Canadian National Anthem

O Canada!
Our home and native land!
True patriot love in all thy sons command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
The True North strong and free!
From far and wide,
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
God keep our land glorious and free!
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.
O Canada, we stand on guard for thee.

Swiss National Anthem

When the morning skies grow red,
And o'er their radiance shed,
Thou, O Lord, appeareth in their light,
When the Alps glow bright with splendour,
Pray to God, to Him surrender,
For you feel and understand,
For you feel and understand,
That he dwelleth in this land.
That he dwelleth in this land.

The Star-Spangled Banner

Oh, say! can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming;
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Induction Ceremony

The World Drum Corps Hall of Fame recognizes individuals who have contributed significantly to the development and continuing excellence of drum and bugle corps activity over a number of years across North America and beyond.

The World Drum Corps Hall of Fame operated as an open forum by its founder Vincent A. Bruni from 1976 to 1989. In 1990 Mr. Bruni endorsed a suggestion from fellow associates, Bill McGrath Sr, John Laskowski, Joseph Capone, and William "Bill" Hooten to establish a Certificate of Incorporation. This was initiated through the University of the State of New York Department of Education and the WDCHOF still holds that status today.

New members are elected in four categories: Members, Associate Members, President's Lifetime Achievement Award recipients and Distinguished Professional Achievement Award recipients.

Members are selected on the basis of their achievements through many years in drum corps activity. These achievements include, but are not limited to: arranging, administration, adjudication, instruction, innovation, show design and contest promotion,

Those nominated for Associate Member include individuals in an active Junior, Senior or All-Age Drum Corps, including Alumni Corps and Alumni Associations. Nominees must have dedicated at least five years of service to one of these groups as a performer or in a support role.

The President's Lifetime Achievement Award is presented to those who have dedicated a major portion of their adulthood to a particular field in the Drum Corps activity.

The Distinguished Professional Achievement Award confers full regular membership status to a qualified former drum and Bugle Corps member. This is an individual who has transitioned to other professional settings by developing mastery of skills and attention to detail through the self-discipline that Drum Corps training provides. The inaugural winner of this category, inducted in 2004, is retired astronaut Christopher Ferguson, who marched with Philadelphia PAL cadets in the 1970's .

All World Drum Corps Hall of Fame members are encouraged to lend their efforts and experience to any persons, corps or related organizations seeking help in promoting and continuing drum and bugle corps activity.

A vital purpose of the Hall of Fame is to foster camaraderie among individuals and organizations seeking help in promoting and continuing drum and bugle corps activity, enhancing constructive contributions in all areas.

Since its founding in 1976 by the late Vince Bruni of Rochester, New York, membership in the World Drum Corps Hall of Fame has grown from six charter members to 525 men and women from across the United States, Canada and Europe. Membership reflects 312 members and 213 associate members.

Associate Member Inductees

Rich Hammond of Lansdale, PA

Rich Hammond has been a percussion caption/coordinator and arranger for many well-known Pennsylvania drum and bugle corps for more than a quarter of century. During that period, he served as director of Cadets 2 and Cadets 2 winter percussion. He has also worked with Reading Buccaneers, Glassmen and North Penn Indoor Percussion. From 1989 to 1991 he was percussion tech for both Crossmen and the Westshoremens. During almost a decade of activity in the 1980s, he played snare drum with Crossmen, Reading Buccaneers and Hamilton Knights.

Bill Ives of Media, Pennsylvania

Bill Ives has been a key figure in the movement to preserve the history of drum and bugle corps activity. He has amassed a staggering 16,000 items: memorabilia, souvenirs, programs, newspaper and magazine articles, corps buttons and badges and more than 230 vintage uniforms. For the past 20 years he has displayed many of these items regularly at drum corps events in the United States and Canada. He has also created a detailed computerized listing of drum corps in the USA and Canada.

He has served in various committee and management positions with groups including Jersey Surf and Archer Epler Musketeers. He has marched in various color guard positions with the Musketeers. He was named Musketeer of the year in 1982; received the Spirit of the Musketeer award in 1996; was named Drum Corps International (DCI) volunteer of the year in 2011. He is a member of the Pennsylvania Drum Corps Hall of Fame.

