The skincare and makeup we use can change massively because the weather changes. Especially within the winter months, your skin is already suffering because of temperature changes - it doesn't want products that can dry it out much more. Think Sheet Masks Beauty Products , less exfoliating ingredients and more nourishment. But when it comes Logan to foundation, does the way we use it additionally have to change? Turns out, if you don't prep your pores and skin properly or choose the incorrect sort of formulation, it might possibly dampen your winter makeup look.
