Conference Sponsorship Packages

Why sponsor the Medical Women's International Association (MWIA) Regional Conference for Near East and Africa?

This event is expected to attract high quality research papers, oral presentations and workshops from across the African Continent and Near East as well as other MWIA Regions.

It provides a great platform for the women in medicine, science and global health actors to interact and exchange ideas professionally. Additionally, it will be useful for personal engagements and will facilitate networking between individual members and various MWIA member associations especially for young MWIA members.

This conference will provide a forum for academicians, industry experts and policy makers to discuss and share knowledge about the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and advancements in health for women, children and adolescents. Researchers from all sectors especially social and economic development sectors will also participate.

As a conference sponsor you will be exposed to a highly engaged international audience of and be able to access internal and external networking opportunities, unique marketing and brand exposure including opportunities to make valuable contacts and increase sales.
