☆ ★ Memorial Day 1993 ☆ ☆

My fellow Americans — we hope you will take the time this weekend to attend the Memorial Day Mass at 11 a.m. on Sunday at St. Francis de Sales Church, sponsored by Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion to show our fellow citizens — we do remember.

The American Legion, represented by 3.1 million men and women who served this nation during a time of war, know first hand the sacrifices all of America's veterans made to preserve our way of life — our blessed freedoms — in America.

Once a year, countless Americans gather across our land, just as the members of Post 26 have, to remember those who gave their lives so that we might be free. On this day, the feelings and emotions run high. For it is difficult to live with the reality that any war is nothing more than a failure of diplomacy on the part of governments.

Those we remember on Memorial Day did not make government policy. Rather they answered the call of human beings being persecuted and slaughtered by others who sought to dominate the world. Our sons and daughters, fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, who gave their lives — did not roar off seeking fame and fortune. No, they just wanted to keep America free — and to give others the same freedom they cherished so much.

Today, the world is rapidly changing. Citizens across this land are calling for sweeping changes in social programs as a "so-called Peace Dividend" from the thawing of the Cold War. Yet, as we remember those who have given their lives for our freedom, we must raise a cautionary voice.

It was not the Cold War that sent thousands of Americans, and those from more than two dozen other nations, to the blistering sands of the Persian Gulf. No, it was a brutal dictator who still remains in power. More than 260 Americans died in Operation Desert Storm. We remember them today.

It was not the Cold War that sent many of our sons and daughters into Panama to oust a dictator whose soldiers had become aggressive and abusive to American citizens. Nearly two dozen Americans died in Operation Just Cause. We remember them today.

North End Woman Attacked By Knife-Wielding Assailant In Market

What began as a routine food-shopping expedition on Tuesday afternoon for a North End woman, became a scene of horror as a knifewielding assailant attacked the victim without warning.

According to Deputy Superintent Robert Hayden Jr. of Area A of the Boston Police Department (BPD), the attack unfolded shortly after 2 p.m. on May 25 at Johnnie's Foodmaster in the Bunker Hill Mall.

Hayden stated that five police officers were in the mall's parking lot recovering a stolen automobile abandoned there following its use in an armored car holdup in Somerville earlier in the day. He went on to say that at approximately 2:19 p.m., the officers noticed a commotion in front of the market, and BPD Officers Brian Reaney and Cecil Jones, along with State Police Officer Mike Fiori, ran into the store.

The officers saw the suspect near the meat counter, chasing the victim with a 4½-inch steak knife in her (continued on page 12)

I Miss Dennis McLaughlin

by Brian P. Wallace

I first met Dennis Mc-Laughlin in May of 1975. My boss, Rep. Ray Flynn, at that time decided to seek a citywide office in Boston. The mayor's race beckoned, but that would come later, eight years to be exact. Ray and I had both played basketball in high school against Charlestown. He a lot better than I.

We both knew a number of Townie athletes and athletic activists. Bobby Gillis, Bobby Smith, Crash Mc-Neil, Frankie Perreault, Joe Barnes, Butchie Chardavoyne, Kevin O'Halloran, Dinger Houlihan, Johnny O'Donnell and Roe Walsh were some of those we asked to help our fledgling Flynn organization in Charlestown. Ray's father, Steve, also had a number of friends through his longshoring and union activities. Dennis McLaughlin was one of those people.

to Charlestown to meet with some of those people, and some others, to set up our Charlestown organization. Dennis didn't say very much that first meeting but his silence was in no way indicative of his dedication and loyalty. We did very well in Charlestown that election. Thanks to our many friends, we continued to do well not only in Charlestown, but across the entire

Most of those friendships we formed during that first campaign remain strong and ongoing to this very day. Some of those who were with us that year have gone on to other things and have opened up new and successful chapters in their lives. Dennis McLaughlin decided that public and community service and helping those in Charlestown was what made him most comfortable. And believe me, he did, indeed, help an awful lot of Townies over the years.

