1) The primary 2 columns are generated by our roulette simulator, please see how one can create a roulette simulator in excel to indicate you the best way to generate these two columns. Taking a precise look on the desk we will see that in 2 rows the distribution of red-black fields will not be equal. There may be one with equal reds-blacks but the other two have more of fields with each coloration. Over the following four days of Gen Con Online, we'll have a number of every day livestreams, conducting deep dives into lots of the person product lines that we mentioned during the In-Flight Report and providing you with the possibility to interact with the developers, ask your individual questions, and see the newly introduced games and expansions first-hand. Guests have 7 days to join in the game, otherwise the game will develop into open. Now we have four fields/numbers where we will only lose (the 4 black fields in the correct row). But in the other two rows if the number is black we win 1 chip. If we decide to place the 2-2 magenta chips to the rows on the left and the appropriate aspect then we must put the cyan chip on the black color.

Certainly if we lose then we have to extend our bet, this time it implies that we should put the 3x of the earlier.
