technology since the early 2000s so many "schizophrenics" have been misdiagnosed since then. VICE media made a documentary which (a bit skeptically) reported on the online community of gang-stalking victims. VICE estimated that there are perhaps 10,000 victims reporting that they are victims of gang-stalking and these classified mind-bending technologies. 10,000 victims all reporting similar stories and experiences, and the cover story they expect the public to believe is that we're all delusional schizophrenics.

The whole point of gang-stalking is to drive the victim to mental breakdown and to do so in creative ways that make the victim appear like (and get misdiagnosed as) a paranoid schizophrenic. When the person being driven to mental breakdown in this manner is someone who was subjected to ritual abuse (trauma-based mind-control), the victim generally acts upon their mind-control programming and commits mass murder.

After-Effects Of V2K/RNM

I thought I'd attempt to describe the post-traumatic psychological effects of being tortured non-stop 24/7 for a whole month with remote neural monitoring and voice transmission technology.

Continuing for a long time after they stopped torturing me, I have become sensitive to loud noises because I can't hear my own thoughts. For example, sometimes when I'm around loud traffic or have music turned up I re-experience flashbacks of my thoughts racing in that way like when they were hypnotising me with their technology, and I get extreme anxiety and panic, and I race to get away from the loud traffic or quickly turn the music down. When I'm removed from the loud noises I can hear my own thoughts again, and I can determine that my thoughts are not racing and the weapon is not hypnotising me, and that it was just a flashback.

The most horrific thing about the weapon is that it's an electromagnetic field so you can't escape it, you can't hide indoors to protect against it, Faraday cages are useless (at least mine was) and it can get you at any time at any place. It goes through walls and can get you in your own home without warning, and there's not much you can do against it. You can't even take refuge in your own mind, it's terrible.

Also, it's like I have these flashback-type experiences where I experience short fragments of my month-long ordeal and the fragments of flashbacks sort of like complete my sentences when I'm thinking in my head.

For example, when Dan was torturing me when I would think of a name in my head, Dan would read my thoughts with the RNM technology and say "Who's <name>?" He constantly commented on every thought I had as a form of psychological torture. Now 2 years after my ordeal when I read a shop clerk's name tag which says Toby, for example, I re-experience Dan saying "Who's Toby?" It's not like hearing voices, I don't actually hear his voice: it's like I re-experience the trauma that happened during my RNM ordeal and the brief flashbacks (or whatever they are) sort of like complete the sentences when I think in my head.

That is just one of many examples, I constantly re-experience hundreds of different fragments of the time when Dan was torturing me by running a negative commentary on everything I thought in my head.

It's very hard to describe, sorry if I'm making no sense.

The perp Dan told me that most people break down after less than one day of being tortured with the technology and he said "We've never done this before" meaning they had never tortured someone so long (I was tortured for a whole month) with it. This means it may very well be that I am the only person in the world with this mental condition, or maybe other RMN victims have it too but perhaps not as extreme.

This post-traumatic after-effect has continued until today for 2 years and counting since they stopped torturing me, and the condition is improving very slowly. The abuse has stopped for now (I don't know why they left me alone) giving me an opportunity to recover. At the worst I was getting hundreds of these fragmented flashback-type experiences constantly throughout the day and this period persisted about 1 year after they turned off the weapon. I still have the post-traumatic effect, but it's improving.

Basically being tortured non-stop for a month with Y2K/RNM technology has left my mind scrambled. Having your mind read non-stop for a month isn't good for your sanity.

All Devices Are Compromised

In the Myron May video he describes how hackers were moving around things on his computer and my case is the same. Every computer and phone I've had since my teenage years has been hacked and placed under surveillance by the cult, including my phone being tracked to locate me when fled interstate.

It has become apparent to me that no phone or computer is safe from the cult's hackers. All modern computers and phones are completely compromised. I have to use spy tactics to type these books (hopefully) without being caught.

I think they have backdoors built into all modern operating systems, or maybe even hardware backdoors built into the actual chips, really high-level stuff. I'm quite certain they hack your computer through the WiFi but I disabled the external WiFi switch on my (older) laptop, as well as disabling the WiFi radio in BIOS, but they still hacked me when I turned my laptop on in a public location. That time the hacker deleted my book files off the desktop (not my only copies obviously). My laptop was not connected to the Internet when this happened but I was in range of public hotspots (none of which were connected).

The high-ranking perp Dan who spoke to me via Y2K in 2017 told me, "We can hack that too" when I thought of using TAILS (secure Linux distro) after he read my thoughts with their technology.

As I described in previous books, they set up WiFi hotspots near your home and hack you through it. I think it's also possible they are able to commandeer public WiFi hotspots to hack you if you bring your laptop to a public place. You don't need to be connected to these hotspots (which are password protected anyway) to get hacked, they can hack you simply by being in range of the hotspots. I think that's how they hacked me when I turned my laptop on at the Jolimont Centre and hackers stole the manuscript of my second book (WW666). The perp Dan who spoke to me via Y2K the day after I got hacked specifically told me "We hacked you when you turned your laptop on at the Jolimont Centre" and I know it's true because Dan quoted parts of my manuscript. Also, when I turned my laptop on at the Jolimont Centre I tried to delete the book files but it gave an error "File already in use" due to the hackers accessing it. The theft of my 2017 manuscript in which I tried to expose the Bourke St attack is what prompted them to torture me non-stop for a month with V2K/RNM technology starting the next morning after I got hacked (I think 2nd April 2017 or thereabouts).

I also witnessed with absolute certainty that the perps had complete access to my digital medical records, including the ability to edit and delete things.

Their phone tracking has something to do with unknown numbers regularly calling with silence on the other end. Even the 3G/4G USB Internet devices I've owned received these unknown callers according to my logs, and those weren't even phone devices! My parents also regularly got these dead air calls from unknown numbers and they said they hadn't given their number out to anybody (same for me, I never gave out my numbers either).

I've also heard some victims speculate that their technology can pick up the electromagnetic field produced by your computer's electronics from a distance and analyse/decode it to hack your computer much like how their remote neural monitoring (RNM) technology can pick up your brain's bioelectric field from a long distance and analyse/decode it to read the audio of your thoughts. I'm not sure if I believe this, but it's an interesting thought.

More Anti-Psychiatry Ranting

Here's a very interesting article I came across:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Trauma\_model\_of\_mental\_disorders

The Trauma Model of Mental Disorders Wikipedia article states a finding that up to 65% of people labelled as schizophrenics were sexually abused in childhood. The article states another finding that being abused severely in childhood can make a person a whopping 193 times more likely to become psychotic in later life. All the while the misguided orthodox biomedical psychiatrists are blowing millions in funding each year searching feverishly for the non-existent gene or genetic link that supposedly causes it.

Excerpts from the article:

"In the field of criminology, Lonnie Athens developed a theory of how a process of brutalization by parents or peers that usually occurs in childhood results in violent crimes in adulthood. Richard Rhodes's Why They Kill describes Athens's observations about domestic and societal violence in the criminals' backgrounds. Both Athens and Rhodes reject the genetic inheritance theories."

"Criminologists Jonathan Pincus and Dorothy Otnow Lewis believe that although it is the interaction of childhood abuse and neurological disturbances that explains murder, virtually all of the 150 murderers they studied over a 25-year period had suffered severe abuse as children. Pincus believes that the only feasible remedy for crime would be the prevention of child abuse."

The layman public has been terribly misled to believe that mental disorders are real illnesses that have a biological basis (like say diabetes) when they're not. Mental disorders are made up labels invented by psychiatrists to describe collections of behaviours and feelings. In real medicine (i.e treating the physical body) diseases exist out there in nature and are DISCOVERED by scientists. In psychiatry mental disorders are INVENTED labels dreamed up and voted in and out of existence by psychiatrists. Psychiatry isn't real medicine and mental disorders aren't real diseases. I am convinced that most of what psychiatry calls mental illness is actually caused by childhood trauma and/or dysfunctional families. Not genetics, not mythical "brain diseases" and not pseudoscientific ideas such as the thoroughly debunked "chemical imbalance" nonsense that drug companies sponsor in order to line their pockets.

Here is a couple of good quotes:

""Mental illness" is terribly misleading because the "mental disorders" we diagnose are no more than descriptions of what clinicians observe people do or say, not at all well established diseases.""

--Allen Frances (The chairman in charge of creating the DSM-IV)

""Mental disorders don't really live 'out there' waiting to be explained. They are constructs we have made up - and often not very compelling ones.""

--Allen Frances

Another appalling consequence of psychiatry and the drug companies misleading the public with the nonsense biological/medical model of mental health is that most people are content with psychiatry's bullshit explanation for the Bourke St attack, "Oh, he has a mental illness, a disease which lives in his brain" when the real reason is ABUSE. It makes me so mad. I bet if you hypnotically regressed Gargasoulas to early childhood you would uncover repressed memories of Satanic ritual abuse. Also, if you were to find some of Gargasoulas's childhood drawings or other creative works you'd likely find drawings with themes of violence and weaponry which are symptomatic of ritual abuse mind-control programming.

The layman public as well as police, courts and almost all other institutions have been brainwashed to believe that psychiatry is a legitimate field based in science when it's not. Psychiatry is a pseudoscience and psychiatrists are a bunch of quacks.

Most laymen think psychiatry is real science and that if a psychiatrist says someone has a "brain disease" it must be true because he went to medical school and has the title of doctor, and therefore has the authority to make such an assertion.