I'm hard-pressed to count the number of meetings that we attended during those 17 years, or the number of times Dennis would say at these meetings, "What about Charlestown?" or "What is Charlestown getting?" If he could have been accused of having a onetrack mind, that track was always headed in the direction of Bunker Hill Street.

He never spoke about the things he did, or got, for Charlestown and I'm quite sure that most of those reading this story will never know the behind-the-scenes work he did for you. I

I also know the devastating stress and untold aggravation that accompanied his role in Charlestown. He would have it no other way. Nor would he ever complain about it. "Comes with the territory," he would laugh and say. I always admired that in Dennis. In this world full of whiners and takers, he was the consumate giver. Dennis Mc-Laughlin stood out as the antithesis of all that was phoney or circumspect and I admired him for that as

In my lifetime, I have been very fortunate to have met some great people who I'm proud to call "friend." Dennis McLaughlin was one of them. He will always be in my heart and prayers. I will never be able again to hear the word "Charlestown" without thinking of Dennis McLaughlin. I miss him very much, but Charlestown misses him more.

Tonight, Thursday, May 27, at the Barry Playground (Oilies), we will celebrate Dennis McLaughlin's life. At 6 p.m., we will hold the second annual Dennis Mc-Laughlin Memorial Softball Game and Cookout. It's a free event, as he would have wanted. It is sponsored by "Friends of Dennis."

See you tonight!

In the event of rain, the game and cookout will be held at 6 p.m. on Thursday, June 3.

* Neighborhood Council Meetings . . . Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Neighborhood Council will be held on Tuesday, June I at 7 p.m. at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

Among the items on the agenda will be a presentation by Victor Karen of the Boston Redevelopment Authority on Building 104 on First Avenue in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Boston Police Community Relations/ Public Safety Committee

The Boston Police Community Relations/Public Safety Committee will meet on Tuesday, June 8 at 7 p.m. at the Kent Community Center, 50 Bunker Hill St.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

* Charlestown Navy Yard . . . With the arrival of warm weather, activities within the Navy Yard are on the increase.

The Boston National Historical Park will be conducting free 90-minute walking tours of Charlestown beginning at 1 p.m. from the Visitor Center in Building 5 on Saturday, May 29 and Sunday, May 30.

Charlestown's evolution illustrates the impact of major historical developments in the shaping of American society. The role of the Puritans, the American Revolution, immigration, industrialization and urban renewal in the development of modern Charlestown will be examined. For more information, call 242-5601.

At 10 a.m. on Monday, May 31, the HMCS Iroquois arrives on the east side of Pier 1 for a two-day stay.

* MBTA Service On Memorial Day . . . The MBTA has announced that all subway, streetcar, bus routes, commuter boats and community rail lines will operate on a Sunday schedule on Memorial Day, Monday, May 31. For more information on routes and schedules, call 722-3200.

* Street Reconstruction Update . . . Mario Susi & Son's crews continue the street reconstruction work with another street well underway this week. Prescott Street was started last week and work continues this week with the installation of the new storm drain and associated new roof drain services.

Ferrin Street is reaching the final stages of reconstruction with the new cobble surface being finished. All that remains now is the lighting and tree planting.

RJV, the water subcontractor for Susi, finished hooking up the new water services and removing the temporary water services on Prospect Street. The Boston Gas Company has been installing its new main and when they are done, the street reconstruction will be completed.

The landscape subcontractor has received several shipments of trees and has started the planting on Russell Street. He is expected to move to Rutherford Avenue when Russell Street is done. Some new trees may lose their leaves due to the shock of being uprooted and transplanted. This is normal. They should refoliate this year, if not, by next spring. They still require pruning which will assist in their regeneration. Susi is also installing the Training Field benches. They will be in place for the Bunker Hill Day festivities.

Now that the Gas Company situation has been resolved, we expect that the contractor will be contacting the Gas Company to coordinate the gas light service work with them.

On the Forty Flights, the Middlesex Corporation has been working to complete its project with the installation of new sidewalks and getting upper Mead Street ready for final paving. The railing subcontractor finished the installation of the railings and posts and painted them. There is still some contract items to be done and then the punch list and repair items, but the stairs have been opened by the contractor for use by the general public.

