

IS MARIJUANA LEGAL IN CALIFORNIA? YES, IT IS!

Cannabis was legalized in California after years of efforts spanning decades. Honestly, we always needed this change. Cannabis deserves to be viewed through a positive lens. It has always been a matter of suspicion in people. Luckily, legalization has induced a positive change in medical space.

WHY DO WE ADVOCATE CANNABIS LEGALIZATION?

Most people don't realize that cannabis is a herb. It is loaded with medicinal properties that make it one of the best forms of natural therapy. This is especially in accordance with the nature of medicines available in the market. Most chronic diseases are managed with the help of prescription medicines. These definitely come with harmful side-effects.

Also, there is a chance of dependence. That's definitely not good owing to the scale of risk involved. Therefore, we need a medication that is absolutely natural. Luckily, cannabis provides us with a brilliant mode of therapy. It's a herb that works like magic.

LEGALIZATION OF CANNABIS IN CALIFORNIA

Efforts of cannabis legalization always existed. The country's first ballot initiative began in 1972 but the efforts went in vain. Well, this did not stop the push for legalization to become dormant. Finally, the Compassionate Use Act of 1996 (Proposition 215) made cannabis legal in California. This was definitely a welcome change that people needed.

This did not stop there. The Adult Use of Marijuana Act (Prop. 64) made recreational cannabis legal too. The legalization process has induced a positive change in the state. Honestly, this was much-needed. The various researches and studies have helped people understand the medicinal benefits of cannabis.

TELEMEDICINE HAS BEEN A SAVIOR

If you plan on using cannabis to enhance your health, you need to have a medical marijuana card. It gives you the right to access a range of strains or cannabis products from the medical dispensary. Luckily, telemedicine has made this process easier. You can access the card while being seated at home.

There are a lot of telemedicine-based clinics in California that provides 420 evaluations. They have expert cannabis doctors that have the depth of experience to guide you towards good health.

HOW TO GET A MEDICAL MARIJUANA CARD?

The first thing you need to do is find a certified 420 clinic. For that, you can take help from the reviews and ratings that are available on the internet. This can help you in selecting the right clinic for your health. Follow these steps after you find the right clinic:

1) Fill the online application form by entering your details. The clinic will analyze your application and link you to a certified doctor.

2) The doctor will interact with you via video call and discuss your health. The main aim of this process is to check if you have the necessary health condition that can be managed with the help of cannabis.

3) If the doctor approves it, you're eligible to own a medical marijuana card. The card is delivered to you via email or physical mail

Once you have the card, you can access the wide variety of medical cannabis products from the market. Now, if you're wondering, is weed legal in California ?' I hope you have the answer to your question now. Just indulge in the magical benefits of the herb while you can.