There is no medical test such as bloodwork, brain scans or analysis of brain chemical levels in psychiatry. A psychiatrist's official diagnosis in mental health almost always means little more than a few 15 minute interviews and a checklist of thoughts and behaviours, many of which are so ambiguous and generalised that virtually everyone can be labelled as having a mental disorder at some point in their life.

It's a pretty good scam, make up a bunch of imaginary diseases that virtually everybody can meet the criteria for, and push expensive patented drugs as the standard "treatment" for these non-existent illnesses. That's one way the drug companies make their billions of dollars and it's totally 100% legal! The crack dealer on the street is in the wrong business, pushing psychiatric poisons is where the big business is at!

Mental disorders aren't real diseases, psychiatry invents labels for collections of natural but extreme emotional states, thoughts and behaviours. For example, psychosis in my opinion can be better described as a spiritually charged crisis state that anyone can go into if given the right stressors. This is opposed to psychiatry's view of it as a "brain malfunction" caused by imaginary "brain diseases" that supposedly have a biological basis. A bunch of made-up bullshit labels, not real medicine.

When they asserted in my psychiatric reports that I'm crazy they used "evidence" which amounts to hearsay and would never stand up in criminal law (yet psychiatry can lock people up just the same!) and they constantly referred to my history from years ago as if what other psychiatrists wrote in my medical records several years ago is infallible and still applicable today.

Psychiatrists are virtually unaccountable and never have to prove their assertion that someone has a diseased brain, everyone including the courts simply accept what the psychiatrist says as gospel because they are the "professional" with the title of doctor so it must be true! Versus anything the patient says to defend himself against the powerful psychiatrist's assertions which are seen as nothing more than the ravings of a madman who doesn't understand that all this is for their own "good".

I say all this based on my own personal experiences in the mental health system. Psychiatry has a lot of undue power and authority and it's pretty infuriating.

When I was at the clinic waiting to get myself poisoned with my antipsychotic injection, there was a poor woman there who was being vocal and complaining that the medication she was being forced to take didn't help her and the side-effects made her too exhausted and tired to work her job. Instead of addressing her concerns the mental health staff gave the oh-so-compassionate response of calling security guards to have her ejected from the building. Things like this are commonplace in the mental health system. Psychiatrists are oblivious to the harm they cause, they really think they are doing good by abducting people from their home, locking people up (in hospital) without having committed any crime, and forcibly injecting them "for their own good."

Every time I was in mental hospitals I regularly saw injustices and victimisation like this.

The layman public has been duped into thinking all will be good if you "seek professional help" and "take your meds" when in reality psychiatry is all one big sham. People these days are always saying we need more funding for mental health, but it's bullshit. What we really need is a paradigm shift away from drugs, coercion and the nonsense biological model of mental health that currently prevails.

I regret writing in my 2017 books that poor mothering is a cause of autism. I was in angry antipsychiatry rant mode due to what the mental health system had recently done to me (kidnapping, false imprisonment, forced drugging) when I wrote that. I still believe autism and all mental disorders are very overdiagnosed. The natural variances among people or difficulties functioning in life doesn't equate to having a malfunctioning brain like psychiatry would have people believe. Emotionally unavailable mothers do stunt their children emotionally and socially, as I said. But that's not real autism even though psychiatrists regularly mislabel symptoms of trauma and abuse/neglect as mental illness (the "symptoms" taken completely out of the patient's history and social context).

People today are always asking the question and scratching their heads why is there such a large and growing increase in the number of people being diagnosed with autism and mental disorders. The reason is because shrinks apply diagnostic criteria so liberally and loosely that it's virtually impossible to come away from a psychiatrist without some sort of bullshit label.

An example of this is in a documentary I watched about long-term residents in a hospital for the criminally insane. Visitors brought in a dog like animal therapy for the inmates, and understandably one of the inmates was finally happy for once and was playing with the dog and chasing it around. The psychiatrist called the inmate's "strange" behaviour "manic" and they took the inmate away to be injected. Psychiatrists do this shit ALL THE TIME. They did it to me countless times and I regularly saw them do it to other patients when I was in hospital. They twist everything you say and do like this, they're a bunch of quacks!

The crap they forced me to take for years (antipsychotic medications) caused me to develop elevated prolactin levels when they tested my blood, which my GP told me can lead to production of breast milk in men. That shit better not happen to me! And that's one of the milder side effects of this class of drugs! The stuff I'm on (Olanzapine/Zyprexa injections) also commonly causes previously healthy people to develop diabetes. Another antipsychotic they talked about putting me on, clozapine, I've read that each week one person drops dead from taking it and you have to take regular blood tests to make sure you're not going to be the next statistic! Psychiatric drugs are absolute poison, not even smoking crack does THAT to your body! Just say no to that crap (the psychiatric drugs I mean).

They made me take antipsychotics for about 4.5 years on treatment orders. This crap made me sleep 3 hours more every night, and I'd feel exhausted and tired all day if I got less than 10-11 hours sleep (e.g. using an alarm clock).

I added up the 3 hours extra each night over 4.5 years, and I calculated that I have lost 5000 hours of my life due to excessive sleeping caused by being forced to take antipsychotic medications against my will.

You know those anti-smoking TV ads that say every cigarette you smoke costs you 10 minutes of your life? Well take antipsychotics and it'll cost you 5000 HOURS of your life! Not happy.

In the '80s and '90s psych doctors covered up and discredited Satanic ritual abuse victim reports as "mass hysteria" and "false memories" and today the shrinks are discrediting and covering up victims of gang-stalking and electronic weapons as "paranoid schizophrenics"! How many thousands of children and adults were raped, tortured, enslaved and murdered by the cult since the 1980s because psychiatrists and psychologists such as the wicked Elizabeth Loftus covered up and discredited highly publicised ritual abuse cases at a time when the problem could have been nipped in the bud instead of the conspiracy being allowed to grow to become what it is today. Shrinks have a lot of blood on their hands!

Spirituality: Further Insights

In the rest of this book I will speak extensively of God, magic, spiritual experiences and remarkable supernatural events that will not be believed by many at this point in time. Atheists, skeptics and mental health professionals bear with me and try to be open-minded for once in your life.

In April 2017 when the Satanist Dan was torturing me with the V2K/RNM technology, God and my spirit guide started speaking to me around the clock to help ease the torture. Here are some highlights of the things we talked about.

In 2017 when my spirit guide was talking to me, an early childhood memory popped into my mind of me eating food from a bin at school when I was in primary school. When I had this memory my spirit guide said, "I was sad when I found out about that." The spirits know and see absolutely everything. Every action you take on Earth is eternally recorded, in the spirit world there are no secrets.

The spirits know and see absolutely everything. There is no such thing as secrets. My spirit guide told me, "You can be completely open with me!"

If you die with any lingering unanswered questions, rest assured that all will be revealed to you when you die and return home to the spirit world. The spirits know and see absolutely everything.

I thought about some of the bad things I've done and my spirit guide assured me, "You're good! The ritual abuse made it hard to be good!"

When I was younger I was one of those people who would look at bad people and see them as relatively blameless victims of circumstance and so forth. But then when God was talking to me in 2017 I asked Him if He believes in punishment and God told me that He most definitely does. Victims of ritual abuse, gang-stalking, forced psychiatry and all other manners of injustice and persecution can rest assured that our God is a God of justice and retribution.

Thinking about my childhood pets, I asked my spirit guide if animals go to the spirit world when they die. My spirit guide told me, "No, it's different for animals."

I disagree with the spiritualists who teach you can reincarnate as a lower animal--you will always be born human. I also disagree with the teachers who say you can be born a different sex. My understanding is you're permanently either male or female and will always be born into the corresponding body.

My spirit guide also told me, "Your life will always be hard [in future reincarnations] but never as hard as this [lifetime]."

I asked God why I reincarnated into the Seefeldt family and God told me there were "many reasons" it was the perfect family for me to be born into. I guess it was the perfect family to be born into in order to benefit my spirit's development and life plan. I guess I mapped out my life's plan before coming to Earth but of course I don't remember it at the moment because while you're on Earth you have amnesia of the spirit world, amnesia of your past lives and amnesia of your life plan/purpose.

My spirit guide told me, "It's your destiny to be poor" (in terms of income). There you go, things like being poor or rich are largely destined. It seems strange that some spirits would choose a lifetime of poverty before coming to Earth ("Why wouldn't everyone choose to be wealthy?") but I guess some spirits want challenging experiences to help the spirit progress and mature, or being poor or rich in some way aids their life plan/purpose, or is a consequence of the family they choose to be born into.

I imagine when you die and return home to the spirit world you see once again that life on Earth is just a game (which you play over and over in a new body). Do note: destiny is a guiding force but isn't concrete and your life can deviate from your destiny, destiny being (I currently suspect) the life plan or map your spirit makes before reincarnating on Earth.

I asked my spirit guide if I would come back to Earth after this lifetime and she told me, "You will keep coming back to Earth [soon after dying], you have a lot of work to do." I had to ask her, I don't know these things myself because during your stay on Earth you have amnesia of your past lives, amnesia of the spirit world and amnesia of your life plan/purpose (which you are to rediscover).

Interestingly, I seem to recall (unless my memory is playing tricks) that in 2017 the spirits told me that there exists other gods who each have their own universes they created. There's only one God of our particular universe, though (The Abrahamic/Christian God). People are so hung up on speculating about life on other planets, but how about trying to imagine life in other parallel universes governed by other gods similar to our own!