Questions, concerns or complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300, ext. 5674.

CHAD Junior Bowling League Awards Ceremony And Banquet

by John Dillon

The CHarlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) Junior Bowling League ended the year with its annual banquet at the American Legion Hall, which was donated by Jim Conway and Bunker Hill Post 26, A.L.

I would like to congratulate the American Legion team for coming in first, and the John Nucci team for coming in second for the season. High averages went to Tammy Biggins and Sean Reilly, who both had a great season. Most improved players were Taylor Halley and Kathleen Lynch. All of our bowlers received participation trophies.

I would like to thank our sponsors, for without them, it would be impossible to continue the bowling league. They are: John Nucci, the American Legion, Bob Cappucci, Cricket Dillon, Bunker Hill Real Estate, Erins, B & B Oil, the Kennedy Center, The Charlestown Patriot, Lori-Ann's and the MWRA. Please support these individuals and businesses because they care about your kids and our community.

I would also like to thank the mothers and fathers that kept score every week, Jerry Steimel of the Boys & Girls Club for letting us borrow the bus when we needed it; a special thanks to Gloria Conway for the coverage in the Patriot every week; thanks to Jenny's Pizza for the delicious pizza and Collier's for the fine catering job. And last, but not least, thank you to our president Dorothy Harris. The hours she puts in for the league are unbelievable and I just want to thank her publicly.

See you all in September. Have a nice, safe summer.

☆ ★ Memorial Day 1993 ☆ ☆

We remember them today.

And it was not the Cold War that motivated a terrorist to drive a bomb-ladened vehicle into a Marine barracks in Beirut, Lebanon in October 1983. More than 250 Americans died. We remember them today.

There seems to be a feeling among many citizens that this nation has not been at war since the long struggle in Vietnam came to a close for America. Yet, nothing could be further from the truth.

On Memorial Day, we gather to remember all those who have fallen in defense of freedom. As we do, let us also remember what history has taught us about our need to maintain vigilance. And, if there is a "Peace Dividend" to be enjoyed, may the first to enjoy that dividend be America's men and women of the military who made it possible for the world to move away from the terrifying threat of a nuclear firestorm.

It is difficult for Legionnaires and all veterans to listen to the plaintive notes of Taps echoing. Or hear a rifle salute. Or watch as a missing-man formation of planes roars overhead.

As we stand tall at those sights and sounds, a lump forms in our throats, and tears well up in our eyes. For we know, we are remembering those who left with a smile on their face, ready to do what America had asked them to do.

Those smiles live on in the memories of their families. Memories! What would we, as a people, be without our memories?

Memorial Day is a fitting time to remember those who paid the ultimate sacrifice. It is also a fitting time to remember those whose fate is unknown — our Prisoners of War and those Missing in Action.

Memories! We hold them dear to our hearts. We know that the citizens of America are thankful for the sacrifices of these men and women. On Memorial Day, we pause to bring meaning to that sacrifice — by remembering them and thanking them for making it possible to live in the greatest nation on earth — The United States of America.

District One City Council Race

DiLibero Announces Candidacy For District One Boston City Council

Maria DiLibero, a wellknown East Boston community activist and successful businessperson, has announced her candidacy for the District One Boston City Council seat being vacated by now Sen. Robert Travaglini.

More than a quarter century ago, Maria was a teenager arriving at Logan Airport from Italy, alone, with just pocket change and no knowledge of the English language.

Today she is Mrs. Maria DiLibero, a successful businesswoman, a mother of three grown children, a community leader and a candidate for the Boston City Council.

The years in between were a kaleidoscope of determination, drive and progress. In her words, "From the first day of school, after being placed three years behind my actual grade level, I was possessed with and determined to learn the English language. I found three main guides that would help - an Italian-English translation book, a TV set at my uncle's home, and twice-a-week speech classes with first and second graders at a public school." Diligence was rewarded and one of her best Christmas presents was a promotion to eighth-grade level. Maria went on to graduate the following June.

