

PROTECT TEXANS FROM UNINSURED MOTORISTS

SUPPORT HB 1739

When Texans pay more to purchase insurance to protect their families from uninsured and underinsured motorists (UM/UIM), they expect their insurance company to pay up -- and pay fast -- after a wreck. But a Texas Supreme Court case called Brainard v. Trinity Universal Insurance complicates things unnecessarily, forcing Texans to go to court first before their insurance company has to pay up.

HB 1739 by Rep. Charlie Geren will restore the law, restore our rights, and cut down on unnecessary litigation, making UM/UIM benefits due "once liability and damages have become reasonably clear." This is a common-sense approach that cuts down on cost and delay, getting insurance companies back to properly paying claims, so Texans can get back to work.
