

Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee Seeks Community Support

The Charlestown Veterans/Bunker Hill Day Commemorative Committee is seeking the support of the residents of Charlestown to once again make the 1985 Bunker Hill Day Celebration a significant and meaningful tribute to our Patriot forefathers, as Charlestown commemorates the 210th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

The Bunker Hill Day Parade, which is scheduled for Sunday, June 16, 1985, commencing at 12:30 p.m. from the Hayes Square area of the town, needs the support of all of the residents, organizations and businesses in the community in order to make this event a success.

Due to the fiscal constraints imposed on the City of Boston, under Proposition 2½, the funds available from the city to underwrite parades are very limited.

Thus financial assistance must once again be solicited from the community. The fundraising for the parade is being carried out by a small, but dedicated, group of residents. These people are giving many hours of their time to make this a grand event for the community and need the support of EVERY resident, whether he or she be a lifelong "Townie" or a newer resident of the town.

Monies must be raised in order to pay the fee of each band, drum corps, color guard, or other unit that participates in the parade. Units charge from $300 upward to $700 or $1,000 to appear in the parade — none of them come for free.

There are several ways that residents can help:

1.) Send in a donation to the Parade Committee, using the coupon on page three of this week's Patriot. Once again this year, the Monument will be featured weekly so the community can see the results of the fundraising efforts. Contributions of $25 or more will be acknowledged under the Monument.

2.) Drop your change (or more if possible) in the canisters located in the neighborhood stores.

3.) Buy a chance for $1.00.

First Prize is a color television set, donated by WHDH through Metropolitan Police "Skyway Patrol" Officer Bill Connell of Charlestown.

Second Prize is an Irish knit sweater.

Third Prize is a wine basket.

The drawing will be held on June 15th at the Legion's "Night Before" — Chief Marshal's Banquet.

Landmark District Designation Sought For Town Hill

by Marianne Martin

A proposal is presently before the Boston Landmark Commission to designate the Town Hill section of Charlestown as a Landmark District.

According to Ken Stone of the Charlestown Preservation Society, the proposal began last summer when the area was threatened with the proposed creation of an asphalt plant in nearby City Square. "There was a sort of talking over the fence between the neighbors," stated Stone.

Currently, Town Hill is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, but there are significant differences between a Historic Listing and a Landmark District.

The National Register is a list of the nation's historical and cultural resources worthy of preservation. A listing affords the area eligibility for National Register grants as well as Income Tax benefits.

A Landmark District designation, on the other hand, is a local listing of an area worthy of recognition for physical features of historical, social, cultural, architectural or aesthetic significance to the city. Such a designation must constitute a distinctive section of the city.

Carol Kennedy of the Boston Landmark Commission addressed the Charlestown Preservation Society on the importance of a designation of a Landmark District for the area, on Sunday, April 14, 1985.

According to Kennedy, there are over 100 such districts in Massachusetts which either are of an historical significance or display a unique cohesive architectural character.

"Change is a constant factor in neighborhoods," stated Kennedy. "Since change is inevitable, historic districts are a way to guide change."

Utilizing the Landmark District of the South End as an example, Kennedy explained the process of an area being designated and the reasons behind seeking such a listing.

The South End, which is characterized architecturally by attached row houses, began the process several years ago at the initiation of the residents, stated Kennedy.

Basically, the process begins after a petition, signed by ten registered voters, is submitted to the commission. If accepted by the commission, a preliminary public hearing, held in the area, will follow.

After the public hearing, Kennedy explained, a study committee is established, comprised of commission members and residents appointed by the Mayor. This committee is responsible for preparing a report which describes the significance of the area and this report is submitted to the Boston Landmark Commission. The report suggests boundaries for the area as well as the standards and criteria for reviewing subsequent changes.

In the case of the South End, Kennedy stated the question addressed by the committee was, "What is special about the South End despite the individual differences in the properties? What is the overall effect which is 'the South End' as opposed to another area?"

According to Kennedy, the South End is typically defined by "the characteristic rhythm of bow fronts" and "attached homes."

According to Kennedy, a Landmark District should not be viewed as a device which limits property owners, explaining "the standards should be seen not as a burden but rather as a resource."

