

Why you do Not want a 10 as Girlfriend

I really going to show you, how society is providing us a false perception of a quality woman. It is important understand that before you destroy your live, cause you to chased something which isn't worth the price you will pay later on.

She was amazing beautiful, once I saw her the first time it really shocked me, because I've never talked to such a stunner before. She was all that I ever wanted for and that I was trembling under adrenaline the entire date. Apart from that, she had this aura, that everyone turns his head when she walked down the roads. It didn't disturb me that I was absolutely invisible besides her, not other girls looked at me, because they were to busy loving or trying to kill her with their hateful expression of envy. But that was not all, she had been the only girl that I dated, who was both, more smart and brighter than me (it's not the same). She was the favorite girl at school and had a great deal in common with the one from Clueless. Her family had a high standing, her dad owns a luxury hotel, a horse-ranch and a significant company. She earns a lot of money through her modeling career, get's to know a whole lot of places and people. She is studying fashion management to creating another pillar for the time when she's to old to design.

Why can I be so dump and break up with her?

I admit that she was an absolute jackpot, at least in the first couple of months. We had such a excellent time and I could imagine quitting her day. After about 6 months I asked her to be my girlfriend, since I had no interest in any other girls. She was young and I was her first boyfriend she had nothing to compare me with. Many months later she began to compare me with her friends boyfriends, who had been complete beta nice men. She began considering how a girl ought to be treated in a connection and particularly a girl like her. There was not any doubt that she was conscious of her society's value. This was the beginning of the conclusion.

Read Next: The best way to get on the Breakup with your Ex-Girlfriend

Her idea of exactly what she deserves

Women are very self reflective and each woman has her own comprehension of what she is worth and what she wants. This perception is vastly created within her youth, children realize when they get more attention, since they appear more adorable than other kids. Her adolescence is also significant, in these years she realizes her female power, how it is able to influence the male sex and the number of compliments and attention she receives in comparison to the other women. Societies Perception of a top quality girls is the final factor. Everybody knows what's attractive for many guys, it's written in every dumb magazine and also get's burned into our heads. These are the most common ones:

Beauty / Intelligence / Education / Career / Popularity / Assertiveness / Ambitious

Read Next: 21 Signs she is Girlfriend Material

Why Societies Jackpot won't make you happy

I write "Societies" because the press is trying to make us think that these woman are a Jackpot, my perception of a feminine jackpot is a bit different. So if you're dating a woman, with the entire package (worth ) I will guarantee you one thing: she will expect the full bundle (+ price) out of you! These girls are used to get whatever they want. You can create attraction by being different than the rest rather than giving her what, but at a long term relationship she'll eventually feel that she deserves more than this. It is not just about being more successful, making more money, being better educated, more intelligent, ambitious and taking good care of your look. The largest price you are going to cover is the cash and effort to give her the lifestyle she is expecting. She'll be more demanding and not as thankful for the things that you do for her, because she has higher standards. People that are extremely intelligent and educated, are reflective and frequently think too much about their lifestyle and what they need to archive. If she's also quite good looking, she'll get this mindset of having a greater goal in life, she desires the very best of everything. It will begin with little things such as the restaurants you are taking her to, the car you drive, the resorts that you're staying in and after it will be the designer buggy, the kitchen, the nanny and the house. The worst part is she won't love it, because it is what a guy should do for her, it is "normal" in her world. And even if you manage to handle her right today, you might not think she is going to stick with you, if something happens, making you loose your upper hand?

At the moment, when I look on the Facebook-Wall of my ex, I see how men are moving heaven and earth to make her happy. I am so thankful I was dating her at her youth and stop when this all started, because it is a struggle to make this type co napisać do dziewczyny na instagramie of girl happy and it is nearly impossible to stay happy yourself.

Can I stop dating those girl?

No, it is possible to date her, you can still have a great deal of fun and interesting conversations with her, but forget the concept of getting her as a long-term partner.

Read Next: Why Emancipation raised Divorce-Rate