Giordano Receives O'Neil Scholarship

KENNETH GIORDANO, the seventh Matt O'Neil Scholarship winner, was recently presented $1,000 in memory of the late Matt O'Neil. Dorothy Connolly, community liaison for Massport, sponsor of the scholarship, was on hand as Mrs. Matt (Lillian) O'Neil made the presentation. Giordano, the son of Carmen and Carol Giordano of Cook Street, is a graduate of Boston College High School and will attend Northeastern University where he plans to study civil engineering. Shown front row (l. to r.) O'Neil, Giordano and Connolly. Back row (l. to r.) Pat Sweeney, Richard Canty, Jack Whelan and Edward Johnson, all members of the scholarship committee.

Council Holds Development Hostage

by Kathy Giordano
The Charlestown Neighborhood Council, admitting past mistakes, agreed not to endorse any further development parcels until a written document, signed by all parties involved, comes before them for approval. This major step toward assuring that the community receives all benefits promised them by a development team came forward at last Thursday's Housing and Development Committee-of-the-Whole meeting when a vote was expected on The Raymond Group's proposal to develop Parcels 4 and 7 at the Yard's End section of the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Council members did appear ready to send The Raymond Group forward to the Boston Redevelopment Authority Board of Directors for a public presentation of its plans to build a 400-room hotel on Parcel 4 and a biomedical research center on Parcel 7, but held the developer at bay until a "commitment in principle" was signed. This signed document would include a list of community benefits that would be derived from the multimillion-dollar projects.

With The Raymond Group's written agreement in hand, which includes the community's requests to keep all monetary benefits for housing and jobs in Charlestown, Chairman Dennis McLaughlin set out to obtain the same type of document from the city of Boston, the BRA, the Job Linkage Trust and the Hou-

Voke Says CANA Job To Be Posted

During their continuing dialogue on Charlestown's needs, Rep. Richard Voke was informed this past week by Department of Public Works Commissioner Jane Garvey that the process to fill the vacant Central Artery North Area (CANA) Liaison would begin immediately. Voke hailed the news as another major victory for the residents of Charlestown.
"Elected officials and residents alike have been in agreement that the position of Charlestown CANA Liaison is one that should exist and be filled by someone in our community. I am elated that Commissioner Garvey has heeded my calls for the posting of this vacancy because I truly believe local residents need to have direct input on those decisions that will forever affect life in Charlestown," said Voke.

According to Voke, both The Charlestown Patriot and The Boston Globe will run vacancy notices during the coming week. "I would expect to see something in the Globe this Sunday and the Patriot next Thursday," he said.
An important change in the responsibilities of the position will be the inclusion of the Central Artery work in the job description. "While David Flanagan did a tremendous job in representing Charlestown's best interests, he was not involved in the 'other big project,' that being the Central Artery/Tunnel Project. The newly hired liaison, however, will take on this additional role, thereby assuring Charlestown's strong voice is also heard by those now planning that massive project," stressed Voke.

Voke noted that this issue to enhance the duties of the liaison was one of the last points needing to be resolved before the posting could be announced. "Both Garvey and I felt it was important to make sure that the new person coming on board could serve effectively in the dual position. Fortunately, the Commissioner and her staff were able to rewrite the administrative

Voke praised the organization for its advocacy of youth-oriented programs and its annual Bunker Hill Day Breakfast, as well as the contributions of many of the members who have acted as advocates of change. # "Our future is here."

—Selma, Megan, Erica and Tom Birmingham

"My family has lived here for generations. We're raising our children here. I'm running for the State Senate because I want to make a positive contribution, to make sure that our communities remain decent places to live, work, and raise children."

How will Tom Birmingham make a difference?

Intelligence. Hard work. And guts.

Those qualities carried a local boy to Harvard, a Rhodes Scholarship, and Harvard Law.

But Tom's never forgotten where he came from. He never left.

He's raising a family here in the district. He works as a labor lawyer protecting working people's rights, and fighting to keep jobs in the district.

And as our next Senator, he'll do even more.

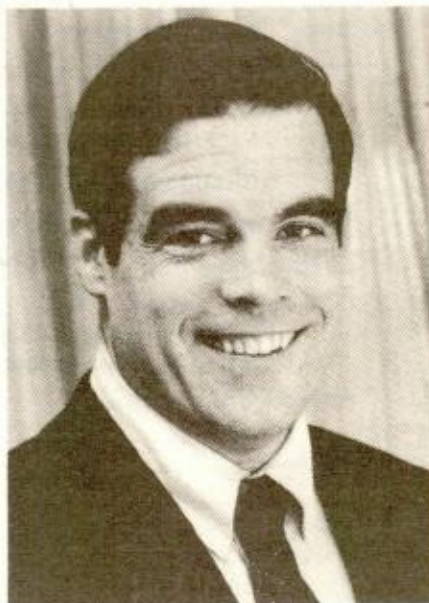

Tom Birmingham knows we can't afford "business as usual" on Beacon Hill. That's why two years ago he knocked on 12,000 doors in a courageous grass-roots campaign against a powerful incumbent.

