Neighborhood Council Votes Approval For Increase In Navy Yard Luxury Housing

by Mary Ziniti

"In a perfect world, everyone's concerns would be taken care of at the outset of any project . . . but it's not a perfect world. It may not be the best deal the community could get, but is it something for the community," said John Tobin, president of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council.

at a special meeting on June 23, prior to a roll call vote concerning proposed construction in the Navy Yard.

The Council met so that residents could discuss the Immobiliare of New England's proposal to increase the number of luxury condominium units to be built on Pier 5 and in Building 197 from the previously Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) approved total of 220 units to a total of 322 units.

Tom Cunha reported to the approximately 100 people in attendance that some Council members felt that there had not been enough discussion or public input (continued on page 3) on this proposal at the June 17th meeting of the Housing and Development Committee and that the Council was opening up the discussion because of concern by the BRA about the public process.

Jim English of the BRA said this project proposed by Immobiliare included the 322 condo units, parking spaces and retail spaces.

According to the BRA, the $35 million structure on Pier 5 will create 175 permanent jobs and 529 construction jobs. The proposed 110 residential units will total 195,000 square feet and 118 parking spaces will be provided.

John Weigel, vice-president of The Architects Collaborative, Inc. and the architect for Immobiliare said that the Pier 5 building would stand 84 feet high and be broken into two separate parts, one measuring 100 feet and the other 400 feet long. A 20 foot public promenade area would surround the Pier and a 50 foot set-back at the end of the Pier would serve as an open space public plaza.

The BRA said Building 197, which already stands in the Yard, should cost $61 million for development, and create 200 permanent and 1,127 construction jobs. There would be 212 residential units with 460 parking spaces provided in a total of eight garage levels. Weigel said that three levels would be above ground in the building and five levels would be underground at the front of the building.

Presently, Building 197 stands 93 feet tall and the BRA wants a 110 foot restriction. Weigel said that Immobiliare is negotiating "the implications of the height restrictions." The Immobiliare proposal called for building mechanics to be placed on the top of Building 197 and called for a height of 123 feet. A question exists as to whether the mechanics are included in the 110 foot restriction or are in addition to it, said Weigel.

Tied into the request for approval of the proposed additional 102 condominium units is a contribution to the Bricklayers and Laborers Non-Profit affordable housing development slated to be constructed on Parcel 4A located on Thirteenth Street in the Navy Yard.

English stated that the BRA, Immobiliare and the Bricklayers Non-Profit have negotiated the terms for land and a construction financing contribution. He said that the figure of $1 million for a land contribution for the affordable housing was a "guestimate" of what would have been realized for a development at fair market value on the

P-4A parcel, but the land has been donated at no cost by Immobiliare. The Bricklayers Non-Profit will construct the 48 units and also receive an $866,000 Immobiliare contribution for construction financing.

English said that the $866,000 represented the difference between the amount needed to construct the units less the moderate sale price.

A lottery will distribute the affordable housing. English said of 1,700 applications that were "picked-up," more than 720 were filed. Seventy percent of the units will go to Charlestown residents, while 30 percent will go to other Bostonians.

Although Weigel was at the June 23 meeting, a presentation on the proposed development was not made. However, Weigel did present the proposal at a June 17 Committee meeting with approximately ten residents in attendance.

The Committee voted 6 to 4 to recommend approval to increase the number of residential units, to keep the design of the structure open to discussion and have the BRA meet with the Council and the Committee to keep track of the number of Charlestown jobs.

Some controversy developed because the issue was addressed by the Committee the night before Immobiliare was slated to go to the BRA Board on June 18.

THE FINAL CLEAN UP

Most purchase agreements have boiler-plate language stating that a home must be, among other things, free of trash and debris at settlement and "broom clean." While this language is not precise, the general idea is that you ought to convey a clean house to your buyers, leaving your old home like you hope you'll find your new one.

When the movers leave with your furniture, you'll be faced with several years' build up of dust balls and lots of other dirt and grime you didn't realize you had. You'll probably be exhausted, and you may not be in the mood for a major scrub down of your bathrooms and old appliances. Even if it means hiring a clean-up professional, it is crucial to leave your house as clean as possible for the new owners. This includes getting rid of any leftover junk in your storage spaces. When they show up for their final walk-through, your buyers will feel much better about finalizing the sale if everything sparkles. This will set up a positive mood for completing the transaction and help to minimize settlement table disputes.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates are ready to serve you. Call us at 242-7470 or drop by our offices at 142 Main Street in Charlestown.

