Allyson O'Callahan Named 1988 Charlestown Rose

Excitement permeated the banquet hall of the Knights of Columbus last Friday evening as the standing room only crowd awaited the announcement of the winner in the Sixth Annual Charlestown Rose Contest sponsored by the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee.

At this annual event, a young woman of Irish heritage from this community is selected to represent Charlestown in the Western Rose Festival held in Charlestown, County Mayo, Ireland in August. She and her escort will be treated to an all-expense paid trip to Ireland for a tour and the Festival and she will bring with her an evening gown fashioned especially for her by Priscilla of Boston. The winner is also presented with $500 in spending money and a $300 clothing allowance for the Festival.

In addition, the runner-up is awarded $500.

This year ten young women competed for the coveted title of "Charlestown Rose." The contestants were Eileen A. Browne, Christine DeRoeve, Virginia Ellington, Rita Feeley, Sherry Ann Jackson, Pamela Mc-Kinnon, Allyson O'Callahan, Francine O'Neil, Susan Scadding and Suzanne Wrenn.

The contestants arrived at the hall at 5:45 p.m. the night of the contest where they drew numbers to determine the order in which they would meet the contest judges. The judges were Judith M. Blaikie of The Flatley Company; Cathal

Affordable Housing Units In Navy Yard Target Of Rumors

by Kathy Giordano

Construction is proceeding at a steady pace on Thirteenth Street in the Charlestown Navy Yard, but the affordable housing units being built there by the Bricklayers and Masons Non-Profit Housing Corporation, Inc. have been the target of rumors throughout the community. Stories of rising costs, up to $30,000 a unit over the originally quoted prices, and the need for many of the lottery winners — those whose names were picked at the lottery last January in Fanueil Hall — to drop out of contention due to the rising costs, came to a head last week when a statement was made to that effect at a public meeting.

At last week's Housing and Development Committee meeting, Council member Tom Cunha mentioned

KITCHEN RENOVATIONS

You've found an almost perfect house. It has the right number of bedrooms and baths, a wonderful family room and a great back yard. Your pulse rate increases as you imagine your furniture in the living room, your "excess" neatly stored in the huge attic and your tulip bulbs blooming in the garden. The kitchen, however, looks like the original and the house was built long before the invention of modern conveniences like dishwashers, disposals, frost-free refrigerators or microwaves. It's also ugly!

If you really love a house with an awful kitchen, consider a renovation. You might consult a contractor for expert advice during the structural contingency period. Re-doing a kitchen can be a major undertaking, especially if you decide to move walls around or expand onto a back porch. It can, however, be done in a relatively short time for a small fraction of the overall cost of the house if you simply place new appliances, cabinets, and flooring into the existing space. Also, kitchen improvements are considered to be excellent investments that are easily recovered when it's time to re-sell the home.

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Silva Realty Associates. Call us at 242-7470 or stop by our offices at 142 Main Street in Charlestown.

Each office is independently owned and operated.

Mount Rushmore Flag To Wave Next To The "USS Constitution"

"Boston's Second Annual Tribute to Old Glory" will be presented free to the public from 5 to 5:45 p.m. on Sunday, June 19 on Pier One in the Boston National Historical Park section of the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The focus will be on the flying of the Mount Rushmore Flag, measuring 85 x 45 feet, which was dedicated and flown first a year ago and has traveled thousands of miles across the United States. It returns to the Charlestown Navy Yard on June 19 to be unfurled and flown alongside the USS Constitution at Pier One.

This will be the first step of its 1988 journey to arrive at Gettysburg on July 3 in celebration of the 125th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg where the flag will unveil the Eternal Light Peace Memorial.

In addition to the Mount Rushmore Flag, the ceremony will include the presentation and flying of nine Gettysburg peace flags representing the nine major New England regiments that were at the Battle of Gettysburg.

The State of Rhode Island will send its historic Gettysburg Gun, used during the battle in 1863, from the State House in Providence to the Charlestown Navy Yard to be on display for the day.

Weather conditions permitting, the flag will fly until 7 p.m. at which time it will be lowered, folded and placed back into a chest.

An 18th century encampment depicting costumes, historic weapons, musket drills and other activities will take place on the lawn of the Commandant's House.

As part of the Visiting Ships Program, the Canadian ship Blue Nose II will be in port at Pier One from June 15 to June 19 and open free to the public. For schedule information, call 242-5601.

History Comes To Life On Bunker Hill

by Chris Stein, Public Relations Director, NPS

"We were ordered to parade at 6 o'clock with one day's provisions and blankets for a march somewhere, but we did not know where... About 9 o'clock at night we marched down onto Charlestown Hill (Breed's Hill) against Cox (Copp's) Hill in Boston, where we entrenched, and made a fort of about ten rod long and eight wide, with a breastwork of about eight more. We worked till about five in the morning..." wrote Private Peter Brown of Prescott's regiment on the evening of June 16, 1775.

The annual historic demonstration on Bunker Hill, in which costumed volunteer 18th Century British and Colonial soldiers relive the first major battle of the Revolutionary War, will be presented free to the public from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 18 at the Bunker Hill Monument, which is part of the Boston National Historical Park.

The Battle of Bunker Hill, which was fought 213 years ago on June 17, 1775, was a military defeat for the colonists. However, the importance of the battle cannot be overstated. In its aftermath the British found a new respect for the independent character of the colonial forces while the colonials were able to learn the importance of tactical planning and discipline so much needed in the formation of the Revolutionary forces in their fight for liberty.

In addition to the historic demonstration, an 18th century military encampment complete with historic weapons display, musket drills and other encampment activities will be presented free to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, June 18 and Sunday, June 19 in the National Historical Park section of the Charlestown Navy Yard.

As part of the Visiting Ships Program, the Canadian ship Blue Nose II will be in port at Pier One from June 15 to June 19 and open to the public. Call 242-5601 for schedule information.

As the "Life at Sea" exhibit was featured in the Constitution Museum, the white stretch limousine arrived near the USS Constitution. Bearing Massachusetts license plates, the vehicle deposited its passengers who proceeded to examine the area surrounding Building 10. With new specifications being prepared for a fast food chain to serve the visitors, could these be prospective suitors? The National Park Service is anxious to have a permanent restaurant that will accommodate the hungry traveler in place within the year. Without distribution of business cards or food samples, the guessing continues as to which chain will be successful. To date, Burger King, Cajun Joe's, McDonald's, Taco Bell and Wendy's have been mentioned. Certainly Cajun Joe's and Taco Bell would bring a zesty menu, but the verdict is out until Park Service opens and reads the bids. Calories consumed by the Constitution will be in vogue regardless of your gastronomic predilection.

