Uprising Promotions

Brooklyn, NY-based Uprising Promotions was founded in 2013 by undefeated light heavyweight boxer, Ronson Frank (17-0, 9 KOs), who comes from a long line of boxing lineage in his family. Since its creation, Uprising Promotions has consistently put on action-packed, competitive fights while providing a platform for young boxing prospects to showcase their skills. At Uprising Promotions, we strategically match fighters to ensure fans are treated to a compelling night of boxing every time we put on a show. We believe in challenging our fighters while also providing opportunities to combatants who are hungry to prove themselves.

Louisville Memorial Auditorium

Louisville Memorial Auditorium was created as a memorial to commemorate the local community who served in World War I. The Greek Revival building was designed by internationally renowned architect, Thomas Hastings, who was assisted by Louisville architect E.T. Hutchings. It has been hosting a variety of concerts, stage productions, graduations, meeting presentations and dance recitals and competitions, while serving the community since 1929. It has been designated a landmark by the Louisville Landmarks Commission and is on the National Register of Historic Places.
