I see a smaller body, yes, but I also see her pain. I see self-hatred. I see her suffering from an eating disorder. I see her extreme anxiety and fear of food. I see hours at the gym & sore knees. I see her heart racing as she steps on the scale every single day. I see disappointment with herself, her body, her efforts because it's NEVER enough. I see her taking 6 laxatives at a time. I see her desire to be seen by shrinking herself. How bizarre is that? :[

É possível comprar Clenbuterol (o princípio ativo é cloridrato de Clenbuterol), sob a marca Spiropent, em diversas páginas brasileiras.

OKAY I want to make something very clear. WEIGHT FLUCTUATION (GAIN OR LOSS) is completely NORMAL and HUMAN!! It's so easy to look at someone else and say "ugh body goals" or body shame yourself out of envy