Evidently the painters at the Basilica don't believe in the adage "never on Sunday." With fervor they carried out their task on the apartment condominium complex at First Avenue and Thirteenth Street prior to Memorial Day. Deadline and/or logistics warranted their duties, which resulted in an enhancement for the facade. We would be interested to hear Melina Mcuri's response to the transgression.

Continuing on an international flair, the Anchorage had residents on foreign soil and visitors returning from same. Ottawa was the destination of the Coles accompanied by their daughter, Mary, a resident of Short Street. A perfect weather pattern allowed for ample sightseeing cruises and a parade. Cuisine and hotel amenities made for a great getaway. To offset the binging, Buzz and Mary took to walking Pier Eight and the surrounding environs on their return. For daughter Mary, walking the high bridge will burn the calories until her upcoming visit to her home away from home, Washington D.C., with her niece.

From Sweden to stateside, Ruth Duffy's son Danny is home for a graduation and visit. His northern European digs agree with Dan. The climate and topography also are to Danny's enjoyment. Two questions went unanswered by Dan. No response on whether they play touch football as Danny did in his youth on the Monument Grounds. Secondly, Dan was mum on the additional round trip fare ticket in his possession. To be prepared, Ruth, service your vehicle and have your luggage available. All the Duffy clan had a great reunion. Ruth's apartment will be quiet for a while. Then in August, her daughter and son-in-law Butchie McGrath will be paying a visit from Saudi Arabia.

All those along the inner harbor were treated to a substantial fireworks display over the recent holiday weekend. Pedestrian traffic was at its peak on the piers as residents and visitors jockeyed for the most favorable viewing location. Earlier in the evening, the Italia-Genova departed the harbor. This commercial vessel had the advantage of tide and time. The harbor was literally a sea of ships awaiting the big bang. Impervious to the loud activity was the sleek 110 foot Limitless docked at the front berth of Pier Eight. It appeared that the diversified production of missiles could be discharged from her decks with as much ease as did the fireworks barge. With 23 days remaining until the 4th of July extravaganza, First Security will have ample time to address the crowd control issue.

Bouncing the basketball, lobbing the tennis ball or hitting the racquet ball drains the body fluids. One of many quick remedies is water. Finally the water source at the Park Service playing area is functioning. The water bubblers are dispensing the necessary solution to the active and sundry participants.

New to the Shipways is an underground sprinkler system that will nurture and maintain the lawn. A word of caution to vehicular traffic as the projectiles that generate the water are on the edges of the fire lanes, so please navigate this area with diligence. Replacement of a damaged unit is costly. Enough said, now let's sit and watch the grass grow.

Development Issues Main Focus Of Neighborhood Council Meeting

by Kathy Giordano
The Charlestown Neighborhood Council held their June meeting on Tuesday, June 7th, where development issues, once again, dominated the agenda. Committee meetings on parcels R-87 and R-107, the upcoming vote by the BRA

Board on Parcel P-2A, the Navy Yard Master Plan, Chapter 689 housing were reported and a presentation was made by Dick Held and Paul Kelly on their planned development on Main and Warren Streets.

The Council voted to endorse the Breed's Hill Associates development plans for Parcel R-107, located at Main Street and Lawnwood Place. This was the only developer to make a presentation before the Housing and Development Committee.

The Housing and Development Committee reported to the council on their May 31 meeting with abutters of Parcel R-87, located at the intersection of Tremont and Prospect Streets and Lowney Way. The committee had voted to have the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) draft two Requests For Proposals (RFPs) for the parcel, one for individual row housing and the other for single family house lots on 47,000 square feet of the land, with the remaining 10,000 square feet to be transferred from the ownership of the BRA to that of the Boston Housing Authority for Chapter 689 housing. Once the BRA has the drafts readied, another public meeting will be held to solicit input from the community on the development of that parcel. Council member Tom Cunha reported that he had made that motion to address the concerns of the abutters and members of the council so that the construction of affordable housing units could be compared to a plan with individual house lots. He stated, "The neighbors should know how and what they are going to be impacted with and it is important that the people involved with this [parcel] be included in the process."

Council member Jim Doherty voiced his concern on the issue of Chapter 689 housing being included in the RFP drafts. "The abutters are vehemently opposed to 689," he stated. He then repeated a motion he had made at the May 24 special council meeting asking for "a rejection of 689 housing on that parcel." "The council voted 7 to 5 to reject Chapter 689 housing on that site," he stated. He questioned the other council members as to why it was still included in the discussions of developing the parcel. Doherty concluded, "Treat 689 as rendered."

Council member Betty Golden asked why an amendment was attached to the RFP drafts to include

Chapter 689 housing at the May 31 meeting, a meeting that she said was called only to address the development of the remaining section of the site. She stated that it has been implied that "opposition to this [placing Chapter 689 housing on R-87] is taken as opposition to this form of housing. Currently the BHA has land available that they own themselves and can develop. Have the Housing Authority build these units on land they have. I would like to see this triangle at Tremont and Prospect go for Charlestown. I would gladly accept it, if the State could say that at least two members of our community would benefit from it. I would rather see BHA build this for families from Charlestown with handicapped members, handicap is inclusive of mental and physical. That way we would be able to take care of some of our own plus still provide this type of housing." She further stated, "Our major concern has always been the abutters. The council has not really listened to anything the abutters have said. I have not heard one abutter say they are opposed to any handicapped resident residing in the area. The whole thing is the process." This was met with a round of applause from the audience.

Resident Ann Considine stated that she felt any vote by the council at this time was illegal since the body had already voted on the subject dating back to 1986. "When you put it in, it's in, case closed. I am not against handicapped people. I am against you people [the council] voting on something that already took place back in '86. No one in this community has worked harder for the handicapped than myself. Don't ever put me in a place where I have to answer to the handicapped of this town. You people have meeting after meeting to get what you want. Let the neighborhood speak. The issue is that you already made an agreement — the council, not the BRA! You had meetings and decided to go along with what the neighborhood said and now all of a sudden someone wants something and we'll stick it to them [Charlestown] again," she stated.

Discussions took place between council members on the subject of Chapter 689 housing and it's need to be placed in the community, after which a vote was taken by the council to accept Chapter 689 housing by a vote of 16 to 2. Another vote was passed 17 in favor and one abstention to ask the BRA to draft two RFP's for Parcel R-87.

