Charlestown Residents Invited To Sign Up For Special 'Old Ironsides' Cruise

Have you ever stood on Pier One in the Charlestown Navy Yard on the morning of July 4 and watched the guests board USS Constitution for a journey out into the harbor on the nearly two-century old ship and wish you could be aboard?

If you are a Charlestown resident and registered voter, you have an opportunity to enter a lottery for an invitation for you and a guest to board "Old Ironsides for a special Salute to Charlestown cruise on Saturday morning, June 14.

This voyage will be part of the celebration marking the 200th birthday of the ship and the centennial of Charlestown being her homeport. It is also part of the commemoration of the 222nd anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Commander Michael C. Beck, USN, commanding officer of USS

Constitution, has arranged this special cruise in conjunction with the Bunker Hill Day Parade Commemorative Committee to thank Charlestown residents for the support and care they have given his historic ship over the 100 years it has been here. Beck invites residents to sign a special cruise form and have their names placed in the Salute to Charlestown lottery.

Registration will be taking place at the Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion Hall, 23 Adams St. (at the corner of Chestnut Street) from 5 to 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 24 and from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 26.

To apply, the person must be a Charlestown registered voter. Persons who are not registered should do so at the Election Department at Boston City Hall and bring the certificate of registration with them to the Legion Hall.

The winners will be drawn by Beck at 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 10 at the Administrative Office of USS Constitution to the rear of Building 5 in the National Park section of the Charlestown Navy Yard. Winners will receive a non-transferable invitation by mail to participate on the special cruise.

All winners and their guests must be at least 10 years of age.

Neighborhood Council Halts MHD-Planned Hearing -Sullivan Square Residents Vent Frustration At CA/T Ramp

Nearly 100 residents gathered at the Knights of Columbus Hall on April 15 to hear representatives from the Central Artery/ Tunnel (CA/T) Project and the city of Boston Transportation Department (BTD) answer questions and hear concerns relative to the ramp to be constructed from Route I-93 North down to Cambridge Street.

This meeting was a planned follow-up of a Feb. 25 meeting to which

CA/T and BTD representatives had been invited so that city-state issues could be reviewed. The February meeting has left Sullivan Square area residents angry that information on this ramp, for which a contractor has been hired and a notice to proceed has been issued, was not brought to them for input before it was finalized. Most realized that there had been considerable opposition to a proposed ramp cutting through the grounds of Bunker Hill Community College. It seems as though when that ramp was eliminated, there was a failure to provide outreach to involve these residents in plans for this new ramp that would directly affect them.

As the time for the meeting neared, Charlestown Neighborhood Council (CNC) members became aware that there were Mass. Highway Department (MHD) representatives present setting up visuals on a plan for bridge

Sullivan Square viaduct over Route 99. At the top of a handout, was the headline "Design Public Hearing" with the date of April 15 and the K. of C. location. One man was setting up a recording device and the MHD was set to go forward with a public hearing on a plan that had not been seen by community residents.

Charlestown Included In Mayor's Capital Plan

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has unveiled his five year capital plan for 1998-2002, titled "Getting the Job Done." The plan, Menino's most expensive yet, contains 470 different projects for a total investment of $1.25 billion in the city. Nine of these projects are for Charlestown, three of which are new this year. All of the projects support existing facilities and strategies and improve the city's overall infrastructure for the future.

Something For Everyone At The USS Constitution Museum During April School Vacation

The USS Constitution Museum will present a week full of USS Constitution-inspired entertainment during April school vacation.

Beginning on Sunday, April 20, "True Tales of the USS Constitution" performances will be held at 11 a.m., noon and 1 p.m. in the museum's Figgie Theater. Meet the heroes and heroines of Constitution's past as they tell their stories with equal parts history and hilarity.

On Tuesday, April 22, "Make a Book About USS Constitution" is a handson supervised activity from 1 to 3 p.m., also in the Figgie Theater. This program is for children ages 5 and older who will use crayons, yarn and construction paper and will write, color and assemble their own "Old Ironsides" primer to take home with "Spell Your Name With Signal Flags," is the program scheduled for Wednesday, April 23. This hands-on supervised activity is for children ages 5 and older and will take place in the Figgie Theater from 1 to 3 p.m. Constitution's signal flags represented letters of the alphabet, numbers and messages. Children will create signal flags, send their own special message, and take them home with Capping off vacation week activities on Saturday, April 26, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., the 1797 Marine Detachment, dressed in period uniforms, will reenact marching drills and changing of the guard aboard USS Constitution. This will take place in front of the museum.

All activities are offered free of charge. Children 16 and under are admitted free of charge during school vacation when accompanied by an adult. Admission for adults is $4.

For more information, call 426-1812.

OPPORTUNITY CALLING

Any time is a great time to begin a career in real estate if you're bright, motivated and into working hard. It's one of those careers that, no matter what's going on in the local market, there are always people who have to sell and others who have to buy. If you're a crack Realtor, the trick is to be sure that when it's time for a move, they think of you!

If you're considering a job change, real estate may be the possibility waiting to happen for you. Your educational background and work experience are less crucial than the way you go into action once you are licensed and fully trained. If you learn quickly where to find sellers and buyers, and what to do once you are face to face with them, you can become very successful. There's a saying that real estate is just about the lowest paid easy work, and the highest paid hard work that you can find. If you're looking for highly paid work, we should talk about the possibility for your future in this exciting profession.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Monument Properties are ready to serve you. Call us at 241-5900 or drop by our office at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

'Public Sculpture In Boston' At The Charlestown Branch Library

N. Mildred Farrell, director of the Boston Art Commission for the city of Boston, will be the guest speaker at the weekly adult discussion group meeting at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main St., at 10 a.m. on Friday, April

Farrell will talk about the public sculptures in Charlestown, the North End and downtown. It is possible to "walk through art" using a different framework to look at our surroundings. She will also address art, history and our city.

The program is free and open to the public. For more information, call the library at 242-1248.

An Evening At The Constitution Museum Planned For Oct. 23

The Friends of Charlestown Catholic Elementary School are planning "An Evening at the Constitution Museum" cocktail party for Thursday, Oct. 23, from 7 to 10 p.m.

The gala event will also include a tour of the museum, a silent auction, refreshments and entertainment.

The Friends Committee, formerly known as the "Homecoming Committee," brought together over 700 former and present parishioners of Charlestown's three Catholic churches at the successful Homecoming event held last October. They have reunited to sponsor this first of many to come annual events to raise funds for the elementary school.

Further details will be available over the next few month. However, the committee asks that you mark your calendar now for what will surely prove to be an exciting and most memorable evening.

