Tempers Rise As Temperatures Soar At Tuesday's Aquarium Meeting

by Kathy Giordano

In the heat of a June night, hundreds of Charlestown residents came out of their air conditioned or fan-cooled homes and away from a cool breeze on their front stoop to pack the auditorium at Charlestown High School to testify before the Neighborhood Council on the proposed move of the New England Aquarium into the Charlestown Navy Yard. The temperature of the meeting room reached an unbearable point midway through the hearing and outbursts of temper made conditions more uncomfortable.

The specially called Charlestown Neighborhood Council Aquarium Committee-of-the-Whole hearing took place on Tuesday, June 27. Council members in attendance were: Chairman Dennis McLaughlin, Vice Chairman Bill Galvin, Secretary Stephen Collins, Treasurer John Lynch and members Moe Gillen, Jim Conway, Tom Cunha, Fran Coleman, Mel Stillman, Susan Mellen, Kevin Roche, Kate McDonough, Ellen D'Ambrosio, Dan Kovacevic, Terry Cullen, Jim Mansfield, Peter Looney and Nancy Keyes.

In the audience, but taking no active role at the hearing, were representatives from the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), New England Aquarium (NEA), Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, Congressman

Joseph Kennedy's office, Councillor Robert Travaglini's office and the National Park Service (NPS), as well as other city and state agencies. The entire procedure was filmed by cable television to be aired at a future date.

A total of 88 individuals spoke before the council. Of that number 42 spoke in favor of the proposed aquarium, 40 spoke against the proposal and six people spoke on the proposal but did not specify their approval or disapproval, rather advised the council to look at all particulars before making a decision. All who requested to speak were given the opportunity to do so.

Funding for the rehabilitation of the development, administered by the Boston Housing Authority (BHA), came from city money through a $1.9 million Community Development Block Grant (CDBG), and $400,000 came from the federal government through modernization money.

To The Vandals Of The Old Kent School

We, the members of the board of the Kennedy Center, are asking those who are breaking into the Old Kent School at Hayes Square to stop it now. So far the damage has been minimal and nobody has been hurt. It is time to quit while you are ahead.

Your parents, grandparents, friends and neighbors are the people who gave over $75,000 to help rebuild this school. We are people who live in this community who volunteer our time to see that Charlestown's children have a safe place to go to school. We have been working for the past 18 months to raise the money to hire the contractor to fix the school. We are not your enemy.

The money that is being wasted because of your destructive behavior is money that should go to toys and games for the Headstart kids. If you have to pick on someone, try picking on someone older than 4.

Silva Realty Associates

HOW TO USE A REALTOR'S EXPERTISE

If you are using the services of a professional Realtor to find a new home, great communication is crucial. If the agent knows your deep criteria, he or she can work much more effectively with you, showing you only those homes that meet your needs.

If you are looking in a specific area, explain why. Is it proximity to your job, good schools, or just overall appeal? If there are no houses available in your price range, the agent may suggest alternate neighborhoods with the same amenities. Do you need a home office or do you have hobbies that you want to accommodate? Are there particular styles you prefer over others? Is a fireplace or large kitchen especially important to you? When we work with buyers, sometimes we have to be a little bit psychic. The more you can tell us about what you have to have and what you're willing to compromise on, the easier it will be to find something that's as perfect as possible.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Silva Realty Associates. Come by our offices at 142 Main St., Charlestown or call us at 242-7470.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

Under the auspices of the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee, its Chairman James W. Conway, Chief Marshal Martin J. O'Brien Jr. and Military Liaison Cmdr. Robert L. Gillen, USN (Ret.), I was an invited guest aboard the USS Simpson's (FFG56) maiden voyage to the Charlestown Navy Yard. With committee members, family and friends on board, the trip from Newport, R.I. on Flag Day was a banner voyage. Commander James J. McTigue, USN, a Cambridge native who received his commission in June 1969, was gracious and most hospitable to everyone who had the pleasure to savor the excursion. All questions were answered by the crew and the complete freedom to roam the Simpson was an experience. During the voyage, guests joined the officers and crew in a service of remembrance for shipmate Operations Specialist First Class Henry Joseph Demick, USNR, who died the previous weekend while home on leave.

With the sun cooperating, the fantail was the ideal location to be on this peacetime cruise. It was nicely situated next to the helicopter pad where the commissary chief and staff provided the chow and beverages. This seagoing cookout was executed with flawless precision. Chief Marshal O'Brien kept the count on hamburger and hot dog consumption, and certified Massachusetts Commissioner of Public Safety Bill McCabe as the top consumer.