USS Aylwin Visiting Charlestown

The general public will be able to visit the United States Navy fast frigate, named after the 1812 USS Constitution sailing master, as it makes a port call at the Charlestown Navy Yard, now through June 26. USS Aylwin (FF-1081) is named after John Cushing Aylwin, the famed sailing master of the USS Constitution. "Old Ironsides'" historic victory over the HMS Guerriere during the War of 1812 is credited to John Aylwin's superior ship handling skills. He died during the USS Constitution's battle with the HMS Java on December 29, 1812.

Aylwin, the fourth United States Navy Ship named for the lieutenant of Canadian descent, will be open for public visiting from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. on Thursday, June 25 and Friday, June 26 at Pier One, Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston National Historical Park.

Commander Edward Schweir, Commanding Officer of the USS Aylwin, heads the crew of 290 officers and enlisted men.

The Aylwin is currently hosting a four week mid-shipmen training cruise, showing the ropes to future Navy officers from various universities around the United States and the United States Naval Academy.

During its most recent deployment to the Mediterranean in 1986, Aylwin participated in the Freedom of Navigation Operations in the vicinity of Libya on March 24, 1986.

USS Aylwin, (FF-1081), is a Knox Class Frigate. Designed for escort duty, the Aylwin is equipped with one five-inch/54 caliber gun, four torpedo tubes, a CIWS (Close In Weapons System) and is capable of carrying anti-submarine rockets and two different kinds of missiles.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

A spruced up Gate 5 entrance is most appealing. The saging gates have been removed, allowing for a smoother traffic flow. An added bonus is the partially resurfaced Thirteenth Street. All road warriors were pleased with the Bunker Hill Day Road Race. Many a satisfied host of participants were delighted with the overall improved street conditions.

Wonder how many racers bulked up on pasta at Mama Maria's before the Road Race. As the prize revenue increases, this quality road race will justify expansion of pre-race activity.

Number seven on the naval scorecard was docked on Pier 1 over the gala holiday weekend. Ideal weather allowed the Oliver Hazard Perry to discharge its duties flawlessly. Its crew took in a number of local events and enjoyed the area immensely. Over on the Shipway front slips, the civilian 007 offered a contrasting style. To be at sea, or not to be, the naval personnel, I am sure, opt for the comfort creatures of the 007.

With the return of the luxurious steel hulled Alama at the Shipways Marina, Arthur Crotty was observed enjoying the scenery. A career waterfront man, it was also possible he was admiring the additional arrival of the twelve meter yacht, Courageous. Gracing Pier 4, this impressive conqueror of two America's Cups will generate substantial interest. With years of sailing expertise coordination, Southie's own Harry McDonough will share his knowledge with the Boston youths beginning on June 29. Circle the calendar for the beginning of a unique and perpetuating era for the children. Many thanks to Leonard Greene for his gift. As a small tribute, the possibility of renaming the Harbor, Greene Harbor, would be fitting. It should not confuse the residents of Marshfield while navigating. His Honor took a cruise aboard the Courageous without his topsiders. Sporting his favorite sneakers, no doubt, he shot a few baskets in front of the Marine Barracks. Hopefully for his future yachting endeavors, Jim Carroll will purchase a pair of Sprey Topsiders for the Mayor. How about it, Jim?

Two stalwart men have surfaced to the top in the filling of Massachusetts Water Resources Director, Michael Gritzuk's position. With an Arkansas background, Massachusetts Public Utilities Chairman Paul F. Levy and Harvard groomed Revenue Commissioner, Ira A. Jackson are the crystal clear finalists for this critical job. A razorback against a Crimson man — certainly an interesting decision to be made by the eleven member board. If Commissioner Jackson lands the directorship, he can keep an eye on the delinquent revenue issue with boat owners. He increased the state surplus with his Revenue Enhancement Program over the past few years, dealing with excise and sales taxes on marine vessels.

As the Rosev truck prepared to vacate Pier 11, the staffs of the Colonial Explorer and the Charleston loaded the supplies. The Charleston, from Dover, Delaware, is under the American Cruise Line. These and other cruise ships will be departing from Pier 11 this year, a prudent decision by Ted Raymond and his organization. With ample space surrounding the area, an efficient and more effective traffic pattern will follow. No longer will the congestion be causing dilemmas on Thirteenth Street as in the past.