*WARNING!!!... Well, it happened again ... and again residents were taken completely by surprise! A "No right turn" sign has been posted on High Street, directed toward traffic traveling up Salem Street ... You are no longer allowed to turn right onto High Street or cross over to Pearl Street (be careful, we're sure someone will be waiting for you to take that right turn - if you get our drift!) ... So, if you want to get to Bunker Hill Street and are traveling on Main Street between Baldwin Street and Thompson Square, you can only use Green Street (won't the residents be thrilled!) ... Other than that, you will have to travel to either Sullivan Square or City Square

♣ The Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee . . . is searching again! . . . taken as follows:

* Board Of Appeal Decisions . . . Petitions were brought before the city of Boston Board of Appeal on April 11. Action was

. The petition of Robert B. Kerrigan relative to 219-225 Main St.was withdrawn.

· Christopher and Robert Connors sought to change the legal occupancy of 28 St. Martin St. from a three-family dwelling to four apartments, installing a basement apartment. Attorney William Galvin presented photographs of the property along with a petition of support.

Judy Evers, from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, told the board that she was an abutter to the property and asked for their approval. She said that St. Martin Street is unique in that it is separated by a cement wall. She asked that the side entrance on lower St. Martin Street be the primary entrance and an appropriate walkway be installed.

Boston City Councillor Mickey Roche added his support to the petition, which was approved subject to design review.

· Richard Zenga sought permission to erect a one-family dwelling at 22 Sackville St. Zenga, Jack French and Tom McNicholas made the presentation.

Evers reported that there has been several abutters' meetings and at the last meeting an issue involving a stone wall was resolved. She said that the abutters as well as the Mayor's Office were in support. The decision of the board was approval, subject to design review.

· Cork Realty Trust (by Michael Moxley) sought to sub-divide Lot A at 56 Park St. and Lot B at 54 Park St. with a one-family dwelling.

Evers told the board that the property is being restored and renovated and that these improvements will enhance the historical neighborhood. She added that the abutters are in favor of the proposal. Boston City Councillors Roche and Peggy Davis-Mullen added their approval. The board voted to approve the petition.

* Storm Cleanup Information . . . The city of Boston has issued several suggestions for Charlestown residents regarding storm cleanup through April 18.

Tree limbs and branches of any size will be picked up by city crews. Residents need to place the items curbside Thursday or Friday. City crews will cut them up and take them away.

Mayor Thomas Menino has ordered an emergency planting of trees citywide and 1,125 will be planted during this week to replace those trees damaged during the storm.

Residents who need more information, should call 635-4500.

* Free Blood Sugar Screening . . . The Diabetes Prevention Program at Mass. General Hospital, in conjunction with Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary, will hold a free blood sugar screening for Type 2 (adult onset) diabetes from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Friday, April 18 in Dining Room B on the 7th floor of the Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary. For information on the screening, call 724-3197 or 573-4170.

* American Legion Meeting . . . Bunker Hill Post No. 26, The American Legion will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, April 21 at the Legion Hall, 23 Adams St.

* Design Review Committee . . . The Charlestown Preservation Society Design Review Committee will meet from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, April 22 at the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club Library, 15 Green St. The meeting agenda will focus on a review of club's proposed design for the High Street facility, including the latest schematic designs.

Homeowners with design issues may contact Ron Swenson at 242-9213 to be added to the agenda.

* Attention Gulf War Veterans . . . A Town Hall Meeting will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 24 at Nonantum Post 440, The American Legion at 295 California St. in Newton. All veterans and interested persons are invited to attend to discuss their concerns regarding the illnesses that are affecting Gulf War Veterans. Dr. Bernard Rostker from the Department of Defense, who is the special assistant for Gulf War illness, will be the moderator. The program is being coordinated by Past National Commander John P. Comer, assisted by Department Commander Joseph Steen, formerly of Charlestown.

CHAD Junior Bowling League News

by John Dillon

The States Tournament was held at our bowling lanes the past two weeks, making it so we were unable to bowl. It felt good getting back into CHarlestown Against Drugs Junior Bowling League action, and there are some very interesting scores to report.

The American Legion team has clinched the second-half championship by slam-dunking the Red Store in an 8-0 shutout. With one week remaining on the schedule, they find themselves nine points in front of the second-place team Bunker Hill Real Estate, and since a team is only able to pick up eight points in one week, the American Legion is the winner of the second half. Congratulations to the American Legion team of Sheilann Williams, Casey Durham, Jessica Grace and Andrew Foley, winners of the second-half. Top bowler for the American Legion was Casey Durham with 226 and Andrew Foley was runnerup with 190. Top bowler for the Red Store was Steven Awbrey with 215.

The Bunker Hill Real Estate team bounced the Mc-Carthy Brothers team for a 6-2 loss. Top bowler for BHRE was Robert Hoell with 218. Runner-up was Shawn Burke with 213. Matt Paley was top bowler for McCarthy Brothers with 273.

The Shamrocks bopped the Charlestown Patriot for a 6-2 loss. Top bowler for the Shamrocks was John Harrington with 257 and Jon Paul Awbrey was runner-up with 244. Michelle Williams was the top bowler for the Patriot with 195 and runner-up was Sara Johnson with 192.

Diane Modica's team shutout the Kennedy Center 8-0. Top bowler for Modica's team was Richie Bums with 284. Sean Cronk was top bowler for the Kennedy Center with 218 and Brendan Grace was runner-up with 190.

In the final match of the day, Cricket's team pushed aside Jenny's team in a 6-2 win. Top bowler for Cricket's team was Marianne Kissane with 234. Runner-up was Danny Kissane with 224. Jimmy Kissane was top bowler for Jenny's with 253 and Keri McGuire was runner-up with 149.

Bowlers of the week are Richie Burns 284, Matt Paley 273, John Harrington 257, Jimmy Kissane 253, Jon Paul Awbrey 244, Marianne Kissane 234, Danny Kissane 224, Casey Durham 226, Sean Cronk 218 and Robert Hoell 218.

Bowlers trying the hardest were Nicole Chiampa 149, Keri McGuire 149, Joey Burke 180, Quinn Evers 182 and Sara Johnson 192.

You must be at bowling this week to try on the new bowling shirts so that we can get our order into the manufacturer.

Also, the championship series between the first-half winning team, Cricket's, and the second-half winning team, the American Legion, will be held on April 26 at 11:30 a.m.

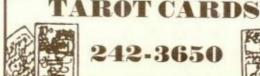

To our sponsors who have not yet sent in their money, we would appreciate it if you would send it in as soon as possible. Thank you.

See you all Saturday at 11:30 a.m. sharp.

Charlestown Seniors Take Notice: Pharmacy Program Opens Enrollment Period

Just weeks after becoming law, the Commonwealth's new Senior Pharmacy Program is now accepting applications from eligible senior citizens who need help paying for certain medications. Senate President Thomas Birmingham and State Rep. Eugene O'Flaherty are both pleased to see the program begin its open enrollment process.

