

MUSEUM GUIDE 2023

As museums around the UK slowly emerge from winter, FlyPast shares its top picks across the country for the year...

With more than 40 well established aviation museums around the UK, we hope this selection will spark some ideas for aircraft-themed trips this year. Of course, this is just a rough guide to some of our favourites – there are many other equally worthy attractions waiting to be discovered. It's a difficult time for museums – while the world settles into the post-pandemic era, it also enters a widespread economic downturn and a hike in the cost of living. The effects are hard to ignore. As a result, there's less disposable income floating around for leisure pursuits, so we hope to include something for all budgets. Of those we've showcased this time, please be aware that not all are open every day, or throughout the year, so do check in advance of visiting. Above all, enjoy yourself!

FAST

Farnborough Air Sciences Trust Museum

The unique A-Z heritage centre celebrating the birthplace of British aviation and a century of air science progress from Airships to Zephyr.

Situated in the historic original Army Balloon School and Headquarters of the Royal Flying Corps, see the Cody Flyer, a full-size replica of the first successful powered aeroplane to fly in Great Britain.

Discover the innovations that changed the history of aviation and the world, and examine up close famous combat aircraft, including the Hunter, Lightning, Jaguar and Harrier. Learn how wind tunnels defined the shape of our most famous aeroplanes, including Concorde. Tours of the iconic wind tunnels and centrifuge are now offered (by advanced booking only).

MUSEUM SHOP AND ON-LINE

The FAST Museum shop offers an extensive selection of publications, DVDs, metal and wooden models, plastic kits and toys and souvenirs. Huge range of specialist aviation titles, new and pre-owned, on Cody, the RAE, Pyestock and air science history and development. Visit shop@airsciences.org.uk

Disclaimer: FlyPast's top picks for the year was compiled with the information available at the time of going to press in March 2023. As such, some of the aircraft listed may be in store, off site, dismantled, unavailable for public viewing, or may have even moved on. Similarly, times of opening, admission and contact details may have changed. We strongly advise readers to contact any of the museums listed before embarking on a trip for the most up to date information. Of note, some of these museums have airframes in areas with no public access – these have not been listed.