Her teen-age years were busy times not only in school but after school as well. She worked as a clerk in a doughnut shop, an insurance agency secretary and a legal worker in a law office. As an honor student at East Boston High School, she was permitted to take English and business courses at another school evenings and attend the Hickox Secretarial School in Boston for six months before graduation.

She married a young man, Nick DiLibero, who shared a classroom with her in high school and the two were joined as well in business, operating construction firms as well as a number of small business ventures from restaurants to real DiLibero's first love, beside her family, is public service and for the past 17 years has devoted much effort behind the political careers of many popular public figures. She is a member of the board of the East Boston Chamber of Commerce, the Dante Alighieri Society, the Boston-Padua Association, the New England Home for Little Wanderers, and the Sons of Italy. She also is a Suffolk County deputy sheriff.

DiLibero stated: "Those like me who have raised families in this community cannot be happy with the decline that our neighborhoods are experiencing. We live with crime, vandalism have formally announced a joint venture. The agreement was signed in May by Dr. C. Scully Stikes, president of BHCC, and Dr. Jose R. Gonzalez, president of

Bunker Hill Community

College (BHCC) and the

Inter-American University

of Puerto Rico (IAUPR)

This agreement supports BHCC's mission to participate in educational endeavors with other institutions of higher education and to internationalize its curriculum. This commitment also reinforces IAUPR's goal to collaborate with other institutions and to provide members of its academic community with opportunities to participate in interinstitutional programs and projects for personal and professional growth. The major areas of joint participation will include developing human resources and exchanging curricular and instructional materials. Specifically, faculty members at BHCC and IAUPR will have the opportunity to take inter-institutional teaching assignments, direct staff development workshops, participate in joint research and develop curriculum in other areas. Students will reap benefits from studying programs such as technical and health sciences in the other insti-

According to Stikes, "This agreement is a great step in implementing BHCC's comprehensive mission. The inter-institutional exchange will be a great experience for the faculty and students."

To implement this agreement, BHCC and IAUPR will designate appropriate personnel and officers to negotiate supplemental agreements to develop specific projects. Also the two institutions have pledged the necessary resources, to the extent allowed by law and by policy of their respective institutions, to execute this contract.

$25,000 is needed to put the Bunker Hill Day Parade on the streets on Sunday, June 13. With the fiscal constraints on the city of Boston, only a limited amount of money is being allocated to the celebration by the city and each unit is asking for an increase in its fee. Thus the success of the celebration depends on you - the residents, merchants and organizations. Donations of $25 and over will be publicly acknowledged.

Weak though it may be, the following is merely an attempt at humor. It is in no way intended to be sexist. After all, isn't it healthy to be able to look at ourselves and

A wise man once told me that there is really only one woman in the world, it is just that they all look different. If that is true, then it may also be true that there is really only one man in the world and maybe we all look different.

Aside from the obvious physical differences between the sexes, let us take a mo ment to explore a few other areas.

A man goes into a supermarket to purchase a loaf of bread. He goes directly to the bread counter, takes the loaf of bread to the cashier, pays for it and, within a few short minutes, leaves with the bread and only the bread. A woman goes to the supermarket for a loaf of bread, takes a cart, walks every aisle, fills the cart, visits the cashier and within forty five minutes to an hour, leaves with the bread and an additional sixty dollars worth of groceries.

A man leaves a fine restaurant and talks about how delicious the food was. A woman leaves a fine restaurant and talks about what the people in the next booth were discussing.

It takes a woman several hours to change the curtains in the house. It takes a man several weeks to notice.

A man uses the television for entertainment. A woman uses the television as a substitute for sleeping pills.

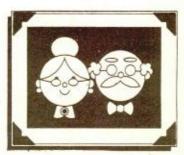

A woman considers a chair as a place to sit. A man considers a chair as a place to hang his jacket.

A man can shower, shave and get dressed to go out in forty-five minutes. In that same forty-five minutes, a woman has not yet decided what she is going to wear.