"When we developed the Health Care Access Act, and passed it, and subsequently overrode the governor's veto, we were determined to address unmet needs of low-income seniors," said Birmingham. "It will be gratifying to see the program implemented for the benefit of older men and women in Mass. who absolutely deserve assistance in their efforts to live with dignity and comfort."

O'Flaherty said he was especially pleased that the program will help those senior citizens who are currently on Medicare, but whose incomes are too high to qualify for Medicaid and its prescription drug coverage. "Massachusetts recognizes that the cost of medications can be an overwhelming burden on the budgets of many of our seniors. The Senior Pharmacy Program is a practical way for us to help relieve that burden."

The program, set to begin on July 1, is open to people 65 years and older, who have lived in Mass. for at least six months. To qualify, an eligible senior must have a yearly income of less that $10,294, and cannot have current prescription drug coverage. The program will charge seniors $3 for generic medications, syringes and disposable needles for diabetes control, and $10 for brand name drugs.

The program will pay for chronic care drugs such as anticoagulants, insulin and needles, anti-arthritics, bronchiodilators, certain heart medications and anti-Parkinson's medications.

Sheila Martin, director enrollment fee, the co-payments will not count against the $500 limit.

Charlestown residents may call Boston Senior Home Care for applications or further information at 451-6400.

of the program, says that the $500 yearly limit on coverage is higher than it sounds. "Elders will have access to these chronic care medications at cost," explains Martin. "We will charge whatever the state is charged for these drugs, and those prices will be much lower than the commercial prices." While the state will charge participating seniors a $15 per year

Paul Revere's Midnight Ride -Separating The Facts From The Myths

On Monday, April 21, Patriot's Day, Mass. residents commemorate the 222nd anniversary of Paul Revere's midnight ride and the battles at Lexington and Concord which followed. While nearly every American knows that Revere made a ride at the beginning of the Revolution, few are aware of the ride's purpose or what actually happened on that fateful night.

To help separate fact from myth, Patrick Leehy, research director at the Paul Revere House, in collaboration with the museum's research department, has written a book What Was the Name of Paul Revere's Horse? 20 Questions about Paul Revere - Asked and Answered, soon to be published by the Paul Revere Memorial Association. Excerpts from the book focusing on Revere's ride follow:

What was the name of Paul Revere's horse?

This question should properly be, "What was the name of the horse Paul Revere rode?" because there is no evidence that Revere owned a horse at the time he made his famous ride . . . Even if he had owned a horse in April 1775, he would not have been able to bring it with him when he was rowed across the Charles River to Charlestown north of Boston, prior to setting off on his ride.

After informing Colonel Conant and other local "Sons of Liberty" [in Charlestown] about recent events in Boston and verifying that they had seen his signals in the North Church tower, Revere went to borrow a horse from John Larkin, a Charlestown merchant and patriot sympathizer . . . About 11 p.m. Revere set off on his borrowed horse and, after several adventures, including narrowly avoiding capture just outside of Charlestown, arrived in Lexington about midnight.

About half past 12, William Dawes arrived in Lexington carrying the same message as Revere. After both men had rested, they decided to continue on to Concord, Mass. Along the way, they were overtaken by a third rider, Dr. Samuel Prescott. A short time later, a British patrol intercepted all three men. Prescott and Dawes escaped; Revere was held for some time, questioned, and let go. Before he was released, however, his horse was confiscated to replace the tired mount of a British sergeant. At this point, "Revere's horse" passes out of the historical record.

Revere left several accounts of his ride and, although he states that he borrowed the horse from John Larkin, neither he nor anyone else . . . refers to it by name. Revere calls it simply "a very good horse." In the years since 1775 many names have been attached to the animal . . . The only name for which there is any evidence, however, is Brown Beauty. The following excerpt is take from a genealogy of the Larkin family, published in

Samuel [Larkin] . . born Oct. 22, 1701; died Oct. 8, 1784, aged 83; he was a chairmaker, then a fisherman and had horses and a stable. He was the owner of "Brown Beauty," the mare of Paul Revere's ride made famous by the Longfellow poem. The mare was loaned at the request of Samuel's son, deacon John Larkin, and was never returned to the

According to this source, the famous horse was owned not by Deacon John, but by his father - if true, this would mean that not only did Revere ride a borrowed horse, but a borrowed, borrowed horse. That it had a name is difficult to prove in the absence of corroborating evidence. John Larkin's estate inventory, dated 1808, lists only one horse, unnamed, valued at $60.

It reveals, however, that Larkin was a wealthy man, with possessions valued at over $86,000 . . . John Larkin was probably a valued member of the patriot party in Charlestown, and it seems natural that the Sons of Liberty would have depended on someone in his position to provide an expensive item like a horse if the occasion demanded. The fact that the one horse listed in his inventory is unnamed, while not conclusive, does suggest that the Larkin family, like most people at the time, did not name their horses. Thus it appears that "Revere's will forever remain anonymous.

"Let us assist you tax planning"

by Nicholas C. Pino Counsellor to Small Businesses

A SIMPLE SOLUTION?

If you own a business, you probably know that a company retirement plan can be an excellent tax shelter. But you also might have heard that retirement plans can be complex and costly. If you are still undecided about a retirement plan, or even if your company already has one, you might be interested in a new SIMPLE plan.

SIMPLE retirement plans were added to the law last year, and they became effective this year. SIMPLE plans are generally available to self-employed individuals and to businesses that have 100 or fewer employees. The plans can be in the form of employee IRAs or a 401(k) plan.

Under a SIMPLE plan, an employee may contribute a percentage of compensation, with a maximum contribution of $6,000 per year. An employer is generally required to match employee contributions, up to 3% of compensation, although there is some flexibility for the employer to adopt alternative contribution schedules.

SIMPLE plans should be considerably easier to administer than traditional company retirement plans, and that's their main attraction for business owners. For example, SIMPLE plans don't require discrimination or coverage testing, and employers won't be involved on the investment side. A SIM-PLE plan will generate some additional paperwork, but the financial institution that acts as your SIMPLE trustee should be able to handle most of the reports and filings.

Before you make any decision about a ne SIM-PLE plan, make sure that you thoroughly understand your potential obligations, as well as the benefits and drawbacks. This is especially important if you have an existing retirement plan and you are considering a SIMPLE plan as a replacement.

Doherty Named Captain Of Lacrosse Team

Siobhan Doherty of Charlestown, a senior at Connecticut College in New London, Conn., was recently named captain of the 1997 Women's Lacrosse Team.