The Planning and Zoning Committee presented a memo that was sent to BRA Director Stephen Coyle requesting further information on the Navy Yard Master Plan that he presented to the community on May 10. Council members, concerned about the length of time it would take for the committee to make a decision on the BRA plan for the Navy Yard, asked how long it would take its members to gather all the information they need and then come before the council with their results. It was agreed that by the end of July the committee would be prepared to make a presentation at a public meeting. Kathryn

Drug Free Communication Is Needed

by Hil Ohrstrom
Kennedy Center

There are not too many people left who don't recognize that alcohol and drug problems are at epidemic proportions in the United States. It can sometimes be a bit harder to accept how the City of Boston and yes, the Charlestown neighborhood of Boston, fit into those epidemic proportions.

Officials tell us that there are 14,000 IV drug users in the City of Boston. Consider this. The majority of people with alcohol and drug problems don't use needles. Angel dust and alcohol, for instance, don't require IV use. So, if there are 14,000 IV drug users and the majority of chemically dependent people don't use needles, imagine the overwhelming numbers.

It's a difficult problem and some may feel powerless about it. A way to change is for residents, church groups, business folks and representatives of community agencies to talk and work together. I encourage you to attend the Alcohol and Drug Awareness Night at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 13 at Charlestown High School, 254 Medford Street. The free event is sponsored by the Bunker Hill Associates, Mayor Raymond Flynn and the Charlestown Adolescent Task Force. Bring your family and friends.

Following a three to five minute interview with each of the young women, the judges turned their scoring sheets over to the tabulators and the winner and runner-up were determined. Tabulators for this year's contest were Vincent Cannon, past president, Mayo Association of Boston, and Michael Scanlon, Boston Gaelic Fire Brigade. Eleanor Smith served as overseer of the contest, a position she has held since the inception of the "Charlestown Rose" Contest some five years ago.

As family and friends awaited the announcement of the evening, a delicious roast beef dinner was served by Scalli Caterers and dancing began to the music of the Andy Healey Band.

Just past 9 p.m., Peter Looney, chairman of the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee, took the microphone to welcome the gathering and to introduce the committee and the Master of Ceremonies, John Curran, who hosts the "Sound of Erin" Irish radio program on WNTN 1550 AM.

PETER LOONEY, chairman, Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee.

Each of the young women was escorted into the hall for the contest by their father, relative or special friend. They ascended onto a platform and proceeded along a runway that was decorated with small lights and red roses as Curran introduced the contestant, making special note of each contestant's "Irish roots."

The 1987 "Charlestown Rose" Susan Lyons was then escorted into the hall by her father, John. She expressed her gratitude for the past year and to wish the soon-to-be announced "Rose" well. Noting that only one of the ten contestants would be selected, she told them all to be proud of their Irish heritage.

1987 "CHARLESTOWN ROSE" Susan Lyons.

The contestants were then seated with their families and "Charlestown Mayor" Claire Lynch brought her special greetings in Gaelic to the gathering. She was then presented with an envelope which she and Susan Lyons tore apart. The "Mayor" announced the name of the runner-up — Eileen Browne. It was noted that if for any reason the "Rose" would be unable to serve her year, Eileen as the runner-up would assume her duties and prerogatives.

CLAIRE LYNCH, "Charlestown Mayor."

At last the long awaited moment had arrived. A hush filled the hall as the 1987 "Rose" and 1988 "Mayor" tore open the second envelope. "Mayor"

Claire announced — Allyson — with the O'Callahan being lost as the far corner of the hall erupted into shouts and cheers. Allyson finally made her way through hugs and kisses to the stage where Lyons and Lynch presented her with the regalia of her position as 1988 "Charlestown Rose" including a crown, banner and a bouquet of red roses.

O'Callahan's escort, Donald Kilgallen of Somerville, the father of her fiance Scott, was invited to join her on the runway as she posed for photographs and waved to the cheering crowd.

O'Callahan stated that approximately 45 family members and friends were on hand at the event to as her Irish heritage, is the daughter of Margie O'Callahan and the late Connie O'Callahan of Elm Street. She has two sisters, Cheryl and Linda. She is the second O'Callahan to hold the title of "Charlestown Rose" as her sister Linda won the title in 1985.

O'Callahan is a graduate of Arlington Catholic High School and is attending Bunker Hill Community College at night, majoring in Early Childhood Education. She also works full-time for Headquarters, a firm that provides secretarial services for a wide variety of clients including doctors, lawyers and stockbrokers — a position she says that is far from routine.

Her eventual goal is to become an elementary school teacher.

Allyson described her arrival at the hall for the contest, noting that her interview with the judges was second from the last — taking place around 8 p.m. She said that the judges asked about her family, school, ambitions and even her grade point average which, she admitted was good. O'Callahan said that only one of the judges' questions gave her pause for thought and that concerned her opinion of illegal Irish immigrants.

The new "Charlestown Rose" states that she is still "very excited" about her selection and is "looking forward to the year ahead." Activities for Allyson will include visits to the Massachusetts Senate and House of Representatives, the Boston City Council — to name just a few — and, of course, an appearance in the Bunker Hill Day Parade.

During the course of the event on Friday, Looney introduced several elected officials who were on hand to extend best wishes to the new "Rose." They included Senator Fran Doris, Representative Richard Voke, Representative Richard Rouse, Sheriff Bob Rufo and Boston School Committeeman Robert M. Capucci, as well as Mike Cummings from The Flatley Company. Also, the committee presented a plaque to Jay Farris in appreciation for his decorating the hall for the event.

The Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee, sponsors of this event, will now be finalizing plans for their upcoming tour of Ireland where "Charlestown Rose" Allyson O'Callahan will compete in the Western Rose Festival. Members of the committee include Chairman Peter Looney, Peg Bradley, Marilyn Browne, James Fitzgerald, Arthur Hurley, Carol McClellan, Paul Morceau, John Reveliotis and Mary Lou Tracy.

MEMBERS of the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee, sponsors of the Annual Rose Contest, congratulated Allyson O'Callahan on her selection as the 1988 "Charlestown Rose." Shown (l. to r.) Arthur Hurley, James Fitzgerald, Carol McClellan, Marilyn Browne, "Charlestown Rose" Allyson O'Callahan, John Reveliotis, Peter Looney, Peg Bradley, Mary Lou Tracy and Paul Morceau.