Charles (Charlie) King of West Palm Beach, Florida

Charlie King's years of close involvement with Connecticut Hurricanes began in 1976 when he played baritone in the horn line. He was a corps member when Hurricanes won the Drum Corps Associates (DCA) world championship in 1981. He has worn many hats during his years of involvement, including serving on the board of directors and the advisory board. He has also been president of the Hurricanes alumni association. He ran the corps souvenir table for 15 years and served as a volunteer on the DCA committee, assisting with vendor coordination. He has been a member of the team running the FanFare DCA contest for more than 25 years. He is a charter member of the Connecticut Hurricanes Hall of Fame.

Peter Propfe of New Hartford, Connecticut

Since 1995, Peter Propfe has served as director of the Connecticut Hurricanes and on the board of directors. Prior to this service with Hurricanes, he was director of Connecticut Vagabonds from 1980 to 1988. He began his drum corps activity playing first soprano horn with the Vagabonds in 1967. He then played soprano and mellophone with New York Skyliners, beginning in 1974. Since then, he also played mellophone with Connecticut Hurricanes, Connecticut Alumni and Skyliners alumni.

John Riley of Lansdale, Pennsylvania

John Riley began his long history of percussion activity as a performer, instructor and judge when he started playing snare drum with PAL Cadets in 1979. He has worked as instructor, consultant or caption head with such well-known corps as Reilly Raiders alumni, Jersey Surf, Riptide indoor percussion group, Skyliners, Crossmen, Westshoremens, East Coast Jazz, Sunrisers, Archer Epler Junior drum corps. He also served terms as Westshoremens operations director and Westshore Cadets operations director. In earlier years, he played snare drum with Black Watch, Bridgemen and Crossmen.

World Drum Corps HALL of FAME

President's Award 2018

Top Secret Drum Corps Organizer & Director Erik Julliard

It's no secret that organizer and director Erik Julliard has produced one of the best drum corps in the world: the widely popular and admired Top Secret Drum Corps of Basel, Switzerland. He is being inducted into the World Drum Corps Hall of Fame as the 2018 winner of the President's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Top Secret originated in 1991 when seven talented local drummers founded the group to play more than traditional carnival drum marches. The annual carnival named "Fasnacht" showcases Basel's rich drumming tradition. It's estimated there are more than 3,000 drummers active in the city at any given time.

Basel drumming style is adapted from military drumming exercises and drills dating back to the Middle Ages. This serious traditional style is often used to accompany traditional Swiss marching tunes. Top Secret retains some of the military nature of traditional Basel drumming but adds an upbeat, humorous tone with routines that may include Latin rhythms, stunning visual effects such as drummers dueling, tossing, juggling and twirling sticks, flagpoles shooting fireworks, other lighting effects and intricate marching routines. Although Top Secret wears 18th century style military uniforms and displays the precision of bands of the Swiss army, the group is not affiliated with any military unit. Members, most with regular day jobs, are highly motivated, practicing almost every day of the year to achieve the high-performance levels.

There hasn't been anything secret about the group, enlarged from the original size to permit a marching show, since its first performance at the Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo in Scotland in 2003. Top Secret was one of the first non-military, non-British Commonwealth units to perform on the Esplanade at Edinburgh Castle. Top Secret returned to Edinburgh in 2006, 2009, 2012 and 2015.

Under Erik Julliard's leadership, Top Secret helped found the annual Basel Tattoo in 2006. His organizational skills, creativity and emphasis on perfectionism have given military music a new look. Under his direction and choreography, music groups from around the world inspire the Basel audience. Top Secret's appearances around the world help him cultivate relations with many other music directors and event organizers.

Over the past 15 years, Top Secret has traveled the world to perform across Europe, the United States, Australia, Canada and South Africa. They are featured in a Swiss television documentary film recounting their rise to world fame through exposure at the Edinburgh Tattoo. In 2016, the drum corps performed during the spectacular 90th birthday celebration for Great Britain's Queen Elizabeth II.