On a non-committed Sunday afternoon, a man likes to lie on the couch with the paper while watching a game of some sort on the television. This is precisely the time a woman likes to vacuum the carpeting in the very same room in which the man is watching his favorite team in action.

A man lets his wife drive his car any time. A woman lets her husband drive her car any time it needs gas.

A man loves to play golf, and that is why there are so many golf courses. A woman loves to shop, and that is why there are so many malls.

A man complains about an hour or two of baby-sitting. A woman rarely complains about the nine months leading up to that hour or two of baby-sitting.

A man may be physically stronger than a woman, but why is it he has such a difficult time picking up his socks?

A man dresses in a nice pair of slacks, a sport jacket and a tie. A woman does not like what the man has on, but not wanting to hurt his feelings, she does not tell him. She simply says, "Oh, are you wearing

Men sit around a table talking. Generally a topic is discussed one man at a time. Listen, if you will, to a group of women sitting around a table. They all talk at the same time, but miracle of all miracles, they do not miss a word spoken by the others. A man cannot talk and listen at the same time. A woman has that uncanny ability.

A man sometimes forgets a women's birthday. A woman never lets the man forget that he forgot her birthday.

A man will look at an obviously beautiful woman and say, "She's gorgeous." A woman will say, "You think so?"

A man will put a job, any job, off until tomorrow. A woman wants a job, any job, done yesterday.

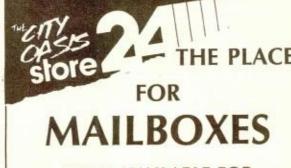

A man will often put loose change into a drawer, a tin can or a jar. A woman will often put loose change into that little change pouch in her wallet which is then placed into the pocketbook. Within a few weeks, this causes "penny buildup" making it virtually impossible to lift the bag.

A man will be charged $18.63 for a purchase at the supermarket, and he will give the cashier a twenty dollar bill. A woman will be charged $18.63 for a purchase at the supermarket, and she will give the cashier a ten, a five, three ones and exactly sixtythree cents which she removed from the change pouch in her wallet, thus proving the "penny buildup" theory.

What a dull world this would be if we were all the same. Don't you agree?

North End Woman Attacked By Knife-Wielding Assailant In Market

(continued from page one) hand. The victim, later identified as Tracey Luisi, 45, of the North End, was bleeding from multiple stab wounds while trying to protect her 3-year-old daughter, Gia, who was seated in the shopping cart. Hayden stated that another daughter and a nephew were waiting in an automobile in the parking lot.

According to Hayden the knife-wielding woman was lunging at the store manager, an employee and anyone in the area. The store was so crowded that the officers, considering public safety, did not draw their weapons. They ordered the woman to drop the knife and, after approximately 30 seconds, she did and was placed under arrest.

Witnesses stated that the attacker did not say a word and the only thing Luisi said was "Why are you doing this? I don't even know you!"

At the time of the assailant's arrest, Hayden stated that she had yet to speak and carried no identification. He said it was uncertain whether the knife used in the attack came from the market. Vincent G. Loporcio, director of Informational Services for the BPD, said later that a second knife was found on the assailant at the time of her booking.

The woman remained silent until Wednesday morning while, at the same time,

She reportedly received stab wounds to her left eye, face, back and upper body and, as of late Wednesday, was listed by a Mass. General spokesperson as in "fair condition in the intensive care unit." Unofficial reports from several sources indicate Luisi may lose her left eye.

The suspect was identified on Wednesday morning as a 39-year-old Charlestown resident whose previous address was Sever Street in Roxbury. According to Carmen Fields, spokesperson for Suffolk County District Attorney Ralph Martin, the woman is the mother of three children who were taken into custody by the Department of Social Services and she has been under the care of a Dorchester Health Center.

Fields said the woman was arraigned at the Charlestown District Court on five charges including: armed assault with intent to kill, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (knife), assault with a dangerous weapon (knife), mayhem and being a disorderly person. Fields said the woman is undergoing 20-days of observation at Bridgewater State Hospital and will return to court on June 14 for pre-trial motions.