A fun-filled schedule of events is planned for Boston Harborfest 1987 from July 1 through July 5. With opening ceremonies on July 1 at 12:00 noon at Fanueil Hall Marketplace, to the July 4 turnaround of the USS Constitution and Fireworks; there is something for everyone. Brochures are located at the Shipyard Quarters Marina; for additional details, call 227-1528.

The nattily attired couple strolling the Yard last week were not tourists, but "Townies" Don and Lillian Irgens. A clear and pleasant day for their walk, I hope Don shouted for a snack at Blossoms.

USS Constitution Museum Living History Program

The USS Constitution Museum brings the year 1812 to life through the new Living History program.

Playing characters ranging from a Commodore to a widow tavern proprietor, eight "living historians," daily roam the Charlestown Navy Yard in full authentic costume, entertaining tourists and museum visitors with conversation, sea chanteys, and folk dancing while remaining in character. Wednesday through Sunday at 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., the Living Historians re-enact an 1812 Charlestown town meeting on an outdoor stage in front of the Museum. On rainy days, the historians entertain indoors with storytelling.

Those waiting to tour "Old Ironsides" or the museum are not only welcome, but encouraged to talk with these 19th century New England port residents. Their knowledge and wit about life on New England waterfronts, in particular the Charlestown Navy Yard, adds animation, color, and a sense of the time to an educational trip to the USS Constitution Museum.

No public notice was given that the Navy Yard proposal would appear on the Committee's June 17 agenda.

The BRA Board tabled

the presentation and the vote until the community could discuss the situation. The presentation before the BRA Board has been rescheduled for June 25.

At the June 23 meeting, residents who spoke before the Council's discussion expressed opposition, but the majority supported the proposal even though they had not seen the plans for the development. Issues raised by residents included traffic, jobs, housing for young families, community control on future projects.

Resident Ellen D'Ambrosio questioned English as to what would happen if the requests for this development were refused. She added, "Would all our hopes and dreams [for affordable] housing get flushed down the drain?"

English stated that the BRA desires that the affordable housing project continue. He said that the Bricklayers "need an infusion of money and the land for nothing . . . if those numbers [sought by Immobiliare] are not agreed upon, then we would have to begin the negotiation process anew."

Board member Kathryn Downing questioned English as to whether any of the 322 units were affordable, to which English replied "No."

She noted that at the going sales prices of condominiums in the Navy Yard, just the sale of four units at $500,000 each would subsidize the developer's contribution to the community.

Charlestown resident Bob Wallace said, "I would like to see the community stay on top of it and demand more, not only of the people down the Navy Yard, but also from the BRA. At least Immobiliare is giving us something back when no one else has done that."

Various union personnel spoke in favor of the proposed expansion. Tom Harrington and David Dow, carpenters; John Fitzgerald, electrician; Joe Nigro, Boston Building Trades; and Peter Looney, metal worker, all echoed the sentiment that the development would create jobs.

Resident Gloria Conway said she feared the precedent this development was setting for the future. She said that the community is supportive of affordable housing but "I hope this is not a precedent for other developers by attaching affordable housing to 322 units that a 'Townie' can't afford. Is there going to be an attachment to every vote that comes along . . . because affordable housing is probably the prime interest of . . . this community? I'm very sad that this is so closely attached and we are not able to look at the number of units and the questions that it [this development] raises in and of itself."

Elaine McCarthy expressed her concern about the increase in traffic that this project would generate. Cunha countered, "Anything that comes before this board always reverts back to traffic . . . if we don't supply housing, no one will care about traffic because they won't be living here to care."

Several Navy Yard residents, while supportive of affordable housing, expressed concern over the change in plans. One resident noted that "Immobiliare is taking advantage of the situation . . . they are just steam rolling along."

Council member Steve McHugh prefaced his remarks by stating, "I am in favor of affordable housing — there should be a great deal in the Navy Yard and the sooner the better."

McHugh reminded the Council that when they met in closed session with the BRA, they were given binders with descriptions of the Navy Yard parcels. In the description of Building 197, there was a notation for 210 units, including 40 affordable. He said, "Now we are talking about 322 units and what seems to be is that 40 units of affordable housing have been dropped out of this development."

