ASSOCIATE LAWYER POSITION

The housing industry remains strong and our firm continues to add exceptional lawyers to our experienced team to meet the demands of our rapidly expanding client base.

Celebrating our 21st year on the North Shore in our new spacious offices, Haddock & Company, Lawyers (www.haddock-co.ca) is a boutique firm concentrating on our preferred practice areas of strata property law, non-profit housing law, construction law, commercial/residential tenancies and co-operatives. We are searching for one candidate to fill full-time associate lawyer positions to assist with our busy litigation/solicitors practice.

We are seeking applicants called, or about to be called to the Bar of British Columbia who have one to five years of litigation or solicitor related experience, excellent drafting and research skills, strong interpersonal skills and possess an entrepreneurial spirit. Our firm was built with a robust remote working platform that seamlessly integrates with our paperless and cloud based environment. Interest and experience in strata property law and residential tenancies would be an asset.

The work is interesting, challenging and varied, providing the associate with direct client interaction, participation in promotional activities, full conduct over appropriate files and opportunities to exercise advocacy skills before administrative tribunals and the Provincial, Supreme and Appeal courts. The firm has an open-door policy with lots of support from colleagues and a full team approach.

We offer a competitive compensation package, bonus incentives, benefits and long term career potential.

Qualified applicants should submit their cover letter and resume in confidence to Grant Haddock by mail, fax or email at cgh@haddock-co.ca. No phone calls please.