BPD Commissioner Francis "Mickey" Roache, who was in Charlestown when the call came in, visited the scene and talked with witnesses and the officers. His conclusion, immediately after the stabb-

Voke Strengthens Child Abuse Laws

State Rep. Richard Voke recently announced that the Massachusetts House of Representatives passed legislation that would make the act of child abuse a felony. By establishing a law that addresses penalties for those convicted of child abuse, Voke believes the court system will have a more appropriate set of guidelines from which to hand out punishment.

ing, was that it "seemed to be an unprovoked, bizarre attack . . . and did not appear to be racial." He said there would be a thorough investigation.

"Massachusetts is the only state in the nation that does not have a child abuse statute. Currently, those in the commonwealth who are charged with physically abusing a child are tried under an assault statute which is a misdemeanor. Believing that abusing kids is one of the most deplorable acts imaginable, I am confident this measure will go a long way towards bringing Massachusetts in line with the rest of the nation," said Voke.

The measure, which received overwhelming support from his colleagues in the House, would make the abuse of a child a felony punishable by imprisonment of up to 20 years. Rep. Joseph McIntyre, the Chairman of the House Criminal Justice Committee said: "The bill ensures that Massachusetts will give its most precious resource, its children, the fullest possible legal protection."

"The protection of children must be at the forefront of any laws in this area. By setting strict penalties for those convicted of causing harm to children, Massachusetts recognizes that child abusers need to be dealt a severe penalty when convicted of such an ugly crime. Our kids demand no less," ended Voke. the same old politics as usual instead of compassion and leadership."

DiLibero encouraged her friends and neighbors, "Let's begin to improve the quality of life for ourselves and our neighbors — Let's begin to ensure that our children receive the best education we can provide — Let's begin to make our streets safe and clean for our senior citizens — Let's begin to provide the opportunity for our families to earn a decent living."

Why the City Council? "Because I want to give something back to my neighborhood, my district, and my city, for the wonderful opportunities I received," Maria explains. "President Kennedy said each one of us can make a difference. What better way to try than through public service?"

Strength Training For Health And Fitness: It's Not Just Pumping Iron

Brawny men with bulging pecs and biceps. That's the image conjured up when one hears the phrase, "strength training." Contrary to popular belief. strength or weight training is not just for bodybuilders, it greatly benefits the health and fitness of both men and women, at virtually any

According to Brad Canfield, fitness director of the Armed Forces YMCA in the Charlestown Navy Yard, more and more people are beginning to reap the rewards of strength-training workouts. "Until recently, most people didn't realize that strength training can play an important role in weight management and fat loss," says Canfield, who is certified in strength training by the YMCA.

The benefits of strength training are numerous, including enhanced athletic performance and metabolic function, injury resistance, improved body-fat composition and appearance. It also helps prevent osteoporosis, a degenerative bone disease that affects many women as they age. Unfortunately, myths persist about strength training. For example, many women fear that weight training will cause them to "bulk up," developing unsightly, unfeminine mus-

"Not possible," says Canfield. "A man's ability to develop larger and stronger muscles than a woman is related to his genetic makeup and male hormones." Some women also fear that weight training means weight gain. Although the numbers on the scale might show an increase, it is most likely that the woman's dress size will actually de-

Muscle weighs more than fat, so an increase in muscular size and strength can show up as weight gain," says Canfield. "However, this additional muscle helps change the body's fat-tolean compostion which, in turn, helps use calories more efficiently and contributes to a more toned appearance."

Men and women who don't take part in regular strength training exercise lose about five pounds of muscle every 10 years. With less muscle, the calories once used to maintain muscles are deposited in fat storage, contributing to that "middle-aged spread" that plagues so many of us.

"Although weight training won't necessarily turn the clock back, it can help the body use calories more efficiently, and contribute to a more fit, 'toned' appearance," says Canfield.

"People need to realize that just doing aerobic exercise isn't enough for overall conditioning," he explains. "Strength-training needs to be a part of everyone's lifelong exercise program."