World Drum Corps HALL of FAME

Distinguished Professional Achievement Award 2018

Two Giants of the Music World

The World Drum Corps Hall of Fame honors two individuals with outstanding lifetime achievements during our 42nd annual induction ceremony Friday, August 31, 2018 in Williamsport, PA. They will hold regular membership status along with other new inductees. They have vastly different backgrounds: one for extensive work in jazz and modern contemporary music composition, the other in symphonic performance.

Diane Nicholeris, a former color guard captain who now performs with a major symphony orchestra, and iconic jazz pianist Chick Corea, who once played lead soprano on a single-valve bugle, are being inducted as members of the World Drum Corps Hall of Fame class of 2018 at this year's banquet in Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

Chick Corea, whose compositions such as Spain, My Spanish Heart, La Fiesta and dozens more have been covered by more than 50 competing drum corps since the early 1970s, and Diane Nicholeris, first violinist with the Grammy Award-winning San Francisco Symphony Orchestra under Michael Tilson Thomas, are being honored by the Hall of Fame for Distinguished Professional Achievement. They join previous category inductees, astronaut Christopher Ferguson, actor John Ratzenberger, and fellow musicians Steve Gadd and Billy Cobham.

Both began their musical careers as members of local corps from small Massachusetts towns: Chick Corea in Chelsea with the St. Rose Scarlet Lancers, alongside the future arranging icon Jim Wedge, and Diane Nicholeris with the Sir Thomas Moore Squires of Braintree. Both artists credit their early drum corps experiences with providing the impetus for their highly successful careers. By recognizing their Distinguished Professional Achievement, the Hall of Fame acknowledges the inspiration they provide to all members of the drum corps community.

Chick Corea is the winner of 22 Grammy awards. With 63 nominations, he is the fourth most nominated artist in Grammy history. He also won three Latin Grammy Awards, the most of any artist in the Best Instrumental Album category. He is a DownBeat magazine Hall of Fame member and National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) Jazz Master.

World Drum Corps HALL of FAME

Distinguished Professional Achievement Award 2018

His father, a jazz trumpeter and Dixieland bandleader in Boston in the 1930s and 1940s, introduced him to the piano at the age of four. At eight he took up drums, which later influenced his use of the piano as a percussion instrument. His first major professional gig was with Cab Calloway, followed by early performances in Latin bands led by Mongo Santamaria and Willie Bobo.

In 1968, he joined Miles Davis' band, appearing on several ground-breaking recordings pointing to a new direction in jazz. He was part of the electrified Davis ensemble appearing in front of 600,000 at the Isle of Wight Festival in England in 1970. In the early 1970s, he took a sharp turn from avant-garde to a crossover jazz/fusion style with the album Return to Forever, incorporating Latin jazz. His band of the same name relied on both acoustic and electronic instrumentation and drew upon Latin American styles more than rock music.

Professor Diane Nicholeris, who instructs students of violin and viola at San Jose University, began violin lessons at age 10, hoping to inspire her father to take up the instrument again. One year after she began lessons, she broke her wrist riding an escalator and needed extensive surgery. Because of the range, motion, and use of the hand that violin playing required, practicing became a good form of physical therapy.

Although doctors did not expect her to regain any wrist function she persisted for six years to regain about 70 percent use of wrist motion.

She studied with Joseph Silverstein at Boston University and Sylvia Rosenberg at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, where she received her Bachelor of Music Degree. Studying at Tanglewood she met Jahja Ling, former Associate Conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, who suggested in 1984 that she audition for a violin vacancy. In addition to since providing more than 20 years of service to the orchestra, she has appeared as soloist with the Boston Pops Orchestra, the Rochester Philharmonic and the Music Academy of the West Orchestra in Santa Barbara, served as concertmaster for the Monterey County Symphony and enjoys performing chamber music concerts throughout the bay area.

She maintained her connection to drum and bugle corps over the years, occasionally judging contests. Her childhood wrist injury influences her teaching and coaching techniques through empathizing with students' problems to help them discover solutions that allow them to feel free to express their feelings through music.

