INDUSTRY: Chen Cream hits the market..
our reported tried it out, see the result.

SOCIAL: Go karts hit the city,
first organized races are a fact.

Mayor elect resigns

After several sources gave indication that one of the runner-ups for our mayor's seat would resign. Mr. Castlebeck threw the towel in the ring. Now a few weeks later we reflect with our previous mayor elect on his campaign, his life today and his aspirations for the future.

Index a go!

We have a vibrant city, with a lot of citizens actively writing some form of story. Neighbourhood watches to entrepreneurs, we all have something to share. In result, a few upstanding citizens took it upon themselves to gather all this information and make an easy to use index for our city to discover.

Weather normal?

There has been a lot of speculation about the weather this season. People wondering if rain is the main course of the day. After checking in with our local weather station, we got the report that on average the rain will last about ten minutes on the hour, which stated would be less than the national average.

LSpd, LSfd Popular!

BadLandsRP is certainly becoming more popular with the masses, resulting in a record number of citizen applications, bolstering the LSPD with new recruits as well as our medical services. .

A spokesman stated: ' As the number of citizens go up, so does the number of reports, we need to stay ahead of the curve and make sure these recruits hit the streets. '.

INTERVIEW WITH RESIGNED ELECT Mr Castlebeck gives insight

INTERVIEW:

Thank you for your time Mr Castlebeck, it came as a bit of a surprise to us that you stepped out of the ring before the bell rang. Does this mean running again in the future is off the table?

"Of course not, I believe next time I will have more time and be more organized for future a campaign. I believe in my ideals of how the city should be for the people since its by the people you know ?"

How did this affect your wish to make an impact on the city? Can we expect to see other things from you?

"I don't think it affected me at all on how to make an impact on the city. I will still fight for what is right and defend those voices that aren't heard. I believe everyone's voice matters and to think otherwise is hogwash"

How did this experience affect your life after?

"It made me realize to get the majority vote I need to up my grass roots campaign. Going door to door isn't going to cut it, Unlike Mr. Sanchez I don't have the police's budget to spend on my campaign, or fancy jets or limos. I was driving the streets in my 4 door sedan talking to the wonderful people of this City. Only real affect it had on me is how much I really love the people in this city".
If you could do it all again, what would help to make difference?

"Be more active and have a few people in my campaign, I only had one guy, but he was the man of Ten I tell you Noodles Romanoff! Great man, great presence about him "

What would be the top 5 ingredients that make any city great?

"Livable Wages, kept Roads, Honest Police force, A fun night life, Low Crime, & Ketchup "

What were your first thoughts after you arrived in this city.

"Man, I can do anything! This is the Los Santos Dream! Movie star, Musician, Police man, EMS, City is full of options for those who arrive daily"

If you could give one advice to a new citizen arriving in the city, what would that be?

"Be proud of who you are, never be too proud to dig ditches, but never settle, keep climbing out of the ditch and build a solid foundation, The sky is the limit, and the ground is your bastion. Be who you want to be"

Thank you for your time Mr Castlebeck.

64 citizens awake!

We are all in high hopes here in the office! We got word that testing has begun by our creators so that the gates may open for more citizens to wake up in Los Santos.

What it means for our government is a lot of joy and possibly a lot more head ache. We are very curious to see how they will handle that, no doubt it lend space for more creativity in the services offered to the city.

No E.T.A is given as this is custom by our creators but one thing is for certain, it will happen some day.

In anticipation we already cleared a few new desks here at the newsroom.

City allows Super Cars

Supercars tweaked by local mechanics after government sets limit on top speeds.

From now on we can gaze upon beauty. The raw sound of a perfectly engineered tuned vehicle that has the elegant lines of a puma and the sting of a scorpion, as it passes by.

The selfie you take just to have it on the background as you post it on LifeInvader, we all been there and I still am.

No doubt we are thankful that the ports are open for business, importing the finest Super Cars into our local dealer or shop.

But before you get all excited like a boy getting his first RC controlled toy, We should state that these toys are not for everyone.