Exiting the 17-mile Cape Cod canal, parade coordinator Ed Kelly was queried on the number of jumbo cigars that would be smoked before disembarkation. His response . . . five. Ed would have to replenish his supply the next morning at David P. Ehrlich's on Tremont Street.

Above the fantail and away from the smoke was Boston firefighter Joe Hurley, accompanied by his brother Arthur, assistant parade adjutant. They marveled at the sleek and smooth operating of the ship from the captain's deck. It was high technology throughout the pilot's house, where Joe stayed during most of our eight hour trek. Honorary navigational stripes for Joe will be presented to him at Engine 50 from the captain and crew for his tour of duty.

Entering Presidents' Lane, the pilot approached from the port preparing to come along side for the Boston Harbor captain to come aboard. Once aboard, the captain joined Commander McTigue and assisted the Simpson's arrival at the Navy Yard. Greetings to the captain and crew were given by the spray of the Boston Fire Department boat. Gradually the tug gingerly moved the Simpson into its temporary berth at Pier One in front of the Constitution. It was a glorious day with a great group of naval personnel that will fondly be remembered by all, if not the best, one of the best Flag Days celebrated.

Others who enjoyed the Simpson's voyage included: Tim Conway, Norita Lee, Francis Kirk, Michael Tognarelli, Tom White, Tom Lyons, Tod Lyons, Joseph Manning, Al Sullivan, John McBride, Fran Maher, Martin O'Brien Sr., James O'Brien, Roy O'Brien, Robert Scalli, Steve Morrison, Dennis Kane, John J. Mullan, Ken Awbrey and Bob Templeton.

Once on land we were greeted by our welcoming committee, including the legendary William "Bun" Crowley. Bun's presence was cheered by the group, but he was especially welcomed by Ed Kelly. Ed was able to get a loan from Bun's cigar depository and happily puffed his way home to Monument Square. Photographs of the voyage may be seen on page 4.

The new residents, settling daily at First Avenue and Thirteenth Street, are enjoying the location and views as the summer begins. At the end of Pier 8 there is also a new addition, The Trolley Stop. Tracks are not required for this trolley, which offers tantalizing food, not troubling transportation. From 8 a.m. it has a unique menu consisting of freshly brewed coffee, donuts, bagels, muffins, juices, snacks, slush and steamed hot dogs topped with sauerkraut. It is an appropriate bill of fare for casual nourishment on the water. Shipyard Quarters Marina has given the public an accessible facility that will intrigue visitor and resident. Also available for an inimitable evening party, dock reception and general catering, the trolley will put out all stops for the public's enjoyment.

Courageous Sailing Center Set To Open July 5

by Rosa Freda

The Courageous Sailing Center, a sailing program for Boston children which operates from Pier 4 at the Charlestown Navy Yard, is preparing to open for its third season.

This year the center will have sailboat classes daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. starting July 5 and continuing until Sept. 1. To enroll in sailing classes, youngsters must fill out applications which can be obtained at the center on Pier 4 weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and they must obtain

Smith may be reached at the center weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 725-3263.

Beverly Gibbons: "The BHA faced ongoing structural problems." The modernization money was only enough to work on one building. It took three years and lots of city money to complete the project. "The BHA has been kind to the elderly," Gibbons said.

"We thank Mayor Flynn for the CDBG funds. This couldn't have happened without his help," said William McGonagle, executive assistant at the BHA.

BHA Administrator Doris Bunte who was present at the ribbon-cutting ceremony, along with Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglino and Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, expressed her happiness about the event. "I'm thrilled with the results," stated Bunte.

In the crowded auditorium, proponents and opponents were seated next to each other. Longtime residents and newcomers sat side by side. Residents not usually seen at meetings were present, as were many familiar faces who have been following the proposal through the various steps of discussion.

During the hearing, while testimony was taking place, all hell broke loose when a demonstration by 45 children entered the hall. Children ranging in age from 4 to 11 could be heard approaching the hall chanting "we want the aquarium." They marched into the fray holding signs and shouting. This brought the hearing to a standstill for five minutes.

While the youngsters were chanting "we want the aquarium," the audience was divided in their response to the demonstration. Proponents were standing and cheering them on, clapping and whistling while the parade marched around the hall and onto the stage in front of the council. Opponents of the aquarium move were livid, shouting accusations at council members of a "set up." Tempers flared. Anger by some residents on the use of children in an attempt to benefit the proposal were met with shouts from council members, stating that they had nothing to do with the demonstration. One council member was asked if his children were participants in the march, a question that outraged him and brought him to his feet yelling over the table at that member of the audience.

