Trainer Backgrounds

Justin Kyle- Master Trainer

Justin Kyle, Collection Site Manager & Trainer for Drug & Alcohol Testing Compliance Services (DATCS), has completed his certification to become a Lifeloc Certified Master Trainer (C-LMT). To obtain this credential, Justin was first trained as a Department of Transportation (DOT) compliant professional collector for drug and alcohol samples and a DATIA certified DOT Trainer.

Justin has been employed by DATCS since August 2011 and was quickly promoted to Collection Site Manager for Longview and collector trainer for DATCS' other locations in Tyler, Wichita Falls and Bossier City, LA. Justin's education in chemical dependency along with his high standards for adhering to DOT protocol enables him to be an excellent motivator and trainer.

Currently, Justin is 1 of 15 C-LMT's in the United States and has developed an Advanced Collector Training that includes identifying synthetic urine with the assistance of Alisa Bradshaw. At this time, they have successfully trained one individual just a week after the course was finalized.

Alisa Bradshaw – Assistant Trainer

Alisa Bradshaw, Client Services, began working for DATCS in 2014. She is proficient in setting up a random pool, EAP Pool maintenance, DOT and non-regulated drug test reporting, DOT regulations, and new company assistance.

Currently, Alisa is working as Justin's assistant in the development of their Advanced Collector Program, along with other new training options. Alisa has undergone extensive training and became a CPCT as well as a Provisional Instructor for Lifeloc, and will eventually become the secondary Master Trainer in the company and Assistant Training Manager.

Connie Hagen- President

Connie Hagen started her career in the drug testing industry in the early 90s where she flew to Washington, D.C. and became a charter member of SAPAA (Substance Abuse Professional Administration Association), which was the first organization created for third party program administrators in the drug testing industry.

Connie is the former marketing research director for a national magazine called Drug Testing News, published in Austin, Texas. While in that position, she coordinated material for an episode for the CBS TV series called "Eye to Eye with Connie Chung". That episode, "How some drivers with the Department of Transportation were trying to beat a drug test," aired on national television. Not only is she an active member of DATIA (Drug and Alcohol Testing Industry Association), SAPAA, BBB, WBENC (Women's Business Enterprise National Council), but also supports numerous Chambers of Commerce throughout Texas.

For over 15 years, Connie has been providing training and education for supervisors in recognizing the indicators of substance abuse in the workplace and how to handle a reasonable suspicion the correct way. This training is mandatory for DERs (Designated Employer Representatives) for all DOT programs.