At least a couple times God spoke to me immediately after waking me up after only a brief sleep (I virtually never wake naturally in the middle of the night). I remember one of these times in 2017 God woke me up after only a brief sleep and God's voice said something like, "You too have original sin."

God told me that the rest of my immediate family aren't going to the good side of the spirit world ("heaven") except for my father who God said "has a chance". I asked why and God responded, "You don't know much about your parents." My spirit guide told me I would have to screw up really bad to not get into heaven. My spirit guide told me that where she is "We are in [a state of] pure bliss."

I'm a bit skeptical of those so-called modern day prophets you see online who claim God spoke to them in O ye olde tongue! like something straight out of the King James Bible. God spoke to me in modern English. The most notable thing about the way God speaks is that He uses the word "precisely" a lot. I heard God's voice as a low fatherly tone of voice (pretty stereotypical description of God's voice, but that's what happened).

The high-ranking Satanist Dan who was talking to me via the voice transmission (V2K) technology taught me how to contact Baal (Satan) and the Earth Mother (witchcraft deity) via meditation. I described this in my 2017 books. Anyway, I later used the same technique to contact God and my spirit guide Tahlia. I remember the first time I reached God through meditation I said, "I'm going to make you proud!" and God's voice replied, "You already have!"

The high-ranking Satanist Dan told me that people automatically reincarnate after 7 days in the spirit world, but the spirits of Tahlia Bruce and Tom Buckland told me "We can come to Earth whenever we want!" I wasn't sure what to believe so I contacted the Earth Mother (witchcraft deity) via meditation and I asked her, "If people reincarnate after 7 days, where was I since my last reincarnation?" The Earth Mother told me, "You were at the right hand of God." I told Dan what the Earth Mother said and Dan was a bit confused and taken aback because he insisted God doesn't exist ("There is no god but Baal!") and here was one of the cult's deities (Earth Mother) saying that God DOES exist. Dan knew I really was talking to the spirits because he could see my brainwaves with their RNM technology, and by looking at my brainwaves he could tell that I was all the way there in spirit communication via meditation.

The high-ranking perp Dan told me if I joined the cult they could get me lots of appealing women. I told him that if I wanted a girl all I have to do is go on a dating website and the right girl will come into my life via synchronicity and the law of attraction! The right people attract themselves into your life at the right time via the mystical, magical laws of attraction. Another example of this is how my landlady Leanne was the very first person who replied to my accomodation wanted ad and it turned out she just happened to know exactly what ritual abuse is and she just happened to be good friends with a ritual abuse counsellor!

Also, my spirit guide (the spirit of Tahlia Bruce) told me, "Baal sent you Tori." If Baal sent me Tori then maybe that explains a bit why Baal killed Tom Buckland and Tahlia Bruce (both by falling asleep at the wheel apparently) but as far as I know Tori Barr is still alive. All these people had the same initials "T.B". Tom died behind the wheel of a black Mitsubishi Magna which was the same colour and model car I wanted to buy as a teenager, and Tori's best friend and neighbour Laura Koerbin also bought a black Magna. Ask a mathematician to calculate the minuscule probability of THAT being a coincidence! Magic is real.

Unfortunately after all this I haven't been able to contact the spirit world via meditation like Dan taught me to anymore. I don't know why, maybe I just plum forgot in the midst of all the chaos at the time, not sure. Anyway, if a high-ranking perp/cult member ever defects he or she could probably teach you all about the phenomenon of contacting spirits through meditation, as well as a lot of other arcane spiritual knowledge, I'm sure.

Another reason I'm having trouble contacting the spirit world might be due to the psychiatric drugs they're making me take, a particular type of chemical lobotomy called olanzapine (Zyprexa injections). The cult's technology was able to block the voice of God/my spirit guide (at the perps' direction), I suspect their technology was blocking the pathways in the brain that mediate spirit world contact, so maybe these psychiatric poisons I'm on are doing similar. As far as anybody knows, hearing voices might actually often be contact with spirits or demons and antipsychotic drugs might function to dampen these voices by blocking the pathways in the brain that mediate contact with the spirit world. Hey, nobody knows how antipsychotics or the brain works, or the nature of reality itself, so my guesses are as good as anyone's!

Furthermore, antipsychotics almost completely block the effects of the classic psychedelic drugs, and the primary effect of psychedelics is that they reliably induce magnificent spiritual experiences, so my speculation that antipsychotics might affect the pathways in the brain that mediate spirit contact might have merit yet. I don't know if I believe all this, it's just an interesting thought I had.

In 2017 when my spirit guide was talking to me, I asked her if whether those times I smoked DMT, was I seeing the spirit world? She told me, "You were seeing a representation of it." There you go, the psychedelic drug dimethyltryptamine (DMT) shows you a "representation" of the spirit world, according to what the spirit of Tahlia Bruce told me.

There you go, the psychedelic dimethyltryptamine (DMT) puts you in genuine contact with the spirit world and you actually see visually (as well as all your other senses) a "representation" of the spirit world, and it's indescribably magnificent.

Based on my personal experiences with DMT, when you visit DMT land there's a strong sense of "I've been here before" (even if it's your first time taking it) and a strong feeling that you've "returned home", and everything in this place is made of light, mandala-type patterns and love.

Given that DMT trips show you a "representation" of the spirit world, artistic depictions that resemble DMT trips can give you some insight into what things are like in the spirit world. The following are illustrations I found online which in my opinion best portray a DMT trip.

DMT trips don't look exactly like these pictures but these pictures give you an idea of the style and theme of how things look in this realm. In reality DMT trips are actually far more spectacular than can be illustrated by a mortal artist.

Very recently (11/10/19) I was using camping tent pegs to anchor down a mini plastic greenhouse I bought earlier that day to prevent it from blowing over in the wind. Maybe 15 minutes later I turned on the TV and the show Better Homes and Gardens was on, and maybe a minute into the show the gardener on the show starts hammering camping tent pegs into his garden for some purpose. I had been feeling particularly depressed (which is unusual for me) in the hours preceding that, and God created this synchronicity as sign to let me know He was with me. It makes me feel really good when a synchronicity like this happens. There's a common saying "Synchronicity is God winking at you" and that's a good way to put it. It boggles the mind trying to imagine how these synchronised events are all arranged perfectly at the right time and thus one resorts to calling it "magic". God/the universe magically arranges situations on Earth, including in overt ways that convey personal meaning which are called synchronicities or signs. Another thing I've noticed is that synchronicities only happen when you're not expecting them, they always take you off guard and you can't will them to happen and they never happen if you're actively searching or expecting them to happen.

The spirit world influences our material plane through the process of arranging situations on Earth that often have perfect timing. As well as overt synchronicities, I think the magical arranging of situations is also how people are drawn towards destined events in their life as well as the people they meet via the mystical law of attraction. I think from your perspective in an Earthly body it's impossible to mentally comprehend how these situations with perfect timing are arranged ("magic"). It seems to defy space and time. People are literally guided from above but it's so subtle and discreet that most don't notice.

I first stated in my 2017 books that it seems I have the power to see the Truth. When I say it seems I have the power to see the Truth, as well as the cold tingling feeling I get when I visualise spiritual truths or destined events, it also seems I was always being put in the right situations via my destiny/life path to learn the truth about this conspiracy. All my life I was being guided from above into this role.

Conversations With A Perp: Dan Part II

This section continues from my 2017 books in which I recall more from the conversations I had with the high-ranking Satanic perp Dan, who spoke to me via the voice transmission and mind-reading technologies in April 2017.

In April 2017 when they were torturing me with V2K/RNM technologies and before I got locked up in hospital, I was acting erratically due to the torture which caused me to stay up all night shadow boxing, screaming things like "Fucking die!" and hitting tree branches with a cricket bat due to the non-stop mind-reading torture, and the perp Dan said "You have a lot of hate and anger" in an attempt to manipulate me into thinking I'm bad like them.

In an attempt to manipulate me into joining Dan was telling me about how cult members have good houses and eat good food, and he said "We've seen your house, your house is shit!" I think it's possible crooked cops or computer hackers were accessing police computers to keep tabs on the drug lab case, and they saw the photos of our house and the drug lab. Either that or some of the cops who raided the drug lab relayed photos to Dan and the cult. I can't think of how else they would know what the interior of our house looks like, because we almost never had visitors that came indoors.

When Dan was trying to get me to join the cult he told me, "We're not all bad..." I asked, "What do the good members do?" Dan replied, "Oh, accounting and such. I don't know, it's not my thing." He told me if I joined the cult (not that he was giving me a choice) I would have to abuse others or else I would remain low rank and be open to being abused and used by the higher-ranking members.

Dan told me that if I joined the cult (not that he was giving me a choice--it was a "join or perish" offer) I would have to abuse others to move up in rank within the cult and if I didn't abuse others (e.g. simply cooked drugs for the cult) I would remain low rank and be open to being abused, used and controlled by the higher ranking members. In the cult it's an abuse or be abused scenario.

Dan tried to take advantage of my mind-control induced love of weapons by telling me, "We [the cult] have LOTS of guns!" and he implied that I could have at them if I joined the cult.

Before I got locked up in hospital I saw a lot of planes and helicopters flying overhead, so I waved to them and then I told Dan. Dan replied, "That's not us. We have better ways of surveilling people."

I remember Dan and I spoke about the philosophy of telling the truth. I argued "You can't fault [telling] the truth." Dan argued there are instances when it's wrong to tell the truth, including exposing the cult.