Hecklers could be heard throughout the evening. If a resident spoke in favor of the aquarium, someone would shout in disapproval. If a resident spoke against the proposal, that too was met with outbursts. Some in attendance never rose to speak, "fearful of getting abused," according to one resident who requested her name not be used. She stated: "Whenever someone rose to state they wanted the aquarium to come to Charlestown, a man in a front row seat would yell out nasty accusations about that person."

Good, thoughtful and sensible issues were addressed through the testimony given before the council. Proponents stated the need for jobs and money for additional affordable housing units, issues that were included in the benefits package presented by the aquarium. Opponents did not want the aquarium to infringe on Shipyard Park, open space used by families and older residents. Some felt that only residents of Charlestown should be allowed to give testimony, which would have prevented labor union representatives and Navy Yard developers from expressing their views.

Kathryn Downing of Green Street stated: "The New England Aquarium came to town in an incredible wave of excitement. That tide has changed!" She shouted these words while waving pages of a petition on which 2,088 signatures had been collected in opposition to the aquarium's move into Dry Dock 2. David Dow of Neal Court questioned the petition drive, stating that a member of the "ad hoc coalition" was seen on State Street "asking people to sign a petition to save a park." Dow also remarked on the "silent majority" who were present in the hall, asking "how loud do we have to be to be heard in favor of the aquarium?"

Maggie Moss-Tucker of Monument Square voiced her concern to the council. "I feel you are being used by the BRA and the city," she said. She asked the council to "think of the children" before taking a vote, stating: "Shipyard Park is an exceptional place. I'd love the aquarium here, but it doesn't work" at that site. Pat Hogan of High Street told the gathering that she had been opposed to the aquarium's proposal but took the time to talk to other residents and "got a different feeling from a lot of people. I think, for the people of Charlestown, the New England Aquarium would be a good thing and that problems can be overcome."

Mary MacInnes of Polk Street said: "Our kids (living in the Bunker Hill Housing Development) need Shipyard Park." She further stated that "I have never been more ashamed as I am tonight at what you did to our children," referring to the demonstration. "It's wrong. God help everyone who thinks it's right," she concluded. Bill McClellan of Elm Street said that he "partially agreed with Mary on the demonstration, but what I see here tonight scares me. It reminds me of the old BRA days when people were at each other's throats — brother against brother, cousin against cousin, neighbor against neighbor. People made fortunes on the development of Charlestown. We 'Townies' who beat each other up over this didn't get a dime. It is my opinion that if you don't see the aquarium going in there (Dry Dock 2), you'll see a hotel with parking for their little boats. The aquarium is a class act. If anything goes in there, the best act I've seen so far is the aquarium."

This typifies the testimony that took place throughout the evening: the increase of traffic and where it would park once it gets here versus construction jobs and linkage money for community use; air pollution versus educational benefits. Match for match it went on until all were heard.

Proponents state that they were not as well prepared to present their petitions as the opponents were. Opponents accused the other side of dirty tactics. It has been learned by this reporter that by the morning after the meeting, certain council members and some residents had received "hate mail" from anonymous sources. And so it goes.

After months of meetings between the community and representatives from the BRA and the aquarium, public discussion on the proposed move of the facility into Dry Dock 2 in the Navy Yard has come to a halt until after the Neighborhood Council takes action at their next scheduled monthly meeting on July 11.

It was the general consensus that after all the time spent discussing traffic, parking, benefits, urban design and access with the community that representatives from the aquarium would make a presentation before the council at Tuesday's hearing, discussing the results of those meetings. This did not take place. Council members are now left on their own to wade through traffic studies, reports, newspaper articles and the testimony given by community residents.

Will the council members decide that not enough information has been gathered to make a decision or will they decide to allow the aquarium to continue on the lengthy process ahead of them?

At its Tuesday, July 11 meeting, the council will debate the issue without any further public discussion. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 W. School St.

It's only the bottom of the first inning, but the council is at bat. Stay tuned for the play-by-play account of this, the "World Series" of Charlestown.

New England Aquarium Charlestown Resident Survey

The New England Aquarium has released the results of a recent Charlestown survey regarding the institution's proposed relocation to Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard. The poll, which was conducted by Sibley Associates Inc., a market research firm, solicited the opinions of approximately 300 Charlestown residents.