McHugh noted that the community has heard about the Bricklayer's proposal for almost a year and any "economic distress on this parcel" was not widely known. He questioned as to whether the $2 million set aside by Immobiliare for affordable housing was "too small an amount of money" especially in light of the fact that 40 units of affordable housing are being dropped. He said, "Is making up the difference on the Bricklayers housing enough? There may be good reason that we are having a short time to discuss this and few facts."

Speaking in support of the proposal, Dennis McLaughlin said, "We are talking about places for people to live. We're not talking about the dream house, they're talking about any house [for people] to call their own. When Gloria talked about people attaching this to that, if that's the way the money is raised then that's the way the money is raised."

Kathryn Downing spoke of the long-term affects this development could have on the whole of Charlestown by relating it to the development that changed the North End. She said, "When the North End waterfront was empty, the way the Navy Yard has been for years and years, that was handed over to developers who built a lot less in the North End then they're asking to be built here. Those condos on the piers in the North End have changed not just the waterfront, but also the North End."

Council member Moe Gillen, while supportive of the proposed expansion, noted, "Rather than let the BRA off the hook tonight, there should be a clear understanding by the BRA and developers that we are not going to be the carrot and donkey for their developments . . . Let us say yes, we support this, but we hold them to commitments made."

The Council voted 16 to 2 to accept the recommendation to approve the increase in the total number of units for this development from 220 to 322. The two dissenting votes were cast by Kathryn Downing and Steve McHugh.

The second portion of the Council's meeting consisted of reports given by Committee chairmen.

Moe Gillen, chair of the Human Services Committee reported on the linkage money distributed among organizations in the Town. He said the linkage money should amount to approximately $345,000 and the committee seeks input into its distribution.

According to Chairman Tom Cunha, the Housing and Development Committee will meet next Monday, June 29 to continue discussion with the BRA on the Navy Yard development. The committee will also schedule a meeting within the next few weeks to discuss a Massport proposal to stock pile salt for one year at the former site of the Revere Sugar Refinery.

The Proposed Land Use and Planning Committee was established as per a suggestion by BRA Director Stephen Coyle. Dennis McLaughlin will resign as chairman of the Public Safety Committee to accept this new chairmanship.

Gillen said that this Land Use Committee will oversee future zoning in Charlestown on both sides of the wall. Input will be requested from residents who have been involved with zoning issues.

The interactive narrative that she produced, entitled "A Different Train of Thought," has been shown in Boston's "LaserActive" gallery and Montreal's "Convergence" forum. Plans are currently underway for a tour in the South-eastern United States and a presentation at the Nebraska Videodisc Symposium. Through the use of computer-accessed videodisc, viewers of this movie can see the changing thoughts of passengers on an all-night train in Eastern Europe.

Strohecker has taught at the Maryland Institute, Col-

• A Bit of History Revived . . . David Mullin, master of the Glad Tidings brigantine in the Charlestown Navy Yard, relates that the topmast of the Spirit of Massachusetts broke recently during a spell of bad weather. The Historic Seaport expressed concern that large pieces of spruce or fir were difficult to obtain and that the replacement mast might have to be aluminum. Not to worry . . . the problem has been solved. Mullin spotted what he referred to as an appropriate sized "stick" in the Navy Yard and went about to coordinate obtaining it for the Spirit's new mast. It seems as though the "stick" was an old spar from USS Constitution, removed during one of her refurbishings, and through the cooperation of Commander Joseph Brown, USN, Commanding Officer of USS Constitution and Dick Wheeler, Director of the USS Constitution Museum, the old spar is now in the shop and will be fitted onto the Spirit within the week. Thus a bit of history will sail with the Spirit on her goodwill voyages.

Main Street Reconstruction Update

by Kathy Giordano

Excavation work has begun on Main Street between Pleasant Street and City Square and it is expected that it will be finished by the July 4th weekend, with the pavement laid on that stretch of the roadway. Water-work is 99% completed and the drainage work on Warren Street should be finished by the end of next week.

The Edison Company installed a "vault" (an enormous electrical box) last week in Thompson Square. We were told that this was placed in anticipation of future power needs in that area.

All "neck-downs" have been eliminated and the curbing has been placed awaiting the laying of the brickwork along Main Street. Also, the contractor will close up the radius of the side streets from Baldwin Street to Thompson Square and pour concrete to finish it off.