Here's something a bit amusing. I mentioned in previous books how when they were torturing me with the voice transmission and mind-reading technology in April 2017, I would prevent them from reading my mind by singing along to music for all my waking hours. The Satanic perp Dan who was reading my mind with RNM enjoyed it when I sang the evil lyrics to "Puritania" by Dimmu Borgir and "Pagan Sons" by Brimstone. He wasn't pleased when I sang happy/Christian songs and he complained "This sucks!" After a few days of non-stop singing in my head Dan asked, "How long can you keep this up?" It's a good thing I love music!

I thought about sheltering in a mineshaft to escape the reach of the cult's V2K/RNM electromagnetic weapons. The perp Dan read my thoughts with their technology and he warned "We'll put you down a mineshaft!" if I didn't stop trying to expose the cult.

Dan told me that cult members aren't into "trivial" things like listening to music, smoking weed etc. because "We're a warrior class." Cult members are programmed from infancy to kill and use weaponry. They're kind of like Spartans in that regard.

Dan told me, "Oh Andrew, you don't know how much trouble you've caused us over the years." When I was a teenager they tried to hypnotise me to blow up my school with high explosives and I'M the one who caused THEM trouble?

They successfully hypnotised me to make and test explosive devices (which I first started to make around age 12). But they were unsuccessful when they tried to hypnotise me to blow up my school with said explosives when I was 17. Lucky I didn't do it! Then when they realised I had more talents than just bomb-making, they decided to let me live and instead hypnotised me to cook drugs and build guns!

When Dan and I were talking after we'd both established who I was in my past life, Dan laughed and said, "And no one will ever believe you came back and were born into the Seefeldts! Hahaha!" I replied, "I take it my family isn't well respected?" Dan laughed again and said, "Your family was the LOWEST of the LOW! I don't know how you figured it all out [the conspiracy]."

In an attempt to manipulate me into joining, Dan told me, "We know who you are. They [the general population] don't, they're all sheep!" He told me if I joined the cult "You could be the highest of the high priests!" due to my power to see the Truth. He was trying to flatter/manipulate me of course.

I asked Dan, "Aren't you worried about karma?" Dan responded, "I've had a very hard life and look at me now. You had very good karma and look at your life."

Dan told me that when he was a kid he was ritually abused too (I'm sure it's true) and to manipulate me Dan posed me a question I couldn't answer. The question was, "Say for argument's sake God exists. Why didn't he protect ME?" (i.e. why didn't God protect Dan from being trapped by the cult with blackmail for the heinous things he did under mind-control). I contacted God through meditation and I asked, "Why did you protect me but not other ritual abuse victims?" God replied, "Because you are my Son." Dan only asked me this question to manipulate me, he seemed very much content with being an evil Satanist.

At one point Dan told me the cult sent guys to confront me at my Canberra home in early 2017, and he told me he was shocked when I suddenly turned off my computer (hackers were watching) and left home. Dan asked "How did you know?!" and tortured me with the mind-reading technology until I couldn't help but say in my thoughts "Little voice! Little voice!" When Dan found out that a "little voice" had warned me of the danger, he knew exactly what was going on and he told me the little voice was my spirit guide. Dan told me everybody has a spirit guide and they are always female.

Oh, and here's something a bit amusing. When Dan was teaching me how to contact my spirit guide through meditation, initially I would call my spirit guide "Andrea" and Dan exclaimed, "Don't call her Andrea!" The voice of my spirit guide said pleasantly, "You can call me anything you like!" I now call her Tahlia because that was her name the last time she was on Earth.

Dan told me he's not interested in talking to the good spirits because "The good spirits don't offer you things." Baal/Satan and (I assume) other evil spirits and demons offer you things when you talk to them through meditation. When Dan taught me the meditation technique to speak to Baal, Baal's voice kept saying to me "I can give you the world." He offered me "the world" if I would serve him!

We were talking about reincarnation and Dan told me, "I know who I was in my past life." I asked, "Who?" but he couldn't tell me because their voice transmission technology has a limitation that they can't say to you specific information that isn't based on what you already know. Dan admitted, "Yes, there are some limitations to our technology." Curiously, when you contact spirits using the meditation technique Dan taught me, the spirits had this same limitation--they can't tell you specific information that isn't based on what you already know. Seeing as how the spirits know and see absolutely everything, it's easy to see why this limitation exists for when they talk to humans, e.g. if it wasn't for this limitation the spirits could tell people winning lotto numbers etc. and the world would be dysfunctional.

My guess is when they were developing the voice transmission (Y2K) technology they had test subjects contact the spirit world via meditation, analysed their brainwaves while they were talking to the spirits, and then developed technology that uses an electromagnetic field to induce the same sort of brainwaves artificially and that might have something to do with why V2K has the same limitations as spirit world contact. The cult's understanding of spirituality and how the brain works is far more advanced than ours.

I don't remember everything that happened here but I think it was after I gave a USB drive with my books to the priest guy at the church down the road from my Canberra home as well as doing the same with a ritual abuse counsellor my landlady took me to, when I couldn't help but think in my head "I told! I told!" Dan read my thoughts with their technology and he went serious and said, "Why did you tell me that?" I replied something like, "It's hard when you're reading my mind!"

Suddenly something started happening. Dan saw a change in my brainwaves with their RNM technology and he asked, "What's happening?" I told him, "It's like I'm meditating automatically without trying to." Seconds later I heard the voice of my spirit guide frantically saying, "They're going to kill you tonight!" This prompted me to frantically recruit my landlady Leanne to drive me to the City police station where I gave a cop a USB drive with my books, and made a report and lengthy interview with the cop. After I got home after making the police report Dan told me what my spirit guide said was true and he said, "You're right. We were going to kill you tonight. How do you do it, Andrew."

The next morning after making the police report the perps were still talking to me via the technology and Dan was saying in a worried voice things like, "You're going to start World War 3!" Dan told me, "The police think you're a religious nut but they're interested by your explanation for the Bourke St attack because the police don't know why it happened. Oh, you have a way with words!" It seems crooked cops or hackers were accessing police computers to keep tabs on the progress of my police report, and they were relaying information to Dan and the other high-ranking perps.

Then when Dan was talking to me the next morning Dan started laughing and said, "Do you know why I'm so happy?! We covered it up! We covered it up! Hahaha!" I contacted my spirit guide through meditation and I asked if it was true. My spirit guide said, "Yes, they covered it up! Keep trying!" I asked my spirit guide if they would notice the cover up and she said "Maybe!" I told Dan that my spirit guide said "maybe" they would notice the cover up and Dan exclaimed gleefully, "Maybe?! They won't! Hahaha!"

I remember I said to Dan something like "I know this is the craziest thing that has ever happened in the history of the world but I'm still like eh whatever." Dan replied something like, "Exactly! It makes NO sense! Oh Andrew, you're an enigma."

I told Dan it's my destiny to expose the cult and Dan responded, "Destiny can change!"

Trump-supporting online sleuths found a photo of chairman of Hillary Clinton's campaign John Podesta posing with a number 14 and a drawing of a fish on his palms. The online sleuths discovered that the 14 and the fish are symbols that relate to occult beliefs, ancient Egyptian mysticism and the deity Osiris. When the high-ranking Satanist Dan was talking to me via their technology in 2017, I read to Dan the online sleuths' research about the 14 and the fish and Dan told me that the online sleuths were 100% correct about the occult symbols of the 14 and the fish that John Podesta was displaying on his hands in the photo.

14 + fish and the Osiris myth

Osiris was murdered and cut up into 14 pieces by his brother Set and scattered throughout the land of Egypt.

Osiris's wife Isis set out to find all of the pieces of his body to resurrect him. She found all but the 14th piece, his phallus, which was eaten by fish (now cursed because of this) in the river Nile.

Isis made a phallus out of gold and temporary resurrected Osiris so she could conceive a child. Their offspring is the god Horus.

14 + fish = the male phallus symbolizing power, sex magick and resurrection.

John Podesta displaying occult symbols.

Dan pretty much admitted that the cult controls Hillary Clinton. Dan was telling me about how the cult controls politics from behind the scenes and I asked, "Then how did Trump win?" Dan replied something like, "I don't know but it won't happen again." Trump's one of the good guys and that's why the media, FBI and intelligence agencies are trying to take him out, e.g.

that completely fabricated lie that "Russians" influenced the election. The high-ranking perp Dan also referred to the so-called social justice warriors (SJWs) as "the biggest sheep". Also, the hacker on my eBay account in 2013 called himself by the username "notdemocracy"--a reference to the cult's undue influence in politics, I'm sure. The cult also tried to assassinate Trump adviser Roger Stone by T-boning his car.

I asked Dan, "Aren't you scared of the revolution that will happen?" Dan replied, "There's not going to BE a revolution, it's going to be a SLAUGHTER! There's going to be billions of roast lambs, BILLIONS!" and he went on to reveal to me that the cult's big plot is to kill off billions of people, enslave the survivors and establish an authoritarian world kingdom in the name of Baal (Satan).

I asked Dan what he thought of the notion that good always wins and he responded that there were conflicts in history where evil won.

Dan also insisted that the cult would win the coming world war because "We have the best technology!" and "They're all sheep!" Dan had a habit of referring to the general population (outsiders) as "sheep".

I was reading the Bible to annoy Dan, the Satanist who was reading my mind with remote neural monitoring, and I got to the part in Revelation with the rider on a white horse who held a bow, and I said to Dan, "A bow!" Dan replied, "I don't know why you like archery. We made you like guns not archery." Dan admitted that they hypnotised me to become obsessed with guns.

