

2016, a final thank you.

Thank you for supporting Tomoko and myself over the years. 2001 - 2013 as a U.S. Marine in Japan, serving and working for U.S. servicemembers and their families with Marine Corps Community Services, and selflessly giving myself to the idea, that for my time there, I wanted to create something beautiful.

For many years, Tomoko and I sacrificed much of our lives going out and capturing Okinawa for books, magazines, prints, clients, websites, post cards and other things for everyone around us, so that they could see an Okinawa and have a sense of the beauty that surrounded them. It was a privilege to have spent my adult life in Okinawa showing Tomoko's home to the world, and making that journey with her. Interestingly, I do not have even one print of Okinawa, no data, just the memories and a Facebook page that shows footprints of the journey. And, how beautiful those prints were -- Kodak Endura 4"x6" 20"x30" landscapes printed with very vivid color, careful editing, research on location accuracy and information included with every print, carefully visually inspected by me and information by Tomoko, every single print went through my eyes. Those prints were never sold to make money, in fact I lost money in ordering them and making them available, but they will last 150-200 years depending on your lighting conditions, and retain the original color accuracy. For those of you who were my clients during those years, you truly have the only copies that will ever exist.

I hope the warm love Okinawa stared at me with, every sunrise, every sunset, every long day standing in the rain, every smile, and every tear -- and I hope they bless the walls of your home, the walls of your hearts, for eternity.

John
