Steve recalls Andrew's hard work and enthusiasm on the court and looks forward to the future successes that will unfold as Andrew grows in college and beyond.

As a junior on the basketball team, Andrew Baxter knew he was not going to get to play much at all so he resolved that he wished to be the best possible teammate on the basketball bench. He did this by encouraging the entire bench to completely support the players and be cheerleaders for them. He encouraged all the bench to "go crazy" for the players on the court. It made a huge difference in the team spirit and most likely contributed to the fact that the team reached the basketball playoffs for the first time in a long time.