Archery for me was sort of akin to what methadone is to a heroin addict: a legal and milder substitution to help ween off an addiction.

I also like the part in Revelation where the little lamb who looked slain turned out to be the only creature worthy to break the seals.

I also asked Dan, "What is the Mark of the Beast?" Dan told me, "That's us. The Mark of the Beast is us." The people who received the Mark of the Beast and worship its image are the perps/cult members and the Beast of Revelation is this conspiracy. Yeah no worry, it's just the end of the world. Shit is going down!

Supernatural Events In The Locked Ward

Long story short, in April 2017 I was being tortured 24/7 with voice transmission (V2K) and mind-reading technologies (RNM), which eventually caused me to act erratically enough to get locked up in the Canberra mental hospital where they continued to torture me non-stop for about a month.

They started torturing me with V2K/RNM the morning after my landlady Leanne went away on a trip, so I was home alone with no one to help me. She was away for a few days and by the time she returned the V2K/RNM torture was starting to break me down and causing me to act erratically (or "crazy" to the uninformed).

When Dan was hitting me with the V2K/RNM technology and before I got locked up in hospital, I had urges to yell "Help, I'm being tortured!" at nearby workmen on my street, I was that desperate. But I had to bite my tongue because I knew I would look crazy and get committed to a mental hospital if I did.

When the perps were hitting me with the V2K/RNM technology and before I got locked up in hospital, I tried to show my books to the priest at the church down the road from my Canberra home. The priest (or whoever was the guy who came out of the parish office) was suspicious of the USB drive with my books on it and he said he was worried about computer viruses. I told the priest that I'm a victim of a Satanic cult and the priest said something like, "I'm sure such things exist." The priest said something about how Jesus brought darkness to light and I said, "Yeah, about bringing darkness to light..." and I indicated towards the USB drive with my books on it. Later when I got home my spirit guide said, "I don't think he [the priest] kept it [the USB drive with my books]."

One of the main reasons I got locked up in a mental hospital is because the neighbours called authorities and told them I was in my backyard moaning and groaning with a bow and arrow. The reason I was moaning and groaning is because I was being tortured non-stop 24/7 with voice transmission (Y2K) and remote neural monitoring (RNM) technology. Believe it or not but people tend to moan and groan when they're being tortured! And yes, I attempted to continue my archery practice despite the Y2K/RNM torture.

Cops showed up at my door and told me I was going to the mental hospital. I said, "What if I refuse?" One of the officers told me, "Then you'll be arrested. You can come with the CAT team [mental health crisis team] or you can come with us."

Immediately after the cops and mental health workers kidnapped me from my home, God and my spirit guide Tahlia came to my rescue by talking to me outside of meditation 24/7 (by means of God's power) to help ease the V2K/RNM torture. I remember sitting in the car being taken to the mental hospital and I kept saying in my thoughts the mantra "Never give up!" to which the voice of my spirit guide said back to support me, "Never give up!" My spirit guide also said to support me, "Don't worry, doctors help people!" Hah, no, that's not what psychiatrists do, in my experience! But she meant well.

As I was being admitted to the mental hospital my spirit guide said, "Don't worry, doctors help people!" I asked her, "Did the doctors try to help you when you died in the car crash?" The spirit replied, "Yes, they did."

When I was singing along to music around the clock so that the perps couldn't read my thoughts, sometimes my spirit guide would say "I like this one" when I changed the song on my MP3 player.

I remember my spirit guide said "I like this one" to the following songs:

Red Hot Chilli Peppers - By The Way

Good Charlotte - Hold On

Sonic Syndicate - My Own Life

Iced Earth - Watching Over Me

She also said "This one is sad" when I changed the song to Skid Row - 18 and Life. Yep, when you're in the spirit world you can still enjoy Earthly music. Good to know.

Many nights during my ordeal in hospital they would use the restless feeling weapon on me at night at bedtime to make it difficult to sleep. When I eventually fell asleep, I would awake after only a brief sleep with that horrific, uncomfortable restless feeling. One time Dan was torturing me with the restless feeling weapon he used the hallucination weapon to make me see faint animated hologram images of a dancing cartoon cat holding a sign which read "NO ENTRY" (i.e. "no entry" into sleep), the joke being that I like cats.

Often I would wake up after only 30 minutes or so of sleep and I would be feeling that horrific restless feeling, like restless leg syndrome but all over my body, not just my legs. The weapon makes you feel extremely uncomfortable in your own skin, it's terrible. Sometimes when I woke up with the restless feeling I would ask the nurses for sedatives (temazepam) to help me get back to sleep. Benzodiazapines are an effective countermeasure against the restless feeling weapon. Benzos are the only psychiatric drugs that have the potential to help victims in any way. If they're hitting you with the restless feeling weapon at bedtime, you can use benzos to get to sleep.

Oh, and some stupid psychiatrist is going to point out that the drugs I was being forced to take (antipsychotics) can cause this feeling. Yes, it is true that antipsychotic medications have the common side-effect of torturing the psychiatry victim with intense feelings of restlessness, but no it was not a side-effect of the drugs. The restless feeling was caused by the cult's electromagnetic weaponry.

The medical term for the restless feeling that makes you feel uncomfortable in your own skin is AKATHISIA and the cult's technology can artificially induce it using electromagnetic waves. When Dan was torturing me with this technology he turned on the weapon and then asked via the voice transmission technology "Feel that?" Dan turned up the intensity of the restless feeling and again asked "Feel that?" Dan kept turning up the intensity of the restless feeling until it was unbearable, at which point there was a moment of divine intervention: God showed me images of a man giving me the thumbs up, cheerleaders cheering for me, an image of people patting me on the back etc. (see my 2017 books in which I describe this miracle in more detail).

Oh, and in my 2017 books I mentioned how God showed me an image of a man in a "cowboy" hat giving me the thumbs up, but I was mistaken. I now realise it was actually an American-style sheriff's hat and in the image God showed me of a man giving the thumbs up, the man in the image was the police officer I reported all this to at the City Police Station in Civic, Canberra sometime in April 2017. I made a police report, gave a lengthy interview and gave the cop a USB drive with my books on it but the next morning the cult covered it up somehow.

During my month long ordeal in 2017, God and my spirit guide were talking to me around the clock to help ease the V2K/RNM torture. The perps knew this and they kept trying to block the voice of God and my spirit guide Tahlia using their technology.

Interestingly, the cult's technology was unable to both block the voice of God/spirit guide and read my thoughts at the same time. What the perps eventually ended up doing was they tuned their technology so it was blocking God/spirit guide 99% and reading my mind 1%. When they were doing this I could just barely hear the voice of God/my spirit guide and they could just barely read my thoughts. It's like their technology was blocking my meditation pathway, or whatever pathways in the brain are responsible for contacting the spirit world. The cult's technology and understanding of spirituality and how the brain works is far more advanced than ours.

A few times when they used their technology to block the voice of God/spirit guide, God would allow the weapon to block Him for several moments (God said "They're blocking me." and God's voice went away), then God would overpower the technology and I could hear God's voice again. As for my spirit guide, God told me "I can bring her back in if you want." God allowed the cult's technology to overpower him, then God would overpower the technology and God did this to test me to see if I really believed He is all-powerful and capable of anything (including overcoming the cult's technology that was trying to block His voice).

When they were hitting me with the V2K/RNM technology and I was contacting the spirit world via meditation like the perp Dan taught me, I could tell when I was meditating correctly when I experienced the effects of the V2K/RNM weapons being blocked. Mindfulness and meditation block the effects of their voice transmission/mind-reading technology and you can actually feel it blocking the weapons when you focus on the present moment and clear your mind with meditation. I could use it as a "barometer" to tell when I was meditating correctly when I experienced the weapons being blocked.

At one point the perp (not Dan, a different one) mockingly asked me, "What did you tell the doctors when they asked you how we're talking to you?" I answered "A communications device" and the perp laughed and exclaimed, "A communications device?!" Yes, the psychiatrists kept asking me how the cult was contacting me so eventually I told them, "A communications device." I couldn't exactly tell them the full truth because for obvious reasons telling a psychiatrist that the Illuminati is using classified brainwave-manipulating technologies to read my mind and put voices in my head wouldn't end well for someone trying to avoid a misdiagnosis of schizophrenia. But that was the reality of my situation.

At one point during my ordeal in hospital God told me that any form of sex other than for reproduction is a sin, and God said He wanted me to take a vow. I had difficulty accepting it at first but God said, "I thought you were ready." At least a couple times God also used magic to make me experience intense sexual arousal for several minutes and God had me practice resisting the urge in order to test me.

I remember at one point God and my spirit guide would have me practice throwing away food in preparation for if ever in my life the cult would try to poison my food. For example, delicious cheese cake was being served in the ward and my spirit guide would say, "It's poisoned!" even though it wasn't, and have me throw it in the bin. God and my spirit guide had me do this as a drill in preparation for a time when the cult might try to poison my food.

They also had me practice sticking a toothbrush down my throat to practice throwing up food if ever the cult poisoned my food (I didn't throw up, God/spirit guide said I passed the test and ended the drill before I actually did).

When they were hitting me with the voice transmission and mind-reading technology it was very difficult to do basic things like eating food, showering and brushing my teeth because it was very difficult to do other things yet resist and fight off the mind-reading technology at the same time. When I was in hospital and I was eating food, my spirit guide would say, "How does that look? How does that taste?" to help me stay in a state of mindfulness by focusing on the present moment and focusing on my senses.