Considering the price of a vehicle will vary roughly between two to six million dollars, adding the costs to take it out for a spin plus gas prices, you might end up scratching your head if you are not making a decent living.

Nonetheless, it's a fantastic thing to behold or have. It's a selfish car, as a two seater means you got it just for yourself or a special someone that has the luxury to join you.

Not a family car, a ' yes honey I will pick him up from school ' kinda car. It is made to enjoy. While it's true, it tempts to defy speed limits. Even cruising can give you that feeling that all is well, life is good, and you have succeeded.

These cars are not made for going at light speeds, but it's the acceleration that makes them absolutely fantastic.

The cities dealers, shops and mechanics may have the order to tweak the top speed of these fine vehicles but be assured you can enjoy the rest to the fullest.

LS BANK OPENS

When we got word of a private bank opening downtown our first response in the newsroom was curious. As it sounds like there is a lot of money involved and in this city this might lead to a great chance or just the right thing not to tangle with.

It turns out it's no ordinary bank as we quickly got turned down trying to open an account with a deposit of a thousand dollars. This bank caters to those who really have a dime to spare, three hundred fifty thousand and up, if so, you can open an account, receive 2% percent on your savings every 3 weeks and create a passive income for yourself. There is a website where clients can check up on their accounts. And they also claim that you can withdraw at any time by making an appointment with the bank.

It seems the rich always do get richer.

Vegas Foundation starts soup kitchen for less fortunate citizens

This endeavour has some weight behind it with a few well respected citizens being involved. It is founded by LSCapital inc. a company that has been around a while, with it's CEO Bill Vegas and a group of principal partners at the helm. The website also boosts Lili Vegas as CFO, but we are guessing that's just to spice things up.

Either way it all seems legitimate, good thing to know when I trade in my Banto for the Cogniscenti?

I just got word from the boss that's not going to happen...

Escalator to success is a success

Government decides to allow Platform for citizens...

The government is doing a great job giving the citizens a forum to share a voice.

But what we were missing is a platform for the citizens to shine. There is great stuff going on in the city but you may have a hard time finding it.

Businesses, projects, community events social events, services... You can't see the forest through the trees.

In response a few citizens decided to manage an index for the public to share, find or discover these opportunities and activities. A spokesman states: " It goes without saying that it needs the input of the citizens to work but we are confident it can be a great tool for our active community to use. " We also got confirmation that the government has given approval for this project which makes things even better. 'What seems impossible today, will soon be what makes you awesome' is their motto and I believe it, we at BLrp Chronicles already signing up! The index is reported to be in it's final stages of development and is expected to be open for public over the coming week.

INDUSTRY IN LOS SANTOS

Chen- creme hits the market - company investigates burn marks on skin of senior citizen.

This image does not represent the real product.

The overwhelming success after the initial launch of Chen Creme has caused some commotion amongst the senior citizens since one reported to have burn marks after using Chen creme .

This senior citizen who wishes to stay anonymous for the public stated:

' After using Chen Cream, I had this wonderful sensation that can only be described as bliss, after that noticed an itching sensation that grew into a burning pain, it reminded me of the burn marks I had when they used mustard gas in the trenches. I also remember one time when Billy Mc Cornick peed on the sergeant at night... he got so mad. '

In reply a spokesman of the company stated:

"What di heeeeeelllll!"

As of now the company is treating this as a one time case of a extreme rare allergic response to a herb used in the base product of the creme .

After the impact on our senior community. A marketing-campaign to restore consumer trust has been issued, instructing people of the possible side-effects of Chen-Creme.

No mention has been made about a settlement.

TRUCKING BUSINESS, LONELY BUSINESS?

Long days on the road, is one of the first things that pop to mind when you are talking about truckers. It's a lonely business indeed.

So an idea is going around to have a truckers-pitstop at Great Ocean Highway where truckers can meet up, have a breath of fresh air and mingle, have a coffee or fill up the tank.

A place to be human again.
