NURSERY AND HARDSCAPE SUPPLIES

2022 CATALOG

WELCOME TO LODI FARMS NURSERY!

We've been offering an extensive selection of locally grown trees and plants since 1992. Over the years, the nursery has changed and expanded in many ways in order to offer a larger variety of trees, shrubs and perennials. This year will offer challenges in growing and sourcing hardy and healthy plants for your landscape. We look forward to showing you the results of our hard work reflected in the beautiful 2022 nursery stock.

This catalog represents most, but not all, plant material we have to offer this season. If there are plants you're looking for, please feel free to ask us. We may have them at the nursery.

In addition to being plant people, we also offer all the extras that go with helping you grow a beautiful, sustainable and healthy landscape.

We also offer bulk soils, mulches, stone and hardscape supplies, as well as turnkey tree planting services. If you have plant questions or need landscaping advice, we are here to assist. We also offer onsite landscape consultation.

— OUR WARRANTY —

We want your plants to be successful and have them add beauty to your landscape. The first year of a plant's life after being added to your landscape is crucial. Plant location based on its needs, watering and proper sunlight are all very important. To partner in your success, we offer a ONE-year warranty on our trees, shrubs, and perennials. The warranty is given as a store credit for the amount you've spent. Once sold and taken from the nursery, plants are not exchangeable or returnable. Sale and clearance plants are not exchangeable or returnable unless otherwise noted. Our staff is knowledgeable, and we will do our best to help you make the right decisions when cultivating your landscape. If you suspect a problem or your plant is having a rough start, please do not hesitate to reach out to us so we can help.

LEGEND

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of “native” that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture and weather specific to their region.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

Hummingbirds typically like to drink nectar from tubular shaped flowers. Adding these plants to your landscape not only attracts hummingbirds but helps create a friendly and sustainable habitat for them.

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles such as egg laying, caterpillars and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture plays a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or low-lying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

BOTANICAL INDEX

Our catalog is in alphabetical order by botanical name. Below we listed the "common" plant name with its botanical name to make your plant search easier. If the botanical and the common are the same, we didn't include it in the index.

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of “native” that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture and weather specific to their region.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles such as egg laying, caterpillars and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture plays a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or low-lying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

PERENNIALS

NATIVE

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of “native” that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture and weather specific to their region.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles such as egg laying, caterpillars and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture plays a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or low-lying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.

GRASSES & FRUITS

These plants are both true natives and cultivars of natives. There are several levels of “native” that gardeners like to use when selecting their plants. Generally, native plants thrive in soil, moisture and weather specific to their region.

ATTRACTS HUMMINGBIRDS

ATTRACTS BUTTERFLIES

Butterflies utilize different plants for different stages of their development. Adding some of these plants to your landscape will increase the number of butterflies in your garden. They will also serve as host plants for the butterflies' other life cycles such as egg laying, caterpillars and the pupa/cocoon stage.

DEER TOLERANT

Deer will taste, graze or fully eat any plant if they're hungry enough. Historically there are some varieties of plants deer will leave alone. Texture plays a large role when they select their meals. They will pass on most plants that are extremely fragrant or prickly.

RAIN GARDENS/WET TOLERANT

These plants are great to use for rain gardens, high water tables or low-lying areas of your yard that are constantly wet. They can also be a more cost effective and natural solution for drainage issues in your yard.
