

Technoblade, 'Minecraft' YouTube Creator, Dies Aged 23

Technoblade Techblade, the most popular Minecraft YouTuber, has passed away aged 23 after a battle with cancer.

The father of the creator posted a video that was moving on YouTube on Thursday titled "so long nerds," with a message written by Technoblade himself. The video was conceived with his family members during his final months, but it was written by Technoblade about eight hours before he died, his father said. He revealed his real name in the message: Alex.

"Hello everyone, Technoblade here. This is what you should be seeing. He wrote, "I am dead," in a message that was read by his father. "Thank you all for your support of my work over the years. I am convinced that Technoblade would be my preferred choice if I had another hundred lives. Those were the most joyous years of my life.

In the video, his father said, "He was the most amazing kid anyone could want. Technoblade is my favorite.

Technoblade who has 10.8 millions YouTube subscribers, announced his August 2021 diagnosis of cancer to them on YouTube.

Technoblade's family issued an apology that was posted at the end of the video on Thursday.

"We, the family of Technoblade, wanted you all to know how much he adored and valued his fans and colleagues. From the very beginning of Technoblade's online existence, he was always strategizing ways to please and reward his fans," it read.

"Even after his success He managed to maintain his charming humility. He was a consummate competitor with a delightful balance of his confidence and self-deprecating with. He stayed clear of fame and worked hard to keep his identity secret. We request that you respect his wishes to safeguard his privacy and that of his family."

Technoblade's online store also has a message paying tribute to him, explaining that a percentage of the profits from online purchases will be donated to the Sarcoma Foundation of America. Technoblade's family will be running the store online. We know how much joy he has brought to the world throughout the years and we want to make sure that we continue to spread his message," it reads.

A black T-shirt is just one of the items found in the store. It features the words "so long geeks" beneath it.

Technoblade's fans and friends have also shared touching tributes online to him. minecraft server list Some are fellow creators and collaborators while others have followed the YouTuber for years.

Hypixel, one of the Minecraft server for minigames, has also posted an eloquent tribute to. He was a frequent participant on the server. Simon Collins-Laflamme who was the founder and CEO of Technoblade, said in an announcement that he was "one of the most beloved YouTubers."

The post read, "He will be remembered fondly but deeply missed," "He was a kind, talented, passionate young man with extraordinary potential. We are so thankful to him and grateful to have had him be an integral part of our community. In many ways the success of many of us is tied to the success of Technoblade.

The team also encouraged users to pay tribute to "any main lobby" on the server, with the permission of Technoblade's family.

Technoblade began his channel in 2013 and quickly gained recognition. Technoblade has been described as "one of the best Minecraft players in the space of content creators".