Doherty, a 1996 All American selection, helped last year's team to the quarterfinal of the Division III NCAA Tournament where they lost a thrilling game to Middlebury College. The Camels finished the season ranked fourth in the Division III poll. This year the Camels are in position to be ranked near the top of the polls.

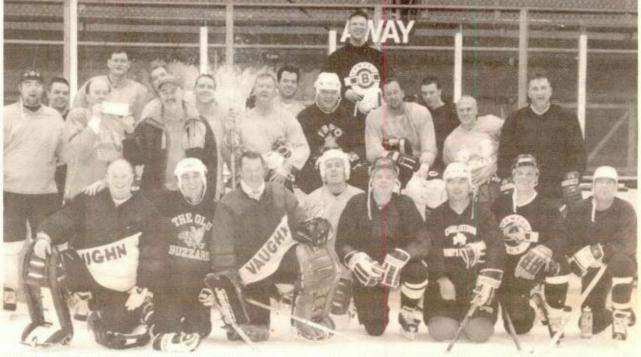

Doherty is the Camels' most prolific scorer. In her career she has accumulated 61 goals and 13 assists for 75 points. So far this season the Camels are 2-1.

Doherty, an anthropology major, is the daughter of Hugh and Millicent Doherty of Monument Square.

Neighborhood Council Halts MHD-Planned Hearing - Sullivan Square Residents Vent Frustration At CA/T Ramp

(continued from page 1) to whether a hearing that would be the official testimony from residents should go forward. If a hearing was held, the representatives could come back to the community for an "informational meeting," but input into the design would be past.

Besides Stone, members present were Peter Looney, Judy Brennan, Don Haska, Peg Bradley, Edna Kelly, Bill McCabe, Jim Conway and Bill Galvin.

It was explained that advertisements for the hearing had been put in the Boston Herald and Boston Globe. There had been no advertisement locally nor had any information on the hearing been provided to the Patriot.

Looney said that he "felt uncomfortable" that this would be taped and used as official proceedings. He added that he was never notified as CNC chairman. Bradley said she had no idea that there would be a public hearing or she would have brought more people.

McCabe and Haska both said there should have been proper notice. Conway, also concerned about the lack of notice, stated that for MHD to come in under such circumstances to hold a public design hearing "was unconscionable."

The CNC voted unanimously not to allow the hearing. Al Miller, project manager of MHD, said that they will come back at a later date, working with the mayor's office to set up another hearing within the month. It was also pointed out that any correspondence should be forwarded to Looney and Marty Nee, who handles public outreach for CA/T, led most of the discussion on the ramp, while Jim McCarthy of BTD spoke for the city.

Nee said he had researched the public process relative to the decision to move the ramp from BHCC to Cambridge Street. He said that in 1993, the project included the Supplemental Environmental Impact Review which led to a new Charles River Crossing design. He said the moving of the ramp was part of that process and meetings on this had been held at the K. of C., Spaulding Rehab and at the Museum of Science. He stated that there was "much notice" and that the leaflets had been distributed in the "area around Sullivan Square." This comment brought angry denials from the residents.

Nee continued on, stating that this ramp provided an opportunity to redesign Sullivan Square for improved traffic flow and he urged people to get involved with the Rutherford Avenue Corridor Study that is being conducted by BTD and offers "a full public participation process." He said that the study will look at plans for the square and those plans will have to be funded.

Nee explained the overhead ramp system that would carry express traffic to and from Storrow Drive and stated many times during the evening that those who use the off-ramp onto Cambridge Street would have destinations on local streets.

As traffic study figures were recited and comments were made as to the growth of The Schrafft Center and the Hood property and the unknown possibility of redevelopment at Assembly Square Mall, frustration grew. Residents spoke of difficulty crossing Cambridge Street as a pedestrian and in a car with the bumperto-bumper traffic, and asked whether it would be racing down their streets once again.

Traffic statistics were rattled off with estimates on the level of service, which is currently at F. They questioned why they should be impacted by such a ramp when an I-93 southbound ramp is 1/2 mile away from them and the off-ramp at Assembly Square is in the same area.

Residents spoke of the beauty of the area in years gone by with its parks and now the homes are "nothing but a pocket between overpasses and underpasses." It was noted that the value of the homes would depreciate.

One woman asked if residents were making fools of themselves since decisions on the ramp had already been made. Nee responded that "the ramp will be built." And, with that, about 25 residents put on their coats and left.

Nee said that letters had been received on the ramp. Conway pointed out that the CNC wrote a letter stating its opposition to the ramp at Bunker Hill Community

Presently a water line is being installed, with construction of the ramp set to begin in May. A completion date is in April 1998.

Questions were asked as to delaying construction as alternative sites were identified or eliminating the ramp altogether to save the project money, with the traffic going to the Assembly Square Mall exit and returning via a reconfigured roadway onto McGrath Highway.

Dan King, who has been working on the City Square aspect of the project, told the residents that any change in the project was up to them and they had to form committees and take action whether it would be a protest or a delegation going into the mayor's office. He added that the North End and Chinatown had gotten changes.

Suggestions were made to work with Somerville officials on an alternative. Nee said he would get the residents traffic numbers so they can look at them to see that they make sense. Residents did not buy this recommendation and continued to question how Cambridge Street could handle the traffic and what would happen to the parking. Setting up a meeting with BTD was nixed.

CNC members recommended a meeting be set up with Senate President Tom Birmingham, Rep. Gene O'Flaherty and Councillor Diane Modica to let them know the concerns of the residents and the fact that they don't want the ramp. Representatives of all three elected officials were present and agreed to set up a meeting with 10 to 12 residents and CNC members. It was suggested that Congressman Joe Kennedy be contacted.

Residents interested in such a meeting were asked to sign a sheet with their telephone numbers in the event that a meeting could be scheduled in a short period of time. The CNC will work cooperatively with the Sullivan Square area abutters.

Jim Kimball of Parker Street, told Nee that he was far from being shy and would have been at any meeting on a Cambridge Street off-ramp if he had received a notice. He voiced his sentiments and those of many of his neighbors to Nee when he told him to "take your ramp and leave town."

Team Running In Boston Marathon To Benefit Judge Baker Children's Center

THE FIVE STAR TEAM, a group of young men and women committed to raising $10,000 each to benefit the Judge Baker Children's Center, will run in the 101st Boston Marathon this coming Monday. Four of the five are shown in a practice run in front of Michael Sherlock's Restaurant and Pub on Broad Street where an auction was conducted on April 15 to benefit the center. Shown (l. to r.) Annette M. Fortin of Charlestown, who is involved in refugee resettlement at the New American Program of Jewish Family Services in Newton; Lisa Panattoni of Charlestown, an assistant vice president working for Marshalls and TJMaxx; Jack Higgins of Cambridge; and Mark Suffredini of Brookline. The fifth member of the team is Lt. Matthew Stauffer.

