

(Based on documented legal evidence. See Sources) (Some extracts via Charles Thomson, award- winning investigative journalist)

- Both men have strenuously defended Jackson, including under oath, for decades. They only claimed abuse years after his death, whilst facing financial issues. Examples:

- Wade Robson filed his complaint immediately after losing out on the lead choreographer job at Michael Jackson Cirque du soleil. [source 1]

- Safechuck filed his complaint just weeks after his family business was sued for $1 million dollars. [source 2]

Since filing their lawsuit, both men have repeatedly changed their stories, frequently telling directly contradictory versions of the same supposed events.
Infact, Robson was caught lying under oath so brazenly, that the judge threw out his entire witness statement and stated that no rational juror could ever believe his account. [source 3]

- Between 2012 and 2014, Robson wrote two drafts of an abuse memoir and tried unsuccessfully to sell them to publishers. Meanwhile, he lied under oath and said he had never discussed his allegations with anyone except his lawyers. Each draft revealed that his story of abuse had changed significantly from one draft to the next. [source 4]

- When Robson's emails were released to the court, they showed that he had been emailing himself links to old tabloid stories about abuse allegations, meanwhile constructing his own story of abuse. [source 5]

- Robson found one particular story from the early 1990s which specifically named he and his mother. He emailed it to his mother and asked whether it was true. She replied, 'Wow, none of that is true'. He then decided to include it in his story anyway. [source 5]

- Robson was also ordered to produce his diaries as evidence. In them, he had written about how these allegations might rescue his failing career by making him 'relatable and relevant'. He also wrote, 'It's time for me to get mine.' [source 6]

- Robson claimed that Jackson had abused him 'hundreds of times'. Yet his mother's sworn testimony says that they went to Neverland roughly 14 times but Jackson was almost never there. She estimates the number of times they visited the ranch and he was actually there was four. [source 7]

- The lawsuit was originally filed under seal, meaning Robson tried to extract a settlement from the estate with zero publicity. The story only went public as Wade and Jame's filed an appeal, supported by the 'documentary'. [source 8]

LEAVING NEVERLAND: MAIN ISSUES

Now let's look at the film itself.

Safechuck describes in graphic detail, how he "had sex" with Michael almost every day on the second floor of Neverland Train Station, at the beginning of their 'relationship'. (1988-1989). This is physically impossible, as the station didn't exist then. Permits were granted in 1993, and construction didn't finish until 1994. [source 9]

Even if Safechuck 'mixed the dates', his sworn testimony states that abuse ended in 1992. Plus, by 1994, Jackson was married to Lisa Marie Presley and living in New York. Therefore the train story cannot be true, in any scenario. [source 10]

- Robson describes a week of alleged abuse while his family visited the Grand Canyon in 1990. This story is also impossible given that Robson's own mother swore under oath that Wade had accompanied them to the Grand Canyon. [source 11]

- Wade also claims that he spent 7 weeks in a row being molested by Michael in spring of 1990, Cali. However, Michael was in DC April 4-6 meeting the president, then at Trump's casino April 8, then Indiana April 8-11, later in hospital June 3-8. Once again, this timeline of abuse is physically impossible. [source 12/13]

- The movie implies that Brett Barnes was the next boy to be molested by Jackson. Brett Barnes vehemently denies these claims, and is suing the documentary for misrepresenting his relationship with Michael Jackson. [source 14/15]

- The film completely omits the fact that Wade dated Brandi Jackson, Michael's niece, for seven years. They were set up together by Michael Jackson. This dismantles the narrative that Michael 'deterred boys from women'. [source 16]

- Wade claimed he testified for Jackson in 2005 because of a dinner that took place before his testimony. However, Taj Jackson and family were also at that dinner. They confirm that the dinner took place after Wade had already testified. [source 17]

- Safechuck states that he was threatened and pressured by Michael's legal team to testify in the 2005 trial. This is a provable lie, as the judge ruled long before the trial started that Safechuck would not be used in the case. All testimony about Safechuck was literally banned from the courtroom. So Jackson's defence cannot possibly have pressured him to testify. [source 18/19]