Mindfulness/meditation blocks the effects of remote neural monitoring, their technology can't read your mind while you're meditating. When you clear your mind with mindfulness/meditation you can actually feel it blocking the effects of the mind-reading technology. The problem is that it takes practice, training and discipline to be able to meditate for long periods without breaking concentration, so new victims who might have never meditated before will only get brief periods of relief until they develop their ability to meditate (it's like building up a muscle except the muscle is your mind).

I remember at one point I said in exasperation in my thoughts "My imaginary friends!" to which the voice of my spirit guide said pleasantly, "I'm not imaginary!" I corrected myself and said in my thoughts, "My INVISIBLE friends!"

In 2017 when my spirit guide was talking to me, I told her about how God showed me images of a crowd of people patting me on the back and carrying me in celebration, and I told her about how God said "You can have it all!" I visualised an image of myself shaking hands with President Trump and my spirit guide said, "Maybe not."

I remember thinking, "This is all a test [by God]!" and the perp read my thoughts with their technology and he said, "No one's testing you, we're torturing you!"

At least a few times during my 2017 ordeal God said, "I didn't know it would be so hard" referring to my V2K/RNM torture and being falsely imprisoned in hospital ordeal. But God said this to test me. Of course God knew my ordeal was going to be this difficult, God knows EVERYTHING! God said this to test me to see if I really believed He is all-powerful and all-knowing. God tested me in similar ways several times.

My spirit guide told me, "That's what God does, He tests people!" God also told me, "The testing will never stop."

The Healings

When I was in hospital in 2017 while being tortured non-stop with V2K/RNM, God and my spirit guide were talking to me around the clock to help ease the torture. At one point in my month long ordeal we got to the topic of my physical health. I don't remember how the conversation went but God ended up healing my body of illnesses.

First God healed my hepatitis and I felt an intense rushing sensation all over my body for several seconds, which was neither pleasant nor unpleasant. Next God repaired my liver and heart, and I felt the rushing sensation all over my body again. After healing me God's voice said, "You will die when I want you to." My spirit guide also spoke and said, "Your heart wasn't that bad!"

After God healed my hepatitis/liver/heart my spirit guide said, "You can ask God for anything, you're His Son!" I had been experiencing ringing ears and deafness which came on for several seconds at a time, and my ears would ring accompanied by partial deafness and this would happen maybe a dozen times per week. I think too much heavy metal and explosions. Anyway, I asked God if He could heal this soon after God healed my hepatitis/liver/heart. I didn't feel the rushing sensation like when God healed my hepatitis/liver/heart and instead God simply said, "It won't happen again." Sure enough, I haven't had the ringing ears/partial deafness since. I went from experiencing it maybe a dozen times per week to it completely disappearing and having never returned in the more than two years since.

For as long as I can remember (at least 10 years+) I have had a condition where one of my nostrils is constantly blocked and I can only breathe through one nostril at a time (it alternates). I'm not a doctor but I suspect the condition I have is something called enlarged turbulines and the only way for modern medicine to cure it is with surgery. So I asked God if He could cure this condition. Sure enough, magically both my nostrils opened up and I could breathe 100% clearly through both nostrils for pretty much the first time since I could remember. A few minutes later my nostril suddenly closed off again and my condition returned, and God's voice said, "Your faith isn't strong enough."

The Great Escape

In my 2017 books I briefly described how the cult tried to assassinate me when I was in hospital, and in later sections of this book I will describe these events in greater detail.

In summary, they had an assassin posing as a corrections officer escorting an inmate patient. The assassin had a keycard that would open my room's door and they were waiting for me to fall asleep to feed me the poison which would have caused heart failure. They knew when I was sleeping because they could remotely monitor my brainwaves with their RNM technology.

I tried escaping the mental hospital, once successfully, to prevent them from assassinating me. Here's what happened.

My spirit guide said frantically (referring to the assassin), "He's in the ward, get out of there!" so I went into the courtyard and climbed a 3 meter fence (another patient gave me a boost), scaled another fence and I ran off into the night.

When I was on the run on the street after escaping the mental hospital I tried asking a few people on the street for help. There was no way I could explain the reality of my situation without sounding crazy so instead I simply told people on the street, "Help, I'm being abused!" I got nothing helpful, even eliciting "Oh well, get over it" from one late-night stranger.

I eventually came across a fire station and I went inside. The firefighters were more helpful. I asked the firefighters for a pen and paper and I wrote something like "BOURKE ST ATTACKER JIMMY GARGASOULAS IS A VICTIM OF RITUAL ABUSE AND GANG-STALKING. I AM NOT CRAZY. I AM NOT FUCKING CRAZY." I gave the paper to the firefighters to keep in case I was killed. I went outside and lay down in the dirt and prepared to go to sleep that night on the ground outside the fire station. My spirit guide said, "Oh, I'm sorry!" The firefighters called the police and the cops put me in a paddywagon and took me back to the mental hospital like the prisoner that I was.

After I was returned to the mental hospital they put me in the high-dependency unit (HDU) from which there was no way to escape. The walls in the HDU are the same as the walls in a prison yard, minus the razorwire.

The assassin was still trying to take me out in the HDU now and he had a keycard that would open my room's door. My spirit guide said, "You might have to sleep in someone else's room tonight!" How the hell was I going to convince another patient to let me sleep in their room?!

I also tried to escape the HDU by holding the staff door open after a staff member exited. I barged through the door and ran towards the exit but staff ran after me, caught me and returned me to the ward.

Assassination Attempts Against Me

Around Anzac Day 2017 I was in the HDU unit of the Canberra mental hospital, with no way to escape. The perps were trying to kill me by having the assassin posing as a corrections officer escorting an inmate, who was trying to feed me poison when I fell asleep. The night they were trying to kill me a perp who the other perps called "boss" came on the microphone of the voice transmission technology and the boss spoke to me.

The guy who the other perps called boss spoke in a wicked tone of voice and used a lot of profanity/insults etc. Dan was friendly by comparison. The boss guy came on the microphone of the voice transmission weapon on the night they were trying to assassinate me, I think it was the 26th April 2017, I remember it was around Anzac day anyway. The boss told me, "I'm even higher ranking than Dan!"

I remember when in hospital I was staying up all night (I did this at least twice) so they couldn't feed me the heart failure poison, and the perp warned me, "[The psychiatrists] will think you're manic!" (due to not sleeping being a symptom of mania).

My spirit guide was frantically saying "[The assassin] is in the ward!" but she couldn't tell me specifically which person in the ward was the assassin due to the rule that when spirits communicate with humans they cannot tell the human specific information which isn't based on what the person already knows. The cult's voice transmission technology has the same limitation for some reason. My spirit guide said desperately, "Oh, I know but I can't tell you! They have a good plan!"

As well as using their technology to block the real voice of God and my spirit guide, they did something further which was very tricky. At the same time they were blocking God/spirit guide with their technology, they tuned their voice transmission weapon to create a fake voice of God/spirit guide effect. Initially the fake voice caused by their technology was like a generic genderless tone of voice, but later they tuned the voice transmission weapon to a pleasant female voice (to mimic my spirit guide) and a low fatherly tone of voice (to mimic God). They did this in an attempt to trick me, and one time the fake spirit guide voice tried to lure me to my death by saying, "Go to your room, it's safe there!" Of course if I had gone back to my room and fallen asleep, I would have been killed because the assassin had a keycard that would open my hospital room and they were waiting for me to fall asleep to put the heart failure poison in my mouth. They knew when I was asleep because they could see my brainwaves with their RNM technology and they were also using the voice transmission/mind-reading technology to communicate with the assassin in the ward. My real spirit guide was frantically trying to break through the block and warn me not to listen to the fake Tahlia.

Suddenly God used magic so that I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves. I overheard the boss laugh wickedly as he watched my brainwaves with their technology, and I overheard the boss say to the other perps "Yes, yes! Rapid eye movement! He's asleep! Do it, do it!" and the perps used the voice transmission technology to direct the assassin in the ward to feed me the heart failure poison. A few moments after the boss ordered the attack, the man in the mental ward who was posing as a corrections officer escorting an inmate patient walked past me (I was staying in a commons area of the ward because the perps had a keycard that would open my room's door). The assassin walked past me slowly with his head looking sideways at me, looking straight at me with a look of nervousness and determination on his face, and the assassin and I locked gazes for several moments. They thought I was asleep because God used magic to modify my brainwaves to look like I was sleeping, which prompted them to order the assassin to put the poison in my mouth. Of course I was actually still awake and I caught the assassin in the act, and that's how I was able to identify who in the ward was the assassin. Initially I thought the inmate was the assassin, but it turned out to be one or both of the "corrections officers" escorting the inmate.

I frantically told the nurses that the corrections officer had just tried to kill me and I begged them to let me use the phone to call my landlady Leanne. Of course the nurses thought I was nuts and they angrily threatened to drug me if I didn't go to sleep. This is one reason the assassin aborted mission that night. Another reason he aborted was because I recorded a voice message on my portable MP3 player in which I stated that if I was found dead, it was murder. I made the recording within hearing distance of the assassin. This is another reason the assassin aborted mission that night.