Runners Tackle Boston Marathon To Raise $1,000,000 For Cancer Research

Several hundred firsttime marathoners and seasoned veterans will put months of training to the test as part of the eighth annual Dana-Farber Marathon Challenge to support cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute.

This year 350 runners will strive to raise $1 million during the 101st Boston Marathon on Monday, April 21 to support the institute's Claudia Adams Barr Program in Innovative Basic Cancer Research.

Last year, 400 runners garnered more than $1.3 million and during the past seven years, the Marathon Challenge has raised more than $3.7 million.

Many Challenge runners participate in the Challenge's Patient Partner Program, undertaking the marathon on behalf of a young cancer patient or in memory of a child who fought the disease. Founded by Lindsay Frazier, M.D., a pediatric oncologist at Dana-Farber and veteran Marathon Challenge runner, the program matches runners with patients of the institute's Jimfessionals and caregivers.

Charlestown residents participating in the Marathon Challenge are Matt Bergin, Marie Caulfied (who is paired with a Jimmy Fund Clinic patient), Beth Holland and Kate Charlie McGonagle has been a contributing columnist to The Patriot for more than 30 years. He is hoping to compile a number of these articles with the intent of putting them into book form.

Although he has saved copies of many of his writings, he knows there are hundreds that he does not have, especially those from his early years.

Do you have a favorite column of his that you may have, for one reason or another, kept? If you do, he would greatly appreciate your sending him a copy of that column, along with the date on which it appeared in The Patriot, for possible inclusion in his project.

He asks that no originals be sent, only copies, for he cannot guarantee a return. Copies should be sent to: Charlie McGonagle, 11 Plaza Avenue, Stoneham, MA 02180.

City Of Boston Celebrates Patriots' Day

Mayor Thomas M. Menino will launch the 222nd Patriots' Day celebration in Boston on Monday, April 21 at 9 a.m. with a flag raising ceremony on City Hall Plaza.

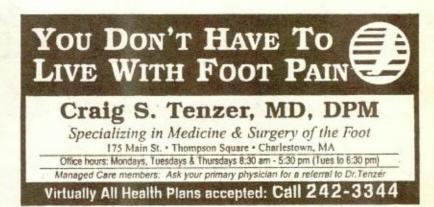

The annual ceremonies, which commemorates the famous midnight rides of Paul Revere and William Dawes on April 18, 1775 will continue at King's Chapel on Tremont Street, where there will be memorial services at the grave of William Dawes. Further on at the Old Granary Burial Ground, a wreath will be laid at the grave of Paul Revere.

The Patriots' Day festivities will move on to the North End at 9:15 a.m. The re-enactment of Paul Revere's ride begins at the Paul Revere Mall on Hanover Street in front on the Old North Church at 10 a.m. This year the rider is Trooper Eli Dow of the Mass. National Lancers. He will be escorted on his ride through Charlestown, Somerville, Medford, Arlington and Lexington by Sgt. Darin Reale.

The reenactment of William Dawes' ride begins at Eliot Square in Roxbury at 10 a.m.. This year the rider is Lt. Richard Reale and he will be escorted by Sgt. Paul Tobin. The ceremony in Roxbury is coordinated by the Patrick Toye Veterans Post and First Church in Roxbury.

"We are pleased to celebrate this most important holiday which honors the start of our historical revolution," said Cecily N. Foster, director of the Mayor's Office of Special Events and Tourism.

These events are free and open to the public. For more information, call the Mayor's Office of Special Events and Tourism at 635-3911.

Camping . . . with no mosquitoes . . . camping in!! That's what Charlestown Brownie Troop 9315 did recently at the Museum of Science. The camp-in allowed 300 girls to have a night of fun, excitement, exploration and to meet new Girl Scout friends.

Troop 9315 saw many exhibits which included the Wave Tank, the Dynamic Dominoes, the Tropical Rain Forest, the Third Harbor Tunnel Project, and so much more.

The girls worked in teams in a "see-foryourself" science workshop where they had to light a small light bulb using a battery and two pieces of wire. They learned that electricity can travel through humans by holding hands. The troop learned in many ways how science can be fun.

At 10:30 p.m., the troop got their gear to set up their camp site in the Balancing Exhibit. There, they slept on the floor in sleeping bags. They ended the evening by seeing a "light and laser" show before lights out at 12:10 a.m.

At 6:45 a.m. the campers were awakened to the sound of Dave announcing over the intercom "Good morning campers, it's 6:45... time to wake up!" After breakfast, the girls explored the Mathematics Room and went to see Whales in the Omni The-

The camp-in ended with a bang after seeing a lightening show in the Theater of Electricity.

Dolores Boyle, Nicole Callahan, Colleen Carey, Melissa Deren, Kaleigh Hickey, Erin Hines, Jacqueline Hurley, Stephanie Junta, Diana Kelly, Colleen Lynch, Mary Kate Powers and Brittany Wehler, all of Brownie Troop 9315, had a wonderful time and learned a lot about science from the Camp-in Staff at the museum. Thanks to Pat and Dave for an educational experience that they will never forget.

Charlestown Included In Mayor's $1.25 Billion Capital Plan

Menino said, "This capital budget takes the words of my State of the City address and puts them into action. We are investing in our priorities: public education, economic development, public safety and the quality of life in the neighborhoods. All the money to be spent addresses real life issues that affect residents every day."

Seven different funding categories make up the capital plan. They include: neighborhood revitalization ($419 million), public education ($275 million), economic development ($232 million), public safety (($128 million), health and environment ($98 million) lion), government effectiveness ($76 million) and parks and open space ($18 million).

Public education is the main priority of the plan with $44 million for school technology upgrades to support the Mayor's Kids Computer 2001 initiative which seeks to provide one computer for every four students by 2001. The Schoolyards Initiative and three new early learning centers are also funded. Other priorities are economic development and public safety.

The funding will repair or upgrade infrastructure within the city including schools, community centers, libraries, police and fire stations, parks, pools, municipal buildings, city squares, roads, bridges and sidewalks. The projects included for Charlestown are:

- Upgrading the North Washington Street Bridge;
- Improvements at the Edwards Middle School;
 Improve the ball field at
- Improve the ball field at Barry Playground;
- Build new hockey area, tennis courts and passive areas at Rutherford Play Area;
- New fencing, signs and grass for Sullivan Square;
- Improvements and repairs to Freedom Trail;
- Improvements to the Clougherty Pool;
- Upgrades to the Charlestown Branch Library and

 New fencing and a master plan for Winthrop Square.