CONGRATULATIONS, CHICK COREA

Today's Prayer

Read by William A. McGrath, Jr.

Heavenly Father, we give you thanks from our grateful hearts for this meal, and for our fellowship, your love and your provision of food from those who prepared this meal for us. Help us to remember that you Lord are with us around this table and may our hearts and words and those proceedings be a blessing to you.

Lord we ask your blessing on our brothers and sisters who are now with you in peace.

World Drum Corps HALL of FAME

New Hall of Fame Members & Specialty Areas

Brass: Gino Cipriani of Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania

Gino Cipriani's brass sections have performed at the top of the scale for more than 25 years. In the years he has served as brass caption head his corps have won 20 top awards, including seven Drum Corps International (DCI) championships, eight Jim Ott high brass awards and Drum Corps Associates (DCA) world championships with Reading Buccaneers in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2017. His meticulous instruction technique, which demands a high level of performance consistency, has inspired a wide range of drum corps performers. His DCI titles were won with two corps: Blue Devils in 1994, 1996, 1997, 1999 and the Cadets in 2000, 2005 and 2011. High brass awards came with Blue Devils in 1991, 1994, 1997, 1999 and the Cadets in 2000, 2005 and 2015. His instructing career includes service with Syracuse Brigadiers, Magic of Orlando, Santa Clara Vanguard and Boston Crusaders. Before his instructing years, he played soprano horn with three junior corps: Florida Vanguard, Florida Wave and Blue Devils.

Visual: Danny McBride of Wilmington, Massachusetts

Danny McBride's exceptional talents in visual design and instruction have made an enormous impact across the drum corps and competitive winter guard spectrum in North America and the United Kingdom. His visual design innovations were first put on display in the early 1980s, when he produced world-class silver and gold medal finalists in Winter Guard International (WGI) competitions. He was designer and instructor in 1984 when Hawthorne Caballeros won the Drum Corps Associates (DCA) world championship to top off an undefeated season.

In various years beginning in 1979, he was visual designer and instructor for several other top-level corps: Avant Garde, Garfield Cadets, 27th Lancers, Bayonne Bridgemen and Connecticut Hurricanes. His top achievements include winning five top visual scores in DCA finals. In nine different years, he designed the show of a corps that finished in the DCA top three. He was associated as a designer, instructor or member with corps that were Drum Corps International (DCI) finalists five times. He also designed the memorable 27th Lancers reunion performance for DCA. Over a ten year period beginning in 1968, he played soprano horn with four different corps: Wynanskill Killmen, Speigletown Speiglearies, Avant Garde and 27th Lancers. He has also judged visual captions with DCA and several regional judging groups.

Percussion: Jeff Prosperie of West Point, New York

Jeff Prosperie is the only drummer to win individual snare championships with Drum Corps International (DCI) and Percussive Arts Society (PAS), both in 1988 as section leader of the Phantom Regiment drum line, and Drum Corps Associates (DCA) in 2007 as percussion section leader of the West Point Hellcats. His score of 98.5 is the highest ever recorded in PAS competition. He was instructor and arranger with the University of North Texas band in 1989 and 1990 when the percussion section won the PAS national championship. He has also taught Phantom Regiment, Louisiana Expressions, Louisiana State University and is currently section leader and principal drummer with West Point Hellcats. His percussion judging experience extends across the Pacific Ocean for participation in Drum Corps Japan events. He has also judged with DCI, Winter Guard International (WGI) and PAS. He has judged 15 DCI world championships and 13 DCI individual championships. He has been a percussion professor at the University of Louisiana, instructor at Baylor University and principal percussionist with Baton Rouge Symphony Orchestra, Natchez Opera, Acadia Symphony Orchestra, Garland Symphony Orchestra and extra percussionist with Dallas Symphony Orchestra. His snare drumming experience includes time with Bayonne Bridgemen and Star of Indiana before joining Phantom Regiment.

World Drum Corps HALL of FAME

New Hall of Fame Members & Specialty Areas

Visual: Jeff Sacktig of Woodstock, Georgia

Jeff Sacktig has excelled as a performer and instructor with groups in both key North American drum and bugle corps associations: performing on soprano horn with 1983 Drum Corps Associates (DCA) champion Sunrisers then playing soprano when Garfield Cadets won the Drum Corps International (DCI) championship in 1987.