Tom's back this year because we still aren't getting the services we deserve from state government.

Vote against "business as usual."

Vote Tom Birmingham for Senate.

sing Linkage Trust.

The July 19 meeting was chaired by Housing and Development Committee Chairman Tom Cunha. Other council members present were McLaughlin, Jim Mansfield, Mel Stillman, Jim Conway, Ellen D'Ambrosio, Ed Callahan, Stephen Collins, Moe Gillen, Nancy Keyes, Dan Kovacevic, Bob Wallace, Bill Galvin, Kate McDonough, Ken Stone, Peter Looney, Bud Coleman and Kevin Roche.

Much had been gained since the development team first presented its plans to the council. Among the community benefits that have come forward from The Raymond Group are 25 parking spaces for the residents of the Bricklayers affordable housing complex in the Navy Yard and the hiring of a community resident in a position as job monitor for all future development projects in the Navy Yard to assure that Charlestown residents receive a percentage of positions that will be made available. Also, at the suggestion of the developer, a subcommittee will be established with abutters, BRA personnel, council members and a representative from The Raymond Group overseeing the proposals from tentative to final designation.

A memorandum of understanding (MOU) has yet to be agreed upon between the council and the developer, but strides are being made to tighten up the preliminary draft benefits package presented to the community last week by The Raymond Group. Issues such as parking, building heights, percentage of jobs for Charlestown residents, affordable housing linkage money, other design possibilities for the hotel, job training opportunities, and the inclusion of the construction of the Haul Road north of Medford Street to help alleviate traffic congestion on neighborhood streets, are all weighing heavily on the minds of the council members.

Cunha stated: "Our job now is to vote to allow the developer to go forward into the process for design. We have been asked to help jumpstart the city's economy with the approval of this development proposal, but I'll be damned to do it and have the money generated by this project go elsewhere in the city. A document should be produced before designation stating that the money has to remain in Charlestown." He added, "We have to make sure abutters have their say before the key goes into the door."

Stone addressed his remarks to The Raymond Group saying, "Our responsibility to the community is tremendous. What we decide will affect Charlestown for years to come. We must get the best we can for the town." He added, "We don't mean to hold you up, but you'll have to be patient with us."

Coleman summed up the sentiments of the council when he stated, "I would like to see the proposal as a formal contract. I propose this be tabled until a more detailed, tightened up document comes back to the committee."

The 17 to 1 council vote stated that "until such time that the city of Boston, Jobs Linkage Trust, Housing Linkage Trust and BRA agree in principal to the recommendation of The Raymond Group that linkage money for jobs and housing remain in Charlestown and a formal signed document be prepared, the council will delay a vote."

No longer will verbal agreements or hand shakes, a "Townie" trademark, hold water with the Neighborhood Council. Written documentation will be required for all further development proposals within the town's boundaries. The future of Parcels 4 and 7 is being held hostage by a group of townspeople who have learned the hard way that "if it ain't in writing, it just ain't so."

The Housing and Development Committee is hopeful that the written document they seek will be presented to them before the end of July so that they will be able to vote on The Raymond Group's proposals before the council takes a vacation for the month of August.

The Housing and Development Committee-of-the-Whole will meet on these parcels on Tuesday, July 31 at 7 p.m. at the Kent Community School, 50 Bunker Hill St.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

Shipyard Park has become the target of roaming dogs. The damage to the park is regrettable. Signs have been posted by the Boston Redevelopment Authority restricting unleashed canines with the appropriate fine notated. BRA staff member Bob Rush is asking that dog owners adhere to the policy allowing for a clutter-free and clean park for all to enjoy. For the masters, have your trusty pooper scooper ready for Fido or your purse strings will be pinched by the enforcement section of the BRA.

A distinguished shade of emerald green has been selected for the signs on the ground floor of the Flagship Condominiums. One such sign hails the soon-to-open Good Taste Gourmet retail facility with an existing store in Marblehead. Also featured will be a catering division to accommodate the growing population. Goods and services will be available from these waterfront enterprises, whose development will accelerate over the next several months.