Board Of Appeal Denies 127 Main Street Development

by Mary Ziniti

The City of Boston Board of Appeal has told Dick Held to go back to the old drawing board for the proposed development of his vacant lot at 127 Main Street and "redesign the whole project."

Dick Held, who owns the Charlestown Liquor Store at Thompson Square and the adjacent vacant lot, planned to construct 21 condominium units, two retail stores and parking spaces for each residential unit. The proposed four-story, 44 foot structure would extend between Main and Warren Streets. The project was denied without prejudice at the request of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council's Housing and Development Committee which wanted to give the abutters time to meet with Held to voice their particular concerns.

Chia-Ming Sze, a member of the Board of Appeal, said four specific areas had to be addressed before any construction can begin.

The four points discussed at the June 23 Board of Appeal hearing were:

- the fire escapes are not adequate;
- the building is not safe in design;
- the garage layout does not work; and
- the density is cramped.

Held has up to one year to come back to the Board of Appeal with a new design.

Prior to the Board hearing, three meetings were held, including the Design Review Committee of the Charlestown Preservation Society on June 3, the Housing and Development Committee of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council on June 17 and one between Held and the abutters on June 22.

When Held and his attorney, Michael LoPresti, first presented plans to the Preservation Society Design Review Committee, a number of questions were raised regarding parking spaces, room for truck deliveries, the metal garage doors, the 12 foot 8 inch alley behind the liquor store, the exposed dumpster and the height of the building.

Changes proposed at the Housing and Development meeting included:

- covering the dumpster and placing a wrought-iron fence around it for "aesthetic" appearances with trash removal occurring one to three times a week;
- an average of 15 truck deliveries per week would be done by small trucks around a curb cut 12 feet wide, so with a wider cut drivers could make "smaller swings;"
- to prevent trash pile-up and loitering, the alleyway would be butted to the first floor level of the Main Street building located adjacent to the proposed building; and

- the centered, metal garage doors would, instead, be separated by a window and be wooden.

The parking spaces and the height remained unresolved issues. Abutters and community residents opposed a four-story building in the area.

The height measurement given at the Committee meeting was 42 feet, as opposed to a 44 foot figure presented at the Preservation meeting. Other Warren Street building sizes given by LoPresti included: 40 feet for the building next to the lot; 36 feet for the building across on Warren Street; 16 feet for the Liquor store; and 30 feet for the Gable House.

At the Committee meeting, Joe Cefalo said that "the highest building on Warren Street is 36 feet." He added that he has "no other opposition" to Held's proposal other than not wanting a building higher than 36 feet.

LoPresti said that the four-story height comes at the request of the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA). Jean Hamilton of the BRA was present at the Committee meeting and said that there was a June 12 meeting between Held and the BRA. She added that "the BRA did not mandate a four-story building" at that time — it is "still under review."

Housing and Development Committee Chair Tom Cunha said that if a two-car family moved into a unit, one member would have to search for a space along nearby streets because Held only offers one space per unit.

Resident Helen Burns asked LoPresti what consideration would be given for condominium guest parking so that neighborhood residents would not lose their spaces.

"To answer you honestly, we have no plans" (for guest parking) said LoPresti.

Abutters and neighbors in the Main and Warren Streets area held a meeting on June 22 with Held, his partner Paul Kelly and architect Dom Valente to address specific problems.

Approximately 20 people met for an hour before the developers arrived. Some of the problems discussed repeated those concerns expressed on June 17 including: sunlight loss, parking, the height of the structure, and the "dull" Warren Street side of the building.

The abutters were in full agreement with Fred Cefalo of 3 Cordis Street who said, "He (Held) does have a right to develop (the lot)."

"But, not at the expense of his neighbors," added Carol Bratley whose business is nearby.

LoPresti said that an earlier proposal presented at the June 17th Housing and Development Committee meeting to separate the garage doors on Warren Street "did not please people." Instead, the developer's "new concept" was to put the entrance on Warren Street and the exit on Main Street.

He also said that the distributors who deliver to Held's liquor store have "agreed to do so" with small trucks to enable easier deliveries and parking.

Valente presented a more detailed proposal saying that the Warren Street side of the building would have one garage door, one retail store opening, the elevator, and the ramp down to the lower level. The Main Street side would have the garage door to six spaces on the ground floor on the left side of the building, windows in the middle and the commercial space on the right side.