Voke Extends Rink Hours

Charlestown's state Rep. Richard Voke has announced that funding has been initially approved for the extension of skating rink hours at the Metropolitan District Commission's skating rinks, including the local Emmons-Horrigan-O'Neil rink. According to Voke, the House Ways and Means budget proposal includes $500,000 for extended rink hours.

"I am pleased Ways and Means agreed with me that it is never too early to prepare the ice for our kids.

These funds will allow youth hockey programs to keep our kids off the streets. Today, when children face all types of negative pressures, this type of community enhancing provides a productive outlet for youngsters," said Voke.

Voke, the Majority Leader of the House, has been the driving force to extend rink hours in past budget debates. He indicated he was optimistic his colleagues would accept the recommendation of the budget committee and allow rinks to be opened for a longer period. Noting that fees will be assessed on those who utilize the rinks, Voke said budget analysts do not expect the plan to have a great impact on the coffers of the commonwealth.

"By emphasizing to my colleagues the need to provide our kids with more options to stay on the straight and narrow, I feel confident these funds will allow them to stay on the ice and out of the penalty box," concluded Voke.

Malden Native Running To Help Boys & Girls Club

Malden's John Novack is trying to make his first marathon a worthwhile ven-

A self-described recreational runner, Novack has never run a race longer than 6.2 miles. On May 30, however, he'll be trying to go the distance to raise money in his father's memory for the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston. His father was a former member of the Charlestown Boys Club.

Novack, 32, is training for the Vermont City Marathon, which will be held in Burlington, Vt. over the Memorial Day Weekend. He'll be raising funds in honor of his father, Roman "Ray" Novack, who died in June 1991 of a heart attack at age 73.

"Distance running gives you time to think, and I think about my father a lot when I go running," Novack explained. "The idea for a fund raiser came together after I covered a couple of stories that involved fundraising drives for various causes on the North Shore.

"I wanted to do something to memorialize my father, and he always said the Boys Club in Charlestown kept him on the straight and narrow when he was a kid."

A lifelong Malden resident, Novack graduated from Salem State College and the Boston University College of Communications, where he earned a master's degree in print journalism. He is currently a district bureau reporter for the Salem Evening Novack has run many 5 and 6.2 mile races in the Boston area, but has only recently increased his mileage. While organizing the fund raiser, he has been putting in 50 to 65 miles a week. The response has been encouraging.

When I tell people what I'm raising money for, and that my father grew up poor and had the Boys Club as kind of an oasis from the streets, that strikes a chord," Novack explained. "I figure that if I can do something to help a kid that we'd call 'at risk' today, then this is all worthwhile.

Anyone who'd like to make a donation may do so directly to the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston, 50 Congress St., Suite 730, Boston, Mass. 02109. Donations should specify the "Ray Novack Memorial

Residents Welcome At Panel Discussion On Advanced Cancer Management

On Wednesday, June 2 at 6 p.m. in the Wellman Conference Room at the Mass. General Hospital, the Friends of the MGH Cancer Center and the Cancer Affairs Committee of the MGH will jointly sponsor a panel discussion on the topic, "Three Questions on the Management of Advanced Cancer."

The public is invited to attend this free program which will address the little-discussed but emotional questions facing patients, their families and friends, physicians and policy makers concerning the psychological, ethical and economic implications of the treatment of advanced can-

Henry J. Mankin, M.D., Chief of Orthopaedics and Chairman of the MGH Cancer Affairs Committee, will moderate the panel. Edwin H. Cassem, M.D., chief of Psychiatry Service at the MGH, will examine the question, "When Should I Bail Out?" Ronald S. Newbower, Ph.D., associate general director for Research and Technology Affairs at the MGH will discuss, "Should I Go On A Protocol?" The question "Can We, As a Country, Really Afford The Money We Spend For Cancer Care?" will be explored by Len Peterson, M.D., chief of the Bio-Ethics Department at the Harvard Medical School.

The panel presentation and discussions with the audience will be followed by an informal Wine and Cheese Reception. As seating is limited, reservations are required. Please call the Friends' Office at 726-1063 to make a reservation for this important and timely examination of a rarely addressed but vital aspect of cancer care.