For the second year, Pier 8 was the site of the eighth annual Boston Antique and Classic Boat Festival on July 14 and 15, a picturesque setting for residents and visitors hosted by Shipyard Quarters Marina and The Raymond Group. Positioned near the Dragon Lady IV was Aschanti of Sala, a 1954 staysail schooner yacht whose port-of-call is London, England. Demonstrating many of its unique features, the crew of Aschanti were very informative. A 1929 Elco flat top cruiser, the Erawan owned by Francis and Claire Cadigan of Hingham, drew many spectators on the sun-drenched day. Old Glory, a 1909 Lawley cabin cruiser, belonging to Edgar Caffrey of Mattituck, N.Y. took the same showing slip as last year. At the west end of the first slip, its endurance and compact and well-stocked beverage bar attracted a steady flow for inspection. Representing the local region was the Syrinx, a 1983 Lyle Hess Cutter, under the ownership of Tony Davis of Charlestown. Observed enjoying the festivities was Jimmy Walsh, an activist, staff member of Congressman Joe Kennedy and a hilltopper. Jimmy had the longest walk from his residence at St. Martin Street of the locals. Engaging as always, Jimmy made the rounds as a true mariner. Local neighbor Phil Coleman was viewing the Dragon Lady IV, a modern yacht totalling 90 feet, that is available for charter. Phil's decision on renting for one week or two was not known as he departed the slips. This is a Megabucks declaration for Phil to dwell on. A special thanks to The Boston Harbor Association, the judges, festival committee and the joint sponsorship of Shipyard Quarters Marina and The Raymond Group.

Whether it was walking through the National Park Service to enjoy a Red Sox game for Ed Kavanaugh and Richie McCarthy, or walking to remain fit for Arthur Crotty, or bicycling for exercise as did Mike and Donna Hickey, the Yard is the in location. Over the past weeks, the above have taken advantage of the area and the elements to their satisfaction.

The Bunker Hill Associates have selected Friday, Oct. 26 for its fall social. Planned is a 50s evening of entertainment, as outlined by Chairman Peter Looney. Dress will be a throwback to a hectic and fast era. Many will have to retrieve favorite items from the cedar closet or basement vaults to be with the theme. Building 33 supervisor Bob Garvey has his wardrobe selected and is eagerly waiting for the gala 50s party. Future details will be forthcoming; but for Bob's haberdashery you will have to be in attendance on Friday, Oct. 26 at the K. of C. hall for the fashion show.

responsibilities of this position to accommodate this important consideration," Voke said.

In a related matter, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee also revealed that he has once again been successful in securing additional funding for CANA mitigation efforts. According to Voke, another $5.2 million has been approved for a host of services aimed at reducing the impact of CANA on local residents.

"Through the close cooperation of Commissioner Garvey, the invaluable assistance of Sen. Fran Doris and Boston City Councillor Bob Travaglini, and the outstanding community advocacy of the North Area Task Force, we have been able to address the needs of the community as they relate to these issues and others. I have no doubt that efforts like these will pay great future dividends for Charlestown," concluded Voke.

AN OFFER YOU CAN'T REFUSE?

When your agent called to say she was coming over with a colleague who had an offer on your home, you got excited. Then you saw it, and got an adrenaline rush. It was full price and didn't ask you to convey the grand piano or any of your children. Your agent was hesitant, however, to recommend that you accept it.

All too often, an offer that looks terrific isn't, and a good agent looks beyond the sales price in evaluating it. If, for example, the financial qualifications are shaky, there is a promissory note instead of a check for the earnest money deposit, or it may have subtle terms or conditions that involve considerable risk to a seller. Often, objections can be addressed in a counter-offer, and you and the buyers can work it out. In some cases, however, the best idea is to just say "no." Our job is not to make a decision for you, but to be sure that you understand fully what the offer includes, and what the risks or benefits to you might be.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Silva Realty. Call us at 242-7470 or stop by our office at 371 Somerville Ave. in Somerville.

Not For Nothin' . . . But Have You Heard . . .

