

Unlike The Quest Cape

The Blood Pact is the first free-to-play quest we've released in many years, not counting the tutorial and seasonal events. It's meant as a suitable first adventure for a brand new character. Completing the quest will reward you with a set of weapons and access to the Lumbridge Catacombs a dungeon that's also designed for low-level characters, full of new monsters to fight, which drop the collectable parts of a new costume item.

Summary:

Where to start The Blood Pact:

Speak to Xenia in Lumbridge Church's graveyard.

Requirements to complete The Blood Pact:

None.

In other news...

With the release of The Blood Pact, there are now 300 Quest Points available in the game. If Runescape have the full 300 points, make sure you speak to Xenia again after completing The Blood Pact, as she has a special reward to help you show off your dedication to quests. Unlike the Quest Cape, the new item's requirements will stay fixed at 300 Quest Points even after new quests are released once you can wear it, you can wear it forever.

Weapons with a high-enough slash attack can now cut through webs. These are items such as the whip, Dharok's axe, the dragon 2h and battleaxe, godswords, Guthan's spear and the staff of light.