God was using magic so I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves and I overheard the boss say "Aaron's not going to do it." I think either the assassin or the second corrections officer who might have been his accomplice was named Aaron. I also overheard the boss tell the assassin "Just shove it down his throat!" I also overheard the perps talking about how they were going to kill me, and one perp suggested they have crooked cops "arrest" me and throw me from a building in a staged suicide. To this suggestion, I overheard a perp point out that I never go out alone at night (they've been watching me). I overheard all this because God was using magic so I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves.

God saved my life by using magic to modify my brainwaves to make it look like I was asleep to the cult's remote brainwave monitoring technology. When the perps saw that I was "asleep" they used the voice transmission technology to instruct the assassin in the ward to slip the heart failure poison in my mouth. Of course I was actually awake and I caught the would-be assassin in the act!

Death Of A Boss

After the assassin aborted mission that night the boss guy said to me via V2K, "You must be the luckiest person in the world!" The boss perp was also watching my heartrate, brainwaves and other vitals with the RNM technology and he said, "You're pretty calm for someone who just survived an assassination attempt." I replied, "Oh, you can see my vitals." and the boss exclaimed, "Yea, of course!" Anyway, I was starting to slip up and think about what God just did to save my life, and to prevent them from reading my mind and learning how God and I did it, God used magic to override my thoughts and make me automatically think "Don't tell them anything. Don't tell them anything. Don't tell them anything. Don't tell them anything." over and over in my thoughts, and God continued to do this for the next few hours until morning to prevent the perps from reading my mind and learning that God was modifying my brainwaves with magic to give false readings with their technology.

The night they were trying to assassinate me I stayed up all night to prevent them from feeding me the heart failure poison while I slept, and the next morning I was extremely tired. I was so tired I fell asleep for a few seconds, then woke again and when the boss guy saw with their brainwave monitoring technology that I just fell asleep for a few seconds, the boss mockingly said "Whoops!" via the voice transmission weapon. Oh, and the only type of coffee they give you in mental hospitals is decaffeinated and that just made staying awake all the more harder.

The morning after they tried to kill me in hospital I had stayed up all night to prevent them feeding me the poison. I was extremely tired and the perps were still waiting for me to fall asleep so they could poison me. Things were looking bleak and then God said to me, "I have an idea." Suddenly God used magic to make me experience a stimulant-type effect/feeling and initially I thought God did this to help me stay awake, but I was a bit confused because the stimulant feeling wasn't particularly helpful or pleasant (it was like drinking way too much coffee). The perps saw the change in my brainwaves

(due to the stimulant effect) with their technology and they thought I had taken a drug. The boss guy thought I had taken a psychoactive drug and he asked, "What's gotten into you, what did you take?"

Suddenly God used magic to take control of my mind and God started speaking through me, and God and I would take turns speaking to the perps. The conversation went something like this (I don't remember all of it):

Cult boss: "What's gotten into you, what did you take?"

God and I: "I am good, you MADE me bad! I am GOOD, I am the Son of God!"

Cult boss: "What's gotten INTO you?! You weren't like this when talking to Dan, I was listening."

God and I: "It's just the real me coming out."

Cult boss: (something, I don't remember)

God and I: "Not if I kill you first!"

Cult boss: "Haha, how are you going to kill me?"

Moments later the boss guy started screaming in terror and agony over the microphone of the voice transmission technology. Immediately after the boss stopped screaming and dropped dead, God's voice said to me "It is done." I exclaimed to God, "THAT was your idea?!"

Several moments after God struck down the cult's boss, Dan came on the voice transmission weapon and he was screaming in terror. The conversation went something like the following (there was more, I don't remember it all):

Dan: (Screaming in terror) "How did you do that?!"

God and I: "Magic."

Dan: "You didn't do that!"

God and I: "Then who?"

Dan: (Dan groaned in distress at the moment he realised God is real)

Dan: (Screaming) "You don't know what you've done, you're going to start World War 3!"

God and I: "I didn't start this war, YOU did!"

Aftermath

After the boss guy was killed I felt "dirty" and agitated so I took a shower to calm down.

After striking down the cult's evil boss guy at my request, God spoke to me and said, "I have only killed once before." I asked, "Who?" and God replied, "You, my son." The first time God ever killed somebody was around 2000 years ago (guess who). The second time God killed was on 26th April 2017 (or thereabouts, not 100% sure) when He struck down the cult's evil boss guy at my request in order to fulfill my destiny of killing someone in this lifetime, as well as to thwart the assassination attempts against me.

I thought maybe I heard my spirit guide say "He shot himself" when I asked "Where's Dan?" but I'm not entirely sure if I imagined it or not. Anyway, after this Dan never came back on the microphone of the voice transmission weapon. Instead, the voices of other perps were on the weapon screaming at me things like "Fuck you, Andrew!" and other insults.

Soon after the cult boss was killed, I definitely heard my spirit guide say, "There's still going to be a war!" and she told me, "There's going to be a power vacuum!" (left by the boss's death).

Dan told me he was 49 years old (in April 2017), he told me he was Australian and that he had visited my hometown of Eden, NSW before. Dan was the main perp who did most the talking to me via V2K. Dan appeared to be second in command after the guy who the other perps called boss. The boss guy came on the microphone of the voice transmission technology the night they were trying to assassinate me in hospital. It sounded like there were three or so other perps who sounded like they might have been underlings. Sometimes Dan would take a break and the underlings would take over operating the technology. After the boss was killed and Dan disappeared (shot himself?) the underlings took control of the technology and they tortured me another week or so before they turned off the weapons.

Immediately after the boss was killed, the other perps were reluctant to talk to me via the voice transmission weapon and they were a bit reluctant to keep torturing me with the technology. God was still using magic so I could hear them talking amongst themselves and I overheard one perp say to another, "Don't be a pussy, he can't kill all of us!"

When the perps noticed that God was using magic to modify my brainwaves to give false readings with the remote brain monitoring technology, God was still making it so I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves, and I overheard a perp say to another, "Baal can't do that! I think I chose the wrong religion!"

I also overheard a perp say to another, "What technology is Andrew using?" and the other perp corrected him, "He doesn't have any technology!" Yeah, I have magic instead. Anything is possible with God!

Soon after the boss was killed, other perps had assumed control of the technology. God was still using magic to allow me to hear the perps talking amongst themselves and I overheard the perps discussing how they wanted to cook me with the weapon that makes your body feel hot but they were worried about the other patients in the mental ward witnessing the weapon, to which another perp said, "Don't worry, they're all crazies!" I also overheard a perp say "Andrew's in bed under the covers" thus the hot feeling weapon would be more effective, and they did end up cooking my body with the weapon once or twice. I think their technology can determine your body's position and movements by analysing your brainwaves. Alternatively, some victims speculate that their technology can see visually through walls. The perps could see that I was in bed under the covers somehow. Their mind-altering technology can target specific people without affecting those around them, but the hot feeling weapon that cooks your body is non-selective and hits everybody in the vicinity (hence the perps were worried about other patients in the mental ward witnessing the weapon when they used it on me).

When God started using magic to allow me to hear the perps talking amongst themselves, I overheard the perps talking about my ECG (heart monitor) results. The perps were talking about how my ECG results were normal and they were disappointed by this because they wanted to kill me by slipping a poison in my mouth as I slept in the mental ward that would have caused heart failure. They wanted it to look like heart failure due to my history of amphetamine abuse.

The perps had complete access to my hospital chart and digital medical records. I blame computer hackers and/or crooked health workers, who I also blame for why the assassin was able to get a keycard that opened my room's door. The perps thought I had a bad heart because they read my first book (ADS) in which I mistakenly (due to hypochondria) stated that I had a bad heart due to drug abuse.

If I am found dead for any apparent reason (especially "heart failure" or "suicide") I was probably murdered by the Deep State/Satanic Illuminati as a direct consequence of my work trying to expose them.

I overheard the perps discussing how they were going to kill me and one perp pointed out to another that I never go out alone at night.

After the cult boss was killed God told me it was safe to sleep in my room that night (I had been sleeping in the commons area in view of the ward staff for safety, the assassin had a keycard that would open my door). God told me it was safe to sleep in my room that night because the cult boss was dead and couldn't direct the assassin anymore, and it was like a big trust exercise to fall asleep in my room, because I feared I would not wake up (they were trying to put a poison in my mouth as I slept which would have induced heart failure).

Soon after the boss was killed and Dan disappeared, the voices of other perps were on the V2K/RNM technology, and they had taken over operating it. With the power of God's magic I faked being dead to make it look like I was dead to the cult's remote brainwave and heartrate monitoring technology. God and I did this in an attempt to lure the assassin in the ward into opening my room's door with their ill-gotten keycard they had somehow acquired. Similar to how the perps could see when I was asleep with their brainwave monitoring technology, when God and I were faking being dead God was still using magic so that I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves, and I overheard the perps saying and laughing "Yes, cardiac arrest!" or something like that (they could remotely see my heart function with their technology, in addition to my brainwaves). Then another perp said "But [the assassin] hasn't given it to him yet [the poison]!" to which another perp suggested that I had finally killed myself due to everything I had been through. But in reality God was modifying my brainwaves to make me look dead in an attempt to lure the assassin(s) to open my room's door with their keycard which they shouldn't have had, in order to check on me. I overheard a perp say "We're so screwed if we open the door and he's still alive." I'm not 100% sure what was going on here, God knew completely of course but He never really told me. From what I gather, if the assassins had used their ill-gotten keycard to open my door to check on me and I was still alive, they would have been screwed because the keycard access would be logged by the system and it would expose their plot to kill me. That's my guess at what God was trying to do by luring the assassin to open my door to check on me by making my brainwaves/heart look like I was dead.