Of those surveyed, Charlestown residents clearly in favor of the aquarium moving to Charlestown exceed those opposed by a more than 2:1 ratio (52 percent in support; 25 percent opposed). Twenty-two percent were neutral on the issue.

Results showed that those more familiar with the aquarium were more likely to be strong supporters of the Navy Yard facility. Fifty-five percent of those who had visited the aquarium six or more times were in support; and 62 percent of those who said they knew about the aquarium's educational activities said they support the move. Respondents with children ages 2 to 18 were more likely to be strongly in favor of the new aquarium locating in Charlestown.

Thirty-four percent of residents surveyed felt that the economic gain of the new aquarium in Charlestown was the single most important benefit of the proposed new facility, while others cited employment opportunities and educational opportunity.

The major concerns listed by those surveyed were traffic and parking at the proposed facility.

The poll was conducted following an unprecedented community outreach process involving more than 1,000 residents over the past 10 months. The process involved over 100 meetings, including focus groups and answer groups to identify concerns and develop alternative solutions. The community process will continue through subsequent phases of development review and refinement of the proposal.

Not For Nothin' . . . But Have You Heard . . .

• Tisk, Tisk, Tisk . . . The list goes on! More businesses doing business in Charlestown and using a Boston 02129 address are: U.S. Gypsum, Textile Waste Supply, Henry Sawyer Co., H.P. Hood, Teamsters Union 25 and Trans World Airlines! We'd like to thank our extended staff of investigative reporters who have helped dig up this information — namely Steve Owens and Charlie Clabaugh. Thanks, guys!

• Speaking Of Businesses Using Such Addresses . . . There is one company located in Roughan's Hall that was listed second in the Boston Globe's top 100 companies in the state . . . But since they don't admit to being in Charlestown, I don't think we'll give them the ol' "Tip of the Hat" award!

• Welcome . . . And Best Wishes . . . to new Charlestown residents now living aboard the 50-foot Sea Turtle in the Navy Yard Marina — Richie Frey and Lisa Clark, soon to be Mr. and Mrs. Frey. Our best wishes on both events.

• Cool, Cool, Cool . . . is the Knights of Columbus hall now that the air conditioning unit has been repaired. No more hot beano nights — just hot numbers! Fixed just in time for those summer hall rentals, too!

• Sure Bill . . . You said you were 32 at last Tuesday's council meeting!! That's how many summers — what about the winters!? We wish Bill McClellan of Elm Street a happy 12th anniversary of his 39th birthday tomorrow, June 30th. Have a great year, Bill. But then again, you always do.

• Going West . . . and leaving her post as public relations person at the BRA is Peggy Griffin, who's last day in Charlestown will be Friday, June 30th. Peg is off to San Diego to join her husband Charlie who's attending law school out there. Good luck, Peggy. Keep in touch!

• Good Press . . . for two good local restaurants. Olives received mention in Tuesday's Globe, as did the Warren Tavern. It appears a unique system has been derived by both eateries. When the 50 seats are full at Olives, customers forced to wait on the sidewalk are told to walk down to the Warren Tavern for a cocktail while awaiting their table. Works out great for both — sometimes better for the Tavern since some patrons decide to remain there for dinner.

• We've Been Asked . . . what is going on at the Eden Street Park. Checked with the best source for information — Judy Evers — who informs us that a new tot lot is being constructed. New equipment being installed, she says, came as a result of resident input . . . Judy also tells us that Jim "Stretch" Walsh of the Parks Department has been making weekly visits to all parks in Charlestown and upkeep has been tremendous as a result . . . Thanks, Jim!

• Bunker Hill Pool Will Open . . . next week. As of now, the crew plans to be all set by Wednesday, July 5!

• Hanscom Field Open House . . . will feature the Air Force Thunderbirds! Mark your calendar for July 1 and 2 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Events will include aerobatics demonstrations and concerts by the Air Force Band of New England and the 18th Army Band. Charlestown resident Mike Goulian will take to the air with his Pitts Special biplane. To reach Hanscom, take Route 2A or Routes 4 and 225 off Route 128. Admission and parking are free, but spectators are advised to get their early and bring your camera. For more info, call 377-4466.

• Funds Still Needed . . . for collection being taken up by neighbors of Doug Cummings who would like to replace his weather beatin' hat . . . Be honest, Doug, it is an eyesore! But on the other hand, your garden is a delight!