Citywide the plan also has money set aside for general improvements to a number of pools, repairing sidewalks and the acquisition of open space. Concepts from a number of economic development initiatives such as the Seaport Access Study, Main Streets and the Boston 400 initiative are being supported through the plan.

General Obligation Bonds issued by the city of Boston generate most of the funding behind the 470 projects in the plan. This year's plan benefitted from the city of Boston now having its highest bond rating ever.

Paul Revere's Midnight Ride

Is Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's poem "Paul Revere's Ride" historically accurate?

Unfortunately for Longfellow's readers, this poetic version of Revere's ride has all too often been taken for fact. Longfellow wrote many poems about historical figures and events and at times used authentic period accounts as source materials, but just as frequently he relied on secondary works, folk tales, or even casual conversations as the basis for his poetry. In the case of "Paul Revere's Ride," Longfellow apparently did not consult Revere's own description of the event on file at the Mass. Historical Society, which was written at the request of the Society's corresponding secretary in 1798 and quoted extensively in an 1832 biography of Revere in New England Magazine.

According to his own diary, on the day before he began work on the poem (April 6, 1860), Longfellow took a long walk with his friend Charles Sumner and a mysterious "Mr. H." from his home in Cambridge, Mass., through the North End and back again. Along the way, the three men visited Copps Hill burying ground, and then walked down the hill to the Old North Church (Christ Church) where they were allowed to ascend into the bell tower. Longfellow appears to have based a large portion of his poem on information and impressions gathered on this walk, and presumably on a retelling of the events of April 18-19, 1775, provided by Mr. H., who acted as their guide. There is no record that Longfellow visited the Paul Revere House at this time, but he was quite aware of its existence, having visited it in the company of English novelist Charles Dickens in 1842.

A careful examination of the poem reveals that a significant portion is devoted to a detailed description of the Old North Church, its surroundings, and the hanging of the signal lanterns in the bell tower. Revere's ride is described only briefly, and none of the other persons involved in events that night, such as Samuel Adams, John Hancock or William Dawes, are mentioned at all.

The two most significant deviations from fact in the poem concern the purpose of the lanterns hung in the Old North Church tower, and Revere's apparent arrival in the town of Concord at 2 a.m. the next morning. According to the poem, Paul Revere contacted a friend and instructed him to set the signals ("one if by land, and two, if by sea") as soon as he observed the movements of the British troops. [The poem states that] Revere then rowed himself across the Charles River, past a British man-of-war (the Somerset) and waited "booted and spurred" for the signal to send him on his way. In fact, Revere knew before he left Boston that the troops were embarking by boat to cross the river. Revere communicated this information to a friend, probably Robert Newman, the sexton of the Old North Church, and instructed him to set the signals to warn the "Sons of Liberty" in Charlestown. He then proceeded to a point on the northern shore of Boston where two other friends waited to row him across the river. All of this had been arranged in great detail the previous weekend, when Revere made a reconnaissance ride into the countryside as far as Concord and returned through Charlestown. Revere had every reason to fear that he would not be able to row across the river without being stopped by sentries posted on the Somerset. As it turned out, Revere reached the Charlestown shore safely, and even verified with a committee of the "Sons of Liberty" that they had received his signals, although by then they were no longer necessary.

The second major inaccuracy in the poem is simpler. Longfellow describes Revere arriving in Concord, Mass. at 2 a.m. As Revere describes in his deposition taken just after the events in question, he and two other riders (Dawes and Prescott) were stopped just outside of Lexington by a party of British officers. Of the three, only Prescott managed to escape and reach Concord. Nothing about Revere's capture (or anything about Dawes or Prescott) is mentioned in Longfellow's poem.

Surprisingly, Longfellow's poem was criticized as early as the 1870s when Henry Holland (author of William Dawes, and his Ride with Paul Revere, 1878) accused Longfellow of various "high historic crimes and misdemeanors," in particular of having left William Dawes out of the story altogether. Curiously, knowledge of the inaccuracies in Longfellow's poem has decreased over time, and Americans today rely more on Longfellow for the historical facts of Revere's famous ride than did their ancestors a century ago. Longfellow's poem was clearly written to create a particular atmosphere, rather than to relate a series of historical events. Perhaps the greatest disservice done the poem is the assumption that it was intended to be a historical document, which it was not. Longfellow was a poet, not a historian, and was not attempting to write history when he penned "Paul Revere's Ride."

© Paul Revere Memorial Association, 1997

Many years after Longfellow's poem popularized the midnight ride, one of Revere's descendants purchased the home his ancestor had lived in during the Revolution. It was restored and opened to the public is 1908 as a museum which explores the life and times of Paul Revere. The house is open to the public seven days a week from 9:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

For more information about Paul Revere's ride, other aspects of Revere's life, or special events the museum has planned in honor of Patriot's Day, please call the Paul Revere House at 523-2338.

'Story Troupers' At The Charlestown Branch Library

The Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main St., will present the "Story Troupers" on Friday, April 25 at 2 p.m.

The Story Troupers are from the Wheelock Family Theatre and will perform a number of multicultural skits based on favorite stories such as Where the Wild Things Are, Strega Nona, The Paperbag Princess, Little Red Riding Hood and The Little Engine that Could.

With a few hand-held props and simple scenery, these professional actors use their bodies and voices to transform a space into a dynamic, creative center where the young people will be delighted with the world of theatre.

A Reading Is Fundamental (RIF) book giveaway of two books per child will follow the program, which is funded by the Friends of the Charlestown Branch Library, a grant from the Mass. Biomedical Corporation and the Reading Is Fundamental Project.

NATIONAL IMMUNIZATION AWARENESS WEEK - APRIL 21-26

- Immunization is one of the most effective ways of protecting against disease.
- Immunization is one of the most cost-effective medical interventions available.
- Many parents believe their children are fully immunized when they ARE NOT!
- Some children miss immunizations because their records are misplaced and parents as well as clinicians are not aware of which immunizations the child has had and which ones are needed.
- Catch-up immunizations can be given if the child did not get them at the recommended times.
- In most cases, more than one immunization can be given at the same time.

New Immunization Schedule

By 2 years of age:

- 4 DPT immunizations

Charlestown Little League News

Charlestown Little League held its draft on April 14 and registered boys and girls will be hearing from their coaches soon.

The Senior League is busy practicing for its season opener.

The Little League parade will be held on Sunday, April 27. Marching with the players will be St. Catherine's Color Guard, bagpipers, police, fire department and elected officials.

The group will form at 1 p.m. at Hayes Square and march over Bunker Hill Street to the Ryan Playground (The Neck), and the players hope to see all their friends, neighbors and fans along the route. Upon arriving at The Neck, the annual jamboree will commence with games for the players.