- Welcome Back . . . vacationer Judy Evers. Your well-deserved week off left us fending for ourselves. We survived, but so glad you're back on the job again.
- One Year Ago This Week . . . a Charlestown couple hit Megabucks only to learn that they had to share their winnings with 14 other lucky better. This week, a Charlestown woman picked the six lucky numbers and found out she had to share the jackpot with two others. That's OK! It's still much better than our luck has been . . . Happy spending!
- Celebrating Birthdays . . . on July 28 will be Life Focus Center director Jack Millerick and Charlestown resident Tom Keigney . . . on July 31, former Charlestown Mayor Claire Lynch will note the anniversary of her birth in grand style . . . Have a great year!
- A Golden Anniversary . . . will be celebrated at a gala reception at Florian Hall tomorrow night by Martin and Mary (Geswell) Pierce. We hope the next 50 years are as happy as the first 50, Marty and Mary!
- Our Wish To Have Him Home Was Premature . . . Word that John Curtin would be released from the hospital last week was not accurate. John's wife Alice informs us that a stint at the Spaulding Rehab is in order, for a while at least. She tells us that John has been delighted at the get well wishes he has received from his Little League players, present and former, as well as the notes from their families and his many friends in the community. Continue to wish him speedy recovery by forwarding your wishes to the Spaulding on Nashua Street in Room 811 . . . You're missed, John. Get Well soon!
- The Search Continues . . . for that right person who has the time, talent and patience to organize a new youth choir at St. Mary's. If you can spare about an hour a week, can play the guitar or organ and love children, why not call the Rectory at 242-4664?
- A Phantom Truck . . . being heard nightly along Main Street is driving some residents to distraction. Each night between 12:15 and 12:45 a.m., a large noisy yellow "T" truck wakes up residents on its route to — heaven only knows where. Trying to get a fix on the vehicle has been unsuccessful. We need the truck number or license plate. If you can get it, give us a call. Maybe we can put a stop to these nightly wanderings.
- "12C" . . . is the license plate on the car of that key guy in Thompson Square. Town Shade key maker Leo McCue won the plate in the Registry lottery. Good for you, Leo.
- Have you noticed . . . a change in your water lately? The Boston Water and Sewer Commission has been doing a study in town to locate unaccounted for water. The crew is testing each pipe for leaks from Sunday night to Friday morning, between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., and the procedure might give you rusty water or air in the pipes. The project will continue until the end of August. If you have any questions, call 330-9400.
- Quote of the week . . . Neighborhood Council member Kevin Roche informed a gathering last week of a wise proverb he has learned from fellow member Tom Cunha: "Never be afraid to ask dumb, simple questions." This was put to good use by Roche when he queried The Raymond Group on their proposals to develop the Navy Yard.
- Cool It Ain't . . . at the Mary Colbert Apartments on Devens Street. The residents of the elderly housing complex lost their air conditioning system a week ago and have been doing the best they can during these "dog days of summer." Word from one who knows informs us that the replacement of the component that broke has to be flown in from out of state thus delaying the repairs. Hope all needed repairs will be made by week's end!
- North End Feast . . . this weekend, July 27 to 29, will take place on Hanover Street. The Feast of St. Joseph will be celebrated. Enjoy!
- Are the kids bored? . . . Don't forget about the Kids Free Program at the USS Constitution Museum in the Navy Yard. Every Saturday throughout 1990, kids under 17, when accompanied by an adult, are admitted free. It's fun and educational, parents!
- Tick, Tick, Tick . . . It has been 125 days since a Charlestown Community Liaison has been on the CANA project in City Square . . . BUT . . . we have scored a victory! Through the diligence of Rep. Richard Voke and the constant public demand for a community voice on the project through this column, Commissioner Jane Garvey has announced that the position will be filled. Help wanted ads will appear this week in the Sunday Globe and the Aug. 2 edition of the Patriot, we're told. Watch for them! . . . Tip o' the hat to Rep. Voke and to City Councillors Travaglini and McCormack and the Neighborhood Council for their letters of support . . . We'll continue to count the days until we see a Charlestown resident on the City Square project watching out for our best interests . . . Tick, Tick, Tick!

Carrs Receive Approval For Mini-Mart At Gasoline Station

by Gloria J. Conway

Francis and Donna Carr, along with Bob Emeott, territorial manager of the Shell Oil Co., met with neighbors on July 23 to outline plans for their Rutherford Avenue facility. The Carrs and the oil company had filed with the city of Boston Board of Appeal to change the designation of the property from a gasoline service station to a gasoline service station and 24-hour convenience store.

The potential impact of changes in the operation brought nearly 20 persons to the Mary Colbert Apartments to review the plans and ask questions of the owners. Ken Stone chaired the meeting.

Emeott told the residents that there has been a trend throughout the industry to add services to existing stations in order to provide the dealer with more money and added service for the customers. He said that the Shell Oil Co. has been adding small stores to its stations, calling it a mini-mart. He added that it is getting tougher for station owners to meet the increased cost of insurance and overhead without an ancillary source of money, and the mini-mart would provide such a source. He emphasized that it would not be a full convenience store.

Donna Carr stated that presently the vending company profits from the machines on the premises and pays only a small fee to the station owners. She added that the profit from the sale of gasoline is only 3- to 4-cents per gallon.

