Part 1 and part 2 covered winning strategies. We'll now look at the myths you can avoid to avoid losing.

To fully understand online slot machine myths and how they've become so common you need to know the way that the random number generator operates.

The RNG

The Random Number Generator produces numbers in slot machines that aren't random, but are the result of a mathematical formula.

If you knew the formula and the value of the previous random number generated by the formula, you could be able to determine the next random number. However, you'll be unable to accomplish this. Here's why:

The RNG is a sequence of code that is written into the game chip it's an electronic program that generates numbers, and it is able to generate numbers at a rate of least 100 numbers every second. Each number represents a result in every online machine.

games online is playing online slots, it's a random selection from a variety of numbers to determine the outcome of their bets.

You simply can't BEAT The RNG

The RNG will always generate numbers, regardless of whether the machine is playing or is sitting idle. The machine is producing numbers at the rate of over 100 per second, which is what we mentioned earlier and this is important point to remember when playing a slot online machine.

The computer chip will track the exact number generated when you hit the spin button.

Even if the programmers of the machine, who understands the sequence in the numbers is generated, tried to defeat it using the next number and the machine would run away. visit this link can crunch numbers more quickly than humans!

While the RNG is not totally random by the nature of its algorithms, from a gamer's viewpoint, and is inconceivable to beat it. For the player, it's as good as random because he can't beat the calculation.

The fact that most players aren't aware of how the RNG functions has led to the common mistakes that are listed below.

1. It is possible to win If you were a winner if you hit the jackpot on the machine that you left.

You can't

The RNG continues to cycle through numbers even when the machine is not playing. These are the numbers that show the symbols that are winning or losing.

When you press the spin button, the machine picks the right combination within that microsecond. If you'd stayed on the machine.

You would have had to be playing at the exact one hundredth of a second the other player took his spin. When playing online slots, this is highly unlikely.

2. You can determine the chances of winning by counting the numbers of symbols

Each spin is assigned a number by the RNG.

The number corresponds to the symbols on the Reel.

There can be hundreds of virtual stops on each wheel even when you only see less number of symbols.

For instance, you can see 20 symbols on each wheel in a three-reel machine. If you multiply  $20 \times 20 \times 20$ , then you get 8,000 combinations. The odds of winning the jackpot is 1:8000. The reality is that the RNG can use as many as 256 stops for each wheel. The odds of winning is 256 16777,216.

Being able to make millions of combinations means the odds of winning are small and the reels serve as ornaments, nothing more.

3. Casinos change the probabilities of machines

The payback percentage of the slot machines is determined by the computer chip. These are pre-set.

Casinos will need to modify the chip's programming to alter the payback.

The fact that the chip is preset with odds of winning, the casino wins anyway.

4. The reason for a hit is that the machine has stopped paying.

Many players think that the more a slot machine is played the less money it pays out.

It is, however, impossible to determine when a machine will pay. Every spin is random and doesn't reveal what occurred before. It is programmed to run for a long period of time, so it doesn't pay frequently or go without payment.

Avoid these myths and follow the strategies laid out on this website and maybe you'll be among the lucky ones to win one of the major jackpots.

There you go in three parts. All you must do is to increase the chances of winning online slot machines to your favor as much as possible. These articles have been completed. We wish you luck in your online slot games.