Harry And The Kids — A Partnership In Sailing

by Lynn Peters

Harry McDonough doesn't work for nothing. He says he's yet to see the $1 annual salary Mayor Raymond L. Flynn agreed to pay him to run the Courageous Sailing Center in the Charlestown Navy Yard. This summer marks Harry's second season introducing city kids to the sport and the dream to someday sail aboard two-time America's Cup winner Courageous.

"He still owes me the dollar, the s.o.b.," Harry booms with a bark that could rattle even Flynn to the bones thinking he owed this old salt anything. "But that's OK. It'll come in time. I'm not gonna starve waitin' for it."

The retired 34-year U.S. Customs Service worker, ex-NFL Boston Yanks running back, and founder and director of the five-year-old MDC Harry McDonough Sailing Center in South Boston hardly needs the buck.

Instead, Harry McDonough has been passing around his 60 years of sailing know-how for free to "any kid who can swim" since last June 29 when his Charlestown program officially began. And it is "his" program. That $1 contract means, "nobody can tell me what to do. I can walk right outta here and take that boat with me."

That boat, the world-famous 12-meter captained to victories by the likes of Ted Hood in 1974 and Ted Turner in 1977, was a gift Harry wanted from syndicate head Leonard Greene for the city. The Charlestown Navy Yard seemed to perfectly accommodate the yacht's size, and Flynn and Senator Edward Kennedy, among other influentials, rallied behind Harry. With reported offers of $2-3 million for Courageous after the 1987 America's Cup trials in Freemantle, Australia, Greene told Harry he was insane to just ask for the boat.

"Finally, he said, 'Harry, stop it. You're driving me crazy. I'll give the boat to the children of the city,'" barrel-bellied Harry says flatly.

Courageous is something of a great green ornament on the harbor now, gracing the waterfront with throngs of future sailors and instructors. No one has to apply. Nearly all of the kids who go out to Pier Four for a look or a lesson have never been on a boat in their lives. What's more is Harry's taught blind and handicapped youngsters to sail for 20 years.

"My father worked hard to make me my first sailboat when I was 7," says the nearly 67-year-old steadfast Southie native, whose four grown children are also expert sailors. "I just wanna give kids what I had. This is my life."

YOUNG HARRY MCDONOUGH, 7, in 1928 with "Schoolship Harvard," a 140-foot schooner his father, Captain John D., bought and used to run the junior nautical training program at Harvard University. The Captain also used "Schoolship" to teach sailing during the summer to the underprivileged from the Angel Guardian Home for Boys. (photo courtesy of the McDonough's family scrapbook)

This year Harry has more boats for the Center and expects nearly double the 1,700 kids who participated last summer. He has organized the Courageous Challenge races for July 3 and 4, inviting Turner and Hood to captain Courageous opposite American Eagle, Gleam, Northern Light, Nyala and Weatherly. Famed Stars & Stripes I is due to arrive tomorrow from San Diego for the Challenge and to race Courageous all summer. Within the next two years he promises to start "the finest yacht club for children in the world."

"Everything I say is the truth," Harry says sharply. Period.

The Parks and Recreation Department pays the salaries for young neighborhood employees to maintain the fleet of Rhodes 19 and J-22 sailboats and to teach other kids boating, safety and the rules of navigation. But Harry is just as determined to do the doling out as he is to solicit opportunineed jobs," Harry's voice gets a bit louder than normal. "It means a lot to a kid and the family if he or she can have some money for school clothes or any small thing they can do with it."

Harry figured that the harbor's creosote and oil pollution matched need for need with general economics in some Charlestown families. He dashed off a note to Levy suggesting the MWRA hire two young Charlestown girls to wash Courageous daily. Levy says he declined the offer. Harry's indignant.

"I'm not so sure I want to have a 'dispute' with Harry McDonough," Levy says, responding to a charge the two are embattled. According to Levy, the MWRA does not hire anyone to clean the harbor. He told Harry to take it up with the National Parks Service. "We run the sewer system, not the marinas," says Levy. He thinks the Courageous Sailing Center has a great program but says he would rather consider the situation as "an offer and a non-acceptance."

Harry fully believes Levy ought to do better than that and ought to be concerned with his disappointment. It's old news that Harry has run up against opposition before. He beats the system by taking care of boys like Billy and Shawn himself.

Harry apparently sees promise in these two, who might otherwise not be given much of a chance to live out their potentials. The Navy Yard has become a second home for Billy and Shawn.

"I always know where my kid is," Kathleen Porter says. "Harry's a grouch. He's a comedian. And he keeps him in line."

"I tell every kid the same thing: If you do a good job we'll hire you through high school and college, and you'll be set for life," Harry says. "But I'm a bitch and a bastard to work for. You survive me, and you'll last ten wars. Be a wise guy, and you're gone."

How do the kids feel about their crusty coach?

"He's awesome," says Billy. "He yells at you a lot for nothing and calls you names. He's awesome."

What you notice about Billy and Shawn right away is their confidence with what they've learned from Harry. They claim they can teach anyone anything about sailing.

Billy, who lives on Starr King Court and attends the Harvard/Kent School, seems to feel good about himself and his accomplishments. He sports a pullover Courageous Sailing Center windbreaker as if it were a medal, pulling it taut so every letter can be read clearly. He admits to taking a little longer to learn all he has, more than a month, but adamantly maintains he can teach anyone what he knows.

Shawn learned quicker. Best of all he likes "hailing," a side-tipping maneuver for speed he gets quite a thrill from. Shy at first glance, Shawn comes to life when he explains his responsibilities at the Center and how he and Billy have already been allowed to tow Courageous.

These kids are more important to Harry than just hard working local kids. According to his mother, Shawn's dyslexia keeps him two to three years behind in reading, and Harry's right there bouting it out for the boy in still other arenas. He fully intends to have Shawn accepted on a full scholarship to the Landmark School in Prides Crossing for bright and above-average dyslexic children.

The school costs boarding students a phenomenal $25,900 a year, offering those with the language learning disability a chance to excel with focused special attention.

"Shawn will be there in the fall," Harry bellows. "He'll be there if I have to drive him up there myself and bust through the gate. And I guarantee I'll get a scholarship a year from them."

Ann Brennan, assistant director of admissions at Landmark, only spoke with Harry once but remembers it well. She explains the school's reputable application and evaluation process.

"Harry's bulldozing us," Brennan says of Shawn's evaluation still being in the beginning stages. "To put an inappropriate youngster here could be devastating to him." Brennan has only just seen Shawn's current school files from the Blackstone School, where he attends in the South End. She speaks highly of Shawn's potential and is ready to schedule the necessary interview and placement testing. Admission decisions are made the same day.