Fran Carr said that the existing vending machines will be replaced with coolers and, in addition to the tonic and snacks already on sale, they will offer milk, bread, newspapers and coffee. He added that nothing will be cooked on the premises. Donna Carr said that it is possible that they might sell prepackaged sandwiches, similar to those found on a canteen truck.

When questioned by Stone as to an increase in time at the station for customers making purchases, Fran Carr said that the time should be diminished as now the attendant has to take change from the customers or make change and get the item from the machine. With the new coolers, he will be able to just reach in.

Fran Carr said that during the day, when there are two attendants on duty, customers will be able to enter the store area as they do now and pick out the items they wish to purchase. After 9 p.m. when only one attendant is on duty, the door will be locked and customers will be served through the change window. He added that present security measures would continue to be in operation.

When asked about the station's hours of operation,

Fran Carr stated that they have been open continuously, 24-hours a day, for just over a year, and with a short break, for nine months prior to that time. He said that when the station closed at midnight, it was frequently the target of vandalism. Emeott added that an operator can sell 400 to 600 gallons of gasoline during the night, noting that this is a service to customers and, in addition it provides a safe haven for someone in trouble.

Another concern of area residents was that the station and area be kept clean. Emeott stated that Carr has had an excellent record on regular and unannounced inspections by the company. He said that with the mini-mart, the station falls under a more extensive inspection routine that includes, besides general cleanliness, rotation of stock and currently dated packaging.

As to the cleanliness, Donna Carr stated that she presently cleans on a daily basis and they plan on a professional cleaner when the work is completed.

Concerning the renovations, the Carrs stated that there will be no changes in building size. Fran Carr related that the exterior concrete walk will be widened by two feet and a ramp added for handicapped accessibility. There will be a handicapped accessible bathroom installed and the entrance will be moved toward the center of the building with the installation of a double door to allow for wheelchair access. The change window will be moved to accommodate the new door. Donna Carr added that the exterior will be brightened by painting it soft grey and yellow, the new Shell colors.

Answering a question on landscaping, Emeott said that Shell is a big supporter of landscaping. Donna Carr added that the existing trees will remain.

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, related a rumor that the station would be changing ownership. Assured by the Carrs that they have every intention of remaining on the site, Evers stated that she felt that it gave the residents more security knowing that the station is staying in the Carr family and that they would be available if there was a problem.

The general consensus was that the neighbors left the meeting satisfied with the presentation by the Carrs.

****

The request for a change in zoning went before the Board of Appeal on July 24. The plans were presented to the board, and testimony was heard.

Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini testified in favor of the change, noting the size of the structure would not be altered. He asked for approval from the board based on the integrity of the Carr family.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority asked the board to approve the petition, subject to design review.

Evers reported to the board on Tuesday night's community meeting. She asked for approval after reviewing the plans for the station's renovations, adding that relief should be given only to the present owners, and any change in ownership would require coming back to the community and the board.

The decision of the board was to approve the plans for the gas station at One Rutherford Ave. for the appellant only, subject to design review by the BRA.

Two-Alarm Fire Hits Pearl Street Houses

by Kathy Giordano

The first alarm was struck at 10:46 p.m. last Saturday night for a fire on Pearl Street. After the second alarm was sounded at 10:54 p.m., seven engine companies and five ladder trucks were on the scene fighting the blaze.

According to Fire Department personnel, the July 21 fire was the work of an arsonist. The origin of the fires is believed to have been in the basements of 16 and 18 Pearl St. where two separate fires were found to have been set. Witnesses at the scene reported seeing a suspicious person on the roof of one of the four-story brick houses just before the blaze began.

The main fire originated in an overstuffed chair located under the basement staircase in 18 Pearl St., quickly spreading up the stairwell from the cellar to the penthouse.

The second fire began in the cellar laundry room at 16 Pearl St. Metal-clad doors at the entrance to each of the units prevented heavy damage to the apartments, other than smoke and water damage, according to an Arson Squad member. The Fire Department has estimated the cost of damaged to both buildings at $125,000.

A tenant of one of the buildings reported that she heard someone trying to enter her apartment from a rear door just before the fire was discovered. After calling out to the person, she heard footsteps running up onto the roof and disappearing. The arson squad is investigating the witness reports.

Seven residents of the six apartments were forced out onto the street, but no injuries were reported. Fire apparatus from Somerville and Cambridge assisted the Boston Fire Department in quelling the blaze.

Hundreds of area residents, hearing the continuous wail of sirens and spotting the billowing white smoke overhead, appeared at the scene.

