I need your help... little back story- The last 3 weekends straight I have had an allergic reaction to something. For context, I've never been allergic to anything except bees in my life & have had mild asthma my whole life... I still don't know what it is exactly, but I do know that it's something outside. I went through the process of elimination the last 4 weeks and got rid of everything that was new or different. That's as far as I can narrow it down right now. I've gone to the ER 4 times over my throat swelling &/or breaking out from head to toe and itching until I was losing my mind... each time they gave me a steroid shot & sent me home with prednisone & hydroxyzine, which worked until it ran out & then it was right back & I'd have to go back again.. until this time. The prednisone ran out this past Thursday. I have been taking Claritin since & we didn't leave this weekend at all, (normally we are outside almost all weekend) & I have been inside 99% of the time. As of now, since Thursday, I have been a little itchy and have some minor break outs, but my throat hasn't been sore, I'm not uncontrollably scratching, I'm not broke out from head to toe, & I can breathe... so I'm happy. What sucks is that, as a result of the steroids & not eating great I have gained a lot of weight. I can see it in my face the most (you can see it in this photo easily) & it bothers me but I'm working to get it off & am just happy to not have had a reaction this weekend. Next weekend I'm gonna get out though, so here is where I need your help.. If you have any suggestions on how to deal with allergies, I'd love to get your input.. at this time I am taking Claritin once a day, & hydroxyzine once at night. Any feedback is appreciated ☐ I am open to any and all suggestions. .