Charlestown Little League would like to thank the Christina Poole Fund and Fall River Nursing Home Olympus for their generous donations to the program.

Help is still needed for the concession stand and coaches are needed for the minor league program.

Boy and girls ages 7 to 12 are also needed to fill the rosters. There are still a few slots available. Call Wayne Davis at 241-4952.

JoJo Greets Townies . . . High above courtside at the FleetCenter are the Celtics Championship banners, 16 years of greatness. Close by are the retired numbers of many of the Celtic greats, who helped to raise those championship flags. Number 10 needs no introduction, and around the Celtic basketball world, you just say JoJo, and everyone knows you are talking about JoJo White. Mark April 2 down as another unforgettable experience for a couple of great Charlestown kids, who were attending the game on a Boys & Girls Club trip. I spotted them, they spotted me, we all spotted JoJo White, and of course, Eddie Loan had the camera. The results - another Townie Magic Moment!

Community Awards . . . Saturday was a special night in Charlestown. Once again, the Community Awards Celebration was a great success, and the work of a great committee was quite evident. The honorees were exceptional, and they have added another great page to the history of Charlestown. I think Peter Looney said it best: "There are a lot of nice people in Charlestown." The 1997 Community Award recipients are nice people. To Timmy Warren, the McCarthy Family, Essie Martin, Sheila Brown, Nick Adams, the Lt. Michael P. When you call, have your social security number ready, and don't hang up your call will be answered you are very important! To be eligible for a Red Shirt and CBO placement, you must be on the list. The number again is 635-4673.

 Mayor's Cup Youth Roller Hockey . . . Registration for the third annual Mayor's Cup Youth Roller Hockey Tournament is now open. The road to the May 31 finals at Columbus Park and Garvey Park begins by registering. Call 635-4505, ext. 6209 - the Parks and Recreation Department! The age divisions are 6 to 8, 9 to 11 and 12 to 14. There will be a qualifying round at Mc-Gonagle Park, right here in Charlestown on Saturday, May 3. Don't be left out!

Diamond Skills . . . April school vacation week means Diamond Skills, the official skills of major league Baseball Competition. The age groups are 7 & 8, 9 & 10, 11 & 12 and 13 & 14, with boys and girls competing together.

Batting, fielding and base-running are the skills and the competition is free and open to all. Locations and times are: April 19 -Rotch Park, South End from 9 a.m. to noon; April 22 -Billings Park, West Roxbury from 9 a.m. to noon; April 23 - Malcolm X Park, Roxbury from 1 to 4 p.m.; April 24 -East Boston Stadium from 9 a.m. to noon; and April 25 -Columbus Park, South Boston from 9 a.m. to noon. Registration will take place on the day of the event. No metal spikes will be allowed. For more details, call the Parks and Recreation Dept. at 635-4505, ext. 6209. Winners of local sites will advance to sectional competition. The National Championships will be held at the Major League All Star game in Cleveland.

We have a wealth of baseball talent in Charlestown, and here is another chance to shine.

Spring Break . . . Over the next 48 hours, many of us will be heading south to warmer climates. Spring break vacation is finally here! For many, this will be a muchneeded vacation and for most, this will be a well-deserved "first-time" experi-

Another Opener, Another Show! . . . They're back! The 1997 Boston Red Sox home opener is history and many Townies were spotted among the spectators. The Boys & Girls Club had a good contingent "in the house" on Saturday. For me, it was a milestone opener. I still find it hard to believe that my 30th consecutive season at Fenway has begun. Over the years, I have seen many great players. I have seen many youngsters grow up and now come to the park with their own kids, and I've also met a lot of great people. The one constant over all these years is that for me, baseball and Fenway are still fun and, as long as it remains fun, I will stick around the "old ball park."

Registration Open For Boston Youth Roller Hockey Tournament

Registration for the third annual Mayor's Cup Youth Roller Hockey Tournament is now open.

The 1997 tournament is being sponsored by the Boston Parks and Recreation Department in partnership with Eric Flaim's Motion Sports, the Newbury Street skate shop owned and operated by the twotime Olympic silver medalist.

Roller hockey continues to be one of the fastest growing youth sports nationwide, surpassing ice hockey in number of participants. The game is played on in-line roller skates following the same rules as ice hockey. A plastic ball is used instead of a puck, and helmets and padding are required.

The series features three divisions for age groups 6 to 8; 9 to 11; and 12 to 14. Elimination rounds will be held from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, May 3 at Lo-Presti Park in East Boston and McGonagle Park in Charlestown; Saturday, May 10 at Columbus Park in South Boston and Garvey Playground in Dorchester; and Saturday, May 17 at Ross Field in Hyde Park and Fallon Field in Roslindale. Finals will be held on Saturday, May 31 at Columbus Park and Garvey Playground.

Pre-registration for the tournament is required. To register your team, contact the Boston Parks and Recreation Department at 635-4505, ext. 6209.

Major League Baseball Competition Coming To City Parks

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department will be joining forces with the Boston Red Sox and major league baseball to bring the Major League Baseball Youth Skills Competition to five city parks during the month of April.

The overall winners of the Boston competition will be eligible to advance to the Sectional Championships, Major League Team Championships, and ultimately on to Cleveland for the National Championships to be held during the Major League All Star game in July.

The competitions will include skill categories in hitting, fielding and base running open to boys and girls in age groups 7 to 8, 9 to 10, 11 to 12 and 13 to 14 (age is determined as of Aug. 31, 1997).

Locations and times are as follows:

Rotch Play-April 19: ground, South End - 9 a.m. to noon

April 22: Billings Park, West Roxbury - 9 a.m. to

April 23: Malcolm X Park, Roxbury - 1 to 4 p.m. April 24: East Boston Stadium - 9 a.m. to noon April 25: Columbus Park, South Boston - 9 a.m. to

This is a free competition open to all Boston youngsters ages 7 to 14. Registration will take place the day of each event. No metal spikes will be allowed. Champions of the skill events will advance along with the allaround high scorers in each age group to the Mass. Sectional Championship.

For information on the competition, call the Boston Parks Department at 635-4505, ext. 6209.

Farewell To A Longtime Worker And Friend

After 12 years of service, Charlestown resident Jerry O'Malley Page is retiring this month from Cobble Hill in Somerville.

We would all like to thank her for her years of service and friendship.

Happy retirement, Jerry!

Your friends at Cobble Hill

Thank You, CWT

Dear Patriot,

I just wanted to thank the Charlestown Working Theater, because they gave away free tickets for "Snoopy" to the elderly, the Boys & Girls Club and my class. My favorite part was when Sally Brown took Linus' blanket. I also liked when they were in school and they were singing "I don't want the teacher to call on me today." It was nice to see some of my classmates on a Saturday. Someday I hope to help with the set design up at the Charlestown Working Theater. Thanks CWT.