The school only provides minimal scholarship money, a maximum $5,000, for accepted students. Under Chapter 766, Shawn's school district would fully fund his tuition if it finds him needy of alternative education. Brennan says

King Named Top Scholar-Athlete At Pope John High

Kathy King of Charlestown has been named the 1988 recipient of the Aldo J. Sanviti Award as the top scholar-athlete at Pope John High School.

King is the first female athlete in Pope John history to win letters in all 12 of her possible athletic seasons. From the fall of her freshman year, she earned a letter each season in softball, volleyball and basketball.

Flowering Plants Decorating The John Harvard Mall

Thanks to the assistance of James Walsh, regional administrator of Region III of the Boston Parks Department, and Michael Connors and his staff at the Park Department Greenhouse, 420 flowering plants have been carefully raised and then delivered for planting in Charlestown's John Harvard Mall.

Senior citizens residing in nearby Mary Colbert Apartments and the Constitution Cooperative Apartments, a short block from the park, are invited to stroll in the Mall and enjoy the sight.

The flowers have been planted by good neighbors who live in the area.

These arrangements for summer color in the park were managed by Sarah Hitchcock, Laurie Sterling and Erik Anderson, members of Friends of Harvard Mall, Inc.

Downing stated that the committee has not yet seen the Master Plan, but rather the executive summary that was presented to the community at the May 10 meeting. Ken Stone said that he hoped that the council appreciated all the time that the committee and panel had put into this development. "Nothing would please me more than to see this Navy Yard plan wrapped up," he said.

It was brought to the attention of the council by member Bill Galvin that an article in last Saturday's Boston Herald stated that the BRA Board of Directors will vote to designate Gate 5 Associates as the developer of Parcel P-2A at their June 9 meeting. Galvin pointed out that the "BRA will endorse a developer we [the council] did not endorse. I am disappointed that the BRA apparently has chosen not to follow our recommendation." Cunha stated that "as an abutter, I tell you that there will be a lot of opposition there." Julia Rodriguez, chairperson of the Housing and Development Committee and member of the Affordable Housing Coalition, stated that her group will be on hand to endorse the proposal.

Developers Dick Held and Paul Kelly presented revised plans for their proposal to build housing and office space on the vacant lot behind the liquor store at Thompson Square. Kelly stated that "we have answered a lot of the abutters' questions but are still a little away." He said that they plan to go before the Board of Appeals on Tuesday, June 14, but will meet with the abutters at least one more time before that date. The plan includes an elevator to the below ground level to park the cars. According to Judy Evers of the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, the City Transportation Department has "serious concerns with the mechanical elevator and suggests a drive-through delivery area" for the liquor store, an aspect that is not included in the proposed plan.

Other actions taken by the council involved votes of endorsement on several projects.

Kate McDonough, executive director of the Kennedy Center, requested a letter from the council in support of the Headstart Fire Fund to assist them in their fund raising efforts.

Council member Tom White asked that the council send a letter to the BRA favoring retention of the portion of the Shipyard Park in the Charlestown Navy Yard previously designated by the BRA for construction of a Massachusetts Vietnam Veterans Memorial while a new veterans group is being formed to raise funds to construct the monument.

Also, a request was brought to the floor from the Boston Arson Prevention Commission by council member Mel Stillman. The Commission is funded jointly by the City of Boston and the state Executive Office of Communities and Development. He stated that the Commission had informed him that there were no state funds for this arson prevention program in this year's state budget and requested that the council send a letter to Representative Sal DiMasi in support of inclusion of funds in the budget for this program.

A letter will also be sent to the BRA Board endorsing the plans to build a park in Thompson Square on BRA-owned property outside the Newworld Bank in Thompson Square in honor of John Boyle O'Reilly.

It was announced that the Charlestown Neighborhood Council will have office space on the first floor of One Thompson Square, equipped with a telephone, to help handle the council business.

Concerns were raised at the meeting that were referred to committees for further investigation and discussion. One of these concerns involved a reported slow response time by Health and Hospital ambulances. The second was relative to the possibility of a garage being built at Sullivan Square by the MBTA to accommodate 3,000 commuters.

It was noted that a uniformed police officer was present in the audience. When asked if he was there at the request of the council, he responded "No, only as a spectator." This response pleased one council member who said the council had been accused of "being scared of our neighbors."

It was announced that the Neighborhood Council will not meet in July.

Charlestown Resident Receives Award For Historic Preservation

Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly, chairman of the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC), recently presented Charlestown resident Paul F. McDonough Jr. with the "Secretary's Award for Distinguished Service" for his dedication to historic preservation in the Commonwealth. The award was presented at the Third Annual Massachusetts Preservation Conference in New Bedford, which examined the future of preservation in Massachusetts and recognized the 25th anniversary of both the MHC and the enabling legislation that created local historical commissions.

In recognizing McDonough, Connolly said, "The Massachusetts Historical Commission is one of the few government agencies that has groups appointed at the local level operating in every town in the state. Much of our success over the past 25 years is the result of hard work done by volunteers at the local level and by professionals who have set new standards for the field. I am proud to honor Paul for his long standing dedication to historic preservation. Everyone in the entire state benefits from his efforts, and the efforts of the preservation community."

McDonough's involvement in public service dates back to the early 1960s, when he worked for the Boston Redevelopment Authority in the planning department and on the urban renewal staff. Currently a partner and chairman of the real estate department of the Boston law firm of Goodwin, Procter and Hoar, McDonough has, since 1976, been responsible for over 100 historic rehabilitations projects throughout the country.

His long and distinguished record of pro bono contributions to the advancement of the preservation ethic includes service as special counsel to the Secretary of State for preservation, legislative and regulatory matters. He has also served as special counsel to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the city of Boston's corporation counsel and many other historic planning councils.

He now serves as president of the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities, president of Historic Boston, Inc., director of Preservation Action, executive committee member of the National Center for Preservation Action, executive committee member of the National Center for the Preservation Law and as a trustee of the Trustees of Reservations.

Bunker Hillbillies Complete An Active Year Of Performances

by Steve Coyne

The Bunker Hillbillies are winding up their show season this month with a number of appearances locally. If you missed the show at the YMCA Cornerstone Opening, then you might be able to catch an outdoor show for the public on Saturday, June 18 at 11 a.m. at the Newworld Bank in Thompson Square. This will be the final show before the kids' summer break. Also, the group will be performing for Charlestown's Senior Citizens at Building 149 in the Navy Yard at 7 p.m. on Monday, June 13th.