A landmark designation "doesn't mean a property owner has to change anything on their homes," explained Kennedy, referring to a Grandfather clause which provides that anything already present may remain. The designation does, however, regulate future changes.

Continuing her explanation of the process involved, Kennedy said that after the report is finalized, it is forwarded to the Boston Redevelopment Authority and the Massachusetts Historical Commission for comment, and is followed by

After receiving all additional input, the commission will then vote on the petition.

The final steps involve action by the Mayor or the City Council before finalization.

There are, however, "pitfalls" in the designation process. According to the representative of the Boston Landmark Commission, this is a "long and extensive process" which is time consuming due to the amount of research involved in addition to notification of all property owners in the proposed designated area.

The most time consuming aspect of the process, according to Kennedy, is educating property owners. Many are apprehensive about the designation. The Commission and those initiating the process must show the designation "is mutually protective" and will preserve "the ambiance of the neighborhood."

According to Kennedy, the designation "is a device whereby we get together and see what kind of place we want the area to be and how to keep it that way."

The area in Charlestown tentatively outlined as a potential Landmark District is bounded by Lynde Street to Washington Street, the corner home on Union Street, Old Rutherford Avenue as far as lot number 102, Devens Street, Main Street as far as Thompson Square, Warren Street as far as Winthrop Street back onto Main Street down and around City Square to Old Rutherford.

The proposal to designate Town Hill as a Landmark District has reached the point of the submission of a petition by residents of the area. Thus far, the Boston Landmark Commission is in support of the petition.

Kennedy emphasized, "The intent is to guide the inevitable changes and to help prevent losses that make an area a unique environment."

A slide show accompanied the discussion, which not only displayed examples of renovation which distracted the character of various section of the city, but also showed examples of architecture unique to the Town Hill area.

The next step in the Town Hill designation as a Landmark District is a public hearing which will be scheduled in the near future.

Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a floral piece,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words,

Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.*

Mystery Comes To Charlestown

Beginning on Thursday, May 2nd at 7:00 p.m. and continuing for two weeks, the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street will present a series of speakers on mystery writing. The programs were prompted by the many mystery fans who come in weekly for the latest in detection.

The first speakers on May 2nd will be Dennis Schuetz and Michael McDowell, local mystery writers who write under the pseudonym, Nathan Aldyne. Mr. Schuetz has lived in Boston since 1971 and has co-authored the Nathan Aldyne series as well as two books under the pen name Axel Young (again with Michael McDowell). Mr. McDowell, a Southerner, came to Boston to attend Harvard in 1968. He has published twenty novels under his own name and four different pseudonyms. He has also written teleplays for

On May 9th, John McAleer, professor at Boston College, will speak on Rex Stout. Mr. McAleer, has written Rex Stout: A Biography for which he won the Edgar Allan Poe Award

Kate Mattis who runs Kate's Mystery Books in Cambridge will be the third week's speaker on May 16th. She will discuss what it takes to run a mystery book shop, who buys mysteries and what the mystery writers are really like.

This series will attempt to show different aspects of the mystery novel by presenting local mystery writers, a critical analysis of a world famous mystery writer and a discussion of how the books are marketed and to whom they appeal.

CHS Chemistry Students Tour Research Laboratory

A group of 35 Charlestown High School eleventh and twelfth grade chemistry students had the opportunity to learn some practical applications for chemistry and discuss career possibilities, during their recent trip to the Liberty Mutual Research Center's Industrial Hygiene Analytical Laboratory in Hopkinton. The trip was part of the Charlestown High School - Liberty Mutual Insurance Company Partnership Program.

Ken Muzal, supervisor of the chemical laboratory, explained the ways in which chemistry is used in the science of preventing and controlling occupational dangers in a work environment, a profession called Industrial Hygienics. A film and slide presentation depicting a Liberty Mutual industrial hygienist on the job accompanied Mr. Muzal's lecture. He also demonstrated some of the ways in which Industrial Hygienists collect air samples in the workplace, and directed a tour of the laboratory where these, and other types of samples are analyzed to detect harmful substances such as poisonous gas or asbestos fibers.

"It's a wonderful opportunity for these kids. They're college bound and it's experiences-like this that will help them compete with private schools students when they apply for admission to schools," remarked the students' teacher, Margaret Thompson.