The Aquarium And Jobs For Youth Topics Of Merchants' Meeting

Members of the Charlestown Merchants Association enjoyed a buffet luncheon at the town's newest restaurant, Olives on Main Street, before delving into two topics of vital concern to the community — the proposed move by the New England Aquarium to Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard, and jobs for Charlestown youth.

CMA Chairman Bill Galvin introduced John Prescott, executive director of the aquarium, to give an overview of the proposal, focusing on a prospective relationship between the aquarium and the town's business community.

Prescott opened his presentation by referring to questions posed to him by the Mayor and others. The first concerned the traffic, parking, access and community benefits from the facility's move to Charlestown, and the second was whether the aquarium could afford to build the facility.

He noted that they have been working on a package to address the community's concerns to present to the Charlestown Neighborhood Council. Prescott added they have determined that the construction of a facility in Dry Dock 2 is "within the realm of reality." He put a price tag of $150 million on the construction, with half of the cost being realized from the sale of their Central Wharf facility and some $35 million to be raised from various city, state and national philanthropies.

Prescott explained the enormous amount of goods and services needed to support such an institution. He noted the number of paper towels and tissue needed to serve 1.8 to 2 million visitors; the uniforms, cleaning and laundry for 250 to 300 employees; $150,000 per year in fish to feed the animals, adding that "we use the best we can get — not seconds;" and the serving of 700,000 hot dogs and cold drinks to the visitors. He added that much support is needed for such a facility.

The director stated that he wants to work with the community and suggested a seminar might be appropriate to let local merchants know the opportunities available to them. Prescott also said that the institution has a bid process for goods and services and he would notify the Patriot and the Merchants Association when seeking bids. When asked whether local merchants could be assured a percentage of the contracts, Prescott said that it would not be a good business practice to promise a percentage irrespective of price. He added that he has a 90-member board that expects a balanced budget. He was asked that Charlestown merchants be given priority if the pricing is competitive.

Prescott did state, in response to a member's question, that Charlestown residents will be invited to join the aquarium's board.

When asked if the aquarium would produce anything in writing prior to a Neighborhood Council vote to assure benefits to the community and the merchants, Prescott said not at this time. He stated that as they continue with the process, these will be "nailed down," but at this point, he said he couldn't make promises that are contingent on someone else. He did pledge that there would be a policy statement in the near future.

Prescott told the group that the "aquarium is not going to be an absentee landlord. We are going to be here every day, and it will behoove us to be a good neighbor and work with the community."

The second speaker was Rosemarie Sansone, director of Mayor Raymond L. Flynn's Office of Business and Cultural Development. Sansone spoke about the ongoing "Boston Youth Campaign" and the merchants welcomed the opportunity to hear how they could help youngsters from Charlestown by providing summer employment, and other alternative opportunities.

An important component of the campaign is the attempt to ensure that a job be available for each neighborhood youth who wants a job this summer. Sansone added: "Only by providing our kids a chance at constructive alternatives can we help them avoid the temptations of the streets during their summer vacations. Summer jobs are vital to help our kids mature in productive, organized settings."

During her remarks, Sansone also gave the merchants an overview of the different aspects of the campaign, described as a public/private initiative to connect Boston businesses with neighborhood kids. The campaign is in response to the temptations which threaten many of our city's kids while anticipating decreases in the funding of youth programs due to state cutbacks in local aid.

The Boston Youth Campaign enables neighborhood businesses to become involved by providing employment opportunities or contributing time, funding or resources. Through their participation, local businesses can provide Charlestown kids with the chance that can truly make a difference.

Information concerning the Boston Youth Campaign can be obtained by calling 725-HOPE or contacting Sherry Jackson at the Charlestown JobStart, One Thompson Square, telephone 242-3352.

Water Main Break Cuts Water Supply To Town

by Rosa Freda

On Friday, June 23, the metal gate of a 30-inch underground main water line which supplies most of Charlestown with water broke in City Square.

According to Director of Boston Water and Sewer Commission (BWSC) Robert Ciolek, the break in the gate, a valve which allows water to run through the pipes, was accidentally caused by Perini Co. The company is a contractor hired by the Mass. Department of Public Works to do work on the Central Artery North Area (CANA) project.

David Flanagan, community liaison for the CANA project, said that Perini Co. was doing underground digging for the tunnel in conjunction with the CANA project. The workers capped the 30-inch main line valve, and went to work. But the "shut off valve" on the main line which, according to the plans, was supposed to be off was actually on. The excavators hit the distributor valve, and caused the leak.

"We actually benefitted from this," Flanagan said. Charlestown residents did not have to go without water all of yesterday because the DPW did not need to shut off Charlestown's water supply, as scheduled.