The area of Pearl and Bartlett streets has been the scene of two other suspicious fires within the last few months. Two separate fires on Bartlett Street are still under investigation. The Arson Squad is trying to determine if all three fires are connected.

The Championship game will have been played last night, July 25 (weather permitting). Charlestown will have faced South Boston American for the second time. The first time Charlestown won 9-4. A win will get them the District 9 Pennant and advancement to the Bi-District game on Saturday, July 28 at Santoro Field at 2 p.m.

A loss means they will have to play again tonight, Thursday, July 26. A win in this game presents the same reward — A loss we won't even think about for the season would be over.

Winning the game on Saturday, July 28 will put the team into the Divisional Bracket with games beginning Monday, July 30. There is no information available at this time.

Dunbar Makes Mark On Boston Park League

by Grant B. Southward

In a Charlestown connection that dates back to Navy Yard teams in the Boston Park League, a former Townie today continues to make his mark in the venerable baseball league.

He's John Dunbar, the veteran third baseman for the Simonelli Oilers which is currently making a strong bid for a spot in the Park League's upcoming playoffs.

A rugged hard-nose in semipro baseball ranks, Dunbar was honored by league managers voting him to the Park League All-Star squad that recently bested Intercity League's All-Stars in Melrose, 6-3.

Son of John and Rita Dunbar of 73 School St. in Charlestown, the 25-year-old Dunbar with the cheery outlook and great nature, married the former Jill Flaherty of South Weymouth and the newlyweds now live in Dorchester.

Dunbar went to St. Francis at the top of Bunker Hill Street for eight years, then to Boston College High for four years, before Northeastern where he graduated as an electrical engineer. His brother Joe lives in Beverly, and two sisters, Kara and Patty, both live at home with their parents.

Young Dunbar speaks with feeling of the close friendships that develop from participation in the fast-paced Park League.

"These are mostly college kids, doing a good job and choosing to play ball in the summers. For me, I just enjoy playing, figuring perhaps I can continue another couple years," Dunbar explained.

Going back, he had played third at B.C. High, but did not play at Northeastern. Norman Walsh, his former high school coach, suggested to Roland Garipey he might be able to use Dunbar to good advantage. So, he joined Garipey's Millstreams in 1985, and also played two years for Great Scott in 1987 and 1988.

After a year away from

the game, he returned to play for George Simonelli's team now engaged in a knock-down fight for fourth place or better in the Park League's 61st season of hectic competition.

When he married this past spring, Dunbar's intention was not to play ball in consideration of its possible impact on his marriage.

"But my wife was in favor of my continuing, and it's worked out well. We honeymooned in late April through early May, just in time for me to get in shape for the league's start in mid-May," he said.

A long-ball basher, as well as a timely singles hitter, Dunbar currently is off his homerun pace of nine hits in 1987 for Great Scott. He's hit three homers so far this season for Simonelli under its new coach Joe Walsh, who is baseball coach at Suffolk University.

Funny thing about Dunbar's homerun wallops, in his 1985 season with Roland AC, he whacked six in the first six games of the season.

"Then I did nothing in homeruns for the rest of the season," he recalls ruefully.

But the effervescent Dunbar doesn't let rue long rule his outlook. He's enjoying his league-wide friendships developed over the last six years, and continues to take a charged-up approach to the game as one of Charlestown's boys of summer in the highly-competitive Boston Park League.

Ramblings Of A Townie

This past week, after coffee and my favorite doughnuts at Bunker Hill Street, this "Townie" drove up over Lexington Street, crossed the square and continued down Winthrop Street. On the left, 67 was still with a red door and across the way another door had a fresh coat of paint — red.

For an old Townie reflecting on earlier times and the painting of a door red, he can still hear people in the square quietly say, "that just doesn't happen in Char-les-town." Being a G.I. just returned from WWII in Germany and a college freshman at Massachusetts College of Art, he finished the door and continued taking the abuse.

It is 1990, the young G.I. is now retired from the faculty of Rochester Institute of Technology in upstate New York and living in a home he designed for his WWII war bride in Woburn. The years have passed since the death of his wife Else at Lourdes, and with the coming of summer, he prepares for the long journey to the place of her death and the place where he has volunteered as a helper since 1968.

Wipe those tears away, these ramblings of a Townie have a happy ending. The college freshman who dared to paint a door red is one of a handful of Americans who have been invited to be part of the permanent collection of the Bibliothèque Nationale de Paris (print collection). A selection of his images are in the collection of prints at Oxford University, the University of New Castle, the University of Glasgow and the print archives of the Vatican Library. This journey began at 67 Winthrop Street in Char-les-town, Massachusetts.

