

Why Buy the Albums For Music?

You will never understand how you can compare the fact of buying a physical albums or disc with having it hosted on a digital support, either mp3 or streaming, either for payment or illegal download. The advantages of buying music on hardware are many and varied.

1. The pleasure of the purchase of albums: If you buy in a record store, enter and have hundreds of artifacts in which to dive, until passing one by one ... suddenly, wow! There's the cover of the album you're looking for, much more beautiful than what you saw on the screen or in the magazine. The album cover is calling you, telling you it's all ready for you. The pleasure of unseating it with impatience, sometimes in a hysterical way! And study the script, thought and care about detail for you, that you buy discs.

2. Use all the senses: And it could be all said. Own it in your hands, the fact of being able to touch something that you know you love. You can kiss him if you like him very much! Smell the newly printed booklet if it is new or the smell of old cardboard when it is old.

3. It's a trophy: Observe what's left of balls on your bookshelf. Maybe over time that disk that has cost you "x" is worth "x + 1,000", although you will never be able to sell it because the value it has for you cannot be paid.

4. The valuable piece of the puzzle: Make it part of your collection, you are a music lover, but also a collector. Complete the discography of a group is a debut moment. Your collection decorates your house, it's cool to order them your way, and it gives an incredible satisfaction to keep an eye on them from time to time.

5. The best sound, and always present: Whether on CD or on vinyl, you are listening to the music on a support at the highest quality, you know who ripped and how the mp3 or the streaming you listen to. Having it physically is a guarantee that you will never forget it. It will run into you when you least expect it, you see it and you remember it.

6. Exclusivity of albums: Because the one that is yours is yours, and no one else's. On a hard drive, you have the mp3 that thousands of people have on their PCs and other media, not to mention a streaming platform, where you are running a file hosted on a server in the fifth pine that runs hundreds of people at the same time.

7. Link and commitment: Understand the value of something physical that has to be protected, of liquids, of dust, of blows ... of children!

8. Because art is not intangible: It is a work of art, would you also buy a picture in jpg?

9. Transferable inheritance: Someday your discs will go to another person, a friend, a son ... can you imagine leaving a hard drive or a pen drive?

10. Because all of the above is not true either. It is something that cannot be explained. albums are the best.