Our Thanks

Dear Patriot,

On April 12, the Charlestown Working Theater put on production of Snoopy! free of charge. They invited residents of several elderly complexes in Charlestown, the Boys & Girls Club and students from the Warren Prescott School, that have been involved in previous set designs. It was a wonderful turnout for an even more wonderful pro-

We are especially grateful to Kristen and Jennifer Johnson who have devoted so much time and energy to the theater. They (and many others) made the theater an enjoyable learning place that teaches many more lessons than drama and dance, for one - giving is far better than receiving.

Thanks again to all those connected with the Charlestown Working Theater and the actors and actresses who presented this matinee and then had to perform again that evening. Room 204 and Ms. Fabiano

Dedication To 'The Townie Legacy'

Dear Friends,

On Saturday, May 3, the Daughters of Isabella #1 will hold its annual anniversary banquet and celebrate 95 years as a non-profit Catholic charitable organization.

Ninety-five years is an astounding milestone for any type of organization and tribute to the dedication and hard work of the membership, both past and present. Any organization, such as ours, would not survive without the support of its community. Our longevity is a true testament to "a people" and "a business community" instilled with the spirit of caring and giving, a spirit which has been passed down through these years . . . a true legacy . . .

"THE TOWNIE LEGACY."

While we commemorate our 95 years of supporting our churches, our local Catholic schools (today, only one), the Knights of Columbus Council #62, local organizations and many charities, we pay a special tribute to our supporters and dedicate this year's banquet to . . . "The Townie

Please join us for this unique celebration. Look for our ad elsewhere in this issue of "The Patriot!" God Bless!

Yours in faith, hope and charity, Claire Lynch, president

P.S. Personally, "If ever I were in need, There is only one place I would want to be, That is: In God's hands, amongst Townies!" Claire Peaceful Coexistence Is Not Too Much To Ask!

Dear Dog Owners,

This letter is for all of the people who walk their dogs in the Doherty Playground on Bunker Hill Street. To those of you who are considerate and conscientious, control your dogs and clean up after them . . . THANK

For many years the park has accommodated children and dogs alike. Lately, there seems to be more dogs than ever before. This increase in the canine population has raised some concerns.

- · Please clean up after your dogs if you do not already
- · Some dog owners allow their dogs to go to the bathroom anywhere in the park. Heavily used areas, especially the playground areas, should be Off-Limits.
- · Dogs that are not easily controlled should be on a leash. Warmer weather brings more children to the park. Along with the children come their bikes, rollerblades, bats and balls, etc. If your dog is excitable, the park can be very
- · The fenced-off playground areas with the swings and slides are not meant to be used as dog runs. The fences are to keep toddlers in and dogs out.

We hope this is taken in the spirit in which it is written. All we would like is a clean and safe place for our children and ourselves to enjoy.

Peaceful coexistence is not too much to ask for, is it?

The parents, children and neighbors of the Doherty Playground

To All My Neighbors In Charlestown

Well, I'm sure everyone in town has experienced what I am about to describe. And I'm sure everyone has an opinion about it. I'm going to say that the issue of leaving an object (i.e. chair, cone, bucket) to save a parking spot after you and yours have painstakingly shoveled it (and your car out of the snow) is actually a larger issue involving being a good neighbor.

Unfortunately, what I've experienced in the last two years is making me dislike this town, even though I realize there are more good neighbors than bad.

Two days after the "Spring Blizzard of 1997," I returned home. I couldn't park behind my house because it wasn't plowed. I was forced to park on Bunker Hill Street. Well, as you may imagine, I got stuck in the snow. My boyfriend came over and spent 40 minutes shoveling to get me out (and "thank you" to the good neighbor who lent us his ice chopper). Well, after all that effort, I placed a white barrel in the spot to save it until the snow melted. Now, I realize it is a "main thoroughfare" and legally, we're not suppose to "save spots." But, I suppose that when the mayor of the city says that it's an unwritten rule of the city and should be respected, I have a pretty good argument here. Well, that barrel wasn't respected and I came home after work and had to park behind the "neighbor" who so casually took my spot, a native of Charlestown, who should have respected the unwritten rule. Someone even had the nerve to take the cover off my barrel (which happened to have bird seed in it for my pet) and put a Dunkin' Donut bag and empty coffee container in it. Can you believe it?

What about last year, when I came home to my mother and grandmother's house and couldn't find any spots during a snow storm. After driving around two blocks, I parked in the Bricklayers' on Medford Street. Well, how surprised was I when I found all four tires slashed. Well, I wasn't aware that I took someone's spot - couldn't they have left a note - I wouldn't have done it again - maybe it was easier for them to take a knife to my tires than a pen to paper.

Well, I'm sure we all have some story about parking in Charlestown (and anywhere else in the city) but I still think it comes down to one thing - being a good neighbor. In this day and age, people are just looking out for themselves and I think that until we start being good neighbors again and respecting each other, our community is just going to get worse. I hope the people who read this recognize themselves and think about it and I hope that people who have experienced such things find comfort that you're not alone

Update On The Constitution School

Dear Gloria:

I am writing to bring your readers up to date on the status of the Constitution School, a proposed independent middle school (grades 5-8) to be located in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Because of the articles the Patriot has run on the school, and due to the unanimous vote of confidence offered by the Neighborhood Council, the enthusiastic reception from the Navy Yard Association, and the help of Jim Conway, public awareness, enthusiasm and support for the Constitution School have been growing in the community over the last few months. Many potential parents have been in touch with me, both at public meetings and over the phone, to track developments at the school and to determine if the school's ethos - high academic standards, public service, character education, outdoor learning and gender-segregated classrooms - was appropriate for their children. The momentum was such that we thought we might have an outside chance to open the doors of our school this September.

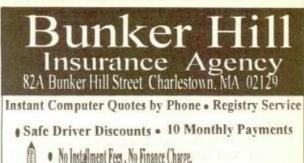

Regretfully, our momentum has been slowed in that we have recently been informed by the superintendent of the Boston National Historical Park that the proposed site of the school, Building 125, is no longer available to us. The reasons for this are complicated and unfortunate. Suffice it to say, John Burchill, who has been wonderfully supportive of the project, could no longer guarantee us unrestricted tenant status. We are now in the process of scouring about for alternative space in the Navy Yard and eyeing a '98 start.

We remain committed to the project and to locating a school in Charlestown that would work in synch with the other schools, public and parochial, in the community. We are sobered by the difficulty of finding acceptable space in the Navy Yard and would be delighted if any of your readers would like to pass on a lead or two. We have been impressed and grateful for the community backing we have

Our mast needs some repairs, but the ship will sail.