Brown Bag Bookies To Meet

The book under discussion will be Farm: A Year in the Life of an American Farmer by Richard Rhodes. To Americans born in the city, farming has become nearly as mysterious as nuclear physics. Still the chancest and most dangerous of occupations, farming endures as America's Jeffersonian ideal, despite the hardship and economic challenge. Rhodes shows why in this moving, inspirational, but also down-to-earth and instructive book.

'THINGS WHICH ARE MOST SURELY BELIEVED'

This quote is taken from the Gospel of Luke 1:1, and clearly explains what we would like to say in this message. Many Churches are known more for what they don't believe than for what they do believe in the Bible. We firmly believe: That Salvation is by Faith in Jesus Christ alone without the intercession of priests, Church or dead saints, (Eph. 2:8,9; 1 Tim. 2:5). That Baptism itself does not save, but is an answer of a good conscience toward God. Thus Baptism is simply a symbol of my inward Faith in Christ as my Savior, (1 Peter 3:21). That the gifts of healing, tongues, prophecy, interpretations of tongues are no longer in effect today, as we have received the complete Word of God, (Mark 16:17-20; 1 Cor. 13:8-10). That the Great Commission of the Church is to preach the Saving Gospel to every creature and not as some so called "Fundamentalist Leaders" preach, that we must make America great again by closing all houses of ill repute, putting prayer and Bible reading back into the schools, and "Christianizing" people instead of reconciling them to God by Faith in Jesus Christ, (Matt. 28:16-20).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include name, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

Thank You, Bob

I want to thank Boston School Committee member Bob Cappucci for taking care of the traffic hazard on Terminal Street. The fence around the basketball court at the Lt. Michael Quinn facility had been creating difficulty with truck maneuverability because of its position in the road. The repaired fence is back up in its original position, and the basketball court can be properly utilized once again without chasing balls onto Terminal Street. Once again, Bob, thanks for providing the necessary leadership.

Dan O'Neil

Thank You

Dear Editor,

Now that we have our showers back at the Training Field, we want to thank everyone who worked so hard to make sure we had this equipment to cool us down on hot summer days.

We are told that someone from Mishawum Park finally came up with a spray-bar and we are very grateful. We also want to thank Judy Evers for all her help and everyone who made phone calls to Councillor Robert Travaglini on our behalf.

Thank you,
The Kids from the Training Field

Take A Dip!

To Whom It May Concern,

In reaction to the problem with the sprinkler at the Training Field (as it will always be to true Townies), I am appalled at the destructive act of an obviously brave soul who under the cover of night willfully destroyed city property. I truly believe that this was not done by a Townie but perhaps a resident of "Winthrop Square," a person who never ran through a sprinkler to cool off on a hot summer day in the city. I quite honestly doubt this upstanding and law(?)-abiding citizen responsible for this mature action ever gave the children a thought.

Well, whoever you are, next time the happy laughter of children playing in the sprinkler begins to annoy you, I have a suggestion. Why don't you leave your air conditioned home, slip into your air conditioned car, go to your health or country club and go soak your head! Excuse me. I mean take a dip and leave the kids alone.

Sincerely,
Eileen (Buckley) Leader
A Former Townie

A Real Example Of 'Townie Pride'

Dear Gloria,

For the past eight years Bruce and I have been hosting the cablecast of the annual Bunker Hill Day Parade on channel 3. As we all know, the parade gets bigger and better each year and Boston Community Access TV is very generous in giving us time to share our event with the rest of the city to show what "Townie Pride" really means.

My thanks to those who called or stopped us on the street to let us know how much they enjoy seeing the parade on TV. Where would we be without our viewers? We enjoy bringing it to you each year but because Bruce and I are the most visible people on the cablecast doesn't mean we deserve all the credit.

Without the hard-working Parade Committee, under the direction of Jim Conway, our annual celebration wouldn't be as grand. It takes a lot of money and a full year of work to put a parade of this magnitude on the streets without losing sight of the real meaning of the day through Patriotic Exercises and Ecumenical Services. Jim's enthusiasm and genuine interest in staging a big event motivates the rest of us on the committee to do our best — and then a little bit more. Without his countless unselfish hours of effort and planning, our parade would be just another parade. Without his leadership, work, and special inspiration the parade would never be the success it is.

For the past two years the cablecast of the parade has featured a superior crew composed mostly of Charlestown residents trained by Community Access and led by Kevin Burke of Mystic Street. A good deal of credit goes to these people who give of their time and talents to share our special day with channel 3 viewers. Without the technical crew, the cablecast wouldn't be possible. Our Charlestown crew this year consisted of Kevin Burke, Carole Zanstuck, Billy Marsden, Francis Kirk and Ron Taylor.

