This picture was taken two days after I was treated with NSAIDs, which didn't work, only aggravated my symptoms. Whereby, landed up in Eye Casualty again the week after. Upon my second visit, and after waiting for 6 hours, I needed steroids for a month to 'save my left eye'... All worked in the end and I've been red eye free for a year!

Another great session last night training with @mr.longho After talking with @andyvelcich looking to make a few minor adjustments to my training to try and better improve. Slight incline was our main movement last night and top set was 305 lbs. for 7 reps which was a PR for me. Every day trying to improve a little bit.