The question of a shadow study relating to sunlight loss after the construction of the proposed buildings was introduced by Fred Cefalo. Although, LoPresti said no study had been done, he had said at the Committee meeting that "no one will be deprived natural sunlight." He also distributed Polaroid pictures taken the week of June 7 to back his point.

At the meeting with the abutters, Valente said a study "could be done" and "would be done if required." He added that it is based on assumption and not an exact science.

"No one can say the sun will be here at 3 o'clock on January 1," said Valente.

The abutters said that they appreciated the changes and effort made by the Held group, but they were not ready to endorse the project.

The abutters requested a future meeting with Held so he may present a more detailed plan of his proposal.

Annual Bunker Hill Day Doll Carriage Parade

Glorious sunshine, combined with beautifully decorated carriages, made the Annual Doll Carriage Parade the great success that it was.

The committee wishes to thank Bud Whelan and the Bunker Hill Irish Heritage Society; Tommy White and Bunker Hill Council 62, Knights of Columbus; Tom Hart and Store 24; and last but not never least, Jim Conway and the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee for their generous donations to the Doll Carriage Parade. These donations enabled us to make sure that every child received a lovely gift.

Thanks to the 520 Club for their donation of ice cream for the children. Fellows, you are there every year for us, thanks again.

Thanks to Saint Mary's for the use of the Parish Hall, especially to Bob Hickey who arrived at my house early Sunday morning to transport all the gifts to the Hall for us.

Thanks to Rose Woods for the use of her refrigeration again this year.

A special thank you goes to the Committee who helped me: Diana Galvin, Ann Humphrey, Maureen McCabe, Barbara and Jill Kelly, Kay Johnson, Susan Meena and Dottie Duffy. Without these individuals, who gave so generously of their time, we would not have had such a great Doll Carriage Parade. Thanks girls, you're all great!

Highest Praise For The Bunker Hill Day Celebration

Dear Gloria,

Nothing but the highest praise should go out to all those individuals who contributed to the success of the many events which occurred this past week in connection with our Bunker Hill Day celebrations.

Although I did not believe it to be possible, the Bunker Hill Parade Committee certainly out did its superior efforts in past years to come up with what had to be the best parade we have all seen in years. While the great many bands participating in this year's event certainly contributed to the highly enjoyable and entertaining flavor of the parade, I would say that the enthusiasm and energy displayed by the Committee in organizing such a memorable event deserves our special recognition. By once again committing themselves to excellence, they were able to provide us all with a truly first class parade.

Likewise, the many other organizations that annually provide us with entertainment on this important day also deserve our thanks. Their dedication and support in hosting such an outstanding array of events certainly reminded us all of the spirit which is uniquely Charlestown's.

In addition, the Bunker Hill Associates merit our commendations. Their sponsoring of the tremendously successful "Pride Week" and "Bunker Hill Day Breakfast" has brought new meaning to the celebration marking Bunker Hill Day. To their membership, and to the many others who assisted them in putting together a fine program of events, my heartiest congratulations.

I would also like to thank the Charlestown Patriot for their outstanding coverage of this year's events. As they do with every issue, the Patriot staff kept us all informed of not only the events that were occurring, but also the special significance of the day we were commemorating. Your continued efforts are certainly appreciated.

Finally, I would like to thank the people of Charlestown for the warm reception they offered to me at each and every event. While I continue to work hard as the elected representative of Charlestown, it is certainly rewarding to know that I enjoy the friendship and support of so many.

I find myself already looking forward to next year's celebration!!

Very truly yours,
Richard A. Voke

A Big, Big Thank You

I would like to thank all my very good "Townie Friends" for so many cards and for their concern for my health.

I received dozens and dozens of beautiful cards and so many phone calls, it made my stay at the Recuperative Center (due to a fall on Main Street) a little easier. I am so glad to be back home just in time for the parade.

Thank you all again.

Love,
Anne Fyler

Thank You, Fran

I would like to thank Fran Morris for coming to my aid when I couldn't get anyone to do my homemaking for me. I would not have been allowed to leave the Recuperative Center and come home unless I had someone to help me, and they couldn't find anyone. Fran came to my rescue when I called her and I was able to come home for the parade.

Thank you again, Fran.