The group has had a very interesting year, performing in a number of locations in the Boston area. Performing in downtown Boston, the group raised donations for the United Way at the Corporate Headquarters of the Bank of Boston, New England Life, and Blue Cross/Blue Shield. The band has brought their music to a number of nursing homes in Stoneham, Cambridge and Malden.

The Church of Jesus Christ has taken a particular interest in the group and has pegged the Boys and Girls Clubs as their charitable cause. The kids were received most enthusiastically at a performance for the Church in Cambridge and have been requested to perform again at a country square dance fundraiser on June 11.

Saint Therese's Ladies Sodality in Everett enjoyed the performance for them recently so much that they already want to book the children again for next year.

Charlestown shows included the Thompson Square show for the Christmas Walk, the anniversary celebration at the Bunker Hill Health Center, and the YMCA Cornerstone Opening in the Navy Yard. The celebration for the opening of the cornerstone was particularly exciting for the group because they felt a sense of pride in being a part of the history of Charlestown. Additionally, it was a great honor for the kids to have their efforts recognized by being given a plaque by the YMCA for the special services they had provided.

As you can see, the group has been seen by hundreds of people and the band has admirably represented Charlestown and the Clubhouse at each event.

Since the new group began performing in March of 1987, their appearances have been directly responsible for approximately $1,000 in donations made in their name to the Charlestown Clubhouse.

This does not count the extra donations made indirectly through United Way and other sources which their performances would bring.

Charlestown can be very proud of those youngsters because they have regained the name of the "Goodwill Ambassadors" of Charlestown and the Boys and Girls Club.

Unlike the Hillbillies of the past, the public should be aware that the new group has been started and supported by volunteers. Barry

Baker has been invaluable to me as a very able assistant from the first day I began the group. The parents have been super in their support, making sure the kids meet their schedules, buying uniforms, driving when necessary and helping keep the kids in line at shows. The Charlestown Patriot should also be commended for their generous coverage of the group's activities.

The reason I mention the volunteer aspect of the program is the fact that if you have a particular talent or skill, or like to work with kids, put that desire to work for a few hours a week at the Club. The kids WILL respond, it is up to you to make a simple commitment. Children come to the Club to be involved in activities. New ideas make the Club a more interesting place to learn, whether it be a sport, games room activity or craft. If you have an idea which you would like to put into motion, contact the club's director, Jerry Steimel at 242-1775.

Roger Clemens To Receive Charlestown Clubhouse Award

On June 23, the Charlestown Clubhouse of Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston will present the 1988 Community Service Award to Red Sox player Roger Clemens. This award is given to Red Sox professionals in recognition and appreciation of their significant contributions made off the field. The awards dinner is sponsored by The Flatley Company and Creative Gourmet, and will be held at The Schrafft Center in Charlestown.

The Boston Red Sox organization is an important part of the Boston community. Beyond their professional endeavors, many members of the Red Sox also participate in less visible activities which benefit the community. By devoting their time, interest and financial support they are able to share their experiences with many of Boston's youth.

For the past four years the Red Sox have enabled hundreds of youth from the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston to attend Red Sox games at Fenway Park.

Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston is a non-profit agency serving the educational, recreational, psychological, career, cultural and social needs of 5,000 inner-city youth.

The dinner will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Proceeds from the dinner will benefit the activities and programs of the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club.

For ticket information, call Chuck Reilly of The Flatley Company at 848-2000 or Rob Ferris of Ferris Co., Inc. at 523-3090.

Tom Chapin To Appear On "Teen Beat"

Tom Chapin will join "Teen Beat" co-hosts Billy Marsden of Charlestown and Tyler Bradford to discuss his current projects. Chapin, host of the National Geographic "Explorer" series on the Turner Broadcasting System, has also recently finished a children's album. The 30-minute teen program will be cablecast on Cablevision Channel 23 in Boston on Wednesday, June 15 at 8:30 p.m. and will include a performance by Chapin.

"Teen Beat," a series developed by, for and about young people, provides a live forum for discussion on different issues of interest to teens. The topics are chosen by a teenage panel. Targeted to teens, pre-teens, parents and educators, "Teen Beat" is produced by Cablevision's Educational Producer Lisa McNulty. "Teen Beat" was recently honored with an ACE Award.

Mayor Versus Hot Shots, June 15th At The Charlestown High Gym

The Mayor Flynn Celebrity Team is gearing up for what looks like a very tough game with the famous Hollywood Hot Shots. The Flynn All-Stars will be led by the outside shooting of former Providence College All-American and Philadelphia 76er, Mayor Raymond L. Flynn. Coach of the Flynn Five, Brian Wallace stated, "It's no secret that we go to the Mayor when we need some quick offense. After all, he was the Most Valuable Player in the National Invitational Tourney at Madison Square Garden. When he starts hitting those patented long-range jump shots, he's almost unstoppable. The Mayor, however, is by far not our only means of offense. We have put together a pretty explosive team to counteract the Hot Shots' great players."

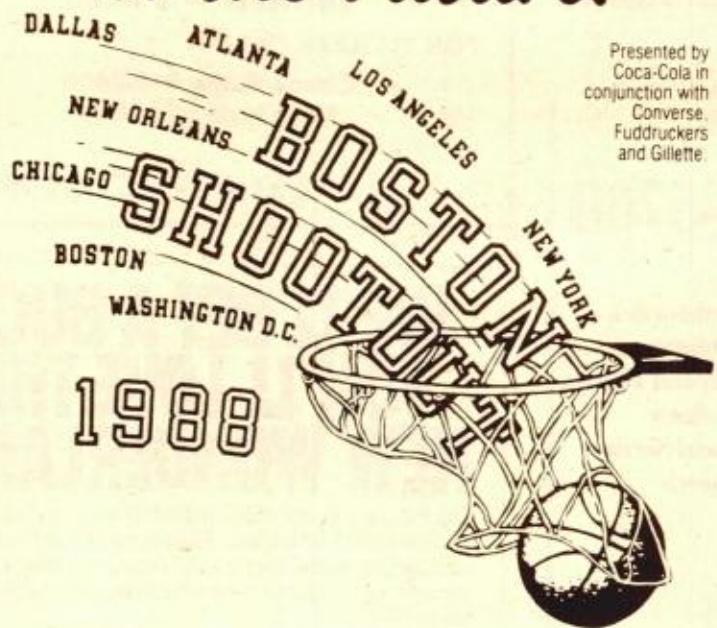

Wallace went on, "We will put a number of pretty fair players on the floor, including Boston University Captain Jeff Timberlake, who played so brilliantly against Duke in this year's NCAA Tournament. We've also added Lisa Dennis, the Number 1 Women's Player in Division 3 at Emmanuel, and from U. Mass., guard Harry Wilson, and centers Paul Dooley and Terry Kennedy. Lloyd Mumford, the Number 1 High School player in the Northeast, will also suit up along with Charlestown's Bob Smith, Kevin O'Halloran and Leo Boucher. From City Hall

we'll have last year's MVP Joe Delgado, Charlie Rose and a few surprises."

