What is CryptoNewsNet?

Cryptonewsnet was founded on the idea that real news should be decentralized and not centralized. We aim to create a free experience where everyone can share their stories, videos, podcasts and any other content. We aim to work with various communities to generate a rich variety of news.

We are fine tuning a platform that will seamlessly allow all of our users to submit their stories on our site. However, once the article is submitted it will be reviewed by admins that are selected by the community to review the article before postings. We simply want to make sure the content is legitimate and not spam and it will be posted on the site.

Each week we will pick three users who have the most viewed article, and then we will reward those users with our NEWS tokens. This incentivizes users to become creators of quality content in order to collect NEWS. We give everyone a fair chance at winning NEWS tokens because anyone can write for us and submit articles.