Instead, the BWSC shut off the water Friday evening, Ciolek said. The next day, BWSC excavators dug a trench around the underground water lines and repaired the break.

Charlestown residents suffered with low pressure dirty water until the main was repaired Saturday. It took four hours to fix the pipe.

Ciolek said the extent of damage was not as severe as had been thought at first. "We're still not happy the accident occurred," Ciolek said.

The Best Parade I've Seen In 83 Years

Dear Editor,

I would like to express my sincere thanks to all who worked so hard to put on the Bunker Hill Day Parade. It was the best I've seen in my 83 years as a spectator and participant.

Also, it was a great pleasure for me personally to see Dot Slamin Hill of the Waltham Post American Legion Band marching in the parade. We started out drum majoring together when we were 14 years old.

You all did a terrific job!
Sincerely,

New Play Based On Schrafft's Candy Plant Closing

Have you ever worried about losing your job? In Amy Ansara's new play "Queen Bee," Liz, Doreen and Barbara work in a candy factory and find themselves out of work when the plant closes. How will they survive? Why did the plant close? At the play's end, all three find out who they are and what they can really depend on.

Ansara, a Boston-area playwright, says that "Queen Bee" was inspired by the real life closing in 1984 of the Schrafft's candy plant in Charlestown.

"Queen Bee" is the second offering of Unit II, a new plays theatre at the Arlington Street Church, 351 Boylston St., Boston (near Arlington T stop on the Green Line). Performances are from July 6 through July 22 on Thursdays at 8 p.m., Fridays at 8:30 p.m. and Saturdays at 6 and 9 p.m. Tickets are $7 on Thursdays and for $10 for all other performances.

Call 391-5493 for reservations.

Voke Urges Completion Of Brick Sidewalks

Joseph F. Casazza, Commissioner
Public Works Department
Boston City Hall
Boston, Mass. 02201

Dear Commissioner Casazza,

I have been contacted by area residents and other concerned individuals about the need to complete the bricking of sidewalks in conjunction with the Main Street Reconstruction Project in Charlestown. Because I too share their concern for the importance of this project's completion, I have been in contact with Massachusetts Department of Public Works officials to impress upon them the need for action.

It would appear that the city has accepted responsibility for the work that is remaining. With this in mind, I would hope that you could direct the appropriate personnel to finish those areas which have been left unbricked as a result of light pole removals.

On behalf of the Charlestown community, please accept my deep appreciation for your efforts on the reconstruction of Main Street. This project is certainly one in which we can all look to with great pride.

Very truly yours,
Richard A. Voke, Chairman
House Ways and Means Committee

Why Is There Opposition To Moving The Aquarium To Dry Dock 2?

Dear Gloria,

Why is there opposition to moving the aquarium to Dry Dock 2 in the Navy Yard? No town person will be displaced, but an unused space will be replaced with an architectural masterpiece. This will further enhance the beauty of our town and the Boston Waterfront. Just to think that a place of peace and solitude will be within walking distance is gratifying.

In past years, whenever possible, we visited the aquarium on Atlantic Avenue and before that at South Boston. Our children and their children loved visiting the fish and turtles.

To sit for one hour at the big tank is one of the best tension relievers that one can find.

The big question seems to be traffic and automobiles. This question has not been resolved for years and we should become more reliant on personal resources, namely our feet.

We have not been able to attend the public meetings, but wish to be included with those on the positive side.

Thanking you, Gloria, we remain,
Sincerely yours,
Lou and Agnes O'Neil

Neighborhood Grime Busters To Undertake A Trash Attack

Boston Community Schools Director William Doherty has announced that from July 10 to Aug. 25 the Boston Youth Cleanup Corps will respond to citizen reports about local trash problems through a new city hotline number. BYCC crews — which represent the largest component of the city's $4.2 million summer youth employment program — will be based at the Charlestown High Community School, the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club and the Bunker Hill Housing Development.

"Since it was founded in 1986, the Boston Youth Cleanup Corps has been the SWAT team of the neighborhood-based jobs program," said Doherty. "The Corps members are professionally trained, and motivated to tackle the neighborhood's most difficult cleanup problems, such as vacant lots, alleys, railroad embankments and median strips. Over the past few summers, they've made a real difference," Doherty said.