The game is set for June 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Charlestown High School Gym, 255 Medford Street. Tickets are $5. All proceeds will go directly to the Bob McGrath Scholarship Fund. We hope you'll come out to see these great players as well as helping a great cause.

Affordable Housing Units In Navy Yard Target Of Rumors

(continued from page one) that he had heard the rumors and had spoken to one of the lottery winners who was more than concerned that he would no longer be able to afford the unit he and his family had been planning on moving into. Cunha also stated that another party had given his landlord notice of his move into the new housing, and now was fearful that he would have no place to live if he could not afford the home he had "won."

Telephone calls were received at the Charlestown Patriot office the morning after the meeting seeking information to verify the authenticity of these stories. Concerned lottery winners expressed their eagerness to find out the truth. Many had already heard these stories, but treated them as merely rumor until they had heard Cunha's remarks at the meeting.

Concern was then replaced with panic in the case of one lottery winner who had been served an eviction notice to make room for the landlord's son, who had also won a unit. This man, now afraid he wouldn't be able to purchase his three bedroom unit, had already given notice that he would be out of his present apartment by the end of September.

A call was made to Tom McIntyre, president of the Bricklayers and Masons Non-Profit Housing Corporation, Inc. to determine what was truth and what was rumor. According to McIntyre, "100 percent of the lottery winners will be moving into the units once they are ready for occupancy. There has been no price increase — the price did not go up." He stated that he has not called all the future owners together as of yet because there is nothing that can be done until the units are ready. "What would we say to each other, 'Hi, how are ya' and send them home?" he stated. McIntyre also said that he anticipates that by September or October he will meet with the lottery winners and at that time deposits will be placed on the units and papers will be passed.

According to Jim English, director of harbor planning and development for the Boston Redevelopment Authority, "There is no problem. Nothing has happened since the lottery to confirm these rumors." English also stated that "assuming all was accurate with the applications at the time of the lottery, they [the lottery winners] should be allowed to move in when the housing units are completed."

McIntyre also reported that "everything is proceeding" but stated that if anyone had any questions or concerns to call him at 426-4508 and "I will be happy to talk with them."

Harry And The Kids

Shawn's plans for the future? "I'm gonna sail around the world — just me and him," he chomps a lollipop stick and points to Billy, " . . . and our girlfriends."

Harry's yelling keeps him off the invitation list admit the boys, but that doesn't mean anything to real men of the sea. To Shawn, Harry's like the grandfather he never had around. To Billy, he's "like a friend — a best friend."

"Harry says we know Courageous better than him," says Shawn while Billy nods in agreement. "And I have to say Harry's the best sailor in Boston Harbor." This sounds like just another fish story between sea-going comrades.

"No. We can see," Billy says. "We can stand on the dock and see the boats out there in the harbor, look at their sails, how they're moving and tell who knows what they're doing."

Flynn can keep his dollar. Harry McDonough's not working for nothing.

"It's the teaching," Harry says. "I just want to spend the rest of my life teaching children."

Not For Nothin' . . . But Have You Heard . . .

• Two Businesses Being Good Neighbors . . . The Charlestown Boys and Girls Club will benefit from promotions sponsored by two merchants in the Bunker Hill Mall. Fantastic Sam's has made a commitment to the Club to raise the funds necessary to repair or replace the lockers in the swimming pool area. Throughout the summer, or until the necessary funds are raised, whenever a customer mentions the Boys and Girls Club when they get a hair cut, perm, etc., $1 will go to the Club. Kentucky Fried Chicken will donate 10 percent of their sales on Saturday, June 18th to the Club. So, plan to purchase chicken with all the "fixins" on the 18th and at the same time support the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club.

• Appearing On Pier One . . . will be the Bluenose II, a schooner from Nova Scotia, that will arrive on Wednesday, June 15 and remain in port until Sunday, June 19. For visiting information, call 242-5601.

• Celebrate 88 . . . now that the tickets have been sold out for the upcoming June 17th cruise on Boston Harbor, Saint Mary's Parish has announced that tickets are available for their October 14th Dinner Dance at Caruso's Diplomat. Tickets are $30 per person and can be obtained by calling the Rectory between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday at 242-4664. Don't be left out — call now!

• Saint Anthony's Festival . . . will take place this weekend in the North End on Hanover and Prince Streets. The Festival will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, June 10, and continues through 11 p.m. On Saturday, June 11, it will open 3 to 11 p.m., with a spaghetti supper from 5 to 9 p.m. and on Sunday, the last day, times are from 3 to 11 p.m. For more information call 523-2110.

• Oh, Oh! . . . Reports of a skunk — four legged that is — in the area of Warren, Cordis and Pleasant Streets have been confirmed! Workers trying to enter a local business early one morning found it sitting on the doorstep. These wise men backed up and decided to get a cup of coffee and return later. Hope all our neighbors will be as wise if faced with this intruder.

• Healthy Heart Day A Great Success . . . Over 400 took advantage of the services offered at the Bunker Hill Mall a few weeks ago. Sponsored by the MGH-Bunker Hill Health Center and the Charlestown Lions Club, many who took the blood test found they had high cholesterol levels and some who visited the eyemobile discovered they had eye problems. Great service — all looking forward to an even better event next year. The winner of the autographed Red Sox baseball was Jacqueline Robinson of Charlestown.

• Congrats . . . to Claire Cullity who was the first to answer our question last week on the whereabouts of Simpson's Court. It's a private way from 101 Pearl Street. Claire knew because she lived there some years ago. This week's question — Where is MILL STREET? See you here next week.