Overwhelmed With The Spirit Of Charlestown

To the People of Charlestown:

Friday evening, June 12th at the Hillbillie Hey Day celebration at the Monument, I was overwhelmed with the spirit of Charlestown, the warmth of you folks, the talent of the performing new Bunker Hillbillies as well as the Alumni and the honors bestowed on me. I can only say, thank you, it means so much to me. I feel that to have Mayor Flynn present me with that beautiful Paul Revere Bowl is the greatest honor I have received from the City of Boston and also the Citations from the State Senate, the House of Representatives and the Boston City Council are equally valued.

Credit for the revival of the Bunker Hillbillies must go to Steven Coyne and Barry Baker, two Bunker Hillbillies of past years. Their dedication, skill and patience have brought this group back to life. Behind the scenes are other former Hillbillies, Tim Walsh and Kevin Burke, among others, whose ceaseless efforts have brought the Hillbillies Alumni together and organized their many performances and events, such as this Hillbillie Hey Day of 1987.

My thanks to all you good friends and my wish is that the Bunker Hillbillies will continue for a hundred years!

Can Grafitti Be Prevented?

City Councillor Robert Travaglini
One City Hall Square
Boston, MA 02201

Dear Sir:

I am a resident of Charlestown who is waiting patiently for the reconstruction of Main and Warren Streets to be completed. The contractor has begun pouring concrete sidewalks and a problem that I had anticipated has materialized.

GRAFITTI!! The short sections of new sidewalk between Baldwin and Charles Streets are littered with grafitti. I, for one, would really like to see nice clean sidewalks from Sullivan Square to City Square. Is that too much to ask?

Can something be done to prevent more grafitti writing from occurring? Can funds be allocated to have paid police details or security guards watch the sidewalks for a few hours while the concrete hardens? Does the contract contain any language requiring the contractor to build sidewalks with no imperfections? If so, can the contractor be forced to remove (somehow?) the existing grafitti and prevent any future grafitti?

I also would like to ask other Charlestown residents who share my opinion to call or write Councillor Travaglini's office at 725-3200 to voice your complaint.

Sincerely,
Kevin Becker
Resident of Russell Street

The Lions Club Extends Thanks

Dear Gloria,

On behalf of the members of the Charlestown Lions Club, I want to express my most sincere thanks to you and the staff of the Charlestown Patriot for your assistance during our recent Eyemobile presentation in Charlestown on June 10th and 11th and for your continuous support of organizations in our community who try to serve our community in their own way.

In the two days we had the Eyemobile in Charlestown, just short of two hundred persons took advantage of the free Blood Pressure, Blood Sugar, Glaucoma, Visual and Diabetic screening that was made available.

The efforts of the Charlestown Lions Club would not have such results without the unselfish support of so many other persons and agencies, and I would like to publicly thank Dr. Neil Schram and Charlestown Vision Associates; Dr. Charles Weiss, Peggy Carolan, Sandra Bock, Toni St. Germain, Linda DiDominico, Trudy Gallagher, and Sharon McLaughlin from the MGH-Bunker Hill Health Center, for their concern and expertise in processing so many people in so few hours and for giving us all an example of real professionalism in the field of medicine.

We would also like to thank Dick Kelly and his associates at Home Furniture who so quickly stepped in to supply us with electrical power when a sudden change in plans developed that threatened cancellation of our appearance at the Mall; Jeannie Giuggio, manager of the Boston Housing Authority at 55 Bunker Hill Street, who made our first day so successful; Randy Briggs, a Charlestown resident, and Paul Coppola, who like everyone else, volunteered their time and handled the Glaucoma testing from the Volunteer Optometric Group; Carmen and Richard Merlino from High Pharmacy for their continuing help; and to Hector Mendez, who came from the Joslin Clinic and operated our new Fundus Camera and made all our efforts worthwhile when he found a person, who knew they had diabetes, with early eye damage and his discovery will probably prevent that person from going blind.

Thank you all again and our apologies to anyone we may have inconvenienced in our attempt to bring a free service to our Charlestown neighbors and workers.

Sincerely,
Francis J. "Bud" Coleman
President, Charlestown Lions Club

Open Letter To My Fellow "Townies"

Please accept my sincere thanks for all your support. Since I would not be able to list everyone who contributed time, effort and/or money to this year's parade, I hope all of you — business owners, local clubs and civic organizations, and most of all you individual "Townies," will accept this letter as my personal thanks to each of you.

The outstanding support of the Parade Committee is appreciated, greatly. They made my job easy. A special thanks to all the folks selling boosters and chance books. Certainly the outstanding staff and the distinguished group of aides deserve special mention, as does the participation of Commissioner Bill McCabe.