Attending the trip were CHS students Glenn Nadeau, William Werner, Ann Doris, Erin Murphy, Scott Larson, Jose Chong, Winston Harper, Ilantha Haley, Jeff Burton, David Doherty, Moon Liu, Jimmy Moreno, Jackie Villegas, Sharon Chan, Poon Huen Yun, Khiet Ngoc Ngo, Khiet Minh Le, Debbie Chong, Truong My Din, David Li, Lip Wong, Yee Chen, Kiao Ling Tan, Sandy Guan, Thuc Y Huynh, Pauline Wong, My Y Huynh, Rui Yuan Li, David Chau, Kam Wai Yuen, Shen Tueng, Elaine Yuan, Quang Mirth Tram, Lui Ying Lu, and teacher's aide Johnny Mai.

ADULT WALK-IN SERVICE

The Walk-in Service is offered to provide care for medical problems which are urgent or of an emergency nature. For all other problems, an appointment is usually much more satisfactory because:

1. Your past medical records are more likely to be available to help with diagnosis and treatment of the current problem.
2. The doctor or other provider is likely to have more time to spend with you than during walk-in time.
3. You are less likely to have to sit and wait for the provider to see you.
4. You will know which provider you are going to see. At the walk-in it is often not possible to be seen by your regular doctor or other provider.

CALL 242-5758 early in the day. Sometimes an appointment can be arranged for that same day. If not, the secretary will sign you up for walk-in and call for your medical record. Patients are seen at walk-in in the order that they arrive.

TELL the secretary if you have severe pain or are badly hurt, so that we can give you immediate attention. Of course, a patient with an emergency problem requiring immediate attention, will be taken care of as soon as possible, even if it is not his or her turn.

PLEASE UNDERSTAND that on some days, it is not possible for all patients who wish to be seen for walk-in to be taken care of at that time. This can happen when a very large number of patients wish to be seen, when a doctor is ill or otherwise unable to see patients, or when one or more patients has a serious emergency problem requiring much staff time.

Students Celebrate Hispanic Culture

For the past six weeks, a selected group of students from the Clarence Edwards Middle School in Charlestown have been working on a special production, "Celebrating Hispanic Culture," with the Ramon de los Reyes Spanish Dance Theatre. These students presented a culminating performance of music, dance and art at the school on April 9. Dancing to Latin rhythms, enacting a bull fight and using student-made masks and props, the 50 participating students enthusiastically and artfully performed for parents, community members and classmates.

The Edwards Middle School and the Ramon de los Reyes Spanish Dance theatre have collaborated on projects since 1980 through Try-Arts, Artists-in-Residency and Cultural Resources grants. Through the years, the Company has established an exciting rapport with the students in the School and the teachers. Principal, Gregory Thomas has given his support of the Spanish Dance Theatre's programs over the years through his commitment to arts programming within the Edwards Middle School.

You cannot tell because the new crown is Dacrown, short for Dental Associates Crown. The difference is that the ceramic material is cast and there is no metal under the restoration.

ADVANTAGES:

- Stronger than other porcelain crowns.
- Coloring and form closest to natural teeth.
- Fits better.
- No metal at edges
- Less sensitivity to hot and cold.

DISADVANTAGES: NONE

- The process requires special laboratory procedures.
- The crown is made in our own laboratory.

Barrett's On Boston Harbour Celebrates Successful First Month

by Marianne Martin

Barrett's on Boston Harbour celebrated their one month anniversary on Tuesday, April 23, 1985 and according to the management, the first month has been an "overwhelming success." Manager Chuck Southard credits the success to the great community support Barrett's has received from Charlestown.

"Response has been overwhelming. We have been welcomed with open arms," stated Southard. "We are quickly becoming Charlestown's restaurant."

Southard stated 50% of the restaurant's business is from Charlestown residents, local businesses, activity generated at the Navy Yard and the marina.

Barrett's is situated on the former MassPort Hoosac Pier overlooking the U.S.S. Constitution. The interior, which is tri-level, affords a view of the Constitution and the harbor for over 60% of all the tables.