• Remember When . . . ladies were treated like ladies. When a gentleman would open the door, tip his hat and be just plain respectful? When women were demanding their equal rights, is this what they had in mind? I hope not . . . go one step further, what happened to decency when a man sees a woman having difficulty handling heavy bundles, checking out at the supermarket or crossing the street with a reluctant child? It appears that most of the young men in this area have been raised in the "ME" generation or perhaps they never had a mother! Ladies take note . . . if you wanted equal rights, when you see a man having similar difficulties, help him out — it might rub off!

• It Should Have Been Mentioned Before and More Often . . . but here it is . . . Charlestown is one lucky place to have such a LADY as Judy Evers representing them and helping them out at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services. One resident has stated how nice it is to enter her office and see her always neatly dressed and smiling. "Not only is she the prettiest one in that office, she's the nicest — and she's one of us!" he stated.

• High Lead Levels . . . that have been found in some of Boston's public schools are a worry to some parents. The Boston School Department has suggested that concerned parents contact their child's Pediatrician, regardless of the age of the child. They note that testing should be handled through the regular appointment system of the health care provider. Boston School Committee Member Robert M. Cappucci, in response to many inquiries, advises that the School Department will not pay for the testing. Further information may be obtained by contacting the Pediatric Unit of Bunker Hill Health Center at 242-5730.

• Big Week Coming Up . . . Check for all the activities and don't miss a one. Thing to do this weekend — find that flag and hang it proudly because Tuesday, June 14th is

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the Editor must be signed and include name, address and telephone number for verification. The name will be withheld if the writer so requests. Anonymous letters will NOT be published.

We Welcome Such A Development

To the Editor:

At the outset, I would like to commend Linda Lacey, a proponent of congregate housing, and Jeff Kielson from the Department of Mental Retardation, for their endless efforts to provide housing for handicapped and mentally retarded citizens. These efforts are a much needed service for our handicapped and mentally retarded citizens in this community.

Why the abutters of Parcel R-87 are in fear of helpless individuals, which they are, baffles me, when we all know what the REAL dangers in this town are.

A statement made at last Tuesday's meeting and attributed to Ann Considine was "why should we always get the garbage." Ann, if this statement was correct, I hope you didn't mean our handicapped and mentally retarded as I, and many of our "Townies," are parents of such children and welcome such a development.

Mrs. Jane Duncan

Like An Answer To Our Prayers

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern regarding the proposed housing on Parcel R-87 for the handicapped, and mentally and physically disabled clients.

As the parents of a child who is handicapped (Cerebral Palsy), the idea of housing for him in the future, in his own town, where he is known, has family and friends, is like an answer to all our prayers.

These clients are not to be feared by abutters. They may be different, but they are not dangerous. With proper staff, there will be no problems. As far as having "them" near the Kent School, it could be beneficial for the "normal" kids to know that not everyone is perfect. They could learn from them.

It has come to our attention that a comment was made by Ann Considine that Charlestown gets all the garbage. We hope that statement was an error. We in Charlestown do have handicapped kids, but they are not the "garbage" of our town.

We also understand that she suggested putting such housing under the bridge. As far as housing under the bridge, we ask Ann if she would like to live under the bridge. How safe is that area if no one has built there all these years?

As to the Navy Yard, which we understand was also a suggestion for the housing, we ask whether we have to hide them again.

Believe me, every parent has to fight for all the services they receive and we don't think the mentally and physically disabled deserve to be put back in closets so people will forget they exist.

Bob and Gail O'Neill

Our Thanks

We would like to thank all who paid their respects to Joseph Teixeira (Joe Tex). We tried to thank all who remembered him with enrollments and donations, unfortunately we did not have addresses for all. If you were missed, we take this opportunity to now say, "Our Thanks." Joe had many friends, and he will be missed by many.

Loved Little Dog Just Like People Love Their Children

To the Editor,

My dog was killed on May 31, 1988 at 6:20 in the evening in front of 95 Medford Street. It was an accident that should not have happened. People were in front of Michael's Pizza and on the stairs of the project and did nothing to get the dog from the street.

People should be more aware of feelings towards animals than they are as animals are very special to some people. As for myself, I loved my little dog just like people love their children.

I want it to be known that I am very upset about the incident and the non-caring people have towards animals.

Veronica McIsaac

Open Letter To Charlestown Community

I am currently a member of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and have been since its inception in 1985.

My letter is in regard to letters appearing in last week's issue of the Patriot. I feel the letters in question were not a true representation of the concerns raised by council members, residents and abutters with regard to Parcel R-87 at Tremont and Prospect Streets.

It is definitely wrong for anyone to infer that those opposed to the proposal, which was presented by the Boston Housing Authority (BHA) for 689 housing, are opposed to having mentally retarded people reside in the area. I am stating emphatically, this is not the issue.

The main issues that have been raised regarding the BHA's proposal are:

- 1) Residents do not want a proposal for housing which includes the BHA as they currently have properties which could be utilized for this proposal.
- 2) Under this proposal for eight units of housing, it is unlikely that any Charlestown residents will reside in these units.
- 3) Abutters have stated they believed this designated area would be affordable housing for Charlestown families with handicapped members, which they could own. (Handicapped is inclusive of mentally or physically handicapped.)

My own idea of a solution has been for the BHA to build on some of their property and build affordable units for Charlestown residents with handicapped members so that we can take care of some of "OUR OWN" also. Recalling past development issues which the Neighborhood Council has had before them paints a better picture:

- 1) Council members and residents were opposed to a particular developer for Parcel C2-A at Baldwin and Main Streets because included in the proposal were two units of handicapped housing which would be owned by the BHA. (Reason for opposition: Did not want anything which would include the BHA.)
- 2) Council members and residents were opposed to the one-third of the total units of Parcel P-2A at Main and Bunker Hill Streets being included as low income affordable housing. (Reason for opposition: BHA would likely be the purchaser of the units.) The final recommendation of the Neighborhood Council to the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) was to exclude low income affordable units.

Many say they are advocates of affordable housing for our young families hoping to stay in Charlestown. I believe our handicapped families are entitled to this same opportunity.

Betty Golden

Let Your Feelings Be Known

Dear Beleagured Car Owner:

Fourteen units (easily 20 cars or more) with underground parking are proposed for Thompson Square behind the liquor store. New tenants of the building would have two options: 1) to park in the garage; or 2) to park on the street. Cars entering or exiting the garage must use an elevator thereby slowing access.

You who live here in Charlestown then would also have two options: 1) try to park in the street; or 2) park in Somerville.

Your interest in this matter is a must. Call your City Councillor, Robert Travaglini, at 725-3200, or Judy Evers at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services at 725-3485 and let your feelings be known.

John P. Doherty