As instructor and designer for the Cadets, he has been part of six more DCI world championships and several medalist placements. He was visual designer when Cadets 2 won the DCA championship in 2016.

He was part of the design team that led Carolina Crown to a third straight DCI medalist finish. In his first season with Atlanta CV, the corps finished second in DCA finals. He was inducted into the Cadets Hall of Fame in 2008 and the DCI Hall of Fame in 2015. As a performing member of the Cadets he was featured soloist, horn sergeant and the first non-drum major to be named Cadet of the Year. In addition to designing drum corps shows, he has worked extensively with winter guards, indoor percussion groups and marching bands. His drum corps involvement began when he played soprano horn with St. Matthias Blue Max from 1977 to 1982.

Administration: Lou Tierno of Pottstown, Pennsylvania

After performing in the brass section of the Archer Epler Musketeers from 1980 to 1984 Lou Tierno moved to the Reading Buccaneers, still performing as he became a key administrator in the successful campaign to rescue a unit that was almost ready to close the doors. The Buccaneers horn line had dwindled to about 15 members when he and Hall of Fame administrator Jim Gruber began to turn the operation around. He served as business manager initially, with duties including loading and driving the equipment truck and lining the field. He was assistant director when the Buccaneers completed six consecutive Drum Corps Associates (DCA) championship seasons from 2005 to 2010. He has been director of the corps since 2017. He earlier served as DCA assistant treasurer in 2013 and treasurer from 2014 to 2016, converting the hand written bookkeeping method to an updated online system. He was elected to the Buccaneers Hall of Fame in 2005.

Brass: James Wedge of Rowley, Massachusetts

Jim Wedge is widely considered a pioneer in brass arranging. He was a major force from the first years of Drum Corps International (DCI) through his innovative arrangements for 27th Lancers of Revere, Massachusetts. Between 1967 and 1982, his work with 27th Lancers produced such drum corps standards as Crown Imperial, Danny Boy, Shenandoah and Rawhide. During many of those groundbreaking years with Lancers, he was also the arranger and instructor for other prominent Massachusetts corps including Dukes of Marlboro, Pembroke Imperials, Jeanettes of Lynn. In the 1980s, he also worked with Fitchburg Kingsmen and East Coast Jazz. Other drum corps he worked with reached high levels: multiple Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) championships, multiple World Open championships, champions with DCI North, DCI East, DCI Midwest, DCI West.

His emphasis on quality of sound, a constant search for musicality and pursuit of new sounds and teaching methods had a major impact on those he taught.

Four members of the Dukes of Marlboro horn line, with no training other than their drum corps background, all went on to become music teachers. He is a member of the DCI Hall of Fame and the Massachusetts Hall of Fame. His drum and bugle corps career began when he played baritone horn with St. Rose Scarlet Lancers of Chelsea from 1954 to 1962, alongside Chick Corea, inducted into the World Drum Corps Hall of Fame in 2018 for Distinguished Professional Achievement.

THE DRUM CORPS CRUISE

Friends & Family Cruise

7 NIGHT WESTERN CARIBBEAN Aboard the Carnival Glory

JANUARY 26, 2019 to February 2, 2019

Sailing from Miami, FL. And visiting the ports of Grand Cayman; Roatan, Belize and Cozumel.

Trying to decide what to do first:

Catch a flick at the Seaside Theatre, or splish-splash in the Waterslides. Couples are sipping fruity umbrella drinks on the Lido deck by the pool and friends are relaxing in the adult only Serenity area. You may not want to leave the ship at all. But you definitely should, because there's all kinds of amazing things to do onshore, too.

SPECIAL OFFERS:

- $50 Onboard Credit per cabin
- Bottle of Wine and Chocolates

A LIMITED NUMBER OF CABINS AVAILABLE AT THESE PRICES

Interior from	Oceanview from	Balcony from	Suite from
On request	$762.25	$912.25	On request