- The film states that much abuse took place around the swimming pool area of the ranch. However, this area was surrounded by cameras, which were managed by a security firm. Santa Barbara officers also worked at the ranch. So at this point, the 'abuse cover up' would have to be a national conspiracy. [source 20]

- At the end of the film, Wade and James are seen burning 'original memoribilia'. However, Julien's Auction house has proven that this is a lie. Wade sold his original items to the house years prior, as he 'needed the money'. [source 21]

Now let's address the past allegations & historical misinformation/ misconceptions

- No child porn was ever found at Neverland. This rumour was created by a Rador Online tabloid article, which was perpetuated by other media outlets. The article has since been retracted. [source 22/23]

- No 'hush money' was paid to 'silence Chandler'.

The money paid in the 1993 civil case came from Jackson's insurance company, and was paid to allow for Jackson to have a fair criminal trial. This was a result of California law, which unconstitutionally allowed civil trials to be set before criminal trials. However, when the criminal case was brought to two grand juries, both refused to indict Michael, as there was no evidence of wrongdoing. [source 24/25]

- Each accuser has sought money via a civil settlement before criminal proceedings.

- Geraldine Hughes, legal secretary in the Chandler case in 1993, recently confirmed that the case was an 'elaborate extortion scheme'. There is also recorded tape of Chandler's father planning to extort Michael Jackson. [source 26/27]

- No positive description was made of Jackson's genitals. Photos were taken of Jackson's entire body. If there was a positive match, the evidence would've been used by the prosecution. It wasn't. The accuser described Michael as 'circumcised', which is proven false via Jackson's autopsy report. [source 28/29]

- If you're Michael Jackson and you know that you've abused Safechuck and Robson for several years, why would you ask them to testify twice on your behalf? Robson was chosen as Michael's strongest main defence witness, despite there being a dozen other children willing to testify. [source 24]

- A maid is said to have 'witnessed MJ showering with young Wade'. This is false. The court documents clearly outline that she admits that didn't happen. [source 30]

- Michael's 'bedroom' was the size of a two storey duplex. The 'alarm system' (a door bell sound) was fitted after a fan broke into Jackson's room and hid in a closet for seven days, as referenced in Kit Culkin's book. [source 31]

- Families had access to Michael's room at any time of the day. Children weren't 'separated from their parents'. There was an open door policy. This is referenced in Joy Robson's own deposition and Kit Culkin's book. [source 31/32]

- Latoya Jackson's abusive partner forced her to sell false stories to the tabloids, to obtain $$$$. She eventually had to be rescued from the relationship. [source 33/34]

- Michael Jackson was one of the most heavily scrutinized celebrities of all time. He endured an FBI investigation, secret wire tapping, raids on his home, illegal investigation, and trial by media. Yet, still, NO evidence of wrongdoing was ever found. Michael Jackson was cleared 14 times.

FACTS DON'T LIE. PEOPLE DO.

My first mistake was that I imagined I had the capacity to give all of Circue Show, Directing my first film and being a brand new Father.

I always wanted to do this MJ show, bady. But then when I needed to come to that Montreal meeting with ideas, I knew that I did not have an lota of creative space to th about ideas for the show at that time. I was so 100% consumed by the directing gig.

Now, I absolutely did the wrong thing by not calling you, explaining to you why and apologizing. I know that and I am extremely sorry. I was not myself for the last couple of months. That's the only way I can explain it. But no excuses. My bad.

cting gig didn't work out. It was consuming me in an unh being a brand new father. Maybe it just wasn't the right rry for the back and forth. But now that I no longer have the film more than to choreograph the MJ show. I understand completely pours about that later and the state of the

At the top of the page, the second bullet point, which is an italicized note that you added, it states, "My story of abuse and its effects will make me relatable/relevant." Why do you think that your story 6 of abuse makes you relatable and relevant?

I believe that it, in relation to -- in the course of studying this -- this knowledge came from my meditation teacher. So, I learned and practiced and 10 still practice Veda meditation. And before I took this 11 course I became interested in the idea of becoming a 12 teacher of Vedic meditation myself.

13 I believe what that's referring to is where the 14 teacher was talking about how as teachers of meditation, 15 you know, not everybody wants to learn meditation from the same kind of person with the same life story.
