

BABY'S FIRST SUMMER

Intentional Memory Keeping Scavenger Hunt

The First Season for every baby is special. As young parents, it can be difficult to intentionally keep the memories of each "first" for each child. Grandparents have the opportunity to help save these memories for all to enjoy for years to come. Here are a few things you can do:

Take a Picture of your Grand in a cute summer outfit.

Are they taking their first steps? Go for a walk on the beach and take a picture of their trail of footsteps next to yours.

Make edible paint for your Grand to safely create a masterpiece on your sidewalk.

Remember to capture pictures of your Grand reacting to their first parade and fireworks.

Purchase a cute toy for your Grand's bath time, later if Mom and Dad agree, you can add their favorite water toy to your Grands' memory box.

Happy Memory Keeping!