The BYCC has collected 833 tons of refuse and reclaimed over 1,000 vacant lots in neighborhoods throughout the city since 1986. The program will be jointly administered by the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston and the Boston Community Schools. The Trash Attack hotline number will be staffed by the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services which will be working with Community Schools to identify cleanup sites for the summer youth cleanup initiative in conjunction with ongoing city cleanup programs. Trash pick-up and hauling will be coordinated by Real Property and the Department of Public Works.

The seven-week program will employ 14- to 17-year-old youths at $4.75 per hour. According to Doherty, however, the program offers more than a pay check. "The BYCC offers a strong alternative to the temptations of gang and drug activity," Doherty said. "The kids are professionally managed and very charged about responding to the community's call to cleanup our neighborhoods' eyesores."

Prior to the July 10 kickoff, the program supervisors complete a professional training program, developed by the BYCC, which has become a model for similar training programs in other cities throughout the United States. "We're determined to make these kids' first jobs a meaningful and productive one both for them and the neighborhood residents," Doherty said. As a special feature of the program, the BYCC youth will be challenged by Mayor Flynn to compete in a first-of-its-kind "Rap-off" on City Hall Plaza, Aug. 25. Crews will create a rap song including specific references to their work, results and experiences in the program. The title of the winning rap song will be incorporated as a slogan in the 1990 BYCC Program.

For more information or to report a public space that needs BYCC attention, call 725-4500.

North Area Project

Community Liaison, Mass. Dept. of Public Works

The MDPW will sponsor a public discussion on the CANA project tonight, Thursday, June 29 at 7 p.m. at the CANA Field Office Complex, 250 Front St. (at Rutherford Avenue) directly adjacent to the Bunker Hill Community College parking lot.

The topics to be covered include the recent changes on City Square streets and an overview of the upcoming tunnel construction schedule.

CANA was designed in conjunction with the North Area Task Force, a dedicated group of Charlestown residents who got together over 10 years ago to work with the MDPW to design a project which would benefit our community. In fact, many of the first elements of the final project design, such as moving the ramp system away from City Square, were suggested by the NATF.

Some time ago, the MDPW made a commitment to the Task Force to continue to work closely with the community throughout CANA construction. In 1987, construction began and since then the department has gone to great lengths to inform the public of the project and to fulfill our commitment to the Task Force. To assist us in achieving this object the positions of community liaison and press spokesperson were created, an on-site field office was constructed and regularly scheduled well-publicized meetings have and will continue to be held in the community. In addition, the CANA hotline was established, countless brochures, maps, flyers and news releases have been disseminated and the CANA Column was created thanks to the Charlestown Patriot.

Yet, despite our best efforts to reach the public, there is still a frustrating level of apathy toward CANA and in some instances a complete unawareness as to what it is all about. Therefore, I would like to explain a little bit about the project and the benefits it will bring to Charlestown.

• CANA will improve public safety! First and foremost, CANA was designed to improve both public safety and the flow of traffic in the Northern Area of the Central Artery, one of the most accident-prone locations in the state highway system. CANA will accomplish this by lengthening the 650-foot merge and weave area where I-93, Route 1, Storrow Drive and the Central Artery cross above the Charles River to a distance of 2,000 feet. Additionally, we will eliminate the S-curve approach to the Tobin Bridge, the site of countless accidents such as the one which disabled the bridge for three months back in 1973. From a public safety standpoint, CANA is a necessary project and certainly well-worth the effort involved in constructing it. However, public safety and improved traffic flow are just two of the many benefits which the public, specifically Charlestown residents, will enjoy post-CANA.

• Commuter traffic will be removed from local streets. Contrary to what some may believe, CANA will not turn the City Square area into a highway interchange that will primarily benefit commuters from points north. Instead, CANA will remove commuter traffic from our street system by placing it underground within two tunnels that will connect Route 1 with the Central Artery and I-93. As a result, commuters and Charlestown residents alike will both benefit from CANA. Commuters will gain a safer and more efficient highway system while the local street system loses commuter traffic.

• Overhead ramps have been demolished. The offensive green overhead ramps that once dominated City Square have been demolished allowing sunlight to once again shine upon the square. The starlings are gone and so too will the remaining ramp and temporary detour structure once the new tunnels are opened.

• Ten acres of land will become available. Approximately 10 acres of land will be made available for green space and development once construction is completed. Residents will have an active role in the development of the parcels created. A park is scheduled to be created on Parcel 5.

• Charlestown will be reconnected to its waterfront. Warren Street will be extended across new Chelsea Street to Water Street providing direct access to the Navy Yard for pedestrians.