It was an exceptionally hot day and I appreciate all those who stopped by with cold water for us to drink and with suntan oil so I wouldn't get burned sitting in the hot sun. We went on vacation shortly after the parade, so I haven't seen the cablecast yet but I'm sure it will be repeated soon.

A special thank you goes to my sister, Joan Melanson, who does such a good job of assisting us year after year and to Francis Kirk who spent a lot of hours helping me with the script, the line-up of our guests and special tapings in addition to his work with the Parade Committee. Special thanks to The Charlestown Patriot for the exceptional coverage of the parade and related events each year and to those groups subsidizing the events during Charlestown Pride Week. And, of course, thanks to all who lined the streets to watch the parade. This is what it's really all about.

Regards,
Norita Lee

Our Thanks

We would like to extend our thanks to a special guy, Denny Scannell, and to Bobby Scalli, Paul Herrick, L.P. Sound and Kevin Dever. Also, to all the thoughtful people who made a wonderful night for us, for your friendship, for your time and for being there — thank you.

Sincerely,
Jimmy and Marie McLaughlin, and our Steven and Nikki

Charlestown Classroom Featured In Sunday Globe 'Fun Pages'

Students in Maria D'Itria's fifth-grade class at the Harvard-Kent School in Charlestown are the guest editors of the July 29 "Fun Pages" in The Boston Sunday Globe.

Classmates worked with their teachers and "Fun Pages" Editor Marie Franklin to research and write stories for the four-page section. The "Fun Pages" include interviews with interesting people, editorials and school polls on issues important to kids, an advice column on student problems, and puzzles, games and illustrations. D'Itria's students were responsible for determining story topics and writing and editing their own copy.

Share Your Time

Story readers are needed to work with Boston young people this summer. You can give kids a head start on next school year by sharing as little as a half hour a week.

Call Boston Partners In Education Inc. at 451-6145.

Commissioner Garvey Responds

The Honorable Michael J. McCormack
Boston City Council
One City Hall Square
Boston, Mass. 02201

Dear Councillor McCormack:

I am writing in response to your letter of support for the position of CANA liaison to the Charlestown community.

I could not agree more with your comments. The liaison does serve as a vital link between the project and the community. I believe that one reason the project has gone so well is because of the communication that has existed between the Department and neighborhood residents. Clearly, the liaison has been a crucial part of that communication.

Within the next few weeks, the Department will be advertising to fill the liaison position and we hope to have someone on board by the fall. In the meantime, any questions or comments can be directed to Ed Barr at the CANA Field Office at 242-5980, or to John McDermott, assistant to the District Highway Engineer in District 8 at 482-2180.

I appreciate your comments as well as the patience of the Charlestown community during this difficult financial time. I look forward, as I know you do, to a continued productive relationship between the Department and the community as we work toward completion of the CANA project.

Sincerely,
Jane F. Garvey, Commissioner
Massachusetts Department of Public Works

What is the first thing that comes to mind when you think of the Boston Red Sox? They could be a top American League Division team, maybe?

What about when you think of Joe Morgan and Dennis Lamp, Red Sox manager and pitcher, respectively?

When The Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston think of these two men, it too thinks of their incredible performances on the baseball field. However, the club also thinks of their off-the-field dedication to providing positive role models for Boston's inner-city youth and their tireless work on behalf of communities in need.

On Thursday, Aug. 2, the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club presents the fourth annual Boston Red Sox Community Service Award to Manager Joe Morgan and Pitcher Dennis Lamp during a dinner at the Schrafft Center in Charlestown. The event will get underway at 5:30 p.m.

This awards dinner serves as a fund raiser for one of the most critically needed youth service centers in the city. With summer upon us, which brings longer daylight hours and more free time for teen-agers to hang-out on the streets, the Charlestown Clubhouse is needed now more than ever. The money raised through this effort will assist the club in funding this summer's teen programs.

The Charlestown Clubhouse Teen Center is open Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights from 6 to 10 p.m. It provides drop-in activities and counseling services in addition to a safe, supervised environment. Some events underway this summer include: sidewalk cook-outs, pizza and movie nights, game tournaments, whiffleball, 3-on-3 basketball, evening beach trips, roller skating and weekday trips to Red Sox games.

WCVB-TV Sports Director Mike Lynch will be the evening's Master of Ceremonies as well as provide live coverage of the dinner during Channel 5's 6 p.m. broadcast. Young members from the club will also be in attendance. The Community Service Awards Dinner is sponsored by The Flatley Co.

Tickets are $25 each and may be purchased by calling Jerry Steimel, clubhouse director, at 242-1775.