Would Like To Attend Banquets

I wonder how many more out-of-towners would like to have the Old Schoolgirls and Old Schoolboys banquets nearer to the Bunker Hill Celebration so that we could attend both. For people who have to travel a long distance, the Bunker Hill Parade serves as a family reunion. It would be nice to be able to attend the banquets also. If they were scheduled eight to 10 days before the parade, many people from out of state might be able to attend both functions.

The program is broken into three components: neighborhood-based facilities, city-wide organizations and emergency assistance.

Competition for the funds will be evaluated separately for the neighborhoodbased facilities and the citywide organizations. The emergency assistance funds will be available on an asneeded basis until the funds are exhausted.

Applications for the program can be picked up at the PFD Bid Counter at 26 Court St., and the deadline for applying is 4 p.m. on June 2. Non-profit organizations interested in learning more about the program are encouraged to call PFD's Property Services Division at 635-0498.

Family Fun Day A Success!

Dear Gloria

Charlestown Family Fun Day was a success this year because so many chipped in and helped out with all the things that needed to be done. Please allow us to take the time in the Patriot to thank and acknowledge (in no particular order) everyone's efforts.

Sincere appreciation goes to: Dick and Eleanor Grant of Grant Photo for donating their time and all of the film for the Fun Day photos; Jane Carlson for reintroducing square and line dancing to Charlestown; Who Was That Mystery Woman? who spent hours helping with the face painting just because she was there; Jennifer "I Can-Do-It-All-Smiling" Johnson and George Ings from the Charlestown Working Theater for never moving from their face-painting post; Jen's look-a-like friend Vic for lugging the Theater's sound system to the Medford Street field and serving as the day's dj; Peter "Patriot" Looney for his master of raffle and ceremonies skills; Maureen "Ma's-Goodies" McGoldrick from the Eddie's for coordinating the share table; Mary MacInnes for showing up sick because the American Chop Suey needed to be there; Danny Ryan and the Boys & Girls Club staff for working with Jeff McGann and the Community Center staff in organizing all the games; all the teens who came to clean up before and after the event; St. Catherine's Color Guard for a supreme kick-off; St. Catherine's Choir for an enjoyable show; and the Boston Crusaders for a magnificent practice session just for Charlestown; and all of you who helped fill out the questionnaires.

Also, thanks to the on-hand helpers, Kate "The Skate" McDonough from the Kennedy Center, Dr. Dennis "You-Have-Bad-Posture" Burke, Ginny "Hi-I'm-Here" Harlan and Linda "She's-A-Medicine-Goddess" Zani from the Bunker Hill Health Center, Judy "I'll-just-pitch-in" Evers from the Mayor's office and Jack "Whaddva-need?" Schievink, who did what needed to be done; Liz "I-Love-Family-Fun-Day" Cinquino from the Best Year program; Sheila "Who?" Dell'Orfano and Kristen "Do-Si-Do" Garfield from the Kennedy Center; Rachel Melaugh, Kelly Moses and Brian Houlihan for spending most of the day with the balloons; John Hickey for helping with announcements and music; Mary "Bright-&-Cheery" Featherston for coming through with the banner, the choir and the too many little things to name; Joanne "I'm-A-Little-Nervous" Massaro, our local coordinator, for her keen oversight and organizing the hysterical headdresses for the photos; Peggy "Ms.-Bunker-Hill" Carolan and the Health Center staff for the first-aid table; Jerry "I-Wasn't-There" Steimel for his help and Red Sox tickets in absentia; Zelma "Hoe-Down" Lacey and the CHAP volunteers for their everything and Sister Anne "Sunshine" Rita for the weather; Anne "Wear-The-Right-Thing" Kelly for arranging the day to make sure we had all we needed; and Jeanne "Say-Cheese" Davis for being there, too.

If we forgot to mention someone important, forgive us. It was a long day.

The Healthy Charlestown Coalition greatly appreciates everyone's time and energy at this year's Family Fun Day. Thanks so much for helping and thanks for stopping by. Sincerely,

Lynn "For-the-Healthy-Charlestown-Coalition" Peters
