Where once the pinnacle of “success” meant nailing down a decent job with a good salary and a stable contract, to many people “stability” now translates to hindrance. What we’re now seeing is a movement of people prepared to sacrifice stability for the unpredictable and pack in their office job to pursue something more flexible- and empowering.

The beauty that attracts most to the digital nomad careers and life is the ability to live in exotic destinations replete with sugary-white-sanded beaches and coconut palm trees swaying in the wind, or even bustling global metropolises halfway around the world, places that have a lower cost-of-living but a higher overall quality of life. But it's not just about the cheaper costs for most, it's about the new experiences and relationships created while moving from country to country.

I'm a coach for entrepreneurs who want to build and online business so they can become location independent digital nomads. I help you leverage your unique skills and brilliant ideas. I work alongside entrepreneurs, like you, to create even more opportunities, influence and fun in your life. I'm an author, philanthropist, traveler, martial artist, speaker, and a die-hard advocate for creating your dream life. You will learn how to monetize your expertise, travel at will, and add more fun experiences to your life.

A man with short dark hair, wearing a dark grey t-shirt and blue jeans, stands barefoot on a sandy path between large, dark, mossy rocks. He has his hands in his pockets and is smiling slightly. In the background, a coastal town is visible on a hillside, with the ocean and a cloudy sky beyond.