"The emphasis here is to offer a quality meal in a beautiful environment with one of the greatest views in the country," stated Southard. "We also want to be known for our New England hospitality."

Frank Barrett, President of Barrett's Family Restaurants, Inc., who own and operate the Charlestown restaurant along with several others in the Greater Boston area, states his approach to restaurant management is unlike others. "You know how many restaurants treat you as if they are doing you a favor? We here have turned that thinking around," stated Barrett.

When one approaches Barretts on Boston Harbour, a doorman is there to greet and welcome you. A spiraling staircase or elevator takes you to the lobby of the restaurant, which is your first glimpse of the beautiful view and elegant dining room and lounge.

According to Southard, when entering Barrett's for the first time, many people experience mixed feelings. "They think this will cost too much and the portions will be small, and they are intimidated. Well, that's not true. We're doing just the opposite for a restaurant of this caliber," which according to Southard is a "Class A" restaurant.

Barrett stated his objective is "to give the diner something that's he's not getting somewhere else, that is fine dining with an exquisite view without it costing him an arm and a leg."

Lunches range between $3.95 and $8.95 and dinners are $9.95 to $19.95 and include entree, salad, vegetable, and either rice pilaf or potato. According to the management, the most frequent complaint heard from their clientele is "there's too much food."

Southard states if someone leaves Barrett's and they are not full, "there's something wrong."

Barrett's is open for lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. daily and dinner is from 5:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. From Thursday to Saturday dinner is served until midnight. On Sundays, Barrett's offers an "all you can eat" brunch from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and dinner is served from 5:00 to 10:00 p.m.

Southard stated there is nightly entertainment from Wednesday to Saturday in the lounge with a seating for over 100. Rich in Italian marble with hand-rubbed oak and brass handrails, the lounge features music and dancing geared for those in their 20s "on up." "It's a real nice mix of ages," stated Southard.

Plans are in the works to utilize the outdoor patio for cocktails and lunch, stated Southard.

In July, Barrett stated, their function room which will seat 250 "comfortably" in the main room, and between 20 and 25 in an executive dining room, will be open. The owner expects daily functions to be catered at Barrett's. "Even my sister-in-law is planning to have her daughter's wedding here," stated Barrett.

Southard boasted of the fine quality staff at Barrett's on Boston Harbour. "We have very talented chefs who are professionally trained. They want to make a real name for themselves," stated the manager. "You should see the food — it is picturesque. The colors are beautiful." As for the taste, both Barrett and Southard state the customers "rave" about the meals.

With "more than 99% of all the kinks out," Southard and Barrett foresee nothing but continued success for the restaurant. So far the only thing that has caught those of Barrett's on Boston Harbour and the clientele offguard has been the daily sunset salute of the canon from their neighbor, the U.S.S. Constitution.

"I can hardly wait to see the customers on Memorial Day when there will be a 21 gun salute," laughed Barrett.

Wanted: Books

On Saturday, May 18th from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., the Friends of the Charlestown Branch Library will hold a book sale on the sidewalk in front of the Library at 179 Main Street. Free coffee will be served and everyone interested in books is urged to come, browse and take advantage of bargain prices.

In order to make the sale a success, more books are needed. If you are doing spring housecleaning and come upon books you could part with, drop them off at the library in time for them to be priced for sale on the 18th. All kinds of books are wanted — hardcover, paperbacks, cookbooks, children's books, fiction, non-fiction.

Every penny earned from the sale will go to our own branch library.

Charlestown Woman Wins Massport Employee Contest

An advertising concept submitted by Donna Lane of Charlestown is appearing in newspapers and in the MBTA system as part of Massport's Logan airport ground access advertising campaign.

Donna Lane, a public service representative at Logan Airport, submitted the ad as part of a Massport employee contest. Her idea features the Invisible Man stating: "If I drive myself to the airport I may never be seen again." Her winning entry was selected by the advertising agency Rossin, Greenberg, Seronick & Hill (RGS&H), and was chosen from a pool of 70 concepts offered by more than two dozen employees.

"We expect the Invisible Man to become an important asset in our advertising campaign," Massport Executive Director David W. Davis said, referring to the Authority's advertising and public information effort to raise awareness about traffic congestion at Logan Airport. "We are proud that this effective and striking concept was developed by one of our employees. We know that the message of our Logan Access advertising campaign is getting across. One of our next steps will be to determine if it is changing behavior as well."