Since 1978 when I returned to Charlestown as the Commanding Officer of USS Constitution, I have watched, and when possible, supported, the Charlestown Parade Committee in their hard work to ensure the Bunker Hill Day celebrations were successful. They always were and this year was no exception. That this has been true for all these years is a tribute to a small group of very hard working and dedicated workers. It is great to see that in the past couple of years other organizations are springing up to provide other types of support for this, the most important time in Charlestown's year. That, too, has been successful. What a great sight it was to see Charlestown's best product, the young children, running and playing on the slopes of the Bunker Hill Monument during the concerts of the Bunker Hillbillies and the Fralinger String Band. It reminded me of how this neighborhood used to be: of how everyone came home for the "Seventeenth." I see us heading in that direction again. Let's hope we will all pull together to make every year better than the last. I am confident that all future Chief Marshals will receive your strong support.

I am proud and honored to have been chosen to lead this year parade. It is a tribute that I will never forget. Thanks to all.

Bob Gillen,
Chief Marshal, 1987 Parade

New Housing Planned For Washington Street

A plan for five new units of housing to be located on Washington Street was presented at a public meeting on Monday, June 22 at the Mary Colbert Apartments.

Charlestown resident Timothy O'Connell of Gate 5 Associates, described the housing, which will be located between Washington and Lynde Street, and numbered 88, 90 and 92 Washington Street. O'Connell stated that a total of five condominiums will be constructed in three attached buildings. Two of the buildings will house two two-bedroom condos, and the third (number 92) will be a three bedroom single.

O'Connell pointed out that the four two-bedroom condos will contain between 1,100 and 1,200 square feet each, while the single family will be approximately 1,700 square feet. There will also be five dedicated parking spaces at the back of the houses.

"We will duplicate 86 Washington Street [the last row house currently on the street] as closely as possible," stated O'Connell. "The three structures will be brick with no setbacks and recessed front steps," he added, noting that the developers will attempt to match the brick and will include dormers and continue the roof lines of the existing buildings. He stated that they will maintain the historic character of the area.

O'Connell said that fireplaces are being planned for the units and that a solarium or greenhouse has been designed for the two upper units at 88 and 90 Washington Street to provide more room and light for those two kitchen areas.

The developer estimates that the selling price of the two lower condos will be in the $175,000 range, the two upper units approximately $200,000 and the single for $225,000 to $250,000.

The architect for this development is PDCM Associates of Winthrop. The contractor has not yet been selected.

O'Connell stated that they are prepared to begin construction as soon as permits are secured and they are prepared to start during this building season.

Reaction to the proposed housing, by those in attendance, was unanimously favorable.

The event was held in conjunction with Bunker Hill Week and was co-sponsored by the Boston National Historical Park Service. The use of Building 149 was donated by Immobilair New England. The evening's entertainment was provided by Angelo Picardi with the sound of the Big Band era.

Tom, known to many of his friends as "Skeets," was born in Charlestown on October 18, 1906, the son of the late Sabina V. (Fahey) and Thomas F. Gallagher, and was a cousin of the late Agnes V. Fahey.

He attended the Samuel Dexter and the Harvard Grammar Schools in Charlestown and graduated from

He was an active member of Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion and the Post Office Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans, serving as Historian and a Liaison Agent with the Veterans Administration. He attended many conventions of the DAV in Massachusetts as well as throughout the country.

He is survived by his brother, Reverend Henry M. Gallagher, who is retired from the Archdiocese of Youngstown, Ohio.

A concelebrated Mass was offered for Tom at Saint Mary's Church, Charlestown, on Tuesday, June 9. The concelebrants were:

Bunker Hill Day Road Race Results

The Battle of Bunker Hill Road Race, sponsored by the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club, continues to get bigger and better every year. This year's two-mile Novice Race had 58 finishers and the longer and more grueling 10K Race over the hills of Charlestown drew a record 330 applicants with 295 finishers.

The Charlestown Boys and Girls Club extends a special thanks to the Fleet National Bank which was the major corporate sponsor of this year's race, and also thanks the many volunteers who worked the water stops and finish, and the hundreds of spectators who cheered the runners along.

The Club would also like to give special note to Paul Shea who finished fifth in this year's race and then donated his cash prize back to the Clubhouse to be used for the kids of Charlestown.