After the boss guy was killed, the voices of other perps (who sounded like they might have been underlings) took over the task of operating the V2K/RNM technology, and they continued to try to assassinate me using the assassin in the ward who was posing as a corrections officer escorting an inmate.

In one of these later attempts God was still using magic so I could hear the perps talking amongst themselves (God started doing this the night the boss guy tried kill me) and then suddenly the would-be assassin got up and left the mental ward, and I overheard the perps say "He's gone!"

I'm not sure what happened here, but it seems God somehow got the assassin to leave the mental ward. After God struck down the cult's boss at my request, God said to me "There's always another way", i.e. there's always an alternative to killing someone. My current theory of what happened is that God somehow made the assassin get up and leave the mental ward in order to demonstrate that He could have made the assassin abort mission without having to kill the boss guy, to demonstrate that "There's always another way."

Also, when the handler perps who were operating the V2K/RNM technology said "He's gone!" when the assassin left the ward, I think this was referring to how the assassin might have dropped off the radar of their voice transmission/mind-reading technology (which they were using to direct and instruct the assassin). This was probably God's work too, making the assassin drop off the radar of their technology. That's my theory as to what this was about.

By locking me up in a mental hospital these stupid shrinks almost got me assassinated. The psychiatrist who locked me up, Dr. Erika Orlander, almost doomed the world! Or at least the resistance would be quite hindered and delayed if I was killed and my information was to never see the light of day. It is only by the power of God that I am still alive today.

I will conclude this section by mentioning something amusing that happened. I read the menu of my hospital dinner which said "roast lamb" and the perp (not Dan, a different one) read my thoughts with their RNM technology and laughed via the voice transmission weapon, "Haha, I know what you're having for dinner!" (reference to their earlier "roast Lamb" joke). I think this happened around the time they were trying to assassinate me. Yeah, if it wasn't for God I would have roast!

Destined To Kill

God explained that it was my destiny to kill someone in this lifetime and that I had fulfilled my destiny by asking God "Can't you just kill them?" followed by God striking down the cult boss at my request.

God explained, "I wouldn't have done it if you hadn't asked me to" and therefore I was responsible for the cult boss's death, and therefore I had fulfilled my destiny of killing someone in this lifetime. Earlier after 3-4 weeks of V2K/RNM torture I asked God in desperation, "Can't you just kill them?"

My current understanding is that destiny is the major events your spirit chooses to experience in a lifetime and this is all mapped out before you reincarnate on Earth. If you were to ask me what is the meaning of life then currently I agree with the spiritualists who teach that Earth is like a testing ground or training ground where we come to learn lessons and experience things, and our real home is the spirit world. So I guess before I reincarnated I decided I would kill someone in this lifetime in order for my spirit to grow and mature from the experience. I'm glad it was the cult's evil boss guy in self-defense. I'm also glad that no court would convict me for a supernatural act of God.

The Guessing Game

Soon after we killed the cult's boss, God started showing me images. The images God showed me were like faint animated cartoonish holograms that looked similar to the images that the cult's hallucination weapon artificially induces. The images were arranged in a grid formation and one by one the image would zoom in on each one, and God and I would play a guessing game in which I would guess what "life lesson" each image was trying to convey.

These are a few of the images I remember God showed me in a guessing game after we killed the cult's boss.

God showed me images of a happy dog being played with by a human and in the background was an image of a cat sitting alone contently. I guessed, "Dogs need to be played with but cats don't?" "Precisely," said God. I'm a cat person so I had a habit of paying more attention to my cat than my dog.

God showed me images of a row of several cartoon women with big exaggerated kissy lips. God spoke and said, "You can have many girlfriends." (and it's okay to kiss them). Next God showed me an image of a pair of dolphins with a "don't" cross over them. This was God telling me "Don't have sex." It's commonly known that dolphins are the only animal (besides humans) that have sex for recreation. Any form of sex for any purpose other than procreation is a sin that displeases God. I asked God if widespread sexual immorality is the reason the world is being destroyed (by the coming war) and God answered, "That's one of the reasons."

God showed me an image of a couple people who I had discriminatory thoughts about, and the images of these people would switch back and forth between a cartoon deer (the animal). This was God telling me, "These people are dear" ("deer").

God showed me an image of a cartoon man gobbling up junk food. I guessed,

"Don't eat junk food?" God replied "Close." I guessed again, "Take care of my body?" "Precisely," said God.

I don't remember the image exactly (it might have been an image of a stork with a baby or a plant seedling, or something like that) but one of the images God showed me in the guessing game conveyed the message, "All life comes from me (God)".

The animated cartoonish hologram images were like 3 seconds of animation that looped over and over like those GIF images you'd see on old '90s websites.

These were just a few of the images that I remember. God showed me maybe one or two dozen of these "life lesson" images and we would play a guessing game where I would guess what "life lesson" each image was trying to convey. All the while I could still hear the perps talking in the background saying, "What's Andrew doing?" So yes, to the perps who I know are reading this, that's what we were doing after we killed your boss: God and I played a guessing game.

After God showed me a bunch of images in the guessing game, God stopped and said "I can't think of any more". I replied, "Yes you can, you can do anything!" God replied, "That was the test." Yet again God tested me to see if I really believed He is all-powerful and all-knowing.

Close Call

One of the images God showed me in the guessing game was an image of a van next to a stop sign. God showed me this image to show me that He saved my life in 2013 when I was on the run in my van, and accidentally ran a stop sign and almost collided with another car on an intersection. This happened in the region to the north of Canberra, around Bungadore or whatever it's called, I think it was. The sun was in my eyes so I didn't see the stop sign and I was unfamiliar with the area, and I mistakenly thought I was on a main road and therefore had the right of way. I almost collided with another car but God saved my life. I probably would have been killed due to it being an old van with zero crumple zone. Not the first or the last time God saved my skin, either.

The Son That Never Was

In 2017 during my ordeal in hospital God said to me sadly, "You were supposed to have a son."

The son had to be with Tahlia Bruce, it couldn't be with any other woman. I asked God why the son had to be with Tahlia Bruce and God revealed, "Tahlia is Mary." Her spirit told me when she was on Earth as Tahlia Bruce she had no idea of her identity and she only found out she was Mary when she died and remembered all her past lives, which you have amnesia of while you're on Earth. Past life memories can also be accessed while you're on Earth via hypnosis, I've heard.

God and my spirit guide explained that I was born into a unbroken bloodline of male children and that's why the son had to be with Tahlia Bruce (Mary): to continue this bloodline. My spirit guide told me if I wasn't born into this bloodline "You wouldn't have your powers." I assume by "powers" she meant my ability to see the Truth.

My spirit guide told me that she has lived many lives on Earth and she had no idea that she was Mary the last time she was on Earth as Tahlia Bruce. She told me she only found out once she died and remembered all her past lives again. Interestingly, my spirit guide told me that I have been to Earth previous to my past life but it was never recorded in history.

I told God, "War isn't the place for a kid." God replied, "I would have protected that child."

God blames my mother for why as a teenager I was too messed up socially and emotionally to have a relationship (and subsequently, a son) with Tahlia Bruce (being ritually abused didn't help). In 2017 God spoke to me and said, "You deserved a better mother. She will be punished severely."

Destiny is a guiding force, destiny is not ridged and is subject to change. I imagine that my spirit guide and I agreed to have a relationship on Earth before we reincarnated, and her spirit told me it was her destiny to die young (even though Baal killed her like he killed Tom Buckland). My understanding is that destiny is the major life events that your spirit chooses to experience in a lifetime and situations will be magically arranged on Earth to lead you towards these destined events. That's a big part of what magic is, the arranging of situations on Earth.

One of the images God showed me in the guessing game was an image of a spirit carrying a baby in a cloth like a stork. God said, "This is a hard one." God asked me to guess what message was being conveyed, and I guessed "immaculate conception?" God replied, "Yes, that was the traditional term for it."

God then instructed me to go into the hospital room's ensuite bathroom and... you know. Anyway, my bloodline will be continued via immaculate conception. I asked God why the son I was supposed to have had to be with Tahlia Bruce and God revealed, "Tahlia is Mary."

Interestingly, in the image God showed me of a spirit carrying a baby in a cloth like a stork, the "spirit" was represented by a "4-dimensional" cartoonish creature that had big rounded square eyes and a small or non-existent mouth, and the image very much resembled those strange "entities" you see when you smoke DMT. This is another reason why I believe the psychedelic dimethyltryptamine (DMT) creates a genuine connection to the spirit world. Furthermore, both the high-ranking Satanist Dan and the Earth Mother (witchcraft deity) told me that psychedelic drugs connect you to the spirit world.

I'm not yet sure exactly who will come via immaculate conception, whether it'll be me again, or the son I was supposed to have, or maybe even an entirely different person who comes with the power to see the Truth.

My spirit guide told me "It's a very big problem." that I didn't have a son with her while she was on Earth. God solved this "big problem" with immaculate conception. My bloodline will be continued with immaculate conception, or spirit conception, or whatever you want to call it.

When I was lamenting how I wouldn't have a son in this lifetime like I was supposed to, God said something most peculiar. God said, "But Jesus did have a son... you." I'm still not sure how that works. What I do know is that I was born into a bloodline of male children who come with the power to see the Truth. I guess maybe that could be why Jesus was born via immaculate conception? The bloodline of male children might have been broken before him.

THE END.