Lane, who has worked in Logan's Public Information Unit for more than a year, says she must share credit for the idea with her fiancée, Michael Hickey. "We were driving home from the airport one afternoon and we were having a lot fun coming up with ideas. We thought most of them were pretty foolish but we decided to send them in anyway." That brainstorming session produced the Invisible Man and seven other concepts.

For her efforts, Donna won a dinner for two at Zachary's at the Collonade Hotel, something that might come in handy since she is getting married in May.

"We never thought we would win," she said, "we were doing it just for the fun of it. I must admit," she adds, "winning is even nicer."

My Thanks

Thanks to the Community Family Center in Everett and staff, especially Karen Rizzo for the birthday cake she made for me. Also to Lucy Cristallo, Phyllis Cronin, and Louise S. for the present and cards I received from them, and Gerry Ross and Sister Mary Martin of the School of the Deaf in Randolph.

God bless you all!

What Does It Cost To Build?

by Barbara Thornton, Co-Chair, CCRD

Property values in Charlestown have increased over 30% in the last year, alone. Larger vacant parcels of land are now more valuable than ever — if buildings are constructed on them. Much of the vacant land in Charlestown is owned by the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), a result of "urban renewal."

Any group or individual can bid to develop a parcel of BRA owned land. For larger parcels, the BRA prepares a "Developer Kit," which describes how the BRA thinks the land should be used. The Kit contains instructions for how potential developers should demonstrate they have the financial and technical ability to do the construction. It also asks for the proposed site plan and building design.

The bid package selected by the BRA to be developed should have community support, should meet the terms of the Developer Kit, and, most importantly, it should demonstrate that the project, as proposed, makes financial sense.

There is a fairly standard form that is used by developers to show that a project makes financial sense. This form is called a PRO FORMA.

Pro Formas can vary depending on whether the developer is a for profit or non-profit organization and the detail of the budget, but the Pro Forma should include some minimum information.

The following is a sample Pro Forma showing how much it might cost a private developer to build a 20 unit housing development:

Condominium Sales/sq. ft.	130

"Equity participation" shows the actual cash or value of services or materials that the developer is contributing to the project.

Gross Sales Proceeds	$2,600,000
Less Marketing Fees (6% Gross Sales)	(156,000)
Less Development Costs	(1,921,118)
Net Profit (before taxes)	522,882
Return on Equity	136%

This Pro Forma shows that, with the listed costs, and, provided the condos sell for $130 per square foot, the developers will make a 36% profit on their investment. It is often a risky business, though. Higher construction costs, delays or an over supply of condos on the market could turn a projected profit into a real financial loss.

Vandals Strike Again At Montego Bay

by Marianne Martin

Less than a month from the date of being repaired by the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), the fence which encompasses the nicknamed "Montego Bay" section of the Little Mystic River between Terminal and Medford Streets behind CharlesNewTown, was destroyed.

On Thursday, April 18,

1985, vandals succeeded in destroying the fence, as once again they deposited not only the new fence but also another section of the original stock fence into the water.

Montego Bay has become a famous depot for such unused or unwanted items as washing machines, cars, shopping carts, whatever. Unfortunately, the area was originally intended to be a recreational and pedestrian park, complete with a children's playground and park benches.

According to Edward Dwyer, Property Manager of the BRA, the fence cost the city around $3000 to repair, most of which is now in the harbor.

"I'm not surprised," stated Dwyer, when he learned of the destruction. In a past interview, Dwyer predicted this vandalism, calling the situation at Montego Bay "an awesome problem" which "regenerates itself."

While the vandalism of the fence and the area in general may be a favorite pastime for some individuals, the public safety of others is destroyed. The children's play area, which is within close proximity to the gap, is overwhelmed with broken glass and litter.

Along Terminal Street there are two available access areas in which cars may enter the property. In the adjacent high school football field, tire tracks mark spots where cars once spun "donuts".

Dwyer reported the two access areas were closed off by boulders, but stated that if individuals wanted to gain access, they would regardless.

The BRA will investigate the situation again this week to determine other means to secure the area.