• CANA area will be landscaped. Extensive landscaping, new streets, sidewalks, street lights and pedestrian lights will be included in the CANA project.

The benefits CANA will bring to our neighborhood far outweigh the months of construction ahead. As construction progresses, the MDPW will continue to work closely with the people of Charlestown, the city of Boston, our elected officials and all involved to construct a project which will truly benefit us all.

If you have any questions concerning the CANA project, please contact David Flanagan at the CANA hot line 241-5560 or 973-7500.

Holubowich Honored By Mayor At City's Senior Center Day

A highlight of last week's Senior Center Day at City Hall Plaza was the recognition of Charlestown resident Mary J. Holubowich by the presentation of a Proclamation from Mayor Raymond L. Flynn. The award was presented by the city's Elderly Commissioner Diane Watson on behalf of the ior citizens of Charlestown. She noted that Senior Centers provide elders with the opportunity to remain active participants within their neighborhood, and elders, such as Holubowich, who actively participate in the centers make significant contributions to the neighborhood.

Holubowich is a Senior Aide through the Elderly Commission and works for the Charlestown Community Schools at the Golden Age Center on Main Street.

In recent years, she has worked as a Senior Aide at the Mass./R.I. League for Nursing, the J.F. Kennedy Family Service Center and at Bunker Hill Community College.

Holubowich has also been a volunteer at the Boys and Girls Club, Knights of Columbus and St. Francis beans.

Holubowich resides on Dunstable Street with her daughter Michelle. Her son Michael is a resident of Westfield.

Voke Approves Additional Funds For BPL

Heading the House delegation working out the details for the final version of the state's budget for fiscal year 1990, Rep. Richard Voke has approved a measure calling for additional financial support for the Boston Public Library. The BPL compromise language provides an additional $500,000 in state funding support and calls upon city leaders to likewise increase its appropriation level for the local library system.

"While there are some that would lead people to believe otherwise, the legislature has never turned its back on libraries in Boston or in any other part of the Commonwealth. Thanks to the matters we were able to resolve in our budget negotiations, not only will we provide the millions of dollars in state support we usually appropriate for library services, but Boston libraries will also be the beneficiary of an extra half a million dollars in funding," noted a jubilant Voke.

As a member of his local library's Board of Trustees, Voke knows the importance libraries play in the lives of many. "Perhaps more than any other service a city can offer its residents, the impact a library can have on a community spans generations. This is why I felt it so important that we further our commitment to library patrons, especially our children and our elderly, by making the statement in our budget that libraries must and will be allowed to continue its indispensable offerings," stated Voke.

His most recent action is not the first time Voke has come to the aid of libraries. As Chairman of the House Committee on Ways and Means, Voke was instrumental in securing passage of a $35 million grant program from capital improvements to libraries in Boston and around the Commonwealth. Praise from librarians throughout the state has been offered to Voke for his "heroic efforts" on retaining funding for public library programs.

"Because our system is the envy of so many others, it pleases me greatly to be in a position to further enhance the BPL's ability to offer our community and residents of others the vast knowledge and great enjoyment that can only be found in a library," concluded Voke.

Voke's recommendation for libraries and the rest of the 1990 fiscal year state budget is expected to be debated and approved on the House floor this week.

Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn and Parks Commissioner Larry Dwyer will launch a free, family-oriented "Music in the Park" series on the Boston Common tonight, Thursday, June 29, with Rosenshontz, a well-known children's folk group.

Dwyer said, "These concerts are designed for families, and we encourage them to bring blankets and picnic dinners along."

Rosenshontz will present a "Teddy Bear Picnic" for the Boston Common audience, performing from their repertoire of children's favorites. The group is internationally acclaimed for providing a positive and humorous vehicle for children to discuss emotional issues through participation in music and song.

The Thursday night concerts run from 6 to 8 p.m., and will be performed on the parade grounds at the corner of Beacon and Tremont streets. For more information on the "Music in the Park" series, or a complete listing of the Boston Parks Department's summer program of events, call the Parks Event Line at 725-4006.

March For Children

COUNCIL FOR CHILDREN members hold a banner at the recent march and rally against the state budget cuts and in support of fair taxes. The march was organized by the Tax Equity Alliance of Massachusetts (TEAM) and co-sponsored by the Capitol and Chelsea-Revere-Winthrop Councils for Children. Shown (l. to r.) Gina Chiara, Capitol Council; Michael Oliver, Charlestown; George Shea, Winthrop; Sandra Murphy, Revere; Diane Kuzia, East Boston; Mary Moore, East Boston.
