Use a bench a solid chair, or even a bar that is of an appropriate height for your specific fitness level. Begin by placing your hands on the edge of the bench (or bar) at shoulder to hip distance apart with your arms extended. As if you're in a Push Up position, take a sizable step back to start the movement.

This is an experiment to see what possible effects having more testosterone in the bloodstream could have on the body. The drug Proviron is available on the

WIRED NOT TIRED

At the start of each cancer treatment
You're given a few pre & post meds
The key thing your nurse fails to tell you
Is, they'll affect you're first night in bed.

You attempt to sleep as normal
You're tired; it's already past 10
But as soon your head hits the pillow
You are wide, wide awake again.

You toss & you turn to get comfy
On your back, your side, round & round
You spend half the night just listening
To every small noise and slight sound.

You try not to wake up your partner
Moving, you try hard to avoid
No matter how hard you try though
You're cursed with that bloody steroid.

You need pre meds like steroids for symptoms
Like nausea and allergic effects
But steroids now give you insomnia
These drugs are very complex.

At last you start to feel sleepy
Because you've been up the whole ~~fricking~~ night
Then the birds start tweeting & singing
And the room starts to flood with daylight.

It's May, so it's light early each morning
It's time to get out of your pit
But you've only had 10 winks of forty
You're knackered and feel really shit.

Mesterolone is a steroid that is offering a very weak suppressive effect on the gonadotropins and serum testosterone. While it does offer some suppressive effect on the testosterone when the product is being taken in doses high enough to be considered effective – it doesn't offer by far as suppressive effects as other steroids out there.