C.Y.H.A. Pee Wee A Hockey Team

The 1984-85 Pee Wee A team of the Charlestown Youth Hockey Association has just completed quite a successful season.

Head Coach Dennis Kane moved up to the "A" ranks this year, taking a few players from his successful "Killer B's" team of last year and, joining them with the seasoned second year "A" players, rounded out a talented Pee Wee A team.

Along with the fine help of his two assistant coaches, Paul McKinley and John Gryzlick, Coach Kane again brought his team to the finals in the District play-offs, where they met and were edged out by a fine Revere team.

In league play at the Beverly Rink, the Pee Wee A's earned a spot in the play-offs, where again they met the same Revere team, who boasted an undefeated record through 24 games. Revere again came out on top in this 7-3 game where both teams displayed an excellent per-

The success of this year's Pee Wee A team can be attributed to the fine performances of goaltenders Kenny Giordano and Derek Melendy; defensemen Chris

Orion Research To Be Tenants At The Schrafft Center

In a ceremony in the office of Mayor Raymond Flynn, Orion Research, Incorporated, signed a ten year lease with The Flatley Company of Braintree for space in The Schrafft Center in Charlestown. Mayor Flynn called the Orion Corporation's move to Boston "a highly significant event underscoring Boston's economic vitality." Orion is a leader in the high-technology industry with a record of sound performance in scientific research and manufacturing. Thanks to the efforts of Thomas Flatley and Alexander Jenkins, The Schrafft Center in Charlestown will again be an important source of Boston jobs.

The Flatley Company of Braintree, headed by Thomas J. Flatley, President, has announced Orion's lease is for approximately 170,000 square feet of space, consisting of two floors at The Schrafft Center in Sullivan Square, which is now under renovation.

The Cambridge based maker of analytical instrumentation will move its manufacturing operation to this facility during the summer. According to Orion's President, Alexander Jenkins, III, its present manufacturing space on Cambridge Parkway is in an area that will be redeveloped. "We began to explore our options for new space, and the opportunity to move into The Schrafft Center appeared to be the most attractive. The complex offers space for growth as well as the kinds of amenities that

AT LEASE SIGNING CEREMONY: The office of Mayor Raymond Flynn was the site of a recent ceremony in which Orion Research of Cambridge signed a ten year lease with The Flatley Company to become tenants at The Schrafft Center in Sullivan Square, Charlestown. we believe are important to all our employees. It is also on an MBTA line, a critical consideration since over 50 percent of our employees rely on the MBTA to get to work."

Timothy F. Cahill, Leasing Agent for The Schrafft Center project, said, "We're very excited about Orion's move from the banks of the Charles River to the banks of the Mystic. Orion is exhibiting their confidence in Boston, and The Schrafft Center in particular, which we have experienced from high technology companies since the onset of this project."

Charles D. Reilly, Director of Industrial Leasing for The Flatley Company, stated that "Orion was exactly the lead tenant we were looking for to kick off The Schrafft Center. In creating the idea for an urban high-tech office complex with all the flair of a rural office park, companies such as Orion who are labor intensive would be attracted to such a project for the quality of the working environment and the access to the available urban labor supply, which is so important for today's growth-oriented high technology companies."

Other tenants already operating from The Schrafft Center's annex building are Fotec, Inc., a manufacturer of optical fiber testing equipment, headed by James Hayes, who is a resident of Charlestown, and Skolos, Wedell & Raynor, commercial, photographic, and design specialists.

Once renovations are completed, The Schrafft Center will offer such conveniences as free on-site parking, a terraced dining facility, private meeting rooms, along with a theatre that seats 150, which companies can use for multimedia presentations, training films, sales presentations, etc. There will also be retail tenants along the lines of a travel agency, florist, small convenience store, photo developing, a dry cleaning service, shoe repair, along with a major bank's ATM machine. All of these amenities will be located within the confines of the building and will be for the specific use and convenience of the tenants in the building and visitors to the complex.

The Schrafft Center is off to a great start! There is 400,000 square feet remaining to be leased. Proposals are out to companies with space requirements in excess of 50,000 square feet and in some cases over 100,000 square feet. Through Orion Research Incorporated, Fotec, Inc., and Skolos, Wedell & Raynor, The Flatley Company has "set the pace" for large and rapidly expanding "high-tech" firms for the Center. It was the original intention of this facility to be geared to this type of tenant and to supply them with a self-sustaining facility that catered to their expansion needs, while at the same time, providing their employees with a functional and pleasant working atmosphere. The Center is, in fact, an example of a superior, suburban park in an urban setting!

$300 - Mrs. Maureen Gillis of Charlestown; Second prize - $100 - Joseph Lompano of Quincy; and Third Prize - $75 - Mrs. Sylvia Malloy of East Milton.

Facts About Drugs — F.A.D.

The serious side effects of cocaine use are increased by freebasing. The capacity of the lungs to function efficiently may become seriously impaired. Injury to the brain may become more common since a relatively large amount of the pure drug is inhaled and makes its way to various parts of the brain. Heavy freebasers often find the crash so unpleasant, with its shakes and depression and extreme fatigue, that they may take the drug as often as every 10 to 20 minutes until their supplies run out.

Drinking along with cocaine is an attempt by the abuser to prevent the side effects of the crash. The consequences can be even more dangerous to the user.

Chronic abuse also results in a variety of dental problems, multiple vitamin deficiency, and severe weight loss. One of the first signs of serious trouble is withdrawal from normal everyday activities. Ambition diminishes, relationships deteriorate. The one drive that remains is to do coke night and day.

There are four types of treatment for cocaine abusers:

1. Self help alone. Quitting completely.
2. Joining a support group like Narcotics Anonymous or Cocaine Anonymous.
3. Becoming a part of a structured, supervised outpatient program.
4. Signing in for inpatient treatment in a hospital setting.

All of these programs are based on the fact that the person recognizes he/she is ill and that the cause of the illness is cocaine abuse. Permanent abstinence is essential for permanent recovery. In the long run, what really counts is the self-understanding that the person must live without resorting to chemical crutches of any kind.

Local Agencies Share In Record Allocations From United Way

Agencies providing health and human services to Charlestown residents this year will share in record allocations from the United Way of Massachusetts Bay, now celebrating its 50th year.

The 1985 allocations total of $28.5 million includes a record increase of $2.7 million over last year's total going to the United Way's 187 agencies in eastern Massachusetts.

Local agencies receiving allocations include the Armed Services YMCA ($68,- 000), The John F. Kennedy Family Service Center and Charlestown Community Center ($104,600), and the Charlestown Clubhouse as part of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston ($665,000).

Charlestown residents will also benefit from allocations to area agencies, such as the Greater Boston Council of Boys Scouts ($174,300).

In addition, local residents are helped by allocations to agencies serving eastern Massachusetts, such as the American Red Cross ($2.8 million).

The 1985 allocations decisions were made by 150 United Way volunteers serving on six citizen-review committees. Through this citizen-review process — which is unique among charities — volunteers evaluate agencies according to program and financial accountability, management, service delivery, and overall performance. Charlestown's Kim Faltz, Bruce Haddow, Kevin Kelly, Jean M, Babcock, Toby Yarnolinsky, Barbara Rouse, Esq. were all volunteer committee members.

United Way of Massachusetts Bay agencies provide a wide variety of services to more than one million people in 86 cities and towns throughout eastern Massachusetts. Of every dollar contributed, 88 cents goes to support affiliated agencies, with 12 cents retained for administrative and fund-raising costs combined.

too many capers, is redeemed by his heroic efforts in a terrible storm; and "Lend a Paw" in which Pluto is jealous of a small kitten, is ordered out of the house, and later saves the kitten, learning about the gift of giving.

Suggested readings in conjunction with this program include Frederick by Leo Lionni, Little Toot by Hardie Gramatky, and Giving Tree by Shel Silverstein.

On arrival, the officer spoke to a man who stated that while operating his motor vehicle on Pleasant Street, he stopped for three males in the middle of the street. These three suspects began to verbally harass the victim and then began throwing stones at the man's vehicle. The stones struck the vehicle, cracking the windshield and a side window. The suspects then entered a motor vehicle and fled the scene. The victim was not injured and able to give the officer a description of the culprits. This incident is under investigation by the Detectives of Area A.
