Good morning everyone. I hope your day is starting off amazing! Today I have another article by the one and only Dr.X. His latest column is about the many choices you have when it comes to Testosterone Replacement Therapy (TRT). For the large majority of men, once you are above 30 years old your Testosterone levels take a nosedive, and with some men more than others. Here he uncovers some of the different methods for TRT to help you make an educated decision if this is something that you may need. I have all my athletes do a complete hormonal panel among many others to always keep an eye on what's going on. Getting your blood work done from your early 20's onwards and keeping a record of it will do wonders for you as you get older to help you understand how things are changing for many parameters. As I have mentioned before, Dr.X is totally uncensored so if you are under 19 years old or offend easily this is not for you